GRAND JURY PROBE INTO ETHER DEATH

Mystery In Demise of Young Montclair Matron.

Montclair, N. J., March 10.—The death of Mrs. Emma Wolf Truesdell, wife of Dr. Paul E. Truesdell, a dentist, is under investigation by the Essex county grand jury. Mrs. Truesdell, who was twenty-one years old, died while undergoing an operation in her home on Feb. 15.

Dr. John H. Young performed the operation. Dr. M. Herbert Simmons, deputy county physician, reported the case to his superior, Dr. William H. McKenzie. He laid the case before Assistant County Prosecutor Mott, who reported to Judge William P. Martin. The judge ordered the inquiry.

Dr. McKenzie says his assistant told him that there were evidences of an excess of ether, and, hearing that the husband of the dead woman had administered ether, he decided to act.

Dr. Truesdell denied emphatically that he had administered the ether. He also denied that there had been anything wrong in the operation. He said he had the utmost faith in Dr. Young, who has been a member of the Montclair board of health for years. The reason for the operation neither Dr. Truesdell nor Dr. Young would disclose, saying they preferred to wait developments before speaking on this subject.

Mrs. Truesdell died on the table after he had begun to operate, according to Dr. Young. He said that when Dr. Simmons arrived he was still in his operating clothes and he asked the deputy county physician if he should open the body. Dr. Simmons said, "Yes; go ahead." Dr. Young said the deputy county physician apparently was satisfied with what he saw, for he signed the certificate, which gave the cause of death as "hypodermic of H. M. C., four ounces, of ether and shock." It also mentions "contributory rupture" as well as minor injuries.

other incidents of lawlessness on the part of bandit hordes along the border the United States government has gone so far as to suggest the advisability of it being given a free hand to send troops across the line to restore order.

This suggestion was at once met with a counter proposal from Carranza that a reciprocal arrangement be entered into whereby Carranza soldiers might be pemitted to send troops across into American territory in pursuit of bandits flying in this direction. This the United States government would not consent to.

But realizing the untenable position which Carranza would be placed in with his own people if he entered into any scheme of co-operation, it was decided, when it was appreciated that drastic steps were necesary, not to seek such co-operation as had been first suggested, or even approval, but to serve notice of the American government's intention to act alone.

WOULD SHOOT VILLA.

Lieutenant General Miles Says Bandits Must Be Exterminated.

Philadelphia, March 10.—The government should take immediate steps to capture Villa and his followers and exterminate them, was the substance of the remarks made here by Lieutent General Nelson A. Miles, retired, in referring to the latest atrocity by the Mexican bandit.

"The sooner he and his gang are lined in front of a wall and shot the better it will be for this country and Mexico," was his declaration. "Something has got to be done soon," he added, "for the lawlessness of Villa and his followers must be checked."

Princeton, Ill., March 10.—Armed intervention in Mexico is the solution of present difficulties there, in the opinion of Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman.

VILLA AND LOPEZ ESCAPE.

Pursuers Report Seeing Bandit and Lieutenant In Retreat.

El Paso, Tex., March 10.—Villa was not wounded, and Pablo Lopez, his chief lieutenant, was not killed during the fighting in Columbus.

American troops who pursued Villa into Mexico say he was leading his men in retreat and was not harmed. They also say Pablo Lopez, slayer of eighteen Americans at Santa Ysabel was with Villa in the fight.

KILLED THIRTY CARRANZISTAS

Wholesale Execution by Villa Bandits Reported Near Torreon.

Laredo, Tex., March 10. Thirty or more Carranza soldiers, including a number of officers, were executed by bandits near Torreon, according to authentic information received here.

The bandits were reported to be adherents of General Villa and commanded by Colonel Chacon.

More Troops For Border.

Douglas, Ariz., March 10.—With United States troopers stationed along the border east of here intrenched to repel a possible night attack by Mexican bandits and other infantrymen entraining to move eastward for guard duty along the New Mexico border the situation assumed a warlike aspect.

One battalion of the Eleventh United States infantry departed on a special train en route to Hachita, N. M., to assume border guard duty. Two companies of the Sixth infantry left for San Bernardino, eighteen miles east.

Machine Guns Failed.

El Paso, Tex., March 10.—Failure of the machine guns to work at the moment when they were most needed at the beginning of the fight between the Villa bandits and the Thirteenth cavalry at Columbus, N. M., was the cause attributed for the escape of the raiders across the border and also for the relatively small loss of life among them.

DELEGATES TO CONVENTION.

Henry Nischwitz, J. W. Bauersacks, Edward Van Winkle, Henry Liefke and Robert Loughlin have been in Atlantic City since Tuesday as delegates from Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A. O. U. W., to the annual convention of the order, and have been having a grand time since their arrival there. According to a letter received by William H. Nischwitz from his father, there has been no snow at Atlantic City and the weather has been fine. The party has been stopping at the Carlton.

TROOPS INVADE MEXICO

Mr. Baker and the president had a long conference at the White House. At that time the only authentic news at the state and war departments was that General Pershing following the attack on Columbus had ordered five troops of cavalry and a machine gun across the border in pursuit, with instructions, however, that they should not go more than two miles beyond the international boundary. Up to that time there was no report of actual fighting on the Mexican side.

Battle Is In Progress.

Later the more detailed reports came in, showing that General Pershing had lifted the restrictions as to the distance of the pursuit and that the Americans and Villistas were actually engaged five miles south of the line.

How the Villistas arranged to get across the border into American territory and approach the American town without being detected is a question that has aroused considerable criticism of Colonel Slocum, commanding the garrison at Columbus. The war department, it was learned, has known for days that Villa was approaching the border with upward of 500 men and was in Palomas, three miles south of the border, opposite Columbus, which is three miles north of the international line.

For this reason seasoned officers of the service are at a loss to understand how Colonel Slocum allowed himself to be taken by storm.

Villa's Attack a Surprise.

The official reports indicate that under cover of early morning darkness the Villistas not only crossed the river, 500 to 1,000 strong, but raided the camp of the American soldiers, numbering twenty-five officers and 650 men, and swept on into the town, which lies back of the encampment.

Reaching the town, the Mexicans opened a general fusillade, firing on soldiers and civilians indiscriminately and, applying the torch, set fire to several buildings. On the return, after the raid, the Mexicans attacked the army corral and carried back with them a large number of cavalry horses belonging to the American troops.

From the prisoners, Slocum reported to Pershing, who was at El Paso, it was learned definitely that Villa himself was in command of the invaders and that he had vowed death to all Americans. No confirmation is contained in the official reports of the hanging by Villa of three American ranchmen whom he had captured at Palomas, nor is there any account given of the number of civilians killed in Columbus.

Carranza Is Defended.

At the state department effort was made to defend the steps taken by Carranza since then to run down the perpetrators of the massacre. It was also stated that from a military standpoint the state department had reason to believe that Carranza was gradually gaining strength.

At the same time it was admitted that because of lack of confidence on the part of the American bankers in Carranza's ability to control affairs and guarantee a stable government the de facto government is in desperate financial straits and unable at present to meet its financial obligations abroad.

There is no intention, the department made it plain, on the part of this government to extend Carranza financial assistance, it being stated authoritatively that the United States was looking to Carranza to stand or fall on his own ability to preserve order and meet his obligations.

It developed, furthermore, that following the Santa Ysabel massacre and

FAVOR ORGANIZATION OF A LEAGUE HERE

Local Option Movement is Started by Christian Endeavor Union.

A meeting of the Congress of the Plainfield Christian Endeavor Union was held last evening at Y. M. C. A., President Robert B. Butler being in the chair. During the discussion of the evening a Local Option League was proposed by the chairman of the good citizenship committee, Clarence B. LaRue. It is proposed to form such a league soon after the close of the Biederwolf evangelistic campaign.

Assemblymen Runyon, Pierson and Morgan, of Union county, who have been supporters of the local option measures, were praised for their stand, but the Endeavorers thought that they might not be re-elected, and to guard against this it was thought necessary to lend their support to these representatives in the Legislature or others who will stand by local option.

These leagues are located throughout the State and work in conjunction with the Anti-Saloon League. One of the Local Option Leagues has just been organized in North Plainfield and reports progress. Julius Zelehenco, an Anti-Saloon League superintendent and organizer, will be in Plainfield at a date to be announced later, and will outline this work, and if deemed wise, organize a league here.

The constitution and by-laws, which have been undergoing revision, were re-read, and will be adopted at the next meeting. The Endeavor Society of the Wilson Memorial church, Watchung, has been added to the list of twelve societies in the Union. On Sunday, March 19, a committee will visit the meeting of the society of the Swedish church at West Sixth and New sreets, in an endeavor to get it in the union. It is also planned to get the society from the German Reformed church to join the Endeavor body.

SINGERS FROM NEARBY TOWNS JOIN CHOIR

The Required 1,000 Members for Revival Chorus Now Seems Assured.

The music committee of the Biederwolf evangelistic campaign has been sending out invitations to the churches in the adjacent towns to join in the chorus choir. To all people over fifteen years of age this invitation is extended. Those who have not already sent their names to Clifford A. Braider or have not given it to any representative of the music committee should do so at once. A card addressed to Mr. Braider, Y. M. C. A. will be sufficient. The hymnals have arrived and will be distributed to the members of the choir as they gather for their rehearsals.

What was undoubtedly one of the greatest musical festivals in the history of Norristown was that of last evening in the Markley street tabernacle, when the largest chorus choir which had been trained by Director William McEwan, at Allentown, comprised of the vocal talent of that city, and the large chorus choir now under the direction of McEwan in Norristown, jointly and separately sang the hymns which have become so familiar to those who have been attending the Biederwolf meetings. Dr. Biederlof remarked that the sound must have shaken the rafters of the roof of heaven.

The Allentown choir, over 500 strong, accompanied by many of the ushers of the Allentown meeting, marched into the already well-filled tabernacle with banners and standards, headed by Herbert Conrad, president, and took front seats which had been reserved for them. They were given a rousing reception. Immediately preceding them was a delegation of several hundred from Royersford and Spring City, while ahead had come the Ursinus College students, leading a delegation from all the towns along the line of the Schuylkill Valley Transit Company as far as Pottstown. These numbered over 250.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

A swimming class will be started tonight in the Plainfield High School. The course will include ten lessons.

The basketball team will hold a cake, candy and fancy articles sale in the association tomorrow afternoon and evening, from 2 p. m. to 10. The proceeds will be used to defray expenses of the trip which the team is to take to Easton soon.

Miss Bessie Conroy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Conroy, of 19 Fairview avenue, who has been ill for the past year, is very low at her home.

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

Says you really feel clean, sweet and fresh inside, and are seldom ill.

If you are accustomed to wake up with a coated tongue, foul breath or a dull, dizzy headache; or, if your meals sour and turn into gas and acids, you have a real surprise awaiting you.

Tomorrow morning, immediately upon arising, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is intended to first neutralize and then wash out of your stomach, liver, kidneys and thirty feet of intestines all the indigestible waste, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal.

Those subject to sick headaches, backache, bilious attacks, constipation or any form of stomach trouble, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin enjoying this morning inside-bath. It is said that men and women who try this become enthusiastic and keep it up daily. It is a splendid health measure, for it is more important to keep clean and pure on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing disease, while the bowel pores do.

The principle of bathing inside is not new, as millions of people practice it. Just as hot water and soap cleanse, purify and freshen the skin, so hot water and a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Limestone phosphate is an inexpensive white powder and almost tasteless.

WILLIAM J. KENNEDY DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Following an illness of more than a year William J. Kennedy, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Kennedy, died at 7:30 last night. He was born in North Plainfield, thirty-six years ago and had lived in this vicinity practically all his life. Although he was still a youth when the Spanish war broke out, he was one of the first Plainfielders to volunteer, spending most of the time in the southern States while hostilities were on. He had a host of friends in the city and borough who will hear the news of his death with keen regret. He is survived by three sisters and two brothers. These are Mrs. H. Paul Greenwood, of Cameron avenue; Mrs. Joseph Robinson, of West Third street; Mrs. P. J. Kenney, of Newark; Michael Kennedy, of this city, and John Kennedy, of Newark.

The funeral will be held at the residence of Mrs. Greenwood, 1206 Cameron avenue, tomorrow morning at 8:30 and in St. Mary's church at 9:30, where a high mass of requiem will be said. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

CONTRIBUTIONS INCREASE FOR WORK AMONG BABIES

Contributions for the work among the babies are still coming in. Yesterday Franklin Council, No. 41 Jr. O. U. A. M., sent $5 for this purpose and $16.01 was collected from the milk bottles which have been placed in various stores. This makes a total to date of $153.11.

About thirty members of the Little Mothers' League met two nurses at the exhibit at the High School yesterday. It was surprising to see how much these children really knew about the care of the babies. They have had lessons his fall and winter, and have practiced on the big doll belonging to the league. They can tell you a good deal about how the baby should be bathed, and the necessiy of fresh air and right feeding.

"CHRIS" MOBUS RECOVERING.

Christopher Mobus, of Pearl street, is recovering from a slight operation performed on him several days ago for the purpose of removing an abscess on the neck. Mr. Mobus has many friends, who have been anxious as to his welfare, and an inquiry to his physician brought the information that he would be able to return to work in a day or two.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature recorded at The State Trust Company today was as follows: 9 a. m., 36; 11 a. m., 39; and 1 p. m., 42.

CONVICTS TO CATCH CONVICTS

Honor Prisoners Trail and Capture Two Men Who Escaped.

Two honor convicts who broke their pledges to the state and escaped from San Quentin (Cal.) penitentiary on New Year's day have been chased, captured and returned to prison by two fellow honor convicts who were sent from the construction camp to search for the fugitives, merely giving their word that they would return.

Although accompanied by one of the guards from the camp, the two men, Charles Taggart and Herbert Primrose, were often miles distant from each other. They found their quarry in a cabin in a remote hilly section, where they had taken refuge.

The two men who broke their pledges are Thomas Cowan, serving a five years' sentence from Los Angeles, and Alfred Sanchez, serving five years from Riverside.

BEARS SCORCHED HAIRLESS.

But the Alligators In Burning Zoo Find Refuge in Water Pits.

Charles Page's private zoo, which he maintained at San Springs, near Tulsa, Okla., for the instruction of several score of orphans whom he has adopted, was destroyed by fire. Twenty-five alligators escaped death by seeking refuge in water filled pits. The bears were scorched hairless, and the entire flock of fifteen ostriches perished.

Page is a millionaire oil producer whose philanthropies have taken the form of adopting orphans and providing homes for widows.

FORTIETH BIRTHDAY OF A GREAT INVENTION.

It was just forty years ago today, on March 10, 1876, that the telephone first transmitted intelligible words. The men on both ends of the wire on that important occasion are living. They have seen the great invention spread its way around the world; they have seen the expansion of distance transmission until the American continent has been crossed by wires over which San Franciscans can talk with New Yorkers. They have seen wireless telephony developed as another wonder of their day.

But no event in their lives will surpass in importance the quiet scene in an attic workshop at 109 Court street, in Boston, when forty years ago today Alexander Graham Bell spoke into his mechanism, and his assistant, listening at the other end of the wire in the next room, heard the inventor's voice clearly and distinctly. The listening man was Thomas A. Watson, now a noted ship-builder, who was Bell's aide and confidential assistant in the long, painstaking experiments that had led up to victory.

Mr. Watson has told the story himself.

The first recorded message of the telephone was commonplace in the extreme. It was simply 'Mr. Watson, come here, I want you.' Probably if Mr. Bell at that time had thought that he was making history he would have been better prepared.

The occasion was merely one of an extensive series of experiments in which some small improvement in the instruments or our increased expertness in using them just made the difference between indistinctness and distinctness.

After this first communication, the improvement was more rapid, and in the early summer of 1876, it had become possible to converse fluently between two rooms.

On the afternoon of June 2, 1875, an accidental discovery during our experiments confirmed Mr. Bell's theories that exact sound could be transmitted. Bell's grand idea of a current of electricity which shall vary in intensity as the air varies in indensity during the production of a sound was nearer practical realization by our heaven-sent accident.

Mr. Bell, in an endeavor to improve the working of the receivers, was returning one of their springs to ascertain if the pitch was correct. He had pressed it against his ear and was listening to the faint sound of the intermittent current passing through the magnet. All at once the spring of the transmitter in my room stopped vibrating, and I snapped it with my finger to start it. Instantly an excited shout came from the other room, and Mr. Bell rushed in demanding what I had done. I explained, and he asked me to do it again. I snapped the spring the rest of that afternoon and so late in the evening that the janitor, forgetting us, locked us in.

What happened was this: the spring that I had plucked had become permanently magnetized and was in condition by its vibration to generate the sought-for undulatory electric current. This it did when I snapped it. And when the current passed through the magnet of the receiver which was pressed against Mr. Bell's ear, it set into vibration the spring of that instrument, which spring, being confined against his ear, was in a condition to vibrate as a diaphragm and not merely as a freed reed.

The trained acoustician at once perceived that he heard loudly and clearly, not merely the pitch due to the length of the spring I was plucking, but the peculiar soft twang of that identical spring, and recognized instantly that the current carrying such a sound was realizing his long-cherished idea.

To let friends of Company K present the claims of that splendid organization for an armory in this city, a hearing is to be held in Trenton next Monday afternoon. There is no separate company in the State that is so deserving of consideration by the Legislature, and it is to be hoped that an appropriation will be made. A bill has been passed authorizing the erection of an armory to cost $25,000, but the rigid economy of the last few years has kept the appropriation committee from setting aside a sum for the purpose. In these days of preparedness, the State cannot do too much to make the various militia organizations stronger, and a fine home for Company K would help much in keeping the enlistment at the high standard it has enjoyed under Captain Charles A. Peterson. It is certainly to be hoped that this year a serious effort will be made to supply the need here.

Senator Martine's decision to remain out of the race for delegate-at-large to the St. Louis convention is undoubtedly the cleverest political move the Plainfielder has made, and has caused the publication of numerous amusing editorials in the papers of the State. Undoubtedly it has much discomfitted his enemies, for they hoped to make a test of his strength, so as to decide whether or not he should be opposed for the renomination for the office he now holds. As the Trenton Times says, "Close association with the experts at Washington has made a politician out of New Jersey's senior Senator, whose unselfishness will make it possible to divide up the honors, and at the same time enable him to 'put one over' on the members of his party who are seeking his political scalp. Martine's declination insures the selection of Hughes, Scully, Grosscup and Fielder as the four delegates at large."

The Plainfield Business Men's Association is to be congratulated upon the splendid success of the dinner held at Columbus Hall, last night. This lively civic organization has been leading the way for bettering conditions for the merchants ever since it was started, and President Schwed and the members of the dinner committee have added another praiseworthy event to the many things which have already been accomplished by the organization.

If you want to help along a good patriotic cause, have your youngster send a dime to the Daily Press to boost the Marjorie Sterrett battleship fund. The idea has taken hold in a great many cities throughout the country, and the Daily Press promises that before the next two weeks have passed, it will be one of the things most talked about in this city. Two days later in the month are to be devoted to the presentation of a film at Proctor's Theatre, which will impress upon the people more than the printed word can ever do it, the necessity for greatly increasing our naval defenses.

Members of the East End Civic Association at their meeting on Tuesday night went on record as favoring the acceptance by the city of East Second street from Netherwood and Leland avenues to Terrill road, and the leveling off of the old railroad embankment on Midway avenue. Both requests are reasonable, and if the streets were improved by the city would help much in the rapid development of that section, which has to a certain extent been neglected.

A women's club at Lyons held a novel entertainment a few nights ago. Mrs. Eugene Vance acted as auctioneer at a social gathering to which the gentlemen had been invited, and one by one they were placed on the block, while the fair cryer declaimed their fine points. It was noticeable that wives of those on the block were the lowest bidders. Some of the male residents of Lyons who have been strutting around and imagining themselves regular "lady killers," were surprised at the low value placed upon them by the fair bidders, and will never get caught that way again.—Portland Review.

THIS IS YOUR DESK, MR. BAKER

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

Babe La Tour, in the New "Bon Tons" at the Plainfield Theatre, Monday, March 13, matinee and night.

The latest and funniest comedy picture that Charlie Chaplin has ever posed for is coming to the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow as one of the features of the big bill now on for the last half of the week. This film is now made up of sections from other films, but is the real goods, and is counted upon to make the audiences, as theatrical parlance goes, "fall out of their seats." This Charlie Chaplin picture will be worth the price of admission alone. There are a lot of good things on the program.

The six vaudeville acts which opened up yesterday are all of the headline variety. The Four Slickers, in their original comedy skit, is a positive scream, and met with instant favor, both matinee and night. This is positively one of the best offerings the Plainfield Theatre has had in several weeks. Ed Estus, the famous equilibrist, repeated the successes of his former appearances with his new act, "A Day With the Dummies." All his feats are marvelous. Yaeger and Yaeger are two good song and dance comedians on the bill who put over a lot of good stuff, and Dave Schaeffer, monologist, got a big hand at the conclusion of his clever line of "patter." Others on the bill are The Geraldines, presenting a pleasing musical offering, and Hathaway and Dilts, singers and comedians.

The picture of the program today will include the continuation of the serial film "The Strange Case of Mary Page," while the latest Pathe "News of the world film" is scheduled for tomorrow.

"The Princess Pat," the latest addition to the number of Victor Herbert and Henry Blossom comic operas, is scheduled for an early presentation in this city at the Plainfield Theatre. The story of the operatta is that of an American girl, Patrice O'Connor, who has married an Italian nobleman. To make him as ardent as a husband as he was as a lover, she flirts to the flirting limit with an elderly German-American millionaire who is engaged to her best friend, Grace Holbrook, who is promised some of Herr Schmalz's millions. The plan works. Anthony Schmalz soon discovers that his heart goes pitapat when "The Princess Pat" is near him, for he believes she is in earnest. In the meantime, his sony Tony "abducts" Grace Holbrook and they get married. Tony's father becomes philosophical, gives his blessing and promises Tony part of his fortune. The Prince, who has been green-eyed, with jealousy, discovers he loves his wife madly and she reciprocates. The score of the operetta has the Victor Herbert ring and the book of Henry Blossom contains many bright lines, and reaches the high-water mark of the Herbert-Blossom partnership. The opera is beautifully staged by Fred G. Latham and produced by John Cort with the following splendid cast—Ruth Welch, Paul Nicholson, Philip H. Ryley, Effie Toye, Earl Benham, Ben Hendricks, Edward Metcalf, Henry Vincent, Tots Marke, Francis Bryan and Georgie Gregario together with singing chorus and an augmented Herbert orchestra.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME--

SANCTION MILITARY DRILL IN PRINCETON

Faculty Issues Statement Declaring That University Must Fulfill Obligation.

Princeton, March 10.—As result of the agitation on the Princeton campus of students and professors over the question of military preparedness the faculty of the university has issued a definite statement concerning its position in the movement. The statement reads, in part:

"There is no drill either of a voluntary or compulsory nature in the university. There is no indication, moreover, on the part of the faculty or students that military drill would be desirable or feasible.

"After due consideration the faculty authorized more than a year ago the institution of a course of lectures to furnish instructions by army officers on subjects of military significance as well as general educational value. Attendance at these lectures was to be entirely voluntary.

"Such a course of instruction has been instituted for the second term of the current academic year, with the understanding that as far as possible it shall be supplemented by attendance at the summer military training camps, where an intensive technical training is provided under most favorable conditions.

"The committee feel confident that it is the calm, deliberate judgment of all members and friends of the university who have given the matter earnest consideration that in taking these steps Princeton is trying, in obedience to its cherished traditions, to fulfil its obligation to the nation as well as to the undergraduates, on whose disciplined loyalty the country in time of emergency must rely."

DISCHARGED FROM HOOSPITAL.

Robert Kraul, who with Fred Wagner was injured in an automobile accident at Westfield on Washington's Birthday, has been discharged from Muhlenberg. It was thought at first that Kraul's skull was fractured, but it was afterward found to be a severe case of concussion. Wagner was discharged from the hospital a few days after his admittance, his injuries being of a superficial nature.

- Proctor's Theatre -

Charles Chaplin in "Ambition," at Proctor's Theatre tomorrow.

"Vultures of Society" is the leading dramatic photoplay feature presented at Proctor's today. It is an unusually interesting story, in fact, a satire on high life and low life at their junction point, and is capable of gripping the most disinterested person. The theme is remarkable owing to the fact that there is not a single moral role in the entire cast, all the principal characters being engaged in some sort of crookedness. The superior cast includes such popular favorites as Lillian Drew, who assumes the role of an adventuress; E. H. Calvert, a society thief; Ernest Manpain, as the millionaire, and Marguerite Clayton as the millionaire's disipated young daughter. The supporting cast is a large one, and well up to the Essanay standard. Today also, among other attractions, including Gilletti, the latest episode of "The Red Circle," will be shown, one of the most interesting serial creations ever invented by the cunning brain of man. Tomorrow a notable Triangle production in the way of a filmization of the famous story, "The Three Musketeers" will be the feature attraction. It is entitled "D'Artagnan," and stars Orrin Johnson, who has hundreds of admirers in this vicinity. Another attraction tomorrow that will be greeted with vociferous delight is the announcement that Charlie Chaplin, the highest salaried entertainer in the universe, will appear in a mammoth four reel revue of his most comic capers entitled "Ambition." Next week's features include such remarkable productions as "The Woman in 47" featuring Alice Brady, Douglas Fairbanks in his greatest triumph, "His Picture in the Papers," William Farnum in his latest production, "Fighting Blood," and Elinor Glyn's two famous novels, "Three Weeks" and "One Day," presented in film form, not to say the reappearance of Charlie Chaplin in another stupendous revue entitled "His First Vacation."

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Bibbley Wah and The Boys Called on Miss Randall's Jam.

The Children Used to Gorge Pounds of It.

DADDY waited for the children to root around till they got comfortable; then he began the bedtime story. "One of the things that Bibbley Wah and the boys liked to do almost as well as to fish in Whist pond, and visit the little Frenchies, and make snow men in Uncle Ben's yard, and wade in the brook, and play in the dollhouse rainy days, and ride on old Ned's back, and chase young calves, and slide down the mahogany banister, and play croquet in the front hall, and eat Anne's gingerbread men, and hunt hens' nests in the haymow, and make skating ponds, and pick berries in the fields, and climb trees, was to call on a neighborly old lady whose name was Miss Randall.

"Miss Randall had once been engaged to marry Uncle Ben's grandfather. This was when she was beautiful and sixteen, and by the strangest fancy she always seemed to feel that Uncle Ben was her grandson. She was very fond of him, and she used to get sick if he did not call on her often.

"She was very, very tall and thin and always wore black silk dresses that looked like hoopskirts, no matter what other women wore. She was almost eighty-five years old, so when she walked she had to use a cane. Her heart was sweet and kind, but nothing was ever funnier than her poor hair. There was only about five spears left. Two she parted in the middle and hung over her ears in curls, and the other three she did up in a little walnut on the back of her head. She tried, poor thing, to cover the top of her head with a little lavender lace cap. But it always lopped over one ear and amused the children hugely. One of the reasons they liked to call on her was because she was famous for her biscuit. She used to modestly brag that she made the best rolls and biscuits of any woman in the county. She always spread dozens of them with sweet butter for the children, but what kept them her loyal friends were the saucers of excellent blackberry jam she let them spread on the butter. The children used to gorge pounds of it. Well, one beautiful day when all three sat politely with crossed hands and feet with bulging eyes and hungry stomachs, and when Miss Randall was feeding them jammed biscuit, just as a mother robin feeds her young, Bibbley Wah's sharp, white, little teeth crunched down on a huge grasshopper that Miss Randall's faded blue eyes had not seen when she picked over the blackberries. Bibbley Wah, like a naughty child, picked it carefully out of her mouth, held it up so the boys could see it, and all three of them burst into terrible laughter and ran home without even waiting to say goodby to their kind hostess," daddy finished.

Household Hints..

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

When Putting Plants, put a piece of coarse muslin over hole in bottom of pot before putting in the bits of stone and sod which keep the drainage good. Muslin prevents earth from washing away.

Cheap Floor Polisher—Buy ten-cent mopstick at grocery. Take enough cheesecloth to make an ordinary mopcloth. Oil well with any good floor polish, and use in the same manner as you would any expensive mop.

THE TABLE

Broiled Lamb Chops—One pound lamb, one-half pound sausage, one-half pound bacon, two cups cracker crumbs, salt, pepper, tooth picks. Mix crumbs with sausage meat. Place a strip of bacon under each chop. Put a layer of stuffing (sausage and crumbs) on each chop. Draw the bacon around chop and hold in place with toothpick. Serve very hot after broiling in hot oven twenty-five minutes.

Cracker Griddle Cakes—Ground cracker crumbs, one and one-half cups; scalded milk, one and one-half cups; butter, two tablespoons; eggs, two; flour, one-half cup; salt, one-half teaspoon; baking powder, four teaspoons. Add milk and butter to crumbs and soak until soft; add eggs well beaten, then flour, salt and baking powder mixed and sifted. Cook same as other griddle cakes.

Corn Chowder—Corn, one can; thickly sliced potatoes, four cups; fat salt pork, one and one-half inch cube; sliced onion, one; scalded milk, four cups; common crackers, eight; butter, three tablespoons; salt and pepper. Cut pork in small pieces and fry out; add onion and cook five minutes, stirring often that onion may not burn; strain fat into a stew pan. Parboil potatoes five minutes in boiling water to cover; drain and add potatoes to fat; then add two cups boiling water; cook until potatoes are soft, add corn and milk, then heat to boiling point. Season with salt and pepper, add butter and crackers split and soaked in enough cold milk to moisten. Remove crackers, turn chowder into a tureen and put crackers on top.

Caramelized Sweet Potatoes—One dozen small sweet potatoes, two quarts hot water, one teaspoon salt, one pint brown sugar, one cup hot water, one tablespoon butter, one-half teaspoon cinnamon. Boil potatoes in two quarts hot water until tender. Peel and arrange in shallow baking dish. Boil the cup of water and sugar together ten minutes, sprinkle salt and cinnamon over potatoes, add butter to sauce. Then pour sauce over potatoes and bake in moderate oven until potatoes are nicely browned. Serve in dish in which they were baked. Very nice with baked chicken.

Shepherds Pie—Slice three good-sized onions in two tablespoons butter; cook until brown, then add two tablespoons flour, salt and pepper to taste and one pint of stock or gravy. Cook, then add three cups of cooked beef, cut in pieces or ground. Cover this with mashed potatoes well seasoned. Over all pour the beaten yolk of an egg with a little milk; brown in oven.

Spanish Steak (for a family of three)—One pound round steak two inches thick; put in spider to brown. When brown put in roasting pan. Slice six medium-size onions, put in spider to brown; when brown put on steak; two green peppers sliced in small pieces, half of small can of tomatoes put over all contents. Roast two or two and one-half hours. Appetizing and delicious.

Apple Pudding—Pare six tart apples of good size. Butter bottom of deep baking dish, slice in apples, add sugar, nutmeg and piece of butter, then make batter of heaping cup flour, teaspoon baking powder, one-half cup sugar, heaping tablespoon butter, three-fourths cup milk.

Pickled Eggs—If the following pickle were generally known it would be more generally used; it is excellent with cold meat. The eggs should be boiled hard—say, ten minutes—then divested of their shells; when quite cold, put them in cans, pour over hot vinegar. Spices may be added. Keep them until they begin to change color.

Marrying for Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

Ortrude Townsend Plays the Role of My Lady Bountiful.

"What is she like?" asked Dudley when Marian walked down to meet him the day that Ortrude's cousin arrived.

"Oh, pleasant enough. I should probably have liked her had she not been related to Ortrude." Marian tucked her hand into Dudley's arm and they strolled along toward the house.

"Ortrude has her best company manner on and the beauty of her disposition is writ large all over her face. The little minx! When she says Marian in her honied tones I have a fierce desire to slap her." Marian's eyes blazed.

"My, but you are a spitfire," laughed Dudley. "Do you suppose she is going to try to give the impression of sweet domesticity to this young innocent?"

Marian shrugged her shoulders to express her entire ignorance of the workings of Ortrude's fertile brain. They walked along in silence for a time.

"Is there anything startling about my lady's wardrobe?" asked Dudley as they neared the house.

"I should say not. Her clothes are very ordinary. If this is a specimen, it was not she who ran her father into bankruptcy," replied the girl as they turned into the yard.

The whole house had a festive air, and it was evident that Ortrude was exerting herself to impress her young cousin with the gorgeousness of her surroundings. An elaborate dinner was served instead of the usual evening meal. Jacob was very gracious and expressed a hope that the young lady would enjoy her stay with them. Altogether the first meal went off very well.

"I am glad I have my lessons as an excuse for not sticking around," said Marian, dropping into slang.

So it happened that Ortrude and Adelaide Blakely were left alone to plan the pleasures of the coming month. They strolled out to a seat under the big maple in the side yard, directly under Marian's window. That young lady seated with elbows on desk and a geometry spread out before her making a half-hearted attempt to get her lesson. The blurr of voices floated up to her. Suddenly she heard Adelaide say in great excitement:

"Not a real party, all for me? I never had such a thing done in my life. I have read of such things in the papers. But——" her voice died away.

"But what?" asked Ortrude.

"I would shame you, you who have everything lovely to wear. I have nothing you would not blush to see me in." Marian was leaning toward the open window to hear the reply.

"Never you fear about that. I will see that you have something suitable to wear. The girls here do not dress much. Marian has nothing but the simplest things. But I want you to make an impression." Ortrude was evidently enjoying the role of lady bountiful.

"We are not near enough alike in size for me to wear your clothes," objected Adelaide.

"We can have something of mine altered, perhaps, or—I will make some arrangement. Leave that to me," floated sweetly up to the listening girl. Then it flashed over Marian that was eavesdropping, and she rose and moved about the room to recall her presence to the two women below. The voices dropped to a whisper and they soon rose and returned to the porch.

MUSURGIA SIXTEEN WILL BE HEARD HERE

Famous Men's Chorus to Give a Concert for Local Charity.

Considerable interest is being shown in the concert to be given by the Musurgia Sixteen for the benefit of the Charity Organization Society, at the High School Auditorium, on Tuesday, March 21. The Musurgia Society is one of the oldest in New York city. It was for many years conducted by Frank Damrosch, who was succeeded by Walter Hanry Hall, the present conductor.

Professor Hall was for many years the organist and choirmaster of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. He now has the chair of music at Columbia University, and is also the conductor of the Brooklyn Oratorio Society. For some years the Musurgia Society were the yearly guests of Princeton University at concerts given in the regular course there, and it will be remembered that it gave a most successful concert for the Charity Organization Society in Plainfield three years ago to a large audience.

The sixteen men who come to Plainfield are all professional singers, and the concerts given by them are of a very high order. It is quite unusual for the club to go out of the city, and it will be a rare opportunity to music lovers of Plainfield to hear a thoroughly trained men's chorus.

ONE COMPANY CAN NOW HOLD STOCK IN ANOTHER

Trenton, March 10.—Reversing the decision of the Supreme Court the Court of Errors and Appeals has pulled some of the teeth out of the so-called "Seven Sisters" anti-trust laws enacted at the behest of President Wilson when he was Governor and which has driven numerous corporations formed in this State to dissolve and reincorporate in other Commonwealths.

The opinion, written by Chief Justice Gummere, held that the prohibition against one company acquiring stock in another applied only to New Jersey corporatons doing business in the State. The decision is in the case of the Island Heights and Seaside Park Bridge Company, a New Jersey corporation to compel the Brooks & Brooks Corporation, chartered in New York State, to purchase stock in the former concern under a contract made in connection with the building of a bridge across Barnegat Bay, near the mouth of Tom's River. The New York company sought to break the agreement on the contention that it violated the "Seven Sisters."

ARTHUR HOPPER, OF THIS CITY, VICE PRESIDENT

Elizabeth, March 10.—Arthur Hopper, of Plainfield, was elected vice-president of the Union County Manual Training Teachers' Association at its meeting at the courthouse yesterday afternoon. Arthur Perry, of Rahway, was chosen president; Miss Elizabeth Pierce, of Elizabeth, secretary, and Miss Sarah Davis, of Westfield, treasurer. The members listened to addresses on their work.

The annual theatricals of the Junior Class of the Plainfield High School will be presented in the High School Auditorium tomorrow night by a well-coached cast of thespians. Abandoning the plan adhered to in former years, it was decided to present two sketches in place of usual play, and two farces, entitled "The Sleeping Car" and "Proposal Under Difficulties," will provide amusement for what is expected to be a capacity audience. The cast has been coached by the Misses Anderson, Fox and Biddle, three members of the faculty, and is one of the best in a number of years.

Past Season Was One of Reverses for N. P. H. S.

A review of the basketball record of North Plainfield High School for the season of 1915-1916 shows the team was victorious in eight of the twenty games played. This is the first time in many years a team from that institution has lost a majority of its games.

The local combination played a stiff schedule, as fourteen of the games were played on foreign courts, a great disadvantage to any team. A season of reverses was also prominent, especially during the earlier stages of the schedule. Ronald Conroy was forced to discontinue the pastime owing to an attack of appendicitis. Dawe, Kirch and Dilts were also unable to participate in every battle, due to injuries, Townley being the only regular in all of the twenty games.

The boroughites in the twenty games accumulated 606 points, while their opponents compiled 703, a difference of 93 giving the opposition an advantage of five points per game. Battin High School tallied the most points, running up 61 points, but in the second game played with this school there was only a five-point margin separating the two scores. The borough combination found Nutley High School the easiest contingent to roll up points on, 54 being shot in an easy manner. The New Brunswick High School defense was the hardest to penetrate, the local players collecting 13 on the opposing floor, while 47 were made on the Saengerbund Hall court against the same opponents.

The scoring of the team was led by Captain Townley, he collecting 344 points during the season, or an average of 17 points per game. Breaking into the game for the first time, John Dawe did excellent work in the other forward position, shooting 51 field goals for 102 points, or an average of five during the season. Andy McDonough did not play center until eight games were played, he shooting 29 field goals during that period. Harry Kirch at guard had the eye for long shots, being very serviceable at opportune moments with a pretty basket from the middle of the floor. Beside being a clever defender of his goals, he was also able to accout for 24 field goals. "Babe" Dilts filled the other guard berth and was found to be a very fast man. He also figured materially in the scoring line, dropping in 20 two-pointers.

Graduation will shatter the present team, Dawe, Kirch, Dilts and Townley all being Seniors. The prospects at present for a successful team next season look promising. Captain Conroy and A. McDonough will probably fill the offensive positions. Pete Van Mater, who started the season at center, will strive for that position again. The guard positions are doubtful, but Willett and Seidel, substitutes during the past season, will be on hand to contest for these jobs.

The record for the season follows:

EAST ORANGE BOYS TRIM GRAMMAR SCHOOL FIVE

HERE; JAPANESE LADS APPEAR IN LINE-UPS OF BOTH TEAMS

The basketball boys of the Plainfield Grammar School lost one of their few games of the present season yesterday afternoon, when playing on their home court, they were downed by the fast-going Columbia team of the East Orange Y. M. C. A. by a score of 44 to 38. Both teams did excellent shooting, and it was only superiority in age and size, the visitors being High School students, that caused the grammar school lads to lose. One of the coincidences of the game was that one of the players on each quintet was a Japanese, Jinushi being the Plainfield man and Shehadi sporting the East Orange colors.

The visitors started off at a fast clip and soon ran up a lead of ten points, which advantage stood them in good stead several times during the game, when Plainfield theatened to start a winning rally.

Brower, although playing guard, was one of the best men on the visiting quintet, and did nearly as much scoring as Redfern. Mowen and Van Winkle worked well as forwards, and did nearly all the scoring.

The score:

LOCAL FIVE PLAYS FOR COUNTY TITLE TONIGHT.

Plainfield Grammar School's basketball team will play in Elizabeth tonight in a game for the junior championship of Union county. The local boys' opponents will be the Lutheran Midgets, who have won twenty-eight out of thirty games this season, including a close contest played on the P. G. S. court here earlier in the season. The game is being advertised extensively, and already more than a hundred tickets have been sold. The match will be played at the English Lutheran church court, Sixth and Franklin streets, Elizabeth.

TEAM SHOOT FEATURE OF CLIMAX CLUB'S PROGRAM

A match shoot between teams of ten men representing the Flemington Gun Club and the Climax Gun Club, will be decided at the Plainfield avenue club's traps tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 1:30 o'clock. There will also be six 15-bird sweepstakes. The buss, leaving Martin's garage at 2 o'clock, will pass the grounds.

Mrs. H. B. Arnold bowled 189 at the Ladies' Night social at the Columbus Club Wednesday night. This is believed to be the best score ever made by a Plainfield woman bowler. Mrs. Arnold also holds the record for Dunellen, with a mark of 181.

SPEARY HEADS JEWELERS.

Jack Speary, the best bowler in the Elks' League as well as the Knights of Columbus League circuit, drew down the prize for the best individual average in the Jewelers' League. Twenty-six games, Jack had an average of 186.20.

WILTSE TO MANAGE ALBANY.

George Wiltse, formerly with the New York National League Club, has signed a contract to manage the Albany Club of the New York State League for the coming season. Dr. F. N. Tate, the new owner, announced last night that Wiltse had accepted the position.

CHECKER PLAYERS BUSY.

Six checker players gathered in the rooms of the North Plainfield Reid Republican Club last night for informal play. Those taking part were Charles Mattison, Robert Coulter, T. J. Comerford, J. P. Streter, A. Leask and William Wanamaker. Coulter and Wanamaker were the leading winners.

ABERG TO WRESTLE STECHER.

Alexander Aberg has accepted a guarantee of $15,000 to wrestle Joe Stecher, of Dodge, Neb., in Omaha or Chicago any time after May 1.

N. P. H. S. BOYS TO PLAY THE GIRLIES

Burlesque Basketball Tonight in Saengerbund Hall to Be Followed by Dancing.

The championship of North Plainfield High School will be contended for this evening in Saengerbund Hall when the boys and girls clash in their last contest of the season. Both teams are eager to win, and enthusiasm over the match runs high in the borough school. The girls, who have already annexed the city championship, are eager to add another laurel to their record, while the boys, who are titleless, are confident of winning. Girls' rules will be used in the first period, while in the last session, regular boys' rules will be enforced.

The two teams will line up as follows:

Townley ..... Miss Burtis
Dawe ..... Miss Spencer forwards.
McDonough ..... Miss McCullough centre.
Kirch ..... Miss Keller
Dilts ..... Doughty guards.

Dancing will be enjoyed after the contest.

THIS PLANT IS A THIEF.

Dodder Steals All the Digested Food of Its Clover Neighbors.

Possibly he's too lazy to feed himself, or it may be that he came from a family of criminals and can't overcome his heredity. At any rate, he's a robber, a thief and a plunderer. None of these names is too severe, and if you doubt it ask the farmer, who knows him for the damage he does every year to the clover and alfalfa crops. The plant is the dodder.

Perhaps we can forgive the dodder for not preparing his own food, for he has nothing to prepare it with. Nearly all plants have chlorophyll, the substance which makes plants green and digests the food which they take from the ground and the air. The dodder has no chlorophyll.

So it has to turn robber to live. After the seed springs from the ground the dodder vine reaches out until it touches some other plant, clover, for example. It attaches itself to the clover stem by its tiny rootlets and begins to eat the food which the clover has taken and digested.

After awhile the root withers and dies, and the vine keeps reaching out for more victims, binding them together with its tiny threads. You probably have seen the small, pale, bell shaped flowers climbing over a field of clover.

Once dodder gets a hold in a clover field the farmer's only escape is to cut clover and dodder alike and burn the crop. And the farmer believes this death none too horrible for the little robber vine.—Philadelphia North American.

CITY TITLE AT STAKE TONIGHT

Eagles and Imperials' Roll-off at Columbus Club Begins at 8:30.

ELKS' TEAMS TRAVEL

Seniors go to New York and Juniors to Newark—Also House Tournament Games—Other Bowling at Park Club and Dunellen.

The bowling championship of the city for fiveman teams will be decided on the Columbus Club alleys tonight, when the Eagles and Imperials, which finished the City League schedule tied for first place, will meet in the roll-off. Followers of both teams and many others will swarm to the West Front street club, which can accommodate a large throng of rooters.

In their league games on the Columbus Club alleys, the Eagles made much higher scores than the Imperials, but this fact isn't making the Birds any favorites for tonight's match. The borough team has a way of springing surprises, such as it did by defeating the Eagles three straight games in the final series of the season, and tying the leaders for first place.

The two teams will probably appear tonight with Bill Smith, Albert Jaeger, George Miller, Jim Mahoney and Harry Radin rolling for the Eagles, and Arthur Voorhees, Ernest Luthman, George Lewis, George Gates and John Connoly pinning for the Imperials.

The first game will start at 8:30 o'clock.

Elks in New York Tonight.

The local Elks will bowl in New York tonight. It will be the last league tilt of the season for the Gothamites. The New Yorks are at the head of the second division, but their average is lower than Plainfield's mark.

Little Elks at Newark.

The Plainfield team of the Elks' Junior League is scheduled to shoot in Newark this evening. The Newark colts, although they aren't occupying first place, come close to being the best team in the league, and the Plainfielders will have to be in their best form to collect any victories.

Other Bowling Matches Tonght.

The Oldsmobile and Mercer teams of the Elks 'house tournament will engage in an alley combat tonight.

Park Club pinners will hold their weekly session of ten pin play.

In the Dunellen League, the Foresters are scheduled to roll against the Baracas Class men.

CLASSY BASKETBALL IN THE TABS' HALL

St. Christopher's, Athenians and Plainfield A. A. Will Be There Tonight.

Two speedy basketball games will draw the enthusiasts to T. A. B. S. Hall tonight. The St. Christopher's of New York, will oppose the Plainfield A. A. in the main go, and the Athenians, of this city, will play the colored Y. M. C. A. team of Montclair, in the preliminary game.

All four combinations are composed of clever players. The St. Christopher's have appear here in former years, and have never been defeated by a Plainfield five. The Plainfield A. A. has put up some strong exhibitions this year, its best showing being against the Co. M five at Somerville.

The Athenians played the Montclair tossers at Montclair last Tuesday night and lost after a close game. The two teams are evenly matched, and in interesting scrap should result when they clash in their second meeting.

SCHULTE LOSES PLACE ON CUBS

Frank Schulte, veteran Cub outfielder, has lost his place in the regular line-up because he failed to report at Tampa yesterday as ordered, Manager Tinker announced at the training camp. Zwilling will be given his place. Schulte and George Zabel, pitcher, who also neglected to show up on time, were fined $100 each in addition, and Zabel, Tinker said, may be traded.

SEVEN SEEK POOL TITLE.

Seven entries have been accepted for the national amateur pocket billiard tournament, which will open at the New York Athletic Club Monday.

Tango Football the Latest.

Tango football is being popularized in some of the dance halls of Chicago. The principle of the game is the same as in soccer football, and the players have to tango to music at all times while in action. A silver trophy has been offered for a contest between the Majestic Benevolent association and the Hamburg Athletic association in this sport.

P. H. S. GIRLS HAVE ONLY ONE OPPONENT

Miss Gladwin Holds up Westfield Cause Alone for a Time, But Locals Win.

After a ten-days' lay-off the girls' basketball team of Plainfield High School got in action yesterday afternoon on its home court, defeating Westfield High School, 14 to 9. Miss Good and Miss Simons, the Red and Blue forwards, played excellent games, although Miss Gladwin was the best shooter on the floor, and was responsible for all of the scoring done by the visitors.

Neither side did any scoring until late in the first half, when the locals rolled up five points on a basket and three fouls as against three fouls by Miss Gladwin. In the second half the star Westfield forward tied the score and managed to keep even with the local maidens until several baskets in succession by the P. H. S. forwards clinched the victory.

The line-up of the locals was considerably changed around, but that did not seem to make any material difference in the showing that was made, and the next three games that will wind up the season should be victories.

The score:

EDDIE FEIHL'S GREAT WORK.

Eddie Feihl's bowling performance in Newark, Wednesday night, chronicled in the news columns of the Press yesterday, was the climax of a series of wonderful alley exhibitions. Feihl, taking a special liking to the Eaton alleys in Branford place, Newark, made so many wonderful scores in his informal games on those alleys that bowlers who gather there looked upon the young Elizabeth Elk as the greatest bowler that ever stepped up to the foul line. Feihl made dozens of big double century scores, his favorite figure seeming to be 290, which he rolled several times. Feihl's admirers believed he could defeat any pinner standing on two legs, and they backed him in a match against the man generally acknowledged to be the world's champion—"Peerless" Jimmy Smith. Feihl won the match, and is now looking for more worlds to conquer. He has recently entered two endurance contests held in Newark for teams of two men, and the fact that he won both of them single-handed gained him the reputation of being the iron man of bowling circles. Think back now, and see if you can recall any bowler who, shooting in a match, has turned in any string of scores on true alleys better than these: 259, 234, 245, 224, 258, 256, 300, 258, 256.

ELKS' FINAL GAMES THIS WEEK.

Plainfield pinners in the Elks' Senior League wind up their 1915-1916 campaign with battles in New York tonight and in New Brunswick tomorrow evening. The season's end doesn't hold out much for 885's big team. Captain Waldorf's men are sure of keeping out of last place; they can lose all their remaining six games and still finish ahead of the cellarites. While it is possible for the Queen City Bills to go up as high as fifth, their chances of advancing are small because they will have to shoot all their games on opponents' alleys.

Six straight victories would land the locals at the top of the second division, but it must be admitted that they would be travelling at top speed to accomplish this feat on the home alleys of such teams as New York and New Brunswick. Plainfield has an excellent chance to wind up in eighth place, and it is in that berth that the Queen City outfit will probably be found, when all the returns are in.

SPORT FEATURES TONIGHT.

Two unusually fine sport cards are billed for this city tonight. Either the basketball double-header in T. A. B. S. Hall, where the St. Christopher's, of New York, the Montclair colored Y. M. C. A., Imperials and Plainfield A. A. tossers will hold forth; or the Columbus Club bowling match, where the Imperials and Eagles will roll the extra match for the bowling championship of the city, would be a headline attraction any time. Many fans are interested in both attractions, and the confliction will undoubtedly hurt the attendance at both clubs.

The much mooted question of how the present Hope Chapel basketball team compares with the players who formerly represented Pastor Greene's parish may be solved tomorrow night, when the old bunch lines up against the 1916 quintet. The old combination hasn't had much practice, and may not exhibit its shooting eye of former days, but it will show that it has not forgotten the general idea of how the game ought to be played.

The local bowling season is on its last legs, and still no Plainfielder has put up a perfect score this year. Walter Vail is sticking in as many towering tallies as any one else. His 258 on the Elks' alleys Wednesday night was "Quake's" latest big score.

If Willard and Moran crowd half as much action in their ten-round go on March 25 as Benny Leonard and Johnny Dundee did in their lively battle in the "Garden," Wednesday night, the show will be well worth all that is being asked for seats.

This year's much criticised weather has caused many loud, hacking coughs, but only one Kauff that can be heard from New York, N. Y., to Marlin, Tex. Or isn't Benny's demand being heard in the Giants' camp?

GERMANY'S MOTIVE FOR WANTING VERDUN

Miss Janet Richards Gives Many Interesting Views on European Struggle.

Events in our own land and those in Europe of the last two weeks were summarized by Miss Janet E. Richards, in another of her current event lectures given in the Hartridge School Auditorium, yesterday afternoon. Her audience was one of the largest yet attendant at any of her talks and an interested one. Beside giving many personal views, she read a number of articles from the leading periodicals and papers of the day, the majority of them being editorials on the recent Congressional difficulties the President has had to face and movements in the theatre of war.

Miss Richards opened her address with an appeal for the relief of the Armenians, who at present are among the most needful of the European countries. A nation of peace-loving people, they have suddenly been cruelly attacked, the civilians ruthlessly massacred and deprived of all the necessities of life. Miss Richards solicits contributions for the various relief funds of the Allies at all of her lectures, her personal interest being with the Montenegrins and the Armenians, however.

During her talk, Miss Richards outlined the battle which has been waged around Verdun, where the deadliest of combats is being carried on between the French and the German forces, with a terrific loss of life on either side. The principal motive for these continual German losses is actuated by one from the interior, their theory being that should she seize Verdun, which is the strongest outpost of the French, she will then be able to say to the French, "we have shown you that we can get a thing when we want it. We do not want Paris, but we have shown you that should we want the city we can proceed in the manner we have at Verdun. Are you ready now to accede to our peace plans?" Pacifists believe tais is the ultimate reason for the persistent fighting at this point. The Germans have formed a "V" shaped net about the stronghold, and are endeavoring to surround the city from the rear and then close in from all sides.

Others having knowledge of the Allies' policies say that England and France would never comply with the German requests for peace, which would undoubtedly be restoration of colonies, restoration of trade and bringing everything around as it was before the war started. The Allies would without a doubt say to Germany, "Restore all your confiscated property, redeem Serbia, Belgium and make good all the heavy losses."

The speaker closed with a brief outline of the German relations with Portugal, where thirty-six German ships have been seized, resulting in the severing of diplomatic relations between the two countries and a state of war declared. At present Germany has fifty-five ships interned in American waters.

HEAVY GERMAN LOSSES AT VAUX

French Still Hold Town Against Attack.

KUT RELIEF ARMY SIGHTED

Aylmer's Forces Nearing Townshend After Two Months' Task—War Declared on Portugal by Germany. Minister is Handed Passports in Berlin—Seizure of Ships Given as Chief Reason.

London, March 10.—Whether the fort of Vaux was captured by the Germans or held by the French is in doubt, as reports from Berlin and Paris were contradictory.

The Berlin report asserts that "the village and armored fort of Vaux were captured in a glorious night attack."

According to the French communique, referring to "powerful attacks" on the Vaux positions and covering the same period as the Berlin report, "the enemy was unable to make any impression on our line and has been completely repulsed." The communique adds:

"Some detachments of German infantry which have penetrated the village of Vaux were driven out immediately by a counter attack.

Supplementing the report in reference to the Vaux fighting, the numerous adjoining fortified positions, the communique says:

"Furious assaults against the village of Vaux were repulsed with great losses to the enemy. Finally the Germans launched against our trenches bordering the foot of the slopes of the crest, which is surmounted by the Vaux fort, violent attacks in massed formations, which were repulsed."

Relief Near Townshend.

After waiting patiently for nearly two months, the British public was gladdened by good news from Mesopotamia. It was announced officially that General Francis J. Aylmer, commanding the relief colum, which recently has been re-enforced, has pushed forward seventeen miles up the Tigris and has arrived within seven miles of Kut-el-Amara, where General Townshend is still holding out. There the Turks appear to have made a final stand.

Berlin, March 10.—Germany declared war on Portugal and handed passports to the Portuguese minister. The Overseas News agency says:

The German declaration emphasized the fact that this step was made necessary by the recent illegal seizures of German ships in Portuguese ports, which is the gravest sort of breach of neutrality and of special treaties. Germany therefore is obliged to give up her former attitude of forbearance, which she had maintained because of Portugal's awkward situation.

The declaration enumerates a long series of breaches of neutrality by the Portuguese government, such as the permission of free passage of English troops through the colony of Mozambique, the permission given to English men-of-war to use Portuguese ports for a time exceeding that given neutrals, the permission given the English navy to use Madeira as a naval base, actual engagements between Portuguese and German troops on the frontier of German Southwest Africa and Angola, frequent insults to the German nation by members of the Portuguese parliament, who never were reprimanded.

The declaration further points out that the seizure of German ships in neutral Portuguese ports on Feb. 23 was an act against the law and the treaties concluded between Germany and Portugal.

Hartford, Conn., March 10.—With the uttered regret that the adequate punishment was not yet the law of the state, Judge Joseph B. ## Your Next Tenant Is an "Ad-Reader"

The tenant to whom your property would be most valuable is a reader of the "To Let" advertisements.

If your advertisement is factful, definite and fully informing he will recognize it as meaning OPPORTUNITY to him, and he will lose no time in getting in touch with you.

But if your advertisement should be vague, uninforming and written with a view to "saving space," it might not appeal of any personal interest at all.

BUSINESS MEN'S BANQUET

The immigrant is America's greatest source of prosperity, said the speaker, and he declared that the American who spoke ill of the foreign element of citizens struck at the very heart of the nation. "The very courage and ambition that brings them here is capable of the highest development, and we want them. We want them, not as aliens, but as Americans. What would America be without its foreign-born population?"

About ninety-eight per cent. of the people living in America are honest, said the speaker; and yet he pointed out that legislatures and Congress spent all their time legislating for the two per cent. who are dishonest. He urged laws for the building of commerce, for the protection of the business man and for the preservation of prosperity. "No law works for prosperity that curtails energy or effort," he said, "and no law is good that prevents men from doing things that make bigger business."

After a reference to the bloody war that engulfs Europe, Mr. Stokes closed with the utterance, "May God save this land of ours from such a fate, or any misguided policy that will lead to it."

L. B. Albin called attention to the fact that business men everywhere were learning that co-operation is better than destructive competition, and said that this meant for prosperity. As sales manager for one of the largest manufacturing concerns in the country, he had been asked to speak on salesmanship. He confined his address to a brief discussion of the human element in selling goods, pointing out that the salesman was the point of contact between the manufacturer or merchant and the buyer, and to the buyer he really represented the firm. Salesmen are now selected first for health and second for native ability, he said; after which they should be educated. It cost big money to hire or fire a man, according to his figures, and he urged that every business man educate his salesmen so that they will know the product they are handling before putting them on the road.

Edward R. Carhart, of the Battery Park National Bank, said in part:

"As an evidence of the importance of that which we call the business life of the country, we have but to recall that nowadays business men's organizations take in, as a rule, men from every walk in life—even ministers and politicians—who sustain about the same relation to the development of the business life of the country as an old maid sustains towards the bringing up of other people's children.

"We do not need, however, even this significant reminder to assure us of the importance of our calling, for we can safely say that commerce is the most important factor in the development of the physical or material affairs of men and of nations. She brings about everywhere conditions which make for the highest possible development of civil, social and even spiritual life and character.

What Commerce Does.

"Left to her own true course, commerce does many things. She inspires all genius. She brings all knowledge of the world to the service of humanity. She builds up empires; and when the crustacean human shell becomes too narrow for the expanding civilization, it encases, it bursts the shell and tears those very empires to pieces. She opens up deserts and makes them to bloom and blossom as the rose. Statesman and warrior; artist and scientist; inventor and mechanic; teacher and preacher—all blaze her way before her, and all follow after her to reap her fruits.

"Business, therefore, is very sensitive to world happenings. The whole history of trade is one long, long story of adjustment and readjustment to changing conditions, and in the story we find concealed the history of human progress.

"If I needed a text I would select that verse which declares that "One day is with the Lord as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day." I do not need such a text, however, to assure you that the day of my thought is not this day of twenty-four hours. And yet even such a day might well be a subject for our consideration, for today is the greatest day in all history for us. All the days of the past lead up to it and all the days of the future lead away from it. Today is the sum of all our yesterdays from the beginning of all our tomorrows. We are not making today now; we are living it. We are gathering the rewards or penalties which are the fruits of other days, and we are sowing seed which will bring its harvest of reward or penalty tomorrow, and tomorrow, and tomorrow again.

"But I have a larger day in my mind now—one of those periods of time which mark the great epochs of history and which measure the strides of civilization in its onward sweep toward its ultimate destiny. New York has prospered; the whole country has gained; and the wide, wide world is richer because the Erie Canal was built. But this was its service to the man in the engine-room and to the man at the helm. Its contribution to the 'New Day' is the new barge canal.

"It is plainly apparent to the most casual observer that a 'New Day' is breaking o'er the earth—a day of larger liberty, of greater privilege, of richer opportunity and of fuller life; a day in which men and nations shall be brought one step nearer their ultimate goal. Such days have their genesis in the restlessness of the human race and the upward reach that God has planted in the heart of man.

"The greater 'New Day' that we face is still in the making. But in many phases of the world's life the 'New Day' is already here, in each instance a herald of the larger day to come, in each instance compelling growth and expansion in every other phase of life in order that the true balance of life itself might be maintained.

"One of the most important factors to the 'New Day,' and yet one which in its own larger outlook is a direct result of it, is the business life of the world, and it is with the new business day that we are now concerned.

"We cannot steer precisely the same course today that we took yesterday; for if we do, someone steering a course truer to the current will reach the goal first.

"Aside from the expanding life of our people, a thousand things, of which the war in Europe is only a climax, have contributed to this result and have brought us a day full of promise to American industry and commerce.

"How shall we meet it?

"It will not do to merely make a horizontal increase in the size of everything on the same old lines just because there is a greater business day in sight. Increased business will necessarily mean larger credits, bigger ships, more railroads, deeper and wider canals, and so on; and these things must even precede the arrival of the day of larger trade; must, in fact, invite it and develop it. But we do not have to build larger wooden clipper ships to carry the commerce of the world around Cape Horn now, no matter how great that commerce promises to become.

World Is Our Field.

"There can be no criticism of the tremendous energy and colossal enterprise of the American business man in meeting the demands of his own great home market, nor yet of the American financier for preferring to finance the enormous enterprises of home industry and commerce, as against the prosaic demands of foreign trade as it has been conducted hitherto. But we have now reached a point where the world is our field and where we must adjust ourselves and all our business creations to world conditions and demands. Indeed, if our own national prosperity is to be maintained, we must prepare to lay sure hands on our full share of the world's trade.

"We are fast changing from a debtor to a creditor nation. The day is not far distant when our exports of raw food products will cease to be an important factor in our export trade. In fact, we have already imported corn and beef from South America. More and more we are changing from an agricultural to an industrial nation, and because of all this, more and more we need the foreign market, not alone for what it may take away from us in the form of surplus or finished product, but for what it may give us in the form of new material as well. We must prepare for it, we must work for it and we must fight for it; and in the preparation and in the work and in the fight, every element of our business life should bear its part.

"A good beginning has been made. As we expand from national into international trade, we are necessarily projected out into international finance. Foreign trade must be financed. Our own laws hitherto have actually prohibited the financing of foreign trade as it is carried on throughout the world, and we have been compelled for many years to pay tribute to foreign bankers, losing thereby many opportunities for substantial growth and progress, and losing, too, that resultant knowledge and experience which at the present time would be an asset of enormous value.

"The Federal Reserve Act, however, has changed all this, and it is now possible for us to finance our own foreign trade. But we still have our knowledge and experience to gain in financing and developing our export business up to 'New Day' proportions, and this knowledge and experience must be gained by the little merchant as well as the big merchant and by the small country bank as well as by the great city institution; for it must seep through our whole financial and commercial life before substantial results will be gained.

"Here, too, we have made a beginning. The recent Latin-American conference promises large results along permanent lines.

"Too much credit cannot be given to the National City Bank of New York for the work it has done in pioneering the way in South America. With broad vision and characteristic American enterprise, it has led the way, and it is to be commended for the example it has set the business men of America in the deliberate and careful manner in which it is carrying on its work. Nothing is being taken for granted. Scouts have been sent abroad to look over the ground; to spy out the land; to study its resources and the habits, customs, methods, needs and, indeed, the very life of the people with whom it is proposed to transact business.

"Two recent note issues of the Argentine government were successfully floated in this country, and when we think of the great resources of that wonderful country, of its enterprise and its progress, who shall say that this is not a wise investment for our business men, and that it will not pave the way for larger things commercially in our dealings with our sister republic of the southern continent."

In a short address, Charles A. Dana, vice-president of the Spicer Manufacturing Company, struck the keynote of enthusiasm when he advocated the re-opening of the agitation for the extension of trolley service to South Plainfield, classing it as an essential to the development of Plainfield as a New Jersey business center. This proposition was recently presented to the State Board of Public Utilities by the local Board of Trade, but was deemed unnecessary and inexpedient by the Board following a hearing in Elizabeth. As a result of Mr. Dana's re-awakening of the interest in the subject, it is likely that the Business Men's Association will take up the issue with a view to having it furthered, and, as an initial step, Toastmaster Claybrook suggested a rising vote, which was made unanimous.

Mr. Dana said in part: "The Spicer Manufacturing Company carries the stamp, 'Made in Plainfield,' to all parts of the nation through the general acceptance and application of the Spicer universal joint by automobile manufacturers. Not more than twenty per cent. of the automobiles manufactured in America are turned out without the Spicer joint, and every one bears the trade mark of Plainfield. During the coming year this company intends to expend at least $1,000,000 in extending its scope, and the co-operation of Plainfield people and the business organizations will mean that this annual expenditure will double and triple in years to come. One of the necessary assets to the spread of the trademark influence is the extension of the transportation facilities to South Plainfield, where the main plant of the concern is located. Four miles separate this village from Plainfield proper, but as a large number of its employes are Plainfield residents and it is recognized as a Plainfield enterprise. Transportation means everything to a town, and the Spicer Manufacturing Company means everything to Plainfield. Inter-communication between towns by means of railroad and trolley facilities means an expanse of trade, and is an essential in the conduct of any manufacturing motive."

"On May 30, Plainfield citizens will have a chance to show their civic pride and interest in the development of the city in their entertainment of visiting delegates to the New Jersey State Letter Carriers' Convention, which will be held here. This event offers a rare chance to advertise the city's advantages and encourage the influx of new residents. We will entertain delegates from all parts of the state, as well as from New York city, and the demonstration will afford the visitors an excellent chance to acquaint themselves with the city's well-regulated government, good streets and civic hospitality. Everything possible should be done to aid the letter carriers in making the convention a memorable one and one that will be a municipal booster."

Rev. Charles E. Herring, who opened the evening's celebration with a word of prayer, also concluded the affair with an address, inviting the business men to extend their activity to religious circles and lend their aid to the promotion of the church, as well as of the state and municipality.

The dinner was arranged by a banquet committee composed of George J. Finger, Arthur H. Osmun, Arthur E. Force,, Paul R. Collier and Edward F. Conshay, and its members were warmly congratulated last night on its success. An orchestra, composed of Al Squires, Charles Paroubek, Herbert Smith and Kenneth Stuart, furnished music while the dinner was being served, and the Queen City Quartette, made up of Elmer Cutting, Harry Blimm, William Smith and Edward Harding, sang several popular airs between addresses of the guests.

Officers and trustees of the Plainfield Business Men's Association under whose auspices the dinner was held are Herman Schwed, president; M. C. Van Arsdale, vice-president; John J. Varley, treasurer; J. H. DeMott, secretary; John S. Johnston, Leslie R. Fort, George J. Finger, Frank Neidig and Arthur E. Force, trustees.

The dinner started a few minutes after 7:30, and there was not a dull moment until 11:45, when the members were excused by Toastmaster Claybrook. A photograph of the guests was taken by Paul R. Collier as soon as they were seated, and the finished work was shown a comparatively short time later. It was so remarkably clear that a large majority of those present ordered one as a souvenir of the biggest and best dinner of the Association in celebration of Plainfield prosperity.

FUEL AND HEAT.

And Why a Blackened Stove Will Give the Best Results.

The typical household operates on the hit or miss rule of thumb. Effectiveness is secured either through happy chance or the coincidence of that rule with some sound principle.

Why is the stove in the kitchen kept black? The United States bureau of standards asserts that not one woman in ten knows. It says that the reason is that a blackened stove is the hottest of stoves. A nickel plated stove loses half of its capacity for hotness.

Do you want your hot water pipes to transfer heat without loss? "Black them bright and shining," says the bureau. A bright pipe loses less heat than one insulated in thin asbestos. Pans and pots kept bright stay hot longer than those not so. An ideal kettle is black on the bottom to take heat easily and bright on the sides to keep heat long.

Fuels are too frequently used without understanding of their special fitnesses for specific purposes. A coal fire takes half an hour of coaxing to proper enthusiasm for frying eggs.

Many furnaces work better on small than on large coal, which also is more expensive. The heating surfaces and the flues of furnaces should be kept clean. Soot insulates the source of warmth, as if an asbestos mat were put between the stove and the pot of coffee.

PORTUGAL'S HOMER.

Camoens, Who Wrote "The Lusiad," Died In Abject Poverty.

"The Lusiad" is one of the noblest records ever written of national glory and success.

Camoens, its gifted author, determined to do for Portugal what Homer had done for Greece. The great poem was written in the sixteenth century, which has been called the heroic age of Portugal, and its main feature is the rounding of the Cape of Good Hope by Vasco da Gama, while a most interesting episode is the crowning after death of Inez de Cestro as queen of Portugal.

"The Lusiad" took its name from Lusius, who was said to have founded Lisbon. Its author was born about 1520, and his career, which began brilliantly, was blighted by the death of a broken heart of the lady of his love, for whose sake he was banished from the land.

Camoens wrote "The Lusiad" in his banishment and was recalled in 1571, losing on the way all his property except his poem. Pensioned at first by the king, this great epic poet of Portugal died in great poverty and misery in 1570, when his patron was also dead.

Knowledge and Culture.

A great memory does not make a philosopher any more than a dictionary can be called a grammar. There are men who embrace in their minds a vast multitude of ideas, but with little sensibility about their real relations toward each other. These may be antiquarians, annalists, naturalists; they may be learned in the law; they may be versed in statistics; they are most useful in their own place. I should shrink from speaking disrespectfully of them. Still, there is nothing in such attainments to guarantee the absence of narrowness of mind. If they are nothing more than well read men or men of information they have not what specially deserves the name of culture of mind or fulfills the type of liberal education.—Newman.

England's First Almanac.

The first almanac printed in England was the "Kalendar of Shephardes," which appeared in 1497, just forty years after Gutenberg printed his first almanac at Mentz. From that time onward almanacs were numerous, "omens and prognostications" being added in most cases to the calendar information. One of the earliest specimens preserved enjoys the title of "The Prognostycacyon of Master John Tybault, of the influence of the moon, of peas and warre and of sykenesses of the yere, with the constellacions that be under the planets and the revolucions of kynges and princes."—London Mirror.

Teeth of a Shark.

In respect to its dentition the shark is a very remarkable creature. The white shark has seven rows of teeth, while other species vary in the number of rows they possess. It must be understood, however, that the shark only uses one row at a time. The other rows lie down inside the mouth behind the edge of the jaw, erecting themselves when it is time for them to take successively the place of the first row. When one observes how keen edged these incisors are it seems no wonder that they can bite off a big rope as readily as if it were thread.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.—Adv.

SIR JOHN MAXWELL (ACCORDING TO REPORT), ORDERS MOHAMMEDAN TROOPS FROM SUEZ CANAL FOLLOWING ALLEGED HINDU MUTINY.

The photograph shows a review of the British Mounted Rifles parading at Zatun, Egypt. From left to right, the reviewing officers are, General Sir Alexander Godley, Sir Henry MacMahon (taking the salute), and Sir John Maxwell, Commander of the British Forces in Egypt.

It is reported that Sir John Maxwell has ordered transported to another field of the war, the Mohammedan troops stationed in Egypt. The cause of this move, it is believed, is due to the refusal of certain of the Hindu regiments to fight against other Mohammedans.

LORD ROBERT CECIL, "MINISTER OF BLOCKADE," ASSUMES POST IN BRITISH CABINET.

Lord Robert Cecil, who until now held the post of Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, has been appointed "Blockade Minister" in the British Cabinet. He will be charged with the administration regulating the blockade as well as with the general responsibility for the policy and practice of the Government with respect to trade passing into and from neutral countries. Lord Cecil is a Unionist and thus increases the forces of that party already in the Cabinet, by one. He is a lawyer of wide experience and has held many less and responsible offices in the Government's service.

Watchung.

The monthly meeting of the township committee was held last evening in the committee rooms. The newly-appointed fire warden, E. J. Hughes, of Greenbrook, was present, and appointed as deputies, William H. Demler, Jr., of Watchung, and Thomas Walsh, of Scotch Plains. State Fire Warden Lindsay was also present, and stated that in the spring he would have a regular fire patrol as last season. The traffic light was put in charge of Mrs. Leurssen.

"Consecration of Strength" will be the topic for the Christian Endeavor meeting tonight in the Wilson chapel. Clarence B. Schmidt will be the leader.

Theodore V. Moldenke, a student in Wagner's Seminary, Syracuse, N. Y., has returned home for the week-end, and also as a surprise for his younger brother's birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Frank E. Winn, who has been sick with the grip, is convalescing.

Douglas W. Demler, Elsie F. Schmidt and Theresa E. Schmidt were the representatives of the local society at the Christian Endeavor Congress meeting last evening.

Mrs. Henry Pefeflous, of Mountain boulevard, who has been dangerously ill for the past three weeks, has shown slight improvement.

The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the North Plainfield Township Improvement Society was held at the home of Mrs. M. Cass. Plans were completed for the St. Patrick's dance, March 17, for which the women have issued invitations. After the business routine, all present enjoyed a social hour.

The monthly meeting of the North Plainfield Township Improvement Society will be held on Monday evening in the Improvement Hall.

RECREATION NOTES

The Dramatic club will hold a party this evening in the Washington school.

The Dunbar dance will be held in the auditorium.

The Municipal dance will be held in the auditorium of the school tomorrow night. The pool tables and the game room will be in use both evenings.

"LADIES' NIGHT" AFFAIR.

The West End Civic Association will hold a "Ladies' Night" in the Washington school, on Thursday evening, March 15. A very enjoyable social evening is promised residents of the West End, and to that end the services of Joseph Bero, of New York, the noted humorist and singer, has been secured by the committee. Dancing will be a feature of the evening.

MARTINE UPSETS PRIMARY PLANS

Not Candidate For Delegate to St. Louis.

OWN MANAGER, HE SAYS

Democratic Leaders Had Schemed to Run Congressman Scully Against Senator and if Latter Won to Enter Him In Race For Toga—Fowler's Entry Worries Republicans.

Trenton, March 10.—Politicians here have been wondering who is managing the campaign of United States Senator James Edgar Martine, who is seeking renomination in the Democratic primary. He says he is his own campaign manager, but he made the same kind of an assertion six years ago, and it is a well known fact that he was nominated by the late William W. St. John.

As a fact, Martine did not know he was a candidate in 1910 until Mr. St. John called him up by telephone from one of the Trenton hotels and told him that a boom was to be started, and it was St. John, a newspaper reporter at the time, who was publicity agent and manager for Martine until after the legislature elected him, acquiescing in the device made by the voters in the primary. Then St. John became the senator's secretary and prevented him from making any serious "breaks."

But the reporter, manager, guide, philosopher and friend died three years ago, and since then the senior senator from New Jersey has been "taking his own head." That is why politicians are wondering, for the senator surely scored on his enemies in his party on Monday when he announced that he would not be a candidate for delegate at large to St. Louis, intimating that since he was seeking re-election he had no desire to monopolize all the honors.

To use a common expression, the senator has surely "put one over" on his enemies. There was a well conceived plan to run Congressman Scully against Martine for delegate at large in the April primary and if Scully won or showed real strength to enter him for the United States senatorship in September.

The contest on the Republican side has been still further complicated by the announcement from former Congressman Charles N. Fowler that he will be a candidate for Martine's seat. The politicians are trying to figure out how this will affect former Governors Murphy and Stokes. Since Fowler is a frequent caller upon Stokes when in Trenton, there is a suspicion that he has been put into the fight to weaken Murphy.

Six years ago, when the three were the only Republican candidates for senator, Fowler received 13,705 votes in Essex county to 17,782 for Murphy and but 2,268 for Stokes, and in Hudson county Fowler received more votes than Murphy and Stokes combined. If the former congressman has retained his popularity his candidacy will help Stokes this year.

DOCTOR SUED FOR $51,000.

Newark Physician Held Responsible For Child's Deformity.

Paterson, March 10.—Holding Dr. Joseph Fewsmith of Newark responsible for the crippled condition of five-year-old Mae O'Brien, the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. O'Brien, filed suits for $51,000 in the supreme court circuit.

In the papers drawn by former Judge Francis Scott and John O. Benson, counsel for the O'Briens, it is asserted that Mae O'Brien was a normal child at birth, but now suffers from curvature of the spine and paralysis of both legs.

BUS OWNERS MUST TAKE OUT INSURANCE

Bill Designed to Regulate Jitneys is Passed by the Assembly.

Trenton, March 8.—The Assembly has passed the substitute measure reported by the committee on municipal corporations for the original bill introduced by John B. Kates, of Camden County, regulating the use of jitney buses. There was a spirited debate on the bill, as it was charged that the substitute would do more to put the 3,500 jitneyers out of business than the Kates bill.

The measure provides that owners of the automobile buses must take out liability or indemnity insurance to the amount of $5,000, and Assemblymen Godfrey and Whitman, both of Atlantic county, charged that no insurance company operating in the State would issue such a bond for a fee that the jitney men could afford to pay.

As had been expected, Governor Fielder vetoed Assemblyman Godfrey's bill reorganizing the State Department of Labor and continuing Commissioner of Labor Lewis T. Bryant in office for another full term of five years. The Governor said the act repudiated the findings of the Economy and Efficiency Commission, and was improper legislation in that the admitted reason for it was that the commissioner and the Governor were not of the same political faith, and it was feared the former would not be reappointed. The same bill was passed by the Republicans last year, but the Governor vetoed it too late for reconsideration. That his disapproval will be overridden before this session closes seems certain, in view of the Legislature's action in again passing the measure.

WRONG DIAGNOSIS BLAMED FOR SPREAD OF MEASLES

Wrong diagnosis by physicians of Orange, it is said, have caused a great spread of measles among school children in that city. Forty-three cases were reported at the Lincoln Avenue School alone, and fear was expressed that many more children would be taken ill before the disease was brought under control. The charge against the physicians was made by Frank J. Osborne, health officer of Orange, who asserted that children were sent back to school upon the physicians' orders after they had been told to go to their homes by their teachers.

A similar condition among school children in Montclair was also reported last night. Fifty cases were reported, and the disease was said to be especially prevalent in the North End of the town. The health department, as a result, issued orders yesterday that children excluded from school must not be permitted to leave their homes until they have been pronounced cured. The spread of the disease in Montclair is laid to the fact that many of the children sent home from school were permitted by their parents to attend Sunday-school classes.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion.

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion is nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases, which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids, and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescing, and, furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

EDGE'S PLAN FOR BUSINESS RULE

Atlantic Co. Senator Has New Ideas of Gubernatorial Functions.

HAS WIDE EXPERIENCE

Raised in a Business Atmosphere, From Office Boy to Owner of Great International Business, He is Anxious to Try His Hand at Being the "People's Manager" of New Jersey's $15,000,000 Annual Business.

(From the Trenton Sunday Times-Advertiser.)

"Sound business principles applied to the administration of the public government of New Jersey—a fifteen million dollar annual business turnover."

That, in a line, will be the shibboleth of Senator Walter Evans Edge, of Atlantic County, in his campaign for the office of Governor—a shibboleth that has guided the entire private and public life of the Senator from boyhood up.

In approaching Senator Edge for an interview at his Atlantic City office, one is immediately conscious of a composite picture of business energy abundant good nature and unassuming democracy. He will be found before a stack of mail, reading letters and dictating answers to his secretary, all at the same time, even while patiently tolerating a constant interruption by the telephone from friends or the many departments of his extensive international advertising business. Yet he greets the visitor affably and courteously, informally and democratically There is no body guard or office boy to hold one up. Edge is to be seen at once without any formality or frills Edge is Edge, and he doesn't pretend to be anything more.

Senator's Views.

Discussing his political ambition the other day, the Senator said, "haven't the time or the inclination to assume such a responsibility unless can render much more than a mere political service. I believe implicitly in party organization and in government by parties, but I believe that the governor of New Jersey ought to be more than the titular leader of his party. I believe he ought to be the business manager, if you like, of the government of New Jersey—the business agent of all the people, regardless of partisan affiliations or politics. In other words, party and politics constitute the means to the office, but the end of the office ought to be service to all that the party and the politics responsible therefor may be justified and properly credited."

Senator Edge's freedom from blind partisanship is doubtless largely responsible for his success in state politics. He never has been restricted by the narrow confines. His impartial management of the economy and efficiency commission during the administrations of Governor Wilson and Governor Fielder indicated his broad political vision. Then it is well remembered how Edge, when acting-governor of the state during the period when Governor Fielder was attending the Panama exposition, came out promptly and frankly in a number of public speeches pleading for the people of New Jersey to support President Wilson loyally in the crisis with Germany.

In reply to a question concerning the lines along which he would apply business principles were he the governor of the state, the senator outlined his policies briefly, succinctly, clearly

He said: "Of course, my chief reason to be governor is because of the splendid honor which is conferred on that man who is given the privilege of officiating as the highest executive officer of the great state of New Jersey; and because of the desirable record which I shall have carved if I am able to serve the state as I think I can.

"But I should like to be governor in order to push along to a completion the task of economy and efficiency, consolidation of departments and introduction of business principles into the state government, a task that I have endeavored to help in a small way to inaugurate while a member of the legislature.

"New Jersey today represents approximately a $15,000,000 annual business. And you know that a $15,000,000 business, even in these days, is a big business and can be conducted with the best results only through the application of business principles from the fountain head down.

"In my twenty-three years of active business life, I have endeavored to study the vocation of successful business, both from the standpoint of modest business interests and from the standpoint of rather extended business interests. I have never claimed to be a politician, although, as you know, I have been intensely interested in public life; but I don't believe that it takes a politician to handle the throttle and brakes when the ponderous machinery of this great state is in motion. I believe it takes a business man. New Jersey never needed a business administration of public affairs more urgently than she needs it now. Every man who has lifted up the cover at any point and even merely glanced at the machinery of government appreciates the truth of this statement.

Duty of Business Men.

"I believe it is the duty of business men to get into politics and take an interest in government.

"I want to see New Jersey's appropriations placed on a complete budget system," he replied, without a second's hesitation. "When I say this I am not speaking in general terms at all I mean that every department or institution expending state money shall prepare in proper form a complete business layout of their work each year in ample time before appropriations are made; that the proper state officials, headed by the governor, who is supposed to be the general manager of the state's business, shall prune these budgets and that the appropriations as finally made by the legislature will be along business, rather than political or sentimental lines.

"I want to see every department and institution of this state reporting to headquarters through the proper financial and other channels, so that the governor of the state through the various department heads is in actual and active contact or touch with all of the business of the state, not theoretically but practically, as is the case in every successful private business.

"I want to see bulk purchases made by a central purchasing power on wholesale rather than a retail scale. This is efficiency that results in economy.

"I want it to be an accepted practice that no leigslature, under that very elusive heading of 'anticipated revenue,' will ever appropriate more than the income of the state, thus making a deficit impossible.

"I want to see our road system absolutely revised and reorganized and the state returned to the position where it started in this development some twelve or fifteen years ago.

"Through our economy and efficiency bills we have started the process of consolidation. There is, of course, much more to do, but there are very few men in this state who appreciate the straight-arm pounding that was necessary to even secure the entering wedge we did last year after four years' work. It should be easier in the future.

"In a word, I have no ambition to be governor of New Jersey simply to carry on a political government alone," the senator concluded. "I believe in government by parties. I recognize the parties and what they stand for, but in my judgment that recognition can be given and at the same time the business of the state conducted in business-like manner. The two are not incompatible."

Senator Edge's ability to carry out this ambitious program is not doubted by his friends who are familiar with his accomplishments as a private business man. He is only 42 years old. Yet he is easily a millionaire and he has accumulated this fortune through the channels of business in a comparatively few years. He has made his money through net annual profits in the general advertising and newspaper business and through his wise investments in real estate, banks and other legitimate enterprises.

Was Poor Boy.

Edge was a poor boy. The former editor of one of his newspapers tells an interesting story of how Edge, holding a job as "printers' devil" at $3 per week on the paper, had to sweep out the editor's office as a part of his daily duties. Later Edge bought the afternoon paper and hired the editor to work for him.

Edge's first business venture proved a remarkable success. He secured the Dorland advertising agency, then a modest newspaper advertising concern doing a very small and not especially profitable business in Atlantic City. This was his first opportunity to apply business principles of his own conception. The application was so effective that in a short time the Dorland advertising agency was doing an annual business in the millions and returning net annual profits accordingly. Edge built up the business and pushed it until it became a great and powerful business organization, with offices in New York, London, Berlin, Paris and Brussels, as well as in Atlantic City, and handling a large percentage of all the highest class newspapers and magazine advertising businesses of two continents.

As a publisher of newspapers, Senator Edge has been equally successful, although, of course, on a smaller scale.

Political Activities

Said a friend the other day, The capacity of the Atlantic county man for business has been demonstrated by his public life quite as plainly as by his private life. He has a record for constructive legislation which is indeed enviable. For instance, there is the workingmen's compensation act, which he personally introduced and fought to enactment through the legislature in the face of terrific opposition after serving on the commission that drafted the bill and even going to Europe to continue his research work in the quest of ideas on the subjects of employers' liability and workmen's compensation.

Then there are the economy and efficiency acts. Senator Edge's work on this commission was of the highest order of merit and his statesmanship in getting the legislature to pass the bills despite powerful political influences was nothing short of admirable. What is more difficult of passage in any legislature than a bill which eliminates political sinecures? And the economy and efficiency bills necessarily eliminated sinecures because they consolidated departments in the interests of economy and efficiency and resulted in saving the state thousands of dollars annually, not to speak of efficiency in running the machinery of government. Jobholders, large and small, were armed to the teeth and out to defeat the bills. But the Atlantic Senator forced them through, just as he said he would, and thereby did the taxpayers of New Jersey a genuine service.

While acting-governor of the state, during the absence of Governor Fielder, the Atlantic county senator again showed his rare capacity for work. Aside from attending twenty dinners in his official capacity in thirty days and attending to such details as representing New Jersey at the fleet review in New York, and during the first direct telephoning between New Jersey and California, Acting-Governor Edge called attention to the legislative enactment of a year ago to adopt a permanent type of stationery for the various departments in the state house, called on the tuberculosis commission in cattle to stop the spread of the foot and mouth disease among hogs in North Jersey and gave some interesting decisions in extradition matters. The executive and administrative ability which he displayed during this brief period of five weeks in the governor's chair created a very favorable impression.

Other friends of the Senator advance many arguments why Atlantic county should be honored with a gubernatorial candidate even if the sectional arguments were used. The great seashore resorts of the Atlantic seaboard, extending from Sandy Hook to Cape May Point, represent one of the biggest businesses in the state. They bring millions of people here. Their assessed valuation runs up into the hundreds of millions of dollars, and not one of the seaboard counties ever furnished New Jersey a governor.

Senator Edge's home life in Atlantic City is most pleasant in a comfortable cottage near the ocean on Pennsylvania avenue. Recently he purchased an entire block in Chelsea, owned by Atlantic City's mayor, and it is said that the price was an even quarter of a million dollars. Senator Edge had planned to build a beautiful home on this wonderfully choice piece of ground, but last summer he suffered a serious blow in the sad death of his wife, who was Lady Lee Phillips, only daughter of Mrs. Sarah Lee Phillips, of Memphis, Tenn., prior to her marriage to Senator Edge at Memphis on June 10, 1907.

Mrs. Edge's death cast a gloom over the entire city, as she was of a particularly lovable character and disposition with all the characteristics of the southland, and through her natural, unaffected manner had endeared herself in all classes. A son was born shortly before Mrs. Edge's death, and now six months old and chubby and precocious, this youngster is the bright, particular star and comfort of the Edge home. Mr. and Mrs. William Edge, parents of senator Edge, are still living and reside in Atlantic City. They take a keen interest in his active political career and are as well informed and as enthusiastically concerned about the gubernatorial race as the senator himself.

Y. W. C. A. OPENS TRAINING CENTER

Luncheon to Be Given by the National Board to Directors of New York Ass'n.

TO BE USED AS MODEL

Widely Known Leaders Will Make Addresses—Managers of Panama Exposition Cafeteria to Be in Charge of Affair.

The National Board of the Young Women's Christian Associations is always doing some piece of experimental work which can be used as a model by the 985 city, student and county associations throughout the country.

Five years ago the important piece of new work was the establishing of the international institute for immigrant girls in New York city. Today it is the opening of a national training center for cafeteria directors to meet the needs of local associations which now have or are establishing such lunch rooms, but which find it hard to secure women as directors who have the required business ability plus the association point of view, which alone can make these places a success.

The Association Cafeteria, as this lunch room is called, occupies the first floor and basement of the new building now ready for occupancy at 29-33 West Thirty-sixth street, New York. It will be opened today at 1:30 p. m. by a luncheon given by the national board to the members of the board of directors of New York city, and the committees of management of New York city, and to the presidents and boards of directors of the nearby associations, numbering several hundred guests. The branches of the New York City Association represented will be the board of directors of New York city (the governing board for all New York city work, the central branch, Harlem Association, West Side branch, the International Institute, the French branch, the Central Club for Nurses, the Studio club, the recreation center and the Bronx association. The Central Association of Brooklyn, and the Eastern District Association, will be represented, as will also the associations in Jersey City, Newark, Passaic, Paterson, Plainfield, Yonkers, and the Oranges. The general secretaries of these associations will be present.

Mrs. Robert E. Speer, president of the National Board, will preside. Miss Louise Holmquist, executive of the Department of Method of the national organization, will explain the purpose of the cafeteria, which is not to provide the technical training offered in the institutional management courses of schools and colleges, but to put the students through the actual experience of managing such a lunch room, and supplementing this practical training by the particular needs of Young Women's Christian Associations which are peculiar alone to that work.

A Y. W. C. A. cafeteria director has it in her power to make the entire work of every department possible. She vitalizes it all by popularizing her own department. For instance, there are club suppers which must be appetizing and nourishing for a low price, there are picnic luncheons to be put up for hiking parties, etc., and there are baskets with camping supplies for week-end parties—all of which bring the girls closer to the association.

Miss Ella Schooley, who was the executive of the Young Women's Christian Association at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition and who is to be the executive of this national training cafeteria in New York, will speak at the luncheon on the need with the national board hopes to meet here while carrying on this experimental work.

Miss Schooley will have on her staff of managers, Mrs. Frances Holroyd, the pioneer in cafeteria management, who was the director of the lunch room in the Y. W. C. A. building at the Exposition. She will be the consulting director of the New York training center. Mrs. Mercedes Gould, who assisted Mrs. Holroyd in San Francisco, will be the managing director.

At 6:45 this evening a supper will be given to the girls of New York city and vicinity, who enjoyed the rest and recreation privileges of some of the Y. W. C. A. camps last summer. Tomorrow, at the same hour, a supper will be given to the girls who are members of classes or clubs in the associations in Ne wYork and the surrounding cities.

The local association looks to the national board for something more than theory, for a practical demonstration; and the national board hopes in this new cafeteria on West Thirty-sixth street to train directors through actual experience in managing a lunch room located in such a center as to meet the same needs that must be met in any association cafeteria in any city of the country.

This cafeteria will be open to the public on Monday, March 13. Service will be continuous from 7 a. m. through the evening.

THE FAMOUS MARDI GRAS at New Orleans

How the Crescent City Celebrates This Ancient Fete -- Splendor and Pomp of the Pre-Lenten Festival of This Delightful Southern City.

NEW ORLEANS is unique in many respects. Whilst it has participated in the general progress of the country and is an American city in its sentiment and ambition, yet it still retains many of the characteristics and customs of more than a century ago, when it was almost wholly French. These relics of the past add to its picturesqueness and give to it a distinct individuality not possessed by any other large city of the United States. Situated towards the mouth of the magnificent "Father of Waters," it has become a great mart for the export of the staple products of the South. Retaining much of the social atmosphere and chivalry of ante-bellum days, it still carries with becoming dignity the splendid aristocracy of the old Southland, and many of its people point with pride to an ancestry that owed allegiance to the Louis of France, clinging with great tenacity to the customs and habits of their forebears—all combine to make the Crescent City the most unique in our land.

One of the oldest institutions of the city is its carnival and Mardi Gras, the latter a distinctive social feature whose participants are drawn from the New Orleans "400."

The carnival, properly speaking, begins with the "Twelfth Night Revellers'" ball on January 6th, and ends with the magnificent Mardi Gras on Shrove Tuesday. There is, however, a clear line of cleavage between the two, as the carnival spirit runs riot with all classes, while the Mardi Gras participants are from the exclusive social set who spend their money lavishly in reproducing scenes from history, poetry and fairyland on floats which are manned by leading professionals and drawn through the streets just before the beginning of the Lenten season. It is said that the Mardi Gras idea comes from France, but the real origin of the festivity dates back to ancient Rome, when the sacrifice of the Lupercalia was carried out with pomp and splendor. The word "carnival" is derived from the Latin words "carne"—flesh, and "vale"—farewell; hence, its appropriateness to the coming of Lent.

Mobile holds first Mardi Gras.

Although Mobile was the first city to have a Mardi Gras parade, New Orleans soon outstripped that city by the grandeur of the affair, and today the festivities on that occasion surpass even Nice in the barbaric magnificence of the floats. Indeed, it is doubtful whether Rome in her pagan days had anything to compare with these spectacular floats which pass up Canal street each year. New Orleans had her first Mardi Gras in 1837 and her second in 1839, and ever since that time, with a few exceptions, the festival has been celebrated each year upon a larger and grander scale.

Mystic Krewe's.

In 1857 the Society of the Mystic Krewe of Comus was organized, and during the Mardi Gras of that year they appeared upon a series of floats representing scenes from Milton's "Paradise Lost." A grand ball followed in the old St. Louis ballroom. Again in 1852 there was a Mardi Gras ball which has gone down in history as one of the memorable events of the city. The dark days of the Civil War put an end to the festivities for a time, as from 1861 to 1866 there was little of the carnival spirit anywhere in the South, but after the dawn of peace the Mystic Krewe of Comus resumed their entertainments by giving a grand street parade and ball annually until 1884. Then came a lull until 1890, when they reappeared in a review of their own history. Since that time they have never failed to bring out a series of artistic floats. The Comus is the oldest of the several carnival associations. Rex, who plays such an important part in the present day festivities, made his first appearance in 1872, when the Grand Duke Alexis visited New Orleans.

The Knights of Momus was organized in 1872, and that of Proteus in 1882. Other carnival associations are the Krewe of Nereus, The Atlanteans, The Elves of Oberon and The High Priests of Mithras. These, however, merely give balls during the carnival season. It is the Momus, Comus, Proteus and Rex, the King of the Carnival, which go to make up the great Mardi Gras parades and balls.

How the Mardi Gras is Managed.

Only those who have witnessed these pageants can fully realize the immense amount of labor and money which are expended in their perfection. The members of these societies are citizens of the highest social standing and they not only give their time to the management of the affair but bear the expense of the displays out of their own private means. It is not uncommon for a single parade to cost from $20,000.00 to $30,000.00. Each association has about two hundred and fifty members, and about one hundred of these are selected to man the floats, the others serving on various committees. Each society has a "Captain," and this man is in supreme command.

Everything is done in secret and the associations have no permanent meeting place. The entire year is given over to preparation, for the day after the Mardi Gras these gentlemen begin their plans for the coming year. Subjects are discussed and artists are called in to assist and after some scene from history, mythology or folklore has been selected the drawings for the floats are made. Then comes the work of building the floats. The selection of the men who are to impersonate the characters is made with the utmost care as "types" are selected for this just as they are for the caste of a play. The face, however, plays little part, as masks covering the entire face are worn—such queer wax doll looking masks which so completely hide the identity of the wearer that a woman is unable to recognize her own husband.

After the "types" have been selected their measurements are taken and the costume makers begin their work. The court tailors usually have their work completed by December first of the preceding year and the costumes are stored away until the great day arrives. The floats are constructed in some mysterious place known as "the den"—usually in the yard of some out-of-the-way cotton press. Everybody assists in keeping the style of the floats a secret—even the carpenters, painters, gilders and papier mache workers would never dream of "letting the cat out of the bag." Consequently, all New Orleans is surprised when the floats appear.

Fairyland.

The Ball Committee, too, is busy, for this affair opens with a series of tableaux which lead the spectator into realms of fairyland. The drilling of the people who are to take part in these is also done in secret and an air of mystery seems to pervade society for weeks before the event. The balls are given on Monday and Tuesday nights after the parade reaches the French Opera House. Admission to these balls is by invitation only and seem to be one of the few things in the world which cannot be purchased.

Another unique custom is the "Called out" card which is sent to ladies who are to be asked to dance. A special place is reserved for those receiving such cards and during the ball they sit in their places "like Patience on a monument," quietly waiting until the usher calls out "Miss Brown," "Jones," or whatever the lady's name may be. The lady "called" at once stands up and the usher takes her to the steps leading to the stage. Here one of the "masked marvels" meets her and leads her off for a dance. As her partner is still wearing his "false face" and probably disguising his voice the lady probably has not the slightest idea who he may be. Toward midnight the men begin to give their partners souvenirs such as their caps, cloaks, bits of jewelry, etc., and many girls carry home the most expensive velvet capes and fur trimmed robes.

There is a King at each of these balls and each organization selects a society bud as the Queen—an honor much sought after by the New Orleans society girls. After the tableaux the Queen and her Maids of Honor join the King and his retinue in the Royal Quadrille. The whole affair is a perfect dream of beauty and unlike anything else seen in this country. After midnight the maskers retire one by one and later appear in the regulation evening clothes, their partners still undecided as to their identity.

The Rex Ball is always crowded as invitations to this are not so exclusive and may be obtained by applying to the Mayor.

Parades.

The Mardi Gras proper begins on Monday morning when Rex, the King of the Carnival, comes up the harbor in his royal yacht surrounded by his Court consisting of dukes and peers. He is supposed to come from a distance and is escorted by a fleet of gaily decked boats which blow their whistles in his honor. There is the booming of cannon and as he steps ashore the bands play and the crowds which fill every available space cheer. Escorted by a committee, Rex is taken to the City Hall, where the mayor presents him with the Keys of the City—a golden key resting upon a cushion upon which are embroidered the royal arms. Rex accepts the keys and during the Mardi Gras has the freedom of the city, even to driving his royal automobile where no other vehicles are allowed. His Queen and her Maids in the meantime have gone to the Boston Club (the most exclusive Club of the city) and are seated on the stand erected in front of the building. When the parade with Rex at its head riding on a picturesque float reaches this point the pageant halts and the King drinks the health of his Queen in champagne. The procession then moves on up Canal street while thousands of spectators line the sidewalks. The United States Government always sends a battleship or two for the occasion and the sailors in their natty uniform are a feature of the parade.

The Comus and Momus parades are held at night—one on Monday and the other on Tuesday. They consist of a number of magnificent float tableaux representing such scenes as Scott's romance of "The Talisman," "The Culprit Fay," "Alladin and the Wonderful Lamp," "Jerusalem Delivered" from Tasso's poem, and in 1914 the Krewe of Momus gave a series known as "Odds and Ends of Nonsense," showing floats of "The Goose Girl," "The Lady and the Tiger," "Humpty-Dumpty," "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary," "Easter Rabbits," "The Owl and the Pussy Cat," etc.

These parades are given with all the dramatic effects and are indescribably beautiful, presenting a kaleidoscope of color and light which seems like something unreal. The floats are each drawn by six or eight horses led by negro men wearing red dominoes and carrying torches. The ponderous floats are manned by men in costume which make those of a spectacular stage production pale into insignificance. As the pageant passes up Canal street the whole city is illuminated by thousands of incandescent lights. The figures on the floats turn from side to side, bowing and tossing strings of beads and other bits of jewelry to the ladies on the stands. The mass of people on the sidewalks, many of whom have caught the spirit of the carnival, yell with delight and the noise of rattles and paper caps fairly deafens the onlooker, some of whom have stood for hours waiting for the rocket which pierces the sky with a lurid light to announce the starting of the parade.

Carnival Spirit.

Mardi Gras days are legal holidays in New Orleans and patrician and plebian vie with each other in the carnival spirit. When the procession reaches the Opera House the maskers descend from the floats and enter by the stage entrance and a few minutes later the tableaux are on and the ball begins.

All over the city people dress in grotesque costumes and go about the streets playing harmless jokes upon each other. There is no rowdyism and general good humor prevails.

Biscuits for the English Army in Egypt

Gigantic Task Which Confronts the Commissary Departments of the Warring Nations, and How They Are Meeting the Situation.

Copyright, 1916, by The International Syndicate.

ALL the teachings of history have made it plain that the successful commanders of armies must also be commissary experts. An illfed man cannot do efficient work nor can he fight. This fact had been demonstrated in every war which has occurred since the Christian era and even before. Take the case of Darius, who in the pre-Christian era despatched an army of 700,000 men across the Bosphorus and then saw them go down to defeat on account of an inefficient commissary. Xerxes was a wiser leader and demonstrated the real worth of the proper subsistence of any army when he sent over two million men into Greece. His first thought had been of their food and he accumulated an enormous amount of stores before starting on the march, and added to these as he went along. According to Herodotus, his men as well as the camp followers, were all well fed.

The system of carrying individual rations was first adopted by the Roman armies and each man's food for one day at that time consisted of about two pounds of wheat, rye or barley, some pork and lentils and other vegetables. A supply of wine was also a part of the rations.

Frederick the Great's success was due to his ability as a commissariat. He recognized the fact that it was not enough to collect provisions in storehouses but that these supplies must be so arranged as to be within reach of the troops in the field and on more than one occasion he is said to have changed his plan of campaign in order to fit it in with the movements of his food trains. He always arranged things so that each soldier had two pounds of bread every day and two pounds of meat every week. Other food the men purchased out of their pay.

"An army travels on its stomach."

Napoleon once declared that "an army travelled on its stomach," and during several of his campaigns his men were well fed. He was the first officer to establish magazines for the provisioning of an army of invasion, and in his early campaigns it worked well. However, it was the lack of food which brought about his defeat in the Russian campaign of 1812 when the commissary ran short in a cold climate. He had made provisions for rations for his men and horses for a term of fifty days. His magazines were set up at Thorn, Konigsberg and Danziz and literally overflowing with food but these he left far behind in his anxiety to engage in a battle. Indeed so eager was he to "get at" the Russians that he refused to wait for his commissary train and pushed on, expecting to feed his men from the magazines of the enemy after he had defeated them, but instead of finding subsistence for his army Napoleon came upon a barren waste, the Russians having burned everything as they retreated. The supplies were far away and before they could be sent from the magazines, starvation and disease had thinned the ranks of the army which finally became a mere rabble. Thus it was that inadequate provisioning wrecked this great military enterprise.

In some instances armies have subsisted on the invaded territory, as in the case of Sherman's march during the Civil War and of the insurgent army of Cuba in 1898. But this is no longer possible owing to the splendid spy system which puts the enemy in touch with the army movements. During the Franco-German war of 1870-'71 the arrangement for feeding the German army was the best which had been devised up to that time. The schedule included not only the establishment of food reserves magazines but the provision of field bakeries and other accessories for the supply of the troops. Food was purchased from people in the invaded territory, added to the supply from the Fatherland and stored away in magazines as near as possible to the battle lines.

As compared to the great European war of today the numbers to be fed were insignificant and the unpoetic business of feeding the hordes of soldiers of the present conflict is being carried out with a precision far beyond the expectation of the commissary officers themselves. On one or two occasions there was a slight slip up but these were smoothed out without the men suffering to any great extent.

For instance in the early part of the war when the Germans started on their rapid march to Paris they left the commissary trains far behind. It is said that this little lack of precaution had much to do with their failure to take the French capital. While this may be mere conjecture on the part of military men, it is a well known fact that both the English and French soldiers who were defending the city were well fed. This little slip up on the part of Germany, if true, has taught her officers a lesson, for the men at both fronts have plenty to eat at present. Although Russia has tried the same tactics against Germany that wrecked the hopes of "the little Corporal" she had not succeeded perhaps on account of the increased facilities of communication. General von Bulow in a recent interview on this subject is quoted as saying, "In days when a railroad is being built a mile behind the advancing forces, when thousands of motor-lorries are close behind us, when asphalt roads spring out of the earth the strategy which worked against Napoleon is a failure. We drink German mineral water, eat fresh meat direct from Berlin. We can build a road fifty miles long if necessary in two days. It is therefore nonsense to speak of the times and strategy of Napoleon." It is a well known fact that Germany has been preparing for this war for years and her commissary department tried out all sorts of plans of carrying supplies long ago and tested nearly every kind of food which could be used as rations.

Transporting Casks of Pure Water to the Front

Handling food supply in Germany.

Like everything else in the German military system, there is little waste either of men or of supplies and the majority of the supply wagons are now driven by men who are unable to fight, many of these being convalescent wounded, meat is packed in Berlin and Cologne and sent to the front by trains. It is then put in the magazines and taken out as needed, flour, beans and other articles are forwarded the same way and every day fresh bread is baked at the field bakeries. Medical supplies and hospital foods go to the front over the nearest lines of communications.

Potatoes are cooked with skins on, in order to prevent the waste which comes in paring them. Every scrap of meat is utilized in soup or hash, in fact pothing is allowed to go to waste in Germany today. When the food reaches headquarters there are hundreds of cooks on hand to prepare it for the men and the commissary department has seen to it that the cooks know how to avoid the least waste. The traveling field kitchens are dragged about by horses and the men receive their rations without wasting much strength to secure them. Germany wants her men to reserve their strength to combat against the dampness of the trenches and to fight against the enemy. Soup seems to be the real staff of life to the armies of the present war. Apart from feeding her army Germany has over a million prisoners and these must be fed as well.

Russia.

Russia can feed her army if she can reach them, but the roads of that country are far from good and while she has railroads and motor lorries she depends upon the Siberian ponies for hauling the greater part of the food supplies.

One of the largest bases of the commissary department is located in Moscow and from this most of the supplies are sent to the front. The Russian soldier was never well fed even in the days of peace, as the coarse black bread he was forced to eat at the barracks was the most unpalatable stuff imaginable, but the soldiers of the Czar are stolid creatures and if they are given soup and some sort of bread they are satisfied.

Russia learned her lesson in feeding an army during the Japanese-Russian war when the latter country was graft ridden especially in the commissary department and the soldiers many times were on the verge of starvation or disease owing to the spoiled meats and other bad foods which were sent to them. During the present war this department has been carefully watched and the men receive full rations of fresh food.

French and English.

France, too, has improved her commissary department and has kept her line of communication open with little difficulty. Unlike the other armies, the French frequently take their cattle and pigs to the front "on the hoof" and have them slaughtered there. The cattle are driven along in the open roads behind the troops while the pigs are loaded into motor busses and driven behind the supply wagons. Of course canned meats are used as well.

The English commissary department is in excellent condition and her soldiers live well. Long before the war began an organization known as the Army Service Corps set about to make out a system of feeding the troops in the event of a European war. They inspected the various depots, several of which were at once enlarged and fomented plans, and when war was declared the food was ready but the difficulty was with the cooks, and for a time the men who went over to France suffered from indifferent food preparation, but finally after no little difficulty these amateur cooks were given other places and the soldiers began to enjoy real rations. Then extras began to pour in and the men were fairly deluged with luxuries in the way of jam and sweets. Of course the Englishman must have his tea and big tea wagons very like the German field kitchens, open up behind the trenches every day at tea time. During the early part of the war bread was baked for the army at the field bases in ovens, with a capacity of ninety loaves per day. These were gradually supplemented by steam travelling ovens, each capable of baking 4,000 loaves a day. Meat is kept on board what is known as "frozen meat" vessels until needed, and then sent out in commissary trains to the front. Motor lorries have carried supplies all along the battle front during severe engagements and on some occasions men rushed directly into the firing line with food for the soldiers in the trenches.

Where troops are standing in more or less fixed positions, the Army Service Corps feeds the Britishers well, as the menu for the day shows: bacon for breakfast, bread and cheese for lunch, hot meat, vegetables, and bread with jam and tea for dinner. While on the march hot rations are served from time to time from field kitchens. Each British soldier carries what is known as an "iron ration" which he uses only in case of emergency.

Water supply.

A word might be written about the supply of water. This is usually obtained from local sources and empty petrol tins have made excellent receptacles for carrying it to the troops. The utmost care has to be taken with regard to the selection of the streams from which the water is drawn to ensure the purity of the supply. In nearly every instance the water used by the German army has been sent from Germany. This is due to the fact that some of the wells of Belgium were found to be poisoned.

Fish Exhibit Emotions.

We are accustomed to think that only we humans become pallid with fear or agitated with joy, but some experiments with perch in the artificial pond show that when their repose is suddenly disturbed by tapping on the glass the fish visibly tremble, and the bars which are characteristic of this species actually disappear for the time being, only to reappear when the disturbance is removed and the equanimity of the fish is restored.

Sometimes a pike that is rapidly advancing on his prey becomes suspicious about the latter's character. The pursuer will suddenly stop in an attitude of doubt, his back will arch, and he will remain suspended as though studying the cause of his suspicions. Only when he is thoroughly reassured does he become rigid, to advance to the final attack; if his suspicion is not allayed he drops to the bottom of the pond or swims off in disappointment.—Popular Science Monthly.

Success.

"One night at Lady Jeune's house Joseph Chamberlain said to me that he believed any man of even moderate endowment could attain any given aim which he set before him with unremitting effort and 'enduring to the end.' To my question, 'Why, then, do so many men fall short of their ambitions?' he answered: 'They come to the place where they turn back. They may have killed the dragon at the first bridge and at the second, perhaps even at the third. But the dragons are always more formidable the farther we go. Many turn back disheartened, and very few will meet the monsters to the end. Almost none is willing to have a try with the demon at the last bridge, but if he does he has won forever.'"—Princess Lazarovich in Century.

"I Love You."

Very interesting are the phrases used by the various people of the world to express "I love you." Wherever there are human beings declarations of love are made, and there are a thousand languages in which the tender passion may be expressed. The Chinese say "Uo ugai ni," the Armenian expresses his love with "Se siren as hez," the Arab is content with the short "Ne habbek," while the Turk murmurs "Sidi sevelorum." In India "Main syne ka pisar karim" is the declaration. But the Greenlander holds the palm for the word love. When he does not stammer it has fifteen syllables and has been recorded phonetically thus: "Unifgraeerndlainalerfironajunguarrigujak!"

An Ancient Guild.

The Cutlers' company had probably existed long before the grant of the first charter by Henry V. Early in the previous century a fierce quarrel is recorded between the Cutlers and the Sheathers, who were accused of having discredited the Cutlers by supplying them with unworkmanlike sheaths for knives, daggers and swords, to which the Sheathers cruelly retorted that the Cutlers disgraced the sheaths by selling inferior foreign blades for English.—London Spectator.

FALLS IN PATH OF FAST FREIGHT

Samuel Pyatt Slips on Ice and is Crushed to Death at South Plainfield.

HAD TAKEN SHORT CUT

Victim Was Hurrying to Work When He Was Killed—Was Native of Samptown—Leaves Wife, Three Daughters and Four Sons.

While taking a short cut from his home at Samptown across the Lehigh Valley tracks to the residence of Elias Bailey at South Plainfield, early this morning, Samuel Pyatt, aged 55 years, slipped on some ice and fell directly in front of a fast west-bound freight train and was instantly killed. His mangled body was removed to South Plainfield, where it was viewed by Coroner Mullen, of Perth Amboy. Later it was taken to the undertaking parlors of Casey & Son, pending funeral arrangements.

Mr. Pyatt, who was born at Samptown, in the vicinity of which he always lived, had been employed for a number of years by Mr. Bailey, who is in the contracting business. It has been his custom for a long time to take the "cut" over the railroad tracks, and a cap being well pulled down over his ears prevented him from hearing the rapidly approaching train until it was too late. The accident occurred just west of the railroad coaling station.

During his long residence in Piscataway township, Mr. Pyatt enjoyed a large acquaintance. He was an active member of the Baptist church at South Plainfield and a regular attendant at all the services. Rev. J. J. Allen, the pastor, conveyed the news of the fatality to Mr. Pyatt's family.

Beside a wife, Mr. Pyatt leaves three daughters, Mrs. Charles Randolph and the Misses Lena and Bertha Pyatt and four sons, Monroe, Russell, Melvin and Christopher Pyatt, and one brother, Ephraim Pyatt, all living near South Plainfield.

Joseph Kirch, son of Freeholder and Mrs. George Kirch, who has been ill with the grip for the past two weeks, is improved.

FORTUNE TELLERS MISSED THE SIGNS

Should Have Read "Beware of Dark Man" Here, But He Got Them.

If Lottie, Isabelle and Julia Cooper had really been fortune tellers, as they claimed, they would have foreseen trouble in Plainfield and the band of gypsies to which they belong would never have stopped to camp at Oak Tree.

Any good fortune teller could have warned them to beware of a dark man with thick hair and a pleasant smile who sits on a bench in Plainfield and sometimes says, "$10 or forty days." They couldn't read the signs right and as reading signs is their professed business no one is to blame but the fortune tellers themselves.

They were arrested by Patrolman Martin Welsh and Special Officer Reinhart on Madison avenue yesterday. The charge on which they were locked up was disorderly conduct. Several residents had complained that the three gypsy women were persistently seeking to have their palms crossed by servant girls in reward for disclosing dark screts in the lives of the aforesaid servant girls and for advice on "how to win him." One of the women, Lottie Cooper, visited the residence of Mrs. Harry Squires at 955 Union avenue and after Lottie left some articles of jewelry belonging to one of the servants could not be found.

Lottie was fined $10 or forty days. The others were released so that they could get in communication with the stars and find out how she was going to pay it. Judge De Meza ordered the whole band to hit the road as soon as they could pack up, and he allowed that performance shouldn't take very long.

REPORTS GREAT INTEREST IN COTTAGE PRAYER SERVICES

Concerning the work of the devotional committee, Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, the chairman, reports excellent and constantly increasing interest with most faithful and efficient work on the part of the various district superintendents. Several have already arranged for two or more cottage prayer meetings each night—Tuesday and Friday evenings—and all are heartily co-operating with the chairman.

It is planned to hold not less than one hundred such services next week, fifty each of the two evenings, and the utmost co-operation of the various superintendents is hereby enlisted, as well as the assistance of the pastors and public generally in speaking of these services and in inviting their friends. It is also requested that the various superinendents report the aggregate attendance of their several districts very promptly the morning following the services in every case.

MANTZ ADMITS BURGLARY CHARGE AND IS FINED $25

Elizabeth, March 11.—Joseph Castaro, of Plainfield, pleaded not guilty to two charges of assault when arraigned in the Court of Quarter Sessions yesterday afternoon and was remanded for trial next Friday.

Elmer Mantz, of Plainfield, admitted breaking into the office of the Metropolitan Insurance Co., in Plainfield, February 18, and stealing $5. As it was his first offense the court took into consideration a plea of lenciency by his counsel and fined him $25.

FORMER LOCAL MAN DIES IN JERSEY CITY

Charles B. Nevius, a former resident of South Plainfield, died Thursday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Nevius, of Jersey City. He had been ill about six weeks. Mr. Nevius was a telegraph operator and was last employed at Pittsburg, of which city he was a native. He was twenty-six years of age. Beside his parents, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elsie Nevius.

The funeral will be held at Jersey City Monday morning, and interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery, Plainfield.

IN HONOR OF MISS EAGLE.

Mrs. Herbert Schuldenfrei, of Sandford avenue, entertained twenty-five friends at her home last night in honor of Miss Ella Eagle, of Selma, Alabama. Dancing was one of thefeatures of the evening and refreshments were served in conclusion. Miss Eagle is a cousin to Mrs. Adolph Tepper, of West Seventh street, and has numerous acquaintances in Plainfield.

CORPS INSTALLS OFFICERS.

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps was held in Reform Hall last night, a large number of members being in attendance. Included in the gathering was a delegation from the New Brunswick Corps. During the business session the following officers were installed: Mrs. Annie E. Smith, senior vicepresident, and Miss Clara Barton Smith as treasurer. A social time followed the business portion of the meeting.

COME—LOOK US OVER.

With the completion of its new home, and the installation of all the machinery necessary for the production of the Daily Press, a cordial invitation is extended to our readers, advertisers and other friends to call and inspect the plant. The press is in operation every afternoon about 3:45, and it will give us great pleasure to be able to show it to visitors. By requesting permission to inspect the plant at the business office, arrangements can be made to be escorted through the plant at any time. Women are especially invited to see how a modern newspaper is produced. The only hours when we cannot extend this privilege are between 12 noon and 3:15 p. m.

GERMANS EXTEND GREAT OFFENSIVE

Are Now Hammering French Lines at Verdun and on West Front.

FRENCH HOLDING VAUX

English Warship Captures American Steamer—Seven U. S. Citizens on Boat Sunk by Gemans—All Escape Death.

Berlin, March 11 (by wireless).—While keeping up their terrific drive against Verdun the Germans are extending their offensive on the west front. Furious attacks have been launched in the region of Rheims, north of the Aisne River, where the wood of Ville Au Rois was carried by storm, the War Office announced today. The capture of 12 French officers and 725 men was officially reported.

Air Raid on Russian Warships.

The Admiralty announced today that a successful attack had been made by German hydroplanes on Russian warships in the Black Sea. Some destroyers were hit by bombs dropped from the air machines, which returned safely to their base.

Fail to Take Fort Vaux.

Paris, March 11.—French war statement:

"After bombarding our positions between Troyon and Berry Au Bac, north of the Aisne, for several hours yesterday, the Germans debouched from Ville Au Bois and attacked the salients which form our line at Bois Des Buttes. After a very sharp combat we drove the enemy from the section west of the forest which he had succeeded in occupying. West of the Meuse the Germans launched during the night a strong attack southeast of Bethincourt against our trenches along the road from Bethincourt to Chattancourt. An immediate counter attack again gave us control trench which the enemy had succeeded in penetrating. East of the Meuse the enemy redoubled his efforts between the village on the ridge of Fort De Vaux. The bombardment continued all night with great violence and numerous infantry assaults were made against the village which has been wrecked by shells. The enemy captured some houses east of the church. All his attacks were checked in the western part of the village, where we are still holding out following attacks made on the ridge of the fort."

Americans on Torpedoed Ships.

Washington, March 11.—The State Department received despatches today stating the Norwegian vessel Silius was torpedoed without warning on March 9. There were seven Americans aboard, but all were rescued. No other details have been received. Confirmation of despatches telling of of torpedoing of the French vessel Louisiane has also been received.

U. S. Boat Held by England.

Unofficial advices received at the State Department today state that the American merchantman Edna, formerly the Mexican ship Mazatalan, was seized by a British cruiser off the coast of Chile more than a month ago and is now held at Port Stanley, Falkland Islands. The ship is owned by Sudden & Christianson, of San Francisco. A protest has been lodged with Secretary Lansing by the owners of the vessel.

Roumania Takes Grain.

London, March 11.—Roumania has seized 50,000 wagon-loads of cereals which had been sold to Germany, according to the Rome Wireless Service today. The grain is to be used by the Roumanian army. It was part of 100,000 wagon-loads of cereals which had been sold to Germany.

Portuguese Cabinet Resigns.

Lisbon, March 11.—The Portuguese cabinet resigned today. A war cabinet is formed to deal with the issues raised by Germany's declaration of war.

U-Boat Sinks Two Ships.

London, March 11.—The submarine that sunk the French steamship Louisaine, afterward torpedoed the three-masted schooner Silius. The captain and two others were drowned.

Morgan on Way Home.

Londan, March 11.—J. P. Morgan left here at noon today for Liverpool, to sail for New York on the liner Philadelphia. A number of government officials were at the station to see Mr. Morgan off.

CAPSTICK EXPLAINS VOTE ON WARNING

Has No Apologies for Support of McLemore Resolution.

In explanation of his vote on the McLemore resolution Congressman John H. Capstick has sent several letters to constituents in this district. He offers no apologies for his action. His letter follows:

Replying to your communication relative to my vote on the McLemore resolution to warn Americans off armed vessels of belligerent nations, I desire to express regret that my action was a disappointment to you, and to assure you of my appreciation for your thought and interest.

Considerable misinformaion and misconception exist concerning the facts included in and the circumstances surrounding this issue. It was my feeling that being on the ground and otherwise in an advantageous position to analize the situaion ,it was my plain duty to vote as I did. I have no apologies to offer. My conscience is clear and my conviction firm that I did right. Furthermore, the prediction is made that subsequent disclosures will justify my stand.

Partisanship, political or otherwise, played no part in my consideration of this question. Nor did expediency influence me. It was actuated in doing the right as I saw it, with no other inspiraion than my judgment and conscience. The exigencies of the situation asserted themselves to me in an essential rather than an esthetic sense and impelled me as a moral obligation to withold support from an action which I consider has resulted in an equivocal evasion.

I trust mature thought will tend to convince you my reasoning is worthy of your favorable consideration, and if not, that you will believe my intentions honorable and unprejudiced.

Very truly yours,
JOHN H. CAPSTICK.

MRS. JULIA E. RANDOLPH DIES AT HORSEHEADS, N. Y.

Mrs. Julia E. Randolph, widow of David L. Randolph, and a resident of this city for many years, died yesterday at Horseheads, N. Y., following a few weeks' illness which began with grip. Death occurred at the former home of her sister, the late Mrs. Mary A. Rogers, who passed away on January 2, of this year. The body is to be brought to Plainfield and the funeral service will be held in the Seventh-Day Baptist church, of which she was a devoted member, Monday afternoon at 2:30. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

Mrs. Randolph had a large circle of acquaintances here and after the death of her sister it was her intention to come back to Plainfield for the purpose of making her home with another sister, Mrs. W. B. Maxson, of Truell Court. This plan was to have been carried out in the spring. Beside Mrs. Maxson, Mrs. Randolph is survived by one brother, J. Howard Titsworth, of Nortonville, Kansas, also several nephews and nieces. Only one of the latter resides in this city, Miss Mabel Maxson, of Truell Court.

MAGNETO POINTS BELONG TO INTERNATIONAL COMPANY

The International Motor Company has notified Chief of Police Kiely that platinum covered magneto points sold by Thomas Riordan, of this city, in Newark, last week, were the property of that company. More than 120 of these points have disappeared from the motor company's plant within the past week. Riordan has been sent back to Newark. Chief Kiely will endeavor to have the points returned.

MURDERERS BELIEVED TO BE COMING TO PLAINFIELD

Local police have been asked to look for two Poles who yesterday afternoon murdered and robbed a paymaster and his clerk in the suburbs of Philadelphia. The murderers secured more than $2,500. It is believed that they came toward this city when they escaped and that they will stop somewhere near Plainfield. One is described is being 35 years old, five feet ten inches tall, weighs 200 pounds, is smooth shaven, of dark complexion and wears a dark blue coat and blue cap. The other is six feet seven inches tall, weighs only 135 pounds, has a brown moustache and has on a brown suit and brown cap.

DR. WEST TO SPEAK.

Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, will be in charge of the services at the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow while Dr. Raymond West, executive secretary of the New Jersey Baptist convention, speaks. Dr. West is one of the oldest ministers in the State. In the evening Dr. Hudson will preach on "Souls in Action." Sunday school will be held at 9:45 and the Young People's meeting will be held at seven o'clock in the evening.

LOCAL PEOPLE ON TRAIN THAT WRECKS

More Than a Dozen Shaken up Near Bayonne Early This Morning.

More than a dozen Plainfielders had a narrow escape from death early this morning when the 12:30 fast train out of New York was wrecked near Avenue A, Bayonne, and only a little more than 1,000 feet before the Bayonne draw was reached.

Only one man was injured, so far as could be learned. He was a passenger on a Pullman car going through to Philadelphia, and was only bruised. A baggage car was turned completely over, and one truck torn loose and thrown on another track, one of the Pullmans split a switch and traveled several yards with a front truck on one track and the rear on another and another car left the track, rolling on the ties for a short distance. No one from Plainfield was injured.

Those from the city on the train were Francis J. Blatz, president of the Common Council, J. E. Waldorf, Walter Vail, P. S. Kiely, Andrew D. Jennings, Louis Cohen, Benjamin Israelsky, James Coleman and three employes of the Saurer plant, who had delivered a truck in New York and were returning to Plainfield. The party included members of the Elks' bowling team that played a match game at the New York Elks' Club last night.

"It was a miraculous escape," said Mr. Blatz this morning. "We were not aware of the danger until it was practically all past, but when we alighted from the cars and saw the condition of the train, we offered up thanks for our good fortune."

The accident occurred just as the train was passing the interlocking switches near Bayonne. Passengers and members of the train crew did not attempt to explain it, but it is believed that a truck on the baggage car split the switch, throwing other wheels off the track. Within another minute the train would have been on the draw, and such an accident there would have resulted in a number of fatalities.

But little delay was caused by the wreck. Members of the train crew made passengers comfortable during the hour that was necessary to make up another train at Elizabeth, and by 2 a. m. all pasengers were again on their way to Plainfield or Philadelphia. Local people reached home about 3 a. m., none the worse for their experience.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN

Under a new law, "An Act to amend an Act entitled 'An Act for the Assessment and Collection of Taxes approved April eighth, One Thousand Nine Hundred and three, and amendments thereof and supplements thereto, the forty-eighth section has been amended to read as follows:

Sec. 48. In first class cities the Comptroller, and in second class cities the Collector or other officer charged with the duty of the collection of taxes, shall annually, in the month of April, publish a list of the names of all delinquents for personal taxes and the amounts due, in a daily newspaper published in the City, and a second publication shall be made two weeks after the first of the same list, omitting the names of those who have paid the tax in the interval: ten cents per name for each insertion shall be paid to the publisher and added to the tax.

In addition to bringing this to the attention of taxpayers generally, I particularly want to call it to the attention of taxpayers who have in the past not paid their personal tax until they paid their real estate tax, both personal tax and real estate tax being on the same bill. Taxpayers can procure a separate bill for their personal tax, if desired, by applying at the tax office; or they can take the amount if their personal property assessment as shown on their bill, multiplying the same by $1.91, and send check accordingly, adding poll tax, if any, plus interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum from December 20th, and the proper receipt will be forwarded. This applies to personal property taxes of any character standing on the books of the city. Warrants will follow immediately after the last publication against all personal and poll taxes.

This notice is not required by law, but is given to avoid, as far as possible, the hardships resulting from inattention.

WILLIAM R. TOWNSEND,
Collector.

CARRANZA WANTS TO INVADE U. S.

Mexican President Asks Same Rights Given to American Troops.

FUNSTON ON MARCH

Eighty Aeroplanes Join Soldiers Seeking Bandit Chief—Another American Dead—Villa's Known Losses Near 100.

Washington, March 11.—General Carranza, in a communication to Secretary of State Lansing, agrees that American troops can follow Villa into Mexico, but asks that his troops be granted similar rights to enter the United States.

The defensive expedition into Mexico, as it is now officially called, is in the hands of General Funston. The general staff of the army is now waiting to hear from him in approval of the general plan of campaign that it has marked out. The aviation squadron now at San Antonio will be used in pursuing Villa. At least eight flying machines will be used. General Funston reported to the department today that 1,200 Carranzza troops are in pursuit of Villa near Paloma. They carry a white-and-black flag to distinguish them from the Villastis. Colonel Slocum reports that eleven more dead Mexicans have been found, making fifty-seven in all. It is reported that there are eighteen more bodies not yet picked up near the border. Another casualty was added to the American list today. Private J. P. Taylor, of Troop F, Thirteenth Cavalry, died at a hospital last night.

The Mormon colony of Americans in Mexico has been saved from Villa vengeance by Carranza's regular troops under General Bertani. The latter has notified the Mexican embassy of this fact, and also declared that Villa has only about 300 of his personal bodyguards with him.

Senate Committee Approves.

Washington, March 11.—Sanction of President Wilson's order to General Funston to pursue and capture Villa and his bandit forces was given by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today. The committee took no formal action whatsoever in regard to the Mexican situation, sentiment among the members of the committee present, except Senators Shivelin and Lodge, however, were unanimous in support of the President's policy so far revealed. Senator Stone, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, was in communication with the President this morning, and is keeping in close touch with all developments.

Carranza Troops on Border.

Columbus, New Mexico, March 11.—Six hundred Carranza troops from Casas Grandes and Juarez reached Palamas, eight miles from the border, south of here today. Americans here are wondering whether the de facto government's soldiers have come to co-operate with the United States troops in the campaign against Villa in this vicinity, or to oppose the entry of American soldiers; or whether the Carranzistas will cross the border into the United States if that becomes necessary in order to run down Villa and his bandit bands.

First Regiment Ordered Out.

San Francisco, March 11.—The First United States Cavalry stationed at the presidio of Monterey, left today by special train for the Mexican border. General Bell, commander of the western division of the army, received the order to entrain early today. With the troopers went an ambulance corps and thirty members of the commissary department, including cooks and bakers.

Arrest all Villa Supporters.

El Paso, Texas, March 11.—Former officers in Villa's army and other supporters of the Mexican bandit leader are being arrested. The round-up began shortly before midnight.

WILLIAM KENNEDY'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of William J. Kennedy, whose death occurred Thursday night after a long illness, was held in St. Mary's church, this morning, in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. A high mass of requiem was said by Rev Father Vincent Scolla. Military honors were accorded the young man, as he was a veteran of the Spanish War. The casket was draped with an American flag, and there were numerous handsome floral tributes contributed by friends. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, the following acting as pallbearers: David J. Shea, Richard Davis, Dennis O'Keefe, representing Camp Bagley, Spanish War Veterans; John Kennedy, a nephew; Leo Kenney and Frank Day.

DINNER FOR MISS NEAL.

Mrs. Percy Walton, of Centennial avenue, Cranford, gave a dinner Thursday afternoon in honor of the engagement of Miss Jeanette Neal, of West Front street, this city. The teachers of the Lincoln School, Cranford, were present. Miss Neal is at present a teacher in the school.

HOLY CROSS PREACHER.

Rev. Holden E. Sampson, of New York, will preach at the morning and evening service in the Church of the Holy Cross tomorrow.

COTTAGE MEETINGS.

Arrangements are being completed for the holding of cottage prayer meetings in the borough and New Market in connection with the approaching Biederwolf campaign. This territory has been divided into two districts with Walnut street, as the dividing line and two of the four posters in charge of each district. In the district south of Walnut street, a prayer meeting will be held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Clarence Haight. A committee made a house-to-house canvas yesterday inviting everybody to attend the meeting.

A meeting of the Presbyterian Y. P. S. C. E. Society will be held in the Baraca room Tuesday evening.

The Presbyterian Sunday-school is endeavoring to reach the 200 attendance mark. Last Sunday, 166 were present.

PACK MISSIONARY BOX.

Twenty girls were present in the Presbyterian chapel yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the sewing class recently organized under the direction of Mrs. B. H. Brandon and Mrs. F. R. Brown. The class is planning to ship a missionary box later in the season to the colored school at Asheville, Tenn.

UNION SERVICE TOMORROW.

The Methodist and Presbyterian churches will hold a union service tomorrow evening in the Presbyterian church. The Rev. Dr. Ramsey will deliver the sermon.

ANNUAL CLASS BANQUET.

The fourth annual banquet of the Baraca class of the Presbyterian Sunday-school will be held some time in April.

Albert Ritterbusch will lead the Presbyterian C. E. prayer meeting tomorrow evening. His topic will be "The Causes of Failure in Life."

WILL MOVE TO PLAINFIELD.

Mrs. Emma C. Brown and Mrs. F. B. Disbrow, mother and sister of Rev. E. R. Brown, will move to Plainfield from Brooklyn on May 1. They have rented apartments on Madison avenue, opposite the Babcock building.

RETURN FROM CALIFORNIA.

Returning from California and Florida after an absence since December 1, Mr. and Mrs. Foster, of Lynn, Mass., have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Abbott Allan, of First street. Mr. Foster has terminated his visit and gone home. Mrs. Foster has lengthened her visit a week.

Mrs. Lewis Schneider, who has been ill the past week with the grip, is improved.

Ernest Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Brown, who has been ill the past week with a slight attack of measles, has recovered.

Irving Benard, of Sanford avenue, who has been ill this week, is improving.

Frank Smalley, who has been laid up with injuries sustained when he fell on an icy pavement Sunday, is out again.

The P. O. of A. and the P. O. S. of A. cleared $75 on the supper held Washington's birthday.

Deportment Scout club, composed of the Whittier School seventh grade pupils, enjoyed a sleigh ride to New Brunswick last night. Mrs. Fred Vail was chaperon.

Jacob Snell, of Lincoln avenue, has been confined to his home this week by the grip.

Mr. and Mrs. Clement Dixon, of First street, are the parents of a daughter.

I. L. Klompus, of Bound Brook, will open a branch store in the Linke building about April 1.

Miss Helen Davenport, of Lebanon, who has been visiting Miss Jessie Hayes, of New Market road, returned home yesterday afternoon.

W. T. WYCKOFF IMPROVING.

William T. Wyckoff, who injured his left leg at the Analine Chemical works two weeks ago, is getting along very nicely. He is able to walk and hopes to return to work shortly.

William Vail, who has been ill with tonsolitis, resumed his duties in the local freight house yesterday.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Mackey, of First street, who has been very ill, is greatly improved.

Raymond Wyckoff, who has been confined to his home this week with tonsilitis, expects to resume his duties Monday in the acetylene factory at Lincoln.

Dr. W. J. Nelson has finished cutting ice on his pond.

Jonathan Barnett, of Easton, has taken the place of Russell Messenger, who was transferred from the local station of the Lehigh Valley to the station at Bound Brook.

Miss Ethel Conover will spend tomorrow at Whitehouse Station visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Conover.

John Forest, who was injured about a month ago at the Gabrielle and Schall factory, is out and expects to return to work shortly.

Jerseyman In Trouble In South.

Scotch Plains, Fanwood

SCHOOL MEETING TUESDAY.

The annual school election of Fanwood township and borough will be held in School No. 1 on Tuesday, March 21, from 8 until 9 in the evening. New members will be elected, and the voters will have to vote on the usual appropriations, which are slightly higher than last year. The total amount asked for is $11,500, including $400 for building and repairing purposes, and $11,100 for current expenses.

ENTER SPELLING CONTEST.

The pupils of School No. 1 are entering the speaking and spelling contests of the county schools this year, with the expectation of winning some of the honors. This place has not been represented in the contests for several years, and each time the entrants did better. The elimination contests to decide the boy and girl who will represent the local school will be held in a short time.

ENJOYED BOWLING AND CARDS.

A number of Fanwood residents enjoyed a social last night. The fore part of the evening was spent in bowling at the Parish House, and afterward they returned to the borough and enjoyed cards and music, followed by refreshments at the home of one of the party.

TWO BASKETBALL GAMES.

Two basketball games are on tap at the Parish House tonight, and both should result in good exhibitions of the court pastime. The first team expects to meet the "Mixed Marvels," of Plainfield, while the Junior team, strengthened by the addition of Dealaman, will stack up against the Crescent A. C., also of Plainfield. Both teams are about ready to close their season after obtaining a fair record considering it was the first time they had played in two years. The Junior team, however, is camped on the trail of the Inner-Triangles, a fast-traveling Plainfield aggregation, and Manager Southard says the season is going to remain open until the two teams meet, even if it is midsummer.

MEN'S FORUM.

A very interesting meeting of the Parish House Men's Forum is assured for tomorrow afternoon. The Rev. John M. Moore, of New York city, will speak on "Socialism," and the various citizens present are also expected to express their views. The meeting will start at promptly at 4 o'clock.

"GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY."

"Go to Church Sunday" bids fair to continue another week at the Baptist church, and in anticipation of such an event, the Rev. J. Madison Hare has arranged a special program. Special music will be rendered at both the Bible School meeting and the morning service. At the morning service the Rev. J. M. Moore, D. D., of New York city, will occupy the pulpit and preach on "The Spiritual Challenge of the Five Years' Program." The Junior Society will meet in the afternoon, and at the Young Peoples' service in the evening another interesting program has been arranged for.

The three young sons of Luke Pandick are detained at home by an attack of the measles.

JOINS SEVENTH REGIMENT.

Sidney Ludgate, of North avenue, is visiting Maurice Hall, who is spending the winter in New York. Hall served nine months in the U. S. Army last year, and he liked it so well that now he has joined the Seventh Regiment of the New York National Guard.

Watchung.

Rev. George Montgomery, of Florida, will have charge of both the services in the Wilson Memorial church tomorrow. Sunday-school will begin at the usual hour, and Mr. Montgomery will have charge of the Young Men's Bible Class.

An interesting Endeavor meeting was held last evening in the Wilson chapel. "The Consecration of Strength" was the topic well presented by Clarence Schmidt. The regular prayer service in connection with the Biederwolf campaign followed and was led by Douglas W. Demler.

Mrs. Gustav Hirsch has been removed to the Muhlenberg Hospital. She is suffering from a severe attack of the grip and other complications.

Miss Elsie F. Schmidt is spending the week-end at Clove Lake, N. Y.

Richard Moldenke, of Columbia University, is the guest of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Moldenke.

The North Plainfield Township Improvement Society will hold its monthly meeting Monday eevning in the Improvement Hall.

MR. LINDABURY'S ACTIVITIES.

Alvah T. Lindabury, of Monroe avenue, has negotiated the following real estate deals during the past two weeks: Residence at 1016 West Fourth street, owned by Alfours Hioci, sold to James Gilbert; lot at West Sixth street, and Monroe avenue, owned by J. Ford, of New York, sold to Alfred Peck, who contemplates building; lot on Sherman avenue, near Hobart avenue, sold to Mr. Tilley, for Alfonso Ferdenci.

WARSHIPS GETTING READY

No Intention to Invade by Force, but to Send Sufficient Body of Soldiers to Eliminate Bandit Bands. Carranza Remains Silent—Funston to Lead Forces.

Washington, March 11.—That General Villa and a force of 3,000 men have been located a short distance south of the border was heard in Washington.

Admiral Fletcher of the Atlantic fleet was officially advised of the new turn in Mexican affairs and is expected to get his forces in shape to act in the event that an emergency develops that may require a demonstration in Mexican waters.

President Wilson ordered approximately 5,000 troops into Mexico on a punitive expedition to "disperse or capture" the Villa forces which attacked the town of Columbus, N. M.

By daybreak today, it was expected, the American forces will be well into Mexican territory.

With the prospect growing of active opposition by General Carranza there is apprehension in official quarters that it means the beginning of general intervention. Publicly, however, the administration is taking every precaution to prevent such a possibility.

President's Statement.

The decision to act was taken at a meeting of the cabinet. At its conclusion President Wilson authorized the following statement:

An adequate force will be sent in pursuit of Villa, with the single object of capturing him and putting a stop to his foraya. This can and will be done in entirely friendly aid of the constituted authorities in Mexico and with scrupulous respect for the sovereignty of that republic.

In discussing the course to be pursued President Wilson is reported to have declared to the members of his cabinet, "Gentlemen, we have set our hand to the plow and must go to the end of the furrow."

Although the entire day was given by the administration and the war department to a consideration of the exact course to be pursued, Secretary of War Baker following a conference with the president announced that the orders were on the way. He said:

There is no intention of entering Mexico in force. A sufficient body of mobile troops will be sent in to locate and dispose of the band or bands that attacked Columbus. So soon as the forces of the de facto government can take control of the situation any forces of the United States then remaining in Mexico will, of course, be withdrawn. The forces of the United States now on the border will be immediately reorulted, but only for the purpose of safeguarding the territory of the United States from further raids.

The conference between the president and the secretary of war followed a four hour meeting of the general staff of the army.

Funston Wants Secrecy.

Secrecy as to the number of troops and the character of the forces to be employed was suppressed, in line with the recommendations of General Funston, who urged that every opportunity be given him to surprise the enemy. His report was a scathing denunciation of the ineffectiveness and unreliability of the Carranza forces, which might otherwise be expected to capture the raiders.

It is expected the troops which will form the American command are principally of cavalry and mountain artillery and will be under the personal command of Major General Frederick H. Funston, the man who captured Aguinaldo.

While every effort is being made by the government to avoid any act which will stir Carranza and his followers to line up against the American invasion, thorough preparations have been made by the war department for such eventualities which a stand of this kind might bring about.

There is not the slightest doubt in army circles that before the present expedition has completed its work all Mexico will be in arms against the United States.

Thus far Carranza has not shown his hand. Advised by Secretary Lansing through Elisco Arredondo that troops had already invaded Mexican territory in pursuit of Villa and that the United States hoped he would interpose no objections, Carranza has not signified his intentions, though before he received the news from Arredondo he had wired to the Washington government an expression of regret over the Villa raid.

Secretary Lansing had another long conference with Mr. Arredondo. He advised the Mexican of the return of the first American expedition to American soil and of the intention of the president to send other troops in to capture Villa dead or alive. He again expressed the hope that the Carranza government, appreciating the friendly spirit in which the United States was seeking to rid Mexico of the bandit horde, would not interfere. Mr. Arredondo merely replied that he would advise Carranza of what had been decided upon. He could offer no promises.

That the state department appreciates the serious possibilities that might arise was indicated by the dispatch to every American consul in Mexico of a copy of the president's announcement, with instructions that the consuls take pains to make it plain that the intentions of the United States were friendly.

At the same time it was learned that a special warning had been sent to the American Mormon colony at Casas Grandes, in the territory where Villa has been operating, to leave for the United States at once.

Senator Smoot of Utah has been asked by the state department to use every influence with the Mormon authorities in his state to persuade the colony to obey the warning and make for the United States.

Congress With President.

Announcement of the president's decision struck a note of sympathy throughout Washington. In congress there was every disposition to applaud his course and to be in readiness to give him any aid that may be necessary in raising additional forces. In the house there was brief debate on the Columbus outrage, but the announcement from the White House served to restore confidence that something definite in the government's dealings with Mexico was about to be undertaken.

Before deciding finally to issue orders the president conferred over the telephone with Chairman Stone of the senate foreign relations committee, who concurred heartily in the proposed action. When an attempt to start debate in the senate was made Senator Stone choked it off by advising his colleagues that the cabinet was then in session and was about to act. Later Senator Stone conferred at length with Secretary Lansing and got from him a full statement of the situation.

Developments followed each other with rapidity. When the cabinet met it confronted the embarrassing fact that the troops which went over the border without orders in pursuit of Villa following the attack on Columbus had returned to the American side. It was at once realized that if any further action was to be taken the government of the United States was put in the position not of justifying a retribution already under way in response to flagrant outrage, but of organizing a new expedition across the border.

It was said the administration had hoped that Colonel Slocum after taking the bit in his teeth and acting without orders would remain on the other side long enough for re-enforcements to be sent. This, it was pointed out, would have made unnecessary a second notice to Carranza.

Crush Villa, Is Order.

At the same time the president and his advisers, it was said, realized that unless Villa was completely crushed, his army scattered and his person captured it would only be a question of a few days or weeks before another raid would be attempted. Therefore when the decision was finally reached no secret was made of the fact that the president's sole purpose was to get Villa himself dead or alive. The possibility of leaving the task to Carranza is believed to have been discussed, but abandoned as hopeless.

The war department is a scene of activity, all staff officers being at their desks, with General Scott in command of the situation of this end and with Secretary of War Baker in conference with his aids.

Garrison Aids Scott.

Former Secretary of War Garrison, who returned to Washington for a few days, was with the new secretary practically all day. His coming, however, had nothing to do with the Mexican situation, but was in response to a telegram from Mr. Baker asking Judge Garrison to visit him at his office and assist him in gathering up the loose ends of the work. Today Judge Garrison called on President Wilson for the first time since he resigned on Feb. 10.

When the news reached the war department of the president's decision officers in all grades hugged each other in excitement, and immediately there was a storm of requests made by the younger men for an opportunity to go with the expedition. Later in the day telegrams began coming into the department from national guard organizations asking that they be sent to the border. The following from Colonel Milton J. Forman, commander of the First Illinois cavalry, one of the crack military organizations of the country, is typical:

Will you help to send my regiment out among the first of the Mexican campaign.

Officials of the general staff have had no hesitancy in predicting that complications will arise with the Carranza government which must lead either to a complete backing down on the part of the American government or a general invasion of Mexico. It is pointed out that in the first place it will be almost impossible, because of the absence of any distinguishing marks between the uniforms of the Carranzistas and Villistas, to prevent a brush with the former.

It is also pointed out that owing to the long chase that is likely to result from the effort to capture Villa it will probably be necessary for the American forces to seize the railroads and to otherwise resort to military expedients likely to cause friction.

Carranza May Object.

At the state department among subordinate officials familiar with the Mexican problem the opinion is freely expressed that Carranza for the sake of political effect among his own followers is certain to make a grand stand play of some sort. It is considered likely that he may demand that the American forces leave the country at once.

Secretary Lansing made it plain that the only policy of the American government in the present situation is to go into Mexico and get Villa. Declaring there were plenty of precedents to support the action, he made it clear that from the standpoint of the American government the invasion of Mexican territory cannot be construed as an act of war. He insisted that the expedition was to be regarded merely as a punitive one for the purpose of punishing an inexcusable act against the sovereignty of the United States. It was said authoritatively there was no intention on the part of this government to ask Carranza's permission to take the action decided upon and that no steps had been taken to obtain his cooperation.

At the same time officials of the administration pointed to the statements issued by the president and of Secretary of War Baker as indicative that if the Carranza forces undertake to cooperate by sending troops to intercept Villa and drive him toward the border such help would not be refused.

Free Hand For Funston.

Although the plan is being kept secret, it is understood that to a large extent General Funston will be given a free hand. It is further understood that the probable course will be for Funston to send in his detachments in three columns by way of El Paso, Hachita and Columbus for the purpose if possible of surrounding Villa.

Owing to the necessity for speed and the mountainous character of the country likely to be encountered cavalry and mountain artillery, the latter being carried on the backs of pack horses, and with apparatus for high angle firing, were decided upon, it is understood, as the proper complement for the expeditionary force.

It is thought likely, however, that if the force has to penetrate far into Mexico infantry will be sent behind them to hold open the lines of communication.

It was explained at the war department that the expression "recruited" used in the secretary of war's announcement was not to be construed as meaning that there would be a call for recruits. It simply meant that the forces on the border would be mobilized and where necessary increased by troops from other parts of the United States for the purpose of preventing any further raids across the border while the expeditionary force is at work.

Carranza Refuses to Talk.

Mexico City, March 11.—General Carranza refused to make a statement in regard to the situation caused by the raid on Columbus, N. M. A strict censorship was established, and the newspapers here are printing nothing of the raid.

Buying for the home cannot be done wisely and economically unless the "buyer" is a student of the advertisements—no more than a store may be made prosperous without advertising.

SUDDENLY LOSES AND REGAINS HIS SIGHT

Abraham Shutinsky Strangely Afflicted—Undergoes Delicate Operation.

The medical and surgical professions are greatly interested in a most unusual case that was recently brought to their attention, the outcome of which will be closely watched. About two weeks ago Abraham Shutinsky, of 712 West Third street, suddenly became totally blind without any previous warning. He consulted his local physician, who being puzzled over the case, requested the man to consult an eye specialist, who after an examination was also at a loss to account for the blindness or its cause. He suggested that Mr. Shutinsky see another specialist which he did. In the meantime his sight gradually returned and was apparently as good as ever, but his physical condition was considerably weakened. Acting upon the advice of physicians Mr. Shutinsky consulted New York specialists and following a thorough examination it was agreed that the only thing that would insure the permanency of the patient's eyesight was a delicate operation on the brain.

This operation was performed yesterday at the Polyclinic Hospital, New York by Dr. William Sharp, and today Mr. Shutinsky is reported as doing well. It is the opinion of the specialists that the patient will be fully restored to health and permanent sight. He will remain at the New York hospital for at least two weeks so as to fully recover from the operation.

Mr. Shutinsky is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Bender, of this city, his wife being Miss Rose Bender. He is engaged in the manufacturing business in New York, but has been living here for several years.

TOWNSEND WARNS ALL DELINQUENTS

Will Publish Personal Tax List Some Time in April, He Says.

Citizens of Plainfield who have been delinquent in paying their personal taxes are given a final warning before they are publicly advertised through advertisements appearing in today's papers. This warning comes from Tax Collector William R. Townsend, and states that those who have not paid in April are to be published. A second publication of delinquents may be expected two weeks later, after which warrants will be issued to enforce collection.

This warning is in the nature of a personal appeal from Mr. Townsend, for he is not required by law to solicit payment. His duty, as outlined by the new state law, is to advertise delinquents in April, but to save many from this embarrassment, he is urging them to pay up. Mr. Townsend explains that he particularly wants to call the attention of the new law to those who have in the past not paid their personal tax until they paid their real estate tax, both personal tax and real estate tax being on the same bill. He will furnish a separate bill for the personal tax to all who apply.

WANTS CITY PLOT TO BE A PLAYGROUND

West End Civic Association Would Have Third Street Lot Thus Used.

In the belief of the West End Civic association, the city lot at the corner of West Third street and Plainfield avenue, heretofore used as a street department storage ground, but which has been offered for sale, should be set aside as a playground for the children of that part of Plainfield. The subject was broached at the regular monthly meeting of the association last night, and it received the hearty endorsement of the large number of members present. After a thorough discussion, a resolution was passed to be presented later to the Common Council, asking that the property be given over to the playground commission and allow the latter to fix it up as a recreation space.

The entertainment committee of the association, through its chairman, R. G. Louis, reported that all plans have been completed for the annual "Ladies' Night" reception to be held in the Washington school auditorium next Thursday night. This has always been one of the association's principal social affairs for the year, and the coming one will be no exception. An entertainment will be furnished by professional talent, and dancing will be conducted at its conclusion. Refreshments will be served during the evening. President Thomas Vail occupied the chair last night, and the remainde rof the session was devoted to routine business.

B. P. ADAMS WEDS PLAINFIELD GIRL

Takes Miss Katherine Langhorne for His Bride—Couple Sail for Japan.

Miss Katherine Langhorne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Langhorne, of East Front street, was married to Benjamin Pettengill Adams, son of Rev. and Mrs. George W. Adams, of Rochester, N. Y., at an attractive home wedding performed at 8 o'clock last night at the home of the bride's parents on East Front street. Rev. G. W. Adams, a retired Methodist minister and father of the bridegroom, officiated at the ceremony, which was witnessed by a small gathering of relatives and friends.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore her grandmother's wedding gown and a veil. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses, white violets, orange blossoms and lilies-of-the-valley. There were no attendants. The marriage took place before a bower of palms and Easter lilies. The rooms throughout the house were attractively decorated with palms, ferns, smilax and Easter lilies. Following the ceremony a reception followed. Mrs. Adams received many handsome presents, among which were cut glass, bric-a-brac and articles of furniture.

The couple left this morning for a wedding trip to Japan and on their return the latter part of May will reside in New York. Mr. Adams is a member of the editorial board of the Literary Digest, and is prominent in both this city and New York. Several years ago he taught in Leal's School here. His bride is also prominent in local circles and has a large circle of friends.

JUDGE CASE TO PRESIDE AT REPUBLICAN DINNER

Somerville, March 11.—The committees of the County Republican Committee and the Republican Club met in Foresters' Hall last evening and arranged several important matters pertaining to the big Republican Dollar Dinner.

It was decided to hold the dinner on Saturday, April 8, at 2:30 o'clock in Germania Hall. Former Judge Clarence E. Case was selected as toastmaster. James H. Bolton was elected a treasurer of the dinner funds. J. W. Walton and W. S. Woodruff were appointed on the publicity committee.

BELGIAN COMMITTEE MEETING.

The Belgian Relief Committee will meet Monday morning at 10:30 at the home of Mrs. F. W. Wallace, of 996 Hillside avenue.

"Vanity Fair" Parade

Beginning Monday

10:45 A. M. to 12 M.
2:00 to 3:30 P. M.

"Vanity Fair" will be a parade of Spring and Summer Toilettes posed by young women, from 10:45 to 12 and 2 to 3:30 o'clock.

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday

In Our Fabric Sections

On Main Floor

"Vanity Fair" is a summertime fete. Garlands of green and roses have transformed a part of our Main Floor into a bit of the Southland. It will reveal new, authentic, wearable fashions of Spring and Summer, 1916.

The gowns to be posed were made in New York especially for this occasion from materials selected from our own colored wash fabric and silk sections.

Store Open Tonight Until 9:45

"JEWISH BELIEFS" THEME OF SERMON

Samuel Rothberg Delivers Interesting Discourse at the Temple Sholem.

The congregation of Temple Sholem, which has had various members in charge of the regular weekly service, since the resignation of the pastor, was again addressed last night by Samuel Rothberg. His sermon was based on the topic, "Jewish Beliefs." Adhering to the text, "If ye shall not believe surely ye shall not have permanence." A feature of the service was the singing in the choir of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Young and Miss Rae Preger. Mr. Rothberg's sermon in part was as follows:

"Emerson says, 'The world stands on ideas.'

"It makes the difference between an intelligent human life and one that is not intelligent; one is based on certain ideas, clear and positive and the other is not.

"It is impossible to think of a religion that does not represent certain definites thoughts and ideas, it is these thoughts and ideas that form the characted of the life and breath of a religion.

"This is particularly true of the Jewish religion. The Jewish people have held fast to a certain group of ideas, convictions and beliefs, which they have been unwilling to sacrifice no matter what the cost of their faithfulness.

"There is first the belief in God, the one God and none other besides him. He is a spiritual God, a Holy God. It is the Jew that gave his God to the world, and it was the Jew that taught the world to think of God as a pure spirit and Holy. It is this belief that with vital force has throbbed in the hearts of the Jew throughout his entire history."

EMPLOYES STRIKE AT NEW MARKET PLANT

Refusing to work any longer under William Collins, who has been superintendent of the Gabriel & Schall Chemical Works, at New Market, for the past month, all but four of the shop force of fifty men walked out on a strike last evening, according to a story told by one of the employes who dropped into the Daily Press office this morning.

When asked for a statement over the 'phone this afternoon, Superintendent Collins said that there was no strike, but admitted that twelve men had left the employ of the company last evening. When asked whether the plant was operating today, Mr. Collins said it was not, but added that operations would be resumed Monday.

The Gabriel & Schall factory at New Market was built about nine months ago. The concern manufactures chemicals for paints and dyes.

J. A. BEDNARIK WEDS DR. GRACE R. POWELL

Local Physician Becomes Wife of Newark Man at Easton, Pa., This Afternoon.

A quiet wedding attended only by the relatives of the contracting couple took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock in Easton, Pa., when Dr. Grace R. Powell, daughter of Mrs. T. Russell Powell, of Park avenue, this city, became the bride of John A. Bednarik, of Newark. The marriage took place at the home of the bride's cousin, Rev. Edmund Brunner, of Easton, and her uncle, Rev. William H. Vogler, pastor of the Moravian church, of that city, officiated at the ceremony.

Mrs. Edmund Brunner was the matron of honor and Charles D. Powell, brother of the bride, acted as best man. Following the ceremony a small reception was held. Mr. and Mrs. Bednarik will make their home [illegible] this city, where the bride will continue her medical profession. Mrs. Bednarik has hosts of friends in this city and surrounding towns. She was graduated from the Westfield High School and later from the Women's Medical College, of New York. Mr. Bednarik is engaged in the wholesale automobile business in Newark.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

A most pleasant time, as well as a profitable one, both religiously and educationally, is assured to all older boys and young men who attend the meeting in the Young Men's Christian Association Auditorium tomorrow afternoon.

There will be a lecture on Ireland, illustrated by sixty beautifully colored slides. "Killarney," that old favorite Irish song, will be sung, while fifteen handsome pictures of scenes in Ireland illustrating the lines of the song are thrown on the curtain.

Hymns that young men enjoy singing will ring out in lively time to the music of cornets and piano. These, with Scripture reading and prayer, will add a spirit of reverence and worship to the service. The fathers, as well as the boys, are invited.

MISSION STUDY CLASS

The interdenominational mission study class to be led by Mrs. Helen Barrett Montgomery, will begin in the First Baptist church, Wednesday afternoon, March 15, at 3:30 o'clock. These meetings will be held every Wednesday throughout Lent. Tickets for the course of lessons are on sale at the association or can be secured from the following members of the committee:

Miss Katherine Aller, Miss Edna Brown, Mrs. Howard H. Craig, Mrs. A. G. Hagedorn, Mrs. Charles L. Hyde, Mrs. James R. Joy, Mrs. Elliott C. R. Laidlaw, Mrs. I. T. LaRue, Miss Harriett Mattison, Mrs. Donald McInnes, Mrs. Samuel K. Monroe, Mrs. William O'Donnell, Mrs. Edward S. Ralston, Miss Winifred Rapalje, Mrs. Charles A. Rice, Miss Harriet Squiers, Mrs. Charles E. Steiner and Miss J. Corrine Tennyson.

Books for the study may also be procured at the association, members using Mrs. Montgomery's book, "The King's Highway."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Tryouts for the two teams that will represent Plainfield High School in the Tri-school Debating League were held last week at the High School in charge of Harold Biddle. The result will be known sometime during the coming week, when active preparation for the debates on April 8 will commence. One team will debate Trenton High School at home and the other will debate at Battin in Elizabeth.

The annual Oracle elections will be held Tuesday afternoon to choose the various board of officers for the coming year. Beside the office of business manager, there will be four juniors, three sophomores and one freshman elected. There are a number of candidates for the managerial berth, with Edward Crone seemingly in the lead.

AN ORDINANCE

To provide for the construction of a further addition to the system of sewerage already constructed in the City of Plainfield, No. 17—

WHEREAS, There has been constructed in said city a system of sewerage and such action in relation thereto has from time to time been taken as is set forth in the preamble to the ordinance of said city, entitled "An Ordinance to provide for the construction of an addition to the system of sewerage already constructed in the City of Plainfield," approved November 6, 1897, to which preamble reference is hereby made for greater certainty and

WHEREAS, In the opinion of the Common Council the public good requires that a further addition, as herein described, to the system of sewerage already constructed, should be now constructed in and for said city under the provisions of the Act in said preamble referred to, and the Common Council has so determined and does hereby so determine; therefore,

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the Common Council doth hereby direct and order that a further addition to the system of sewerage already constructed under said Act and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, be constructed in and for said city under the provisions of the Act of the Legislature above referred to, with all the appurtenances necessary to complete the same, and of such dimensions and material and according to such plans as the said Common Council may hereafter direct, in and through the following described streets, avenues, property, lands and rights of way described, mentioned and referred to in this ordinance to wit:

Ravine road, from the present sewer to Dixie Lane;
Williver street;
Lafayette place;
Clinton place;
Johannis place;
Stelle avenue, from Hobert avenue to Grant avenue;
Hobert avenue, from Sherman avenue to Stelle avenue.

Section 2. That house connections shall be constructed from the above-named sewers to the curb lines.

Was presented, read and ordered to be considered and acted upon by said Common Council at a regular meeting thereof to be held in the Council Chamber, No. 149 North avenue, in said City of Plainfield, on Monday, the sixth day of March, 1916, at the hour of eight o'clock in the evening of that day, and at such meeting ample opportunity will be given to all parties in favor of or opposed to the improvement contemplated by said ordinance, to present their views with reference to the same in writing or otherwise, as the Common Council may at that time direct, and public notice is hereby given of the intention of the Common Council to cause said improvement set forth in this ordinance to be made, and such persons or corporations as may object thereto, are requested to present their objections in writing at the City Clerk's office, No. 151 North avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at or before the expiration of ten days from the date of this notice, or to the Common Council at its first meeting held after the expiration of the said ten days, and said Common Council at such meeting, to be held on the sixth day of March, 1916, as above stated, or afterward, may proceed to consider and pass such ordinance, notwithstanding any objection.

By order of the Common Council.

Corporation Notice

PROPOSALS FOR FOUR-CYLINDER TRIPLE COMBINATION MOTOR PUMPING FIRE ENGINE AND HOSE CARRIER.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the City of Plainfield at a regular meeting thereof held March 6, 1916, Notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet on Tuesday, the twenty-eighth day of March, 1916, at 8 o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, No. 149-151 North avenue, at which time and place said Common Council will receive sealed proposals for furnishing the following, that is to say:

ONE, not less than Four-Cylinder Triple Combination Motor Pumping Fire Engine and Hose Carrier, with a pumping capacity of not less than 750 gallons per minute against 120 pounds net water pressure and at least fifty per cent. of the rated capacity at 200 pounds net water pressure; engine not less than 100 horse power; to have a divided hose body with a capacity of at least one thousand feet of hose when carrying equal amounts of 2½ inch and 3 inch hose; also to be equipped with one 40-gallon chemical tank and at least 200 feet of ¾ inch chemical hose with a ⅝ inch brass nozzle; to be capable of obtaining a speed of at least thirty miles an hour and of covering twenty miles an hour over paved or macadam streets having such grades as the apparatus is likely to encounter in service.

All tests to be made under the supervision of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, and to the satisfaction of the Committee on Fire and Buildings.

Equipment to be specified by the Chief of the Fire Department in specifications to be obtained from him.

The right to reject any and all bids to be reserved by the Common Council.

Proposals should be endorsed "Proposals for Four-Cylinder Triple Combination Motor Pumping Fire Engine and Hose Carrier."

By order of the Common Council

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To Rose Judson, Trustee for Plainfield Plumbing, Hardware and Paint Supply Company:

By virtue of an Order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein Ernst Kubler is complainant, and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant on or before the 8th day of May next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said Bill is filed for the purpose of foreclosing a mortgage given by Daniel J. Devoe to Jersey State Realty Company, and now held by the complainant, dated April 1, 1912, covering premises in the City of Plainfield, County of Union and State of New Jersey, and you are made defendant, because it is alleged in said Bill that in the conveyance which you made to the Plainfield Plumbing, Hardware and Paint Supply Company, your trusteeship was erroneously described, and that the said deed is not sealed by you, and thereby you may claim to have some interest in the mortgaged premises, a sale of which is prayed for in said bill.

New Building and Machinery Make Press Plant One of Finest in State

THE PRESS.

Walter Scott & Company, of this city, built and erected the new press upon which the Daily Press is now printed, a photograph of which is reproduced above as it stands in our press room. The press has a speed of 13,000 papers of 4, 6, 8, 10, 12 or 16 pages an hour, and 6,500 papers of 14 pages, as well as any number of pages divisible by two up to 32 pages, an hour. It is the fastest piece of printing machinery in Central New Jersey. The press is situated in the basement of the building, the floor of the first floor over one end of it being cut away so that passersby may look from the sidewalk through a big show window and see it in operation each afternoon, the papers being delivered at a speed of nearly 200 a minute.

The press is known as the "Scott Two-Tiered Printing, Insetting and Folding Machine, Class X," and when running more than eight pages, prints from two rolls of paper at once, the maximum number of pages from one roll being eight. Papers are delivered from the opposite end of the press from where the rolls are placed. The press is so constructed and arranged that at any time in the future, as business may require it, another tier can be added to make the press capable of printing 24 or more pages at full speed.

PRESS READY FOR INSPECTION

sion of the unfinished building the publishers have been forced to put up with many inconveniences but the new machinery is now in smooth running order and operations have assumed their normal status.

The new building, formerly used by Den. J. Galbraith, as a shop on the first floor and for living apartments on the second and third floors, has undergone extensive alterations during the past two months and every interior detail is ideally adapted to the particular use to which it is being put.

In the basement is located the fastest piece of printing machinery in central New Jersey, a Walter Scott press capable of turning out 13,000 sixteen page papers an hour. This monster machine may be seen by those who pass the building through a glass well built just inside a big plate glass window and affording an unobstructed view of the press. In the same room with the press are located a large casting furnace, a steam furnace for heating purposes and complete stereotyping apparatus for making plates for the press.

The section of the first floor facing on North avenue is given over to the circulation and business offices, a finely appointed mezzanine balcony having been erected in the front with plate glass windows for bulletin purposes facing on North avenue. In the rear of the first floor is the composing room and over this has been built another balcony which is devoted to the advertisement composition work. Linotype machines, type cases and the matrix making equipment are located in this room. Steam tables, steel tables and stands and other composing room apparatus of the most recent make are included in the equipment of this department.

The editorial, file and private office rooms are situated on the second floor. The editorial department for city editor, reporters and correspondents' work is located in the back of the second floor and the private office of the publisher is located in the front. The advertising department also has a room in the front and between the publishers' room and the editorial department a file room has been established. This latter feature is also a new idea, the room containing old files of the newspaper and other records such as metropolitan dailies give over whole departments.

The third floor will be devoted exclusively to storage space for stock and the job printing department. This will be modernly equipped and will be capable of turning out work of a quality that has never before been excelled locally.

Mechanics have reinforced the building throughout and the old store front and entrance have given way to an elaborate plate glass and copper metal finish. The Plainfield Daily Press has been fortunate in securing this location, the point being central to the new postoffice, the railroad station, the proposed new city hall, police and fire headquarters, main trolley line and other places necessary to the gathering and dissemination of news.

The contracts for the work on the new building were awarded to the following: Masonry, William C. Smith; carpentry, Charles L. Force; electrical work, Ryder & Graves and Allen B. Laing Co.; flooring, Spencer A. Ward & Co.; plumbing and heating, Den. J. Galbraith; iron work, Arthur E. Smith; painting, James C. Hansen and Woolston & Buckle Co.

The pictures reproduced herewith of the building and its contents, were taken by Paul R. Collier, of this city.

ONE SIDE OF THE COMPOSING ROOM.

In this room the various mechanical processes necessary for preparing the pages of each day's edition of the Daily Press are completed. Four linotype machines, one of which is equipped for all headlines, do the news and ter composition, and set much of the type in the advertisements. In the gallery, shown at the rear of the picture, the hand work on the advertisements is completed, and advertisements and news matter are assembled in the iron chases or forms, which are shown in a long row beginning at the right and running to the rear of the room. Five of these forms are laid out on a steel make-up table, which contains every known modern convenience for use of the make-up man, and the balance are on rolling tables, which can be shifted to positions most handy to that important individual. Aside from three of the linotype machines, two steel cabinets, and some of the display type, almost everything in this room is new, and constructed of steel especially for the Daily Press. Provision has been made for a normal newspaper growth for the next ten years. Windows running to the fourteen foot ceiling give plenty of daylight, so that except on the darkest days it is never necessary to use artificial light in producing the newspaper, except directly over the copy on the linotype machines. One linotype, a Model 8, a picture of which appears elsewhere on this page, is the last word in composing room machinery. At the command of the operator, by a simple shifting of parts of the machine, are available 540 characters, from one keyboard of 90 keys. These comprise alphabets of capitals for headlines, the sizes in the machine running from a letter which makes nine lines to the inch to letters half an inch high. In the picture are included employes of the paper who have been connected with it for many years. Those seated from left to right are Adam Gray, Owen Bull and Henry Dresselt, linotype operators, and W. C. Cram, machinist operator, while standing are Roy Stewart, David Wilson, Arthur Walls and Thomas Heron. Edward C. Searing, foreman of the composing room for over twenty years, was ill at the time this picture was taken.

THE MATRIX ROLLER AND STEAM TABLE.

Here the completed type forms go through the first process necessary to the making of curved plates for the press. The form is placed on a moving table under the matrix roller, at the left, a specially prepared cardboard and tissue paper matrix, thoroughly dampened, being placed over it. The form is driven under the roller by a three horse power motor, and is then slid on to the steam table, covered with blankets, and placed in one of the two presses which are at the right. Steam is generated by a small furnace underneath, and is kept at 80 pounds pressure, drying out and baking the matrix into a hard sheet in from four to six minutes. The matrix is then ready for casting.

PLATE MAKING MACHINERY.

After the matrix is made, and thoroughly dried, it is taken to the machines pictured above. It is placed in a half round box, which is tightly closed except at one end. With a pump molten metal is forced against it, and the plate is partially cooled by running a stream of water through the jacket of the box. The plate is then trimmed at each end in a specially designed machine, and shaved on the inside so that it will set accurately on the cylinders of the press. With chisels any metal which might make a smudge on the paper is chipped out of open spaces between the lines of type, and in the advertisements, and the plate is then ready for the press. It is soon clamped on and the press starts on its daily errand of supplying news to Plainfielders. All of this work is done almost as quickly as it is here described.

A CORNER OF THE BUSINESS OFFICE.

The business office, situated on the first floor, and lighted through large plate glass windows, contains ample room for handling all work necessary in that department. It is separated from the composing room by a partition of wood and opaque glass.

A CORNER OF THE PUBLISHER'S PRIVATE OFFICE.

From this room, through a private telephone exchange, all departments of the paper can be reached, and the publisher keeps in close touch with all employes.

LOCAL NEWS ROOM.

Above is an old wood-cut, carved by hand, and made about the time the Vanderbeek building was built, the original home of the Daily Press. This building is now being torn down to be replaced by a handsome new structure for the State Trust Company.

MANY STABBED IN RIOT WILL LIVE

All Quiet at Kenvil, but Trouble Is Feared.

RACIAL HATRED AN ISSUE

Jew, It Is Alleged, Was Slashed in Three Places by Italian Workman at Powder Plant—Guards, It Is Said, Made No Effort to Stop Fracas.

Kenvil, March 11.—All is quiet here after the strike riot between Jewish and Italian laborers at the Hercules Powder company's plant. Local police deem it not necessary to appeal to the county authorities.

Stilettos, clubs and brass knuckles were used in the fracas, and one man who was stabbed in three places is now in the Memorial hospital at Morristown. Several others were slightly injured. Racial hatred caused the clash.

Death is not expected to result from the wounds of the man in the hospital, who described himself as Morris Stern, 1810 Mount Prospect avenue, the Bronx, New York. There is a wound in his chest, one just below his left shoulder blade and another in the right side of his back.

That he had seen the man who stabbed Stern was the information given the police by William Harris, one of the victim's friends. He said the assailant climbed into the auto bus which Fred Grant drives between the powder works and Dover.

Grant told the Dover police that Harris tried to drag a man from his bus, but that he would not let him because he feared the rioting might be renewed. Harris said he did not know the name of the man he says stabbed Stern.

Guards at the powder plant made no effort to stop the fight, which, though violent while it lasted, was of brief duration. The rioting occurred outside of the powder works stockade. Harris says he saw one man with his cheek laid open by a knife wound, another with his calf bleeding and a third with his nose flattened against his face.

Stern was taken by automobile to Dover and his wounds dressed at the police headquarters there by Dr. R. L. Cook. It is expected that the bitter feeling between groups of Jewish and Italian workmen who fought will result in further conflicts.

DIED IN BARNYARD.

Aged Farmer Expires as He Goes to Look After Stock.

Port Murray, March 11.—John H. Bigler, seventy-three years old, a farmer, who lived between Port Murray and Mount Bethel, died suddenly. He had gone to the barn to look after the stock, and when he did not return for dinner his niece, Miss Grace Thompson, of Washington, N. J., who had been making her home with the aged man for several months, went to look for him and found him lying dead in the barnyard.

—If you have something to rent, you have something to advertise—and something that it will pay you to advertise adequately and persistently.

Do You Want a "Guest-Tenant?"

When you rent a room of your home to someone, you secure a "guest tenant." Your "roomer" is a guest of your house, on a business basis—but still a guest, somewhat in touch with your home, and this makes it highly important that the person should be of the right sort.

In advertising a furnished room it is a simple matter to indicate that the tenant-to-be must have reasonably convincing credentials as to character. You will thus have applications from a desirable class of people while a door sign or window card would merely bring to you the chance passer-by.

BABY SAVING WEEK IN PLAINFIELD.

"Look after the pennies and the dollars will look after themselves."

In Plainfield we shall better the old adage! We are going to look after the babies and the adults will look after themselves.

We are told that "out of every 1,000 babies born in Plainfield, 101 died before the end of the first year," and I would like to add that those who survive will never be strong men and women unless they receive better care in infancy.

In Plainfield the death rate is slightly lower than in the United States taken as a whole. It is certainly shocking to read that "one out of six babies die in the United States," as compared to one out of one hundred and fifty in New Zealand.

Before we get over our first shock let us do something about it—or Baby Week will have failed in its mission. A practical way to help is to contribute to the milk station and summer work of the visiting nurses.

Those who have followed the baby welfare articles in the newspapers, need hardly be reminded that hot weather is the "bad time" for babies. Last summer 111 babies were cared for at the milk station of the Day Nursery. Only three of that number were lost, and one of the three was brought to the station in a dying condition. Not only milk, but medicine and professional advice was given to the mothers by trained nurses.

Next summer there should be a second milk station in the neighborhood of St. Mary's avenue, where there are so many needy little Italian babies. The rent of two small rooms and $300 for milk and medicine would provide such a station. Its equipment would be inexpensive. The gift of chairs and a table, the purchase of nursery scales and an ice box, and behold your milk station equipped for its work of salvation.

Mrs. Frederick Goddard, president of the Visiting Nurse Association, can supply details that are necessarily excluded from a short article. One hundred and six dollars and twenty cents has already been raised. Let us make it at least $300. Here is a real opportunity to help the community.

The writer grew up in the day of Dickens—and a common quotation in the family was this: "When a boy knows a thing he goes and does it."

In contributing to another milk station we should be responding to a very real need.

We know it.

It only remains to "go and do it."

IDA H. RILEY.

Plainfield Theatre

Plaindeld people who visit Lake Hopatcong during the summer season will be at the Plainfield Theatre in a body next Monday night to give a greeting to Bert Baker, principal comedian of the "Ben Ton Girls" burlesquers. Mr. Baker has a summer home at the lake and spends all his time there between seasons on the road. Both he and his motorboat, "Typical Tid," are familiar figures to all the permanent summer residents, and when he comes to Plainfield Monday, it will give him an opportunity to renew acquaintances made during the heated months.

"The Bon Ton Girls" is known as the cream of offerings on the Columbia wheel. It is a lively, funny burlesque, full of snappy songs, yet refined throughout. With Mr. Baker there is associated Babe La Tour, called the liveliest soubrette on the stage. Miss La Tour is an animated bunch of song and laughter, and she is supported by a bevy of pretty girls.

"The Bon Ton Girls" will be here for two performances Monday.

"The Princess Pat," a new three-act comic opera, book and lyrics by Henry Blossom, music by Victor Herbert and staged by Fred G. Latham, produced by John Cort, will have an early presentation at the Plainfield Theatre. The authors of "Mlle. Modist," "he Red Mill," "The Prima Donna" and "The Only Girl" have in their latest work, "The Princess Pat," more than duplicated their former successes. The story of the opera has largely to do with the flirtations of the youthful American wife of an Italian prince, the Princess Patrice, called "Pat" for short. She is peeved at the lack of demonstrative affection on the part of her husband, and enters into a plot to bring that gentleman to his senses. An elderly, "having-got-rich-quick" person named Schmolz, overburdened with self-esteem, takes her flattery seriously, and the young lady finds herself in difficulties when he insists upon an elopement. The opera will be presented with a cast and chorus of superior excellence and with an augmented Herbert orchestra. Mr. Herbert's score is delightful and contains more than twenty numbers. The scenes of the opera are laid on Long Island. The production is elaborate and the costumes beautiful.

EMPHASIZES WAR LESSON.

Montreal, March 11.—Following the example of the Church of England, in Britain, the bishops of Canada have asked that parish missions be held throughout the Dominion to bring home to the people the spiritual lessons of the war. Montreal will have a series of missions, beginning tomorrow. A circular declares that "we, too, as well as Germany, are serving against Him. We find in these Christian lands indifference to God, slackness of living, Bibles unread, Sabbaths desecrated, religion a formality, family religion largely extinct, the love of pleasure and excitement dominant, luxurious, selfish and extravagant expenditure, intemperance, profanity, race suicide, greed for gold, graft in high places and in low, bribery and corruption, infidelity and unbelief."

On the Spur of the Moment

by Roy K. Moulton

Satisfied.

I'm only commonplace
Sort of lob.
I've got no false notions;
I'm not a snob
Who has no ambition to Raise any hob.
No bee buzzes 'round my old
Ivory knob.
For more worlds to conquer I
Never do sob.
In peace and contentment I
Smoke my old cob.
I'm thankful A. R. isn't
After MY job.

What Elmer Did.

Elmer Coffman bought the boys a box of cigars when he was married, nearly nine years ago, and when the last "smoke" had been taken therefrom he nailed down the lid of the box and converted it into a savings bank. Through a slot cut in the end of the box Elmer would drop every dime that came his way, and did not miss them either. A few days ago, when it seemed there was no more room for dimes, Mr. Coffman opened the box and counted the coins. Without missing the money he had saved 3,680 dimes.—Hoppertown Gazette.

Being a Booster.

Old Noah, with a great big smile, stood leaning on the rail, as out across the rising tide the ark began to sail; and turning then he said to Ham, "My boy, just see 'em scamper; they are the guys that stood around and tried my work to hamper. They always said I was a fool, my job was no account, today they're headed for the hills, while we go to the mount. They always had their harpoons out and used them rain or shine, and said the time was coming soon, when surely I'd get mine. They kept it up from year to year, while I kept driving nails, and said they'd bet a hundred yet the old tub never sails. I never used to say a word, but kept on sawing lumber, although I felt a lot relieved when it began to thunder. And so my boy remember this, and paste it in your hat, those knockers ne'er will get a chance to land on Mount Ararat. If they'd have poined and worked with me, and made the old ark hustle, they wouldn't have to worry now and for the high points hustle. So when you see a guy that works hard at his job each day, give him a boost and not a knock as you go on your way; and when the rain begins to fall, and you are feeling rotten, he'll come along and boost you, to show he's not forgotten.

The Pessimist.

There's been a whole lot written of the value of a smile,
But still the feller that goes 'round a-smilin' all the while
And don't do nothin' else but smile,
no matter what is said,
Don't seem in this world's goods to get so very far ahead.

You'll hear this idee harped on by the optimistic crowd;
There is a silver linin' bright to every gol ding cloud.
But when the cloud dissolves in air
and disappears from view,
The silver linin' gen'ally dissolves in thin air, too.

The darkest hour comes just before the dawn, they love to say,
Although your own pertickler dawn is twenty years away.
It never helps the feller much that's workin' in the ditch.
To hear that some day, possibly, perhaps he may be rich.

The optimists and pessimists can argue pro and con.
And thrash out all the questions that they are debatin' on.
But after all is said and done, I think that you will find
That misery or happiness is just a state of mind.

Modern Epitaphs.

Here lie the bones of Ezra Jones,
He kissed his girl one night.
He heard of deadly microbes, but
He didn't think they'd bite.

Oh, shed a tear, Bill Hanks lies here;
We'll inform you, should you ask
it,
That he stepped in front of a touring car.
And they took him home in a basket.

Beneath this stone lies Amos Brown,
He tried to be a poet.
And make his living by his verse.
He starved to death, you know it.

A PART OF THE WAR GAME

- Proctor's Theatre -

Proctor's Theatre, Monday, March 13.

A mammoth bill of photoplay attractions are presented at Proctor's today, making a fitting celebration to conclude a week's program of screen spectacles never before presented in this vicinity. There are two stupendous headline features shown, one of them being Charlie Chaplin in a wonderful four-reel revue of his best comic caper, entitled "Ambition." This will make his first appearance in this city in quite some time, and the film fans, both young and old, will be overwrought with delight when they see their favorite screen star up to his old tricks and comic capers. The children will especially appreciate this treat, and are urged to attend in the afternoon in order to avoid waiting in the foyer in the evening. The dramatic production appearing at Proctor's today is no other than "D'Artagnan," the gorgeous filmization of the story, "The Three Musketeers," with Orrin Johnson in the leading role. This is a beautiful masterpiece, both in the acting and the gorgeous setting, and will surely create a sensation. Arrangements have been made for the installation of two of the latest type projection machines, which will insure for the patrons a faultless and flickerless projection of the pictures, in the hands of capable and experienced operators. The bill of features booked for the coming week is a remarkable one, and Monday's program includes Alice Brady, one of the most famous of Broadway dramatic stars, in a vehicle especially written around her personality, entitled "The Woman in 47," dealing with the pitfalls and temptations into which a poor immigrant girl is subjected upon her arrival in this country to make her home with a relative. Charlie Chaplin will also make his appearance on Monday in one of his funniest comedy creations, entitled "Work." On Tuesday, Douglas Fairbanks, the renowned star, who is at home in both dramatic and comedy roles, will make his appearance in his most triumphant production, "His picture in the Papers." Tuesday, the second episode of "The Strange Case of Mary Page," featuring Henry Walthall and Edna Mayo, will make its appearance on the screen at Proctor's, this episode carrying the spectator more deeply into the great mystery. Two notable productions are scheduled to appear next week, both being adaptations from the famous novels by Elinor Glyn. The first, "Three Weeks," will be presented on Thursday, and it sequel, "One Day," will be the headline on Friday.

SEVEN CONTRIBUTORS ADDED TO SHIP FUND

Marjorie Sterrett's Plan to Build Big Warship Receiving Hearty Support Here.

Seven more patriotic youngsters have added ten cent contributions to Marjorie Sterrett's battleship fund through the Plainfield Daily Press, the latest to enlist being Elizabeth N. Phillips, Louise R. Phillips, William L. Phillips, Herbert M. Mooker, M. Phyllis Hooker, R. Carleton Hooker and Elliott G. Smith. The Plainfield Daily Press fund for Miss Sterrett is swelling rapidly and a list of all those who have contributed to date will be published within a few days. Now is the time to submit your ten-cent piece and assure the placing of your name on the honor list.

Considerable interest has been manifested in the part the Plainfield newspaper is playing in aiding Marjorie Sterrett's campaign and it is hoped to have a big majority of Plainfield school children enrolled in the ship building enterprise before the goal is reached. All children sending in ten-cent contributions are also invited to submit letters which will be published in these columns.

Additional emphasis has been given the Plainfield Press' part in booming Miss Sterrett's fund by the announcement that the graphic film production, "Defense or Tribute," in five parts, will be shown at Proctor's Theatre, under the auspices of the Plainfield Daily Press, on the afternoons and evenings of March 24 and 25. This screen hit deals with a national issue in an educational as well as interesting manner and every school child should see it. Arrangements have been completed for its presentation here on the above dates and the reception it has received in New York city and other places assures for it success here. Such well known Plainfielders as A. C. Estes, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A.; Allen E. Beals, head of the Boy Scouts here; Rev. B. M. Bogan, of St. Mary's church; William R. Codington, Union county attorney, and others have placed the stamp of approval on the picture and have consented to aid in its production locally. The proceeds will be used to swell the battleship fund.

ABUSIVE PEDDLER SENT BACK TO WESTFIELD HOME

Henry Hastings, of Westfield, was arrested by Patrolman John Neylon on Denmark road, yesterday afternoon, on a charge of disorderly conduct. Several residents there told the officer that the man was peddling postcards and that he abused those who refused to buy his wares. He was given a suspended sentence and sent back to Westfield.

MUST PAY $2.50 A WEEK TO SUPPORT WIFE AND CHILD

H. Muldowney, tried before Judge De Meza this morning for non-support of his wife and child, was ordered to pay $2.50 a week. He made bond in the amount of $200 to carry out the order of the court.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The school pool will be the scene of considerable activity Monday afternoon, when the members of the swimming team squad hold a meet among themselves. Two teams, the Reds and Blues, have been formed and considerable rivalry is being shown. A meet with the local Y. M. C. A., which will probably be the last of the season, has been arranged for March 19 in the school pool.

Indoor baseball practice is progressing very favorably and on Monday, Coach Patch and Captain Apgar expect to start weeding out the large squad out for a berth at one or other of the ends of the battery. Already several of those trying out have shown considerable ability as twirlers, and two good moundmen should be found. With Apgar and Kyle behind the bat, Coach Patch has no worries as to the backstop department.

A game of basketball between the Plainfield High School team and the Plainfield Grammar School girls' team has been arranged to take place on the High School court, Monday afternoon, and with the present strong team the younger girls have the contest should be a good one.

It is probable that the P. H. S. boys' team and a team composed of Alumni will get together on the school court in the next week or so. Manager Dunham is trying to arrange one, although the regular schedule was finished yesterday. Such a game has always been a feature of past seasons, but so far this year only a team of 1915 graduates has been played.

NEWS OF INTEREST IN THE PLAINFIELD BUILDING WORLD

UPWARD PRICES ARE CONSPICUOUS

Latest Item to Advance in Material Market is Crushed Trap Rock.

POPULARITY OF WOOD

Manufacturers Report a Revival in Its Use for Mantels and Many Decorative Effects in the Home—Other Gossip.

New York, March 11.—Upward price movements are conspicuous in the building material market throughout the district. The latest item to advance is crushed trap rock in this city, some slate lines, notably those coming down from New England, where freight is hard to get through, and Southern lumber, and especially hardwoods. Manufacturers say that a revival in popularity of wood mantels is responsible, in part, for hardwood demand at mill sources, large quantities of stock being bought up by wood mantel manufacturers in anticipation of a strong sentiment for rich woods for mantel and interior decoration purposes.

Expert decorators are turning more and more to monotones in decorative schemes for fine homes, clubs, hotels, stores and apartments. The fact that the mode is tending more and more to make all the features of the home harmonize with one general color scheme, mostly grays and mahoganeys, is creating a demand for fumed oak and acid-grained hardwoods, gum, cherry, birch, etc. This demand, coupled with heavy drains for certain hardwoods suitable for manufacture of gun stocks in this country and Canada, is also responsible for the tightness of the hardwood market.

In mined materials, like slate, stone, common brick, Portland cement, the heavy cost of dynamite is an important factor in keeping prices up. Most brick plants now dynamite their clay. Before the war this was the cheaper method. Since the war the cost of dynamite has advanced 80 per cent. It is no longer the cheapest method. Therefore it has been necessary to revert to hand pick and shovel methods. But labor is scarce and wages have advanced from 5 to 10 per cent.; and barges, that formerly could be chartered from $5 to $6 a day, now bring as high as $8. Last winter it was possible to buy good common brick at $6.75 a thousand, wholesale. To-day the best wholesale price is $8.50, and there are only 700,000 bricks in the market. At this time of the year there should be about 4,000,000.

Slate, stone, Portland cement, gypsum and other lines are affected by the same upward cost of explosives, and this fact, coupled with demand that is constantly increasing, is making for higher prices. Cement interests look for a five or ten-cent advance any day. Gypsum is ready for another change. Crushed stone, even at the high level of $1.05 a yard, wholesale, is in such insistent demand and the supply is so limited, that some trade interests would not be surprised if a further advance was announced.

But the higher cost of materials is not, apparently, frightening off prospective construction work. Architects say they have not been as busy on board work as they have since the first of the year. There was a tendency in the earlier winter months to await developments, when the price of materials began to go up. It seemed as though it was an inspired stimulation riding on the hysteria of general war prices in other lines, but when steel consumers found themselves in a sellers' market, with protection orders cut arbitrarily in half by concerns with which they had done business for years, simply because no manufacturer would tie up at present prices in the face of rising raw material prices, there developed an outflow of orders, even at premium rates, that quickly filled the capacity manufacturers cared to release at this time.

To prospective builders, the assurance may now be given that building material costs cannot go lower than they are now during the next five months on new business. If anything they will go higher. At present money is easier than it has been in years for new, well developed building operations. If builders wait too long, there may be a change in financial conditions that will raise interest rates and mortgage premiums so as to make new operations far more expensive than they are now. That accounts for the heavy building movements at present in the suburbs and in Brooklyn, where small operations predominate.

BUYS THE BROWN PROPERTY.

The Brown property, on Berckman street, between East Front and East Second streets, recently passed into the possession of Thomas J. Hughes, of East Second street, federal tax collector for this district. The premises have been vacant since the death of Miss Brown, the former owner, several years ago. Mr. Hughes plans to completely overhaul the residence to make it strictly modern and will then occupy it himself.

NEW BRUNSWICK'S INDUSTRIAL BOOM

Remarkable Progress in the Past Year Gives Citizens Optimistic Outlook.

A glance at the industries that have located in New Brunswick within the last two years, together with the remarkable increase in some of the older plants, is enough to show that the Board of Trade slogan of that city of "50,000 in 1920" is no dream.

Within a year several new firms have located in New Brunswick, and the total amount of money invested in these new plants is about $1,500,000. During the year of 1915 the building operations carried on in New Brunswick barely missed the million dollar mark.

Life in New Brunswick for the past year or two has been "just one new industry after another." Plants of every sort have been established there, and so varied is their character that New Brunswick never has a dull season. When work is slack at one place it is at its height at another, and unemployment is almost unknown.

The factories are all rushed to the limit. Many of them are working night and day to keep up with the demand for their output. And not only are they rushed now but there is plenty of work ahead. Just an instance of this is the Simplex Automobile Company. Its output is booked for two years ahead.

Wages are high and labor conditions have never been better. There is plenty of money in circulation, and the only grievance that is felt is that there is so much work to be done that there is barely time to spend the extra money that is being earned.

The banks and other financial institutions are all flush and are branching out into new fields. Credit is easily obtainable and conditions are favorable to every class. The campaign for depositors just started by the Middlesex Title Guarantee and Trust Company is a direct outgrowth of these booming conditions, for people have plenty of money to deposit.

Last week the Unexcelled Fireworks Company announced that it would erect a plant there with over 60 buildings, employing 500 men. The "Forty-four" Cigar Company announced that it plans to double its capacity by building a new factory. The Public Service Company gave notice of intention to erect a new $185,000 substation, and the Arctic Ice Company reported plans for a new $15,000 addition. Plans for a new 500x200 foot machine shop at the Wasson Piston Ring Company have just been filed.

The Weiller Manufacturing Company and the Wasson Piston Ring Company are the chief plants that have come in during the past year. The Acme Underwear Company has bought a new factory, and increased its employees from 25 to 150. The Neverslip Company has tripled its floor space.

The Belgian plant of the United States Nickel Company has been transferred to New Brunswick. Johnson & Johnson, the Simplex, the Interwoven Hosiery Company and the India Rubber Company are all rushed to the limit. The United States Rubber Company, of which the India Rubber Company is a branch, has just declared the biggest dividend in its history.

Among the other plants that have come in during the past two years are William Black & Company, the Netborn Manufacturing Company, and the New Brunswick Tile plant. The boom at the Nixon Nitration Works has also had a big effect on New Brunswick.

Manufacturers are realizing the great advantages that New Brunswick offer. The closing of Railroad avenue, the establishment of a Y. M. C. A., the plan to create a real harbor for the city, are all big inducements. The steady influx of manufacturers means a rapidly increasing city and a prosperous city.

New Brunswick's boom has started. A new era is about to open, and New Brunswick will rise rapidly to the rank of a first-class city. The enormous increase in the Simplex plant, the doubling of the "Forty-four" Cigar Company's capacity, the rapid extension of the Howe Rubber Company, the Ringwalt Linoleum Works and other firms is only a forerunner of what is coming.

Retail merchants have already begun to feel the benefits of the new boom. Trade is unprecedentedly brisk in every line. The hundreds of workmen who are coming in must be supplied with both necessaries and luxuries. Property values are booming, and the most comforting fact about the boom is that it gives every indication of being permanent.

New Brunswick is already well on the road to the 50,000 mark set as the goal for 1920, and all the incidents of prosperity incident to such a boom are seen everywhere. Trade of every sort is only waiting to be captured by the enterprising.

PERMIT ISSUED FOR TABERNACLE

Work on Temporary Structure for Biederwolf Campaign to Commence Monday.

WILL COST $9,000

J. D. Loizeaux Company Will Furnish 140,000 Feet of Lumber Required—Albert Desnoyers Designs Electric System.

Plans for the temporary tabernacle to be erected on Sachar place for the Biederwolf campaign were filed with Building Inspector Doane, yesterday and after a careful perusal by that official a permit for the work was granted. The construction is to start next Monday, weather permiting, and when completed the building will represent a cost of $9,000. Part of this amount will be offset when the structure is torn down at the close of campaign and the materials sold as second hand lumber.

According to the architectural design as submitted by O. W. Doneker, of Allentown, Pa., who is to supervise the erection, the structure will measure 231 by 150 feet. It will have a Mansard roof effect rising from the ground to an extreme heighth of thirty-five feet. The main entrance will face Geraud avenue and beside this opening there will be fourteen other wide doors for exits. An arrangement of windows will be placed in the upper side of the roof. Mr. Doneker has had wide experience in construction work of this kind, having built a similar tabernacle for Mr. Biederwolf, at Allentown and others in different cities in the east. He will hire local carpenters to do the job simply acting as supervisor himself.

While the tabernacle will be given over almost entirely to the main auditorium, there will be subdivisions at the rear end. These will include a rest room and committee room to the right and left of the speaker's platform and a book room back of the platform. The choir of one thousand voices will have seats on a rising platform which is to face the audience. Underneath the choir stand a cloak room will be finished off to care for the hats and wraps of the singers. The attendants will be seated upon benches of which there will be nine rows. No flooring is to be laid as tabernacles of this kind are left with an earthen surface covered with sawdust. The total seating capaacity will be 6,000.

An elaborate system of electric lights has been designed by Albert Desnoyers, of this city. Each one of the exits is to be marked by red globes while the main auditorium will be illuminated at night by 200 high candle power electric lights. A large cross containing seventy-five incandescent globes will be directly back of the speakers stand. The front entrance will be brilliantly illuminated by another series of lights to give a clear view to all persons as they enter from Geraud avenue.

According to estimates 140,000 square feet of lumber will be needed to build the tabernacle and this has been supplied by the firm of J. D. Loizeaux and Company who received the contract. Spruce, hemlock and North Carolina pine are the grades of lumber used and this is being taken directly from stock at the firm's yards for delivery on the premises. A large portion of the order is already on the ground and if all conditions are favorable a big force of carpenters will be started Monday morning.

CONTRACTOR MAY START EAST END SCHOOL MONDAY

If weather conditions are favorable, William Dennick, of Myrtle avenue, who was awarded the main contract for the new Emerson avenue school, will put men to work on the excavation next Monday. As soon as this is done a large force of mechanics will begin the actual construction. The sub-contract for carpentering has been let by Mr. Denneck to Anthony Albert, of Scotch Plains, who has worked for the former on several similar jobs.

Mr. Dennick has become one of Plainfield's best known contractors and has been doing a lot of big jobs in this section. At the present time he is making a specialty of school construction. He recently completed a large new school building at Kenilworth, another at Bound Brook and also No. 3 school in the "Big Woods" section of Fanwood township. Beside the Emerson avenue school, he is now at work on another school building at Metuchen which is to cost about $25,000.

THE FORUM

Editor, Plainfield Daily Press:

I saw in a recent issue of the Daily Press that the committee in charge of building the new city hall are about ready to give out the floor space required for the different city offices and other details that the committee has decided on that would be necessary for the architects to have to compete for the architectural work. Also a consulting architect has been retained. It seems to me that a city the size of Plainfield has architects capable of making a plan for a city building such as Plainfield would require. As one old architect told me, if a local man should do the job they would want it done for about $50. What was the good of competing; some outsider would get it anyway. Of course, I would not want to dictate to any city officials, but other towns don't have to go outside for expert help very often. I know of one town where they got an expert engineer and architect; and got badly "stung." Local men had to finish the job. Plainfield men should have just as much grey matter as men who have offices in New York. They pay office rent in Plainfield, buy from local merchants. Pay taxes to help pay outside architects. Why not keep the work in Plainfield. If someone outside of Plainfield gets the work, Plainfield merchants will not get one dollar of the money spent. Where, if a Plainfield man got the work, all the money would be spent right at home. The committee has an expert. If he knows his business—and I suppose he does—he can tell at a glance whether the plans are the work of an artist or an architect, or both. If the committee did not get a plan from Plainfield exactly according to their liking it could be changed so as to suit. Keep the money in Plainfield. Have plans made in Plainfield; not in Germany or France.

It seems the professional men in Plainfield must be a dumb lot. If Plainfield wants an engineer for sewer work they get some one from out of town to tell them that water won't run through a pipe on the public highway to tide water at Amboy, but will go twice the distance, taking in a $36,000 farm, then over and through a $100,000 septic tank and contact bed; thence by way of Green Brook (the several courses thereof) and over four mill dams, to my knowledge, at the rate of from three to five miles per hour to the same point. How far out to sea could we have carried the sewerage for what the farm and disposal plant cost. Then if we want a lawyer to tell us that 90 acres of swamp land is worth $36,000, we get a wise one from some other town. Plainfield lawyers would not have enough nerve.

If we want to know if there is sufficient water under Plainfield to operate a city water plant we go out of town for an engineer. I believe there are men in New Jersey that would spend half-a-million dollars rather than see Plainfield bother with the water that underlies the town. I have the report of the Water Commissioners of a town where I was located in 1913. I took the trouble to look into the matter. I would like to tell the people of Plainfield how bad they are being stung and how easy it would be for Plainfield to own and operate a water plant at a cost to the citizens of two-thirds less than they are now paying and all city water thrown in. It won't be long, in my opinion, before it will be claimed there is a scarcity of water for Elizabeth and intervening towns, and necessarily the price will have to be raised. There's plenty of water if properly housed. We could get just as much as the other fellow.

F. W. BIRD.

WEEK'S PERMITS REACH $100,850

Big Total Attained Through the Passing of the Federal Postoffice Plans.

TABERNACLE INCLUDED

Trustees of First M. E. Church Given Permit for Parsonage Alterations and New Building on Washington Avenue.

Through the issuance by Building Inspector T. O. Doane, of a final permit for the erection of the Federal postoffice building on Watchung avenue, the value of building permits in Plainfield the past week reached the grand total of $100,850. Beside the postoffice, the permits included one for the Biederwolf tabernacle costing $9,000, a detailed account of which will be found in another column. The contract for the postoffice was awarded on April 2, 1915, and the cornerstone was laid on December 4 of the same year. The government officials maintain that it is not necessary to ask local authorities to give permits for Federal structures and this explains why not permit was issued before. The contractors took the matter up and in order to make a local record of the work had Chief Doane go through the formality of granting permission, thus allowing the cost of the building to be entered upon the Plainfield's total of new work for the year.

The trustees of the First M. E. church were granted a permit for the alteration of the parsonage at 610 Central avenue. The alterations are to be general in character, and include a new front veranda. Charles W. Smith is the architect, Howard Huff the mason contractor, and the contract the mason contractor, and the contract for the carpenter work has been awarded Walter Apgar. The cost of the improvements has been placed at $4,000.

The Berfelden Mills, located on Washington avenue, adjoining Green brook, received a permit for another structure on the same property, L. M. Rosenthal acting as agent for the silk concern. The new building, which is to be used as a winding shop, will be of frame construction, measuring 23 by 50 feet, and one story high. The cost is estimated at $1,750. Upon the completion of the addition building, new looms are to be installed, and employment given to an additional force of people.

William H. Clum is the architect, and the contracts have been awarded to Cunniff Brothers, masons, and James Carver, carpenter contractor.

The Public Service Gas Company has been granted a permit for the erection of a two story, brick, 14 by 12 foot addition to the present structure at 249 East Fourth street. The building is to have concrete foundations and reinforced concrete floors throughout. The improvements will cost $1,100. William C. Smith is the general contractor.

The figure of $100,850 for the week brings the grand total of permits for the month of March up to today to $121,485, while the total for the year 1916 aggregates $188,754.

IN THE SUBURBS.

The new house of Joseph Fromeyer, on Second street, Dunellen, is nearly completed by Contractor Edward Daniel. The only outside work remaining is to place the wooden piazza pillars on their concrete foundations.

Tony Albert, the contractor, has completed the erection of a two and a half story dwelling on Russell road, Fanwood, for George Palcanis. It is of hollow tile, stuccoed, and of colonial construction. A rear enclosed porch and several other features are included in the designing.

George Moore, of Scotch Plains, has just awarded the contract to Tony Albert for the erection of a two and a half story dwelling on Paterson road, Fanwood. Ground for the structure will be broken sometime next week, and Albert expects to have the building completed by the fore part of May.

OCCUPYING NEW QUARTERS.

J. P. Homan, the borough carriage repairer, has moved his business from the ground floor of his building at 29 Somerset street to the new shop erected in the rear of the building. The premises which Mr. Homan has vacated had been his stand since 1875. Contractors Smith and Force are at present engaged in remodeling the vacated quarters into a store. There will be a front entrance to the floors upstairs occupied by Ambrose King, the carriage painter.

Access to Mr. Homan's new shop is obtained through a driveway running between the Homan building and the establishment of Morris Latzko. The new place of business is built of brick and concrete, and is 30 feet wide by 60 deep.

CONCERT NETTED $150.

The sum of $150 was netted by the concert given in Columbus Hall Tuesday evening by the local branch of the Vaterlandshilfe for the benefit of the sufferers in the Central Empires, according to a statement issued by one of the members of the society this afternoon.

WILSON'S DICTATOR TACTICS RAPPED

La Follette Assails President's Armed Ship Policy.

Washington, March 11.—Senator La Follette, in a speech to the senate, defended the power of congress to warn citizens from belligerent ships and challenged the right of the president to prevent congressional action in foreign relations.

He defended the administration for having kept out of the European war, but attacked the power claimed by the president to administer the country's foreign affairs as "secret diplomacy."

"The occupation of Vera Cruz," he said, "had it been against any great power instead of a poor, weak, bankrupt nation, would have involved a war the cost and sacrifice and suffering of which was beyond the imagination of man to portray.

"In view of this, congress was bound to take action to express its views and to offer counsel which might avert a pending disaster.

"In my opinion, we have fallen short of our duty rather than exceeded it. President Wilson's course, so far as I can discover, was unprecedented in demanding that congress keep silent in all that pertains to foreign affairs.

"The only justification was that the warning resolution in some way not obvious to congress might paralyze the negotiations then under way. Even if this were true the president might have appealed to congress to defer action."

IMPERIALS WIN CITY BOWLING CHAMPIONSHIP; DEFEAT EAGLES

Missed Spares Hurt Birds' Chances in League Roll-off—North Plainfielders Take First Game by Six Pins and Second by Eleven—Connolly is the Star of Match Attended by Large Mob of Enthusiasts.

Missed spares by the Eagles and walloping finishes by the Imperials decided the five-man bowling championship of the city in favor of the borough team, in the City League roll-off on the Columbus Club alleys last night. The Imperials won two straight games, the first by six pins and the second by eleven.

With the title goes the Floersch cup, emblematic of the championship, and five pairs of bowling shoes, given by the Abrams store. The games were witnessed by more than three hundred bowling enthusiasts who were lined up six and eight deep the entire length of the alleys.

The closeness of the games increased the rooting, which was deafening at times. The Imperials' rooters were provided with tin whistles, which they used when their voices could not be heard above the uproar.

The first game was an even fight all the way, but smashing work in the tenth frame by Gates, Connolly and Lewis put the game on ice. Connolly and Lewis each contributed a triple for a windup. Both had scores of 212. Harry Radin, who usually hits the Columbus Club alleys for select scores, had breaks in fifth, sixth and seventh; and this, more than anything else, kept the Eagles from breezing home ahead. The final totals were 951 and 946.

As was expected, the fast pace fell off in the second game, in which the Imperials had a larger lead than they had in the first. Going in the last round well in front, the Imps had their lead cut down until the Eagles needed a double from Radin to win; but the No. 7 pin stood on a good hit, and the Birds' last chance was lost.

Luck never was more fickle than last night, bad luck coming on many pocket hits that were turned into splits, and good fortune appearing on several occasions when undeserved spares were made. In the final analysis, however, the losers can blame their defeat only upon their surprisingly inaccurate spare bowling.

It was the most reliable members of the Aerie team who fell down. Bill Smith rolled 206 in the first game, and missed only two spares all night. Miller, Mahoney and Radin all went by, Mahoney's miss throwing away a chance to win the second game.

John Connolly was the star of the night. He was the central figure in winning the first game, which he featured by executing the 6-7-10 split. His 212 was high for the night, and in the second game he was second high man.

Besides the 212 marks made by Lewis and Connolly in the first game, Smith rolled 206 and Miller 203. Voorhees put up 204 in the second game.

The Imperials well deserve the honors which they earned by a hard uphill fight. To capture the title they had to get into a tie for first place by winning three straight games in their last match on the schedule from the Eagles, who were then three games to the good. Including last night's series, the Imps finished by taking five straight games from the Eagles.

The borough bowlers themselves did as much rooting last night as their many supporters. They were full of pep from the start, and danced around after every strike.

The two teams also bowled the third game, although it had no effect on the championship, and the Imperials also won that, by a margin of twelve pins, 893 to 881. Gates rolled 199, Smith 190, Voorhees 206, Jaeger 166, Connolly 163, Miller 192, Lewis 179, Mahoney 147, Luthman 146 and Radin 186.

In the race for the leadership of the Dunellen Inter-organization Bowling League, the Baracas, who are firmly entrenched in second place, defeated the I. O. F. five on the Presbyterian alleys last night, taking three straight games. The Foresters were given a handicap of fifty pins, but these did them no good. Braun, Fromeyer and Snyder shone for the Baracas, while Richards, Starker and Fred Vail did the best work for the Foresters. "Art" Vail had an off night and made a poor showing for the Foresters. Braun, of the Baracas, was the particular star of the evening. He went twenty-two frames without misisng.

Tuesday evening, when the Baracas meet the O. Z. T.'s, the league leaders, is awaited with considerable anticipation by bowling enthusiasts of the six teams entered in the tourney.

HELPING BOCK TAKE PAIR HELPING BOCH TAKE PAIR

Eddie Feihl continues to rock the maples. Last night, bowling with the Bock team, which represents Elizabeth in the Intercounty Alley Owners' League, Feihl rolled 267, 225 and 191 for an average of 227.2 on the Le Glise alleys in Newark. The Bock team won two out of three games, and is now in second place, with a record of 34 victories and 14 defeats. The leading team is the Weingarth-Whatton five, of Newark, which has 42 victories and 17 defeats.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL FIVE IS DEFEATED AT ELIZABETH

Plainfield Grammar School lost a basketball game to the Lutheran Midgets, at the English Lutheran church, in Elizabeth, last night, 27 to 15. The game was for the midget championship of Union county. The Elizabeth boys won the junior Sunday-school championship of Elizabeth without losing a game, and altogether have won twenty-eight out of thirty-one battles this winter. The P. G. S. quintet had also lost only three games up to last night.

The victory last night made it fifteen straight for the Lutherans. The larget crowd that ever saw a midget game in Elizabeth sat in at the affair. Banner chucked in a septet of double-deckers. The Plainfielders were left far behind in the first half, but in the second canto made a dozen points to the winners' fifteen.

P. H. S. BOYS' LAST GAME CLOSE DEFEAT

Do Best Passing of Season, but Are Nosed Out at Westfield High.

Plainfield High School's court quintet dropped its last game of the season last night at Westfield after one of the best games of the year, the final score being 21 to 20. During the entire first half the locals had their opponents nearly standing on their heads with the brand of passing they showed, and in the second half kept the lead until the last seconds of play, when Stevens, the diminutive Westfield forward, dropped in a pretty field goal and led his team to a one-point victory.

The locals put up the best exhibition of passing they have shown this season, and instead of trying so many long shots they carried the ball nearly underneath the basket before they shot. The second half was even closer than the first, and both teams ran neck and neck until the hr hh ran neck and neck until near the end of the period, when Stevens got loose long enough to do the damage.

Dunham and McDowell each scored twice from the floor, but the former also dropped in all the fouls for the locals. Both Linke and Davies played a roving game and did a little shooting on their own account, with Linke in the lead. Every Westfield man scored at least once, but Stevens led the pack.

Tomorrow afternoon—New Brunswick at Paterson.

Two games out of three were lost at Newark last night by the Plainfield team of the Elks' Junior League. The locals' lone win came in the last game by a margin of two pins.

Newark rolled 937 and 903 in the first two games, which were totals too large for Plainfield. Firstbrook and Simpson finished with strikes, but the locals could not overcome Newark's big lead. Simpson, Williams and Gilland all tripled in the tenth of the second game, which Newark won by twenty-seven points. Plainfield trailed most of the way in the third game, but breezed home in front by two pins when Graef broke after a string of five strikes.

A want ad may be too short as well as too long. There ought to be, always, a rational brevity—but this should not preclude a touch of "human interest"—the statement of such facts as will give the advertisements a certain DEFINITENESS instead of vagueness.

Tonight—Plainfield at New Brunswick.

Plainfield lost two games at New York and Jersey City won two games at Hoboken in the Elks' Senior League last night. The games did cause any change in the standings.

Plainfielders in Train Wreck.

The Plainfield Elks were jolted worse coming home than they were in the home of Lodge No. 1. The train on which they came home jumped the tracks in Bayonne, and although none of the Antlers was injured, they all were well shaken up.

Plainfield trailed most of the way in the first two games. The locals were six pins behind in the third frame of the opening fight and five pins behind in the eighth. Lee Johns won the game for New York, the veteran having seven strikes for a score of 227. The difference was only fourteen pins, 888 to 874. Splits held Frank Blatz back, and it was only by good spare bowling that he reached 167. Causbrook made a brave attempt to pull his team out at the finish. Bill had a triple in the tenth.

The Gothamites led by forty pins in the second inning of the sandwich tilt, but their advantage was cut to seven points in the next frame. Johns' string of wallops in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth again proved a big aid to the homesters, who won by three dozen pins, with a total of 909. Vail had a clean game, making 205, while Captain Waldorf hit 203.

Blatz wound up the last game with five strikes for a score of 220, Plainfield winning by 20 pins, 915 to 895. This game, like the others, was close. The teams were on even terms in the second, and Plainfield led until the fifth, when New York went in front by ten pins. Plainfield regained an advantage of four pins in the seventh, and Blatz's strong windup did the rest.

Johns averaged 207.1.

ALL STARS WIN ON HOPE CHAPEL JUNIORS' COURT

The Hope Chapel Juniors were treated to a drubbing last evening on their own court by the All-Stars, who won handily by a score of 41 to 22. The losers were unable to restrain the fine shooting of their opponents, who dropped the ball through the net from all directions. Townel, at forward for the winners, was a big asset in making points. He dropped in eight field goals. Both Keating and Poling tallied a quartet of field goals, while Snyder shot five field goals for his team.

GIRLS DEFEAT BOYS IN FARCE CONTEST

Handicapped Males of Boro School Lose on Fouls to N. P. H. S. Maids.

With comedy prevailing, the girls' team of North Plainfield High School defeated the boys in a farce contest in Saengerbund Hall last night, 36 to 26. The female team now holds the undisputed title of the borough school, being very much elated over its accomplishment of last evening.

The boys had to play in hobble skirts, thus handicapping them slightly, but their opponents were not to be denied, and in the second half, playing with lines, they tallied numerous points, the boys not being able to guard capably in girl fashion. Mr. Earley was slightly biased in his officiating, rendering assistance to the girls on numerous occasions, while Miss Burtis took advantage of all the opportunities, as she had the faculty of dropping the ball through the net from the foul line.

In the first period, playing without lines, the two teams battled evenly, the boys wasting opportunities by frequent shots the length of the floor. The regular positions were reversed, Dawe and Townley playing the guard positions, while Kirch and Dilts took the responsibilities of forwards. Kirch was the highest pointman for the losers, with four baskets, while Captain Spencer and Miss Burtis were the scoring cogs for the winning combination.

The score:

FLOAT NEW FEDERATION FOR NATIONAL AMATEUR BASEBALL

Washington, D. C., March 11.—Will the baseball schedule interfere with the Atlantic Coast Bowling Association Tournament in Washington, D. C.? Can baseball men blame bowling for the decrease in patronage in baseball during 1915 season. These are the questions many bowling enthusiasts have asked John J. Donovan, secretary of the Atlantic Coast Bowling Association, when they hear the cry that $34,000,000 is tied up in baseball.

This amount is a paltry sum compared with the money invested in bowling alleys in the United States. The money tied up in 200,000 bowling alleys alone represents more than all the money the magnates have tied up in contracts, ball parks, salaries, and other expenses.

A good illustration of this is found when figuring the cost of 200,000 bowling alleys in the United States, each one representing an average cost of $500, that is barring the pins, balls, and the cost for rent in the event of the managers not owning their own buildings. This would make a total of $100,000,000 tied up in bowling alleys alone, with $5,000,000 for pins and balls and other playing equipment. Take New York for example. It has about 3,750 bowling alleys, which would make a total cost of $18,750,000 not counting the pins, balls, furniture and fixtures which will represent an investment of almost as large. In New York alone there are over 300,000 regular bowlers, which is quite some food for thought for the baseball magnates.

Girls to Aid Sufferers in War.

Hackettstown, March 11.—The local organization of Camp Fire Girls, of which Miss Eloise Ritter, teacher of English in the high school, is leader, is preparing boxes of supplies to be sent to the needy of warring countries of Europe. Appeals have been sent into local homes.

Shorter Day Demanded.

Paterson, March 11.—The hat band weavers voted to ask for a nine hour day, to begin April 3. According to the plan adopted, the hours of labor are to be from 7 until 12 o'clock and from 1 until 5 o'clock. The demands are to be submitted to the manufacturers Monday.

Boarder Found Dead in Bed.

Morristown, March 11.—When Mrs. Lillian Schofield, who keeps a boarding house, went upstairs to find out why one of her roomers, William M. Mitchell of Hackettstown, did not respond to her call for breakfast, she found the man dead in bed.

—When discontent reaches a certain point, the furnished room advertisements become very interesting to some people.

ST. CHRISTOPHER'S SMOTHER PLAINFIELD A. A., 105 TO 8

Speedy Colored Basketball Team From New York Repeats Its Former Showings Here—Makes Fifty-one Baskets to Locals' Two—Athenians Even Series With Montclair, Winning Contest by Three Points.

Passers from the colored St. Christopher's church in New York appeared in their annual rout in this city last night, when they smothered the Plainfield A. A., 105 to 8, on the T. A. B. S. Hall court. In the preliminary game, the Athenians evened matters with the Montclair team, winning an interesting contest, 18 to 15.

The St. Christopher's were just as invincible as they were in their former exhibitions in this city. They made fifty baskets to their opponents' none in the first half, and had they tried, could have made the final score nearer to 205 than 105. They adopted their usual tactics of toying with their helpless rivals after the first half, and devoted much of their time to passing, without trying to shoot. Their handling of the ball has never been equaled in Plainfield.

Two of their forwards ran up ten goals in one half, and a guard who played less than half a game made seven two-pointers. The losing side registered just two baskets, both of them being made by Day.

The first game was the only contest. The two teams fought neck and neck, the first half ending with the score tied. Bill Daniels led the assault that enabled the Athenians to return the defeat handed them at Montclair Tuesday night. The home pivot caged four double-deckers.

A crowd that jammed every available inch of the hall watched the two games. It was the final match of the season for the Plainfield A. A.

The several hundred colored people present expected to have a dance after the games, but through some slipup, no license to hold a dance was procured. John Gates, who brought the St. Christopher team to this city last year, but who did not have anything to do with last night's affair, is planning a big time for the near future, when he will put on some high-class basketball and also have a dance.

KENNEL CLUB WILL MEET NEXT WEDNESDAY NIGHT

All members of the Plainfield Kennel Club are expected to attend a meeting in the Queen City Hotel Wednesday evening. The report of the committee which was in charge of the recent match show will be read, a committee to arrange for a club smoker, to be held soon will be appointed, and other plans for the social discussed, and the subject of a large American Kennel Club show, to be held here in the summer, will undoubtedly come in for some attention. It is also expected that several new members will be elected.

THE GOLF PRO WHO PLAYS BECAUSE HIS LIKES THE GAME.

News that Eugene K. McCarthy, competing for an open golf title, finished next to last in a field of leading professionals, filtered in a few days ago, and is but a sample of what will come all summer. The former Plainfield Country Club pro is one of the characters of American golf. Although he invariably finishes well down, "Mac" goes his merry way, and is apparently just as happy when his scores mount to 90 as he is when he's crowding par. Few amateurs—certainly, no members of the paid contingent which competes for the name and the gain earned by finishing in the money—plays golf for the game itself as does McCarthy.

North Plainfield High School's basketball record this season is one of the most unsuccessful the borough boys have ever had. The team was exceptionally light and inexperienced, but at that would have made a betting showing, had it received better treatment from Dame Fortune. The little bunch of Maroon and Black scrappers put up close fights in the city championship arguments, but they were able to do so only because Plainfield High School also had a weaker team than usual. Had either school had a first class quintet this year, it could have walked away with the title.

There are a lot of male bowlers who can't bowl 189, the record score made by Mrs. H. B. Arnold, on the Columbus Club alleys on "Ladies' Night" this week. Although she has not had much practice at the game, Mrs. Arnold has made a number of large scores, and may be expected to come across with a double century any old time.

Checker players are making things move over the brook. Not since Plainfield consisted of one street, two hitchin' posts and a general store, has the old game excited cracker-barrel comment. They do say, too, that there are some local masters who deserve a square in the king's row.

Daddy's Bedtime Story——

Bangkok, the City That Had 10,000 Homeless Dogs.

"DOWN in the lower south corner of Asia," daddy told his children, "there is a kingdom, Siam, which has a wonderful city by the name of Bangkok for its capital. Now, the strange thing about this city was that its people did not believe in taking the life of any living thing. It is part of their religion not to destroy life. So when people moved away or died and left pets with no one to take care of them these poor animals strayed about the streets of Bangkok, homeless and unfed, till at times there were as many as 10,000 stray cats and dogs roaming about."

"Didn't anybody feed them?" asked Jack.

"The Siamese people are very fond of animals, but there is hardly enough food for even poor children. So the poor dogs and cats had to get on as they could. Nobody was allowed to throw stones at this throng of animals, and the rudest street boy in Bangkok would not think of pelting them. Some of the cats have no hair, and disease makes them look very unpleasant. But kind hearted priests often rub the poor things with cocoanut oil and lift them into the shade out of the scorching rays of the hot tropical sun. So with a great deal of kindness shown them these poor Siamese creatures still had a hard life, because what all animals like best of all is plenty of good food."

"They're something like children, aren't they?" smiled Jack.

"Very much!" daddy agreed.

"I once knew a man who visited Bangkok, and he told me that nights it was almost impossible to sleep because so many hundreds of homeless dogs howled and fought in the streets. But Siamese cats are very gentle and make beautiful pets. They have charming long silky fur and pink eyes, with heavy tufts of fur on the tips of their tails. They like all sorts of petting. This friend of mine once sent a pair of them to a lady he knew, and she was delighted to play with them. She fed them daintily with warm milk and boiled rice, because meat, which they had never had, always made them sick. She kept them in the coziest place in her home, away from all drafts and wind, letting them outdoors only on warm summer days. But she could not keep them in a northland, and the poor things died like strangers in an unfriendly country. You will be glad to know that the king of Siam a few years ago gave enough money to build kennels for those 10,000 homeless dogs, so that now the streets of Bangkok are quieter," said daddy.

"Could we have a cat from Siam?" asked Jack.

"I'd rather have an American kitty!" cried Evelyn.

And daddy promised her in return for a big hug.

Marrying for Money

BY MRS EVA LEONARD

Marian Townsend's Bitterness Grows as Her Stepmother's Extravagance Increases.

"Daddy," exclaimed Marian, flushed and excited, "come up to the den a minute, can't you? I want to tell you something."

Jacob Townsend followed his daughter to the den Dudley had fixed up over the store. It was the retreat of the three Townsends when they wanted to be by themselves. Their home, Marian called it. When her father had dropped into his easy chair, Marian perched on the arm and began breathlessly to tell what had brought her to the store.

"When Ortrude and her cousin returned from Kansas City today they had the machine loaded with boxes and bundles."

"That is too common an occurrence to get so excited over, my dear," said Jacob wearily.

"But, father, she has spent all this money fixing up that cousin. You surely have enough to do to dress Ortrude without clothing her cousin," continued the girl.

"Oh, surely you are mistaken. She would not think of doing such a thing, I am sure." Jacob smiled reassuringly into Marian's face.

"Indeed she would," insisted the girl. "I heard them talking the other evening. Ortrude was planning for a big party for Adelaide, and the girl said she had nothing suitable to wear. Ortrude told her that she would see to that. 'Marian has very simple clothes,' she told her, 'but I want you to make an impression.' They were sitting in the garden under my window and I could not help hearing," added the girl.

"Probably Ortrude has something that she intends to alter for the girl. She may very well have. She has bought enough evening clothes for a city society lady, and there is absolutely nothing to wear them to in this town." Jacob patted the girl's hand to quiet her.

"No." Marian shook her head confidently. "I heard Ortrude say something about Adelaide's dress and the girl was so pleased and excited. I do not think she has had much in the way of clothes. She is not to blame. I suppose she thinks Ortrude married money bags." Jacob sat looking at the opposite wall very intently, but he did not reply.

"I suppose there is nothing you could do about it if she chose to buy the girl an entire wardrobe," said the girl bitterly.

"There is something I should try to do," was the decisive answer.

"What Daddy?" queried the girl.

"My plans are not entirely made," said Jacob evasively, "but I shall look into the matter at once. I promise you that."

They sat in silence for some minutes, then he rose, saying: "I must go back to work." Marian followed him down the stairs.

As the girl walked home through the hot afternoon sun her heart was full of bitterness. "I shall have to appear at the party given for Adelaide in my simple white dress. I have not had a thing new this summer. I planned to have all my new things in the fall to go away to school with, and that had to be given up. Now I will have to show how much better the cousin dresses than I do, and all on my father's money, too." She thought as she walked along. An automobile whizzed past her and she glanced up to see Adelaide wave at her and smile radiantly. She was having the time of her life.

"The rich can ride in automobiles," was Marian's bitter reflection.

USES OF PEARS.

Pear Marmalade—Three pints sliced Kiefer pears, three lemons and three oranges sliced and cooked with pears until tender, three pints sugar, one pint raisins, 10c jar preserved ginger. Put in glasses.

Pear Conserve—Two pounds pears, one pound figs, three pounds white sugar, two tablespoonfuls vinegar. Grind or chop pears and figs, then boil all together until thick, add one and one-quarter pound nut meats cut in small pieces. This makes a fine cake filling.

Wash, pare, quarter and core Kiefer pears, put into saucepan with sufficient water to cover, put on lid and cook until tender. Sweeten to taste. Put in colander and drain, heat skillet, use level teaspoonful butter and when melted and sides and bottom are greased, turn pears into skillet, add small amount of sugar, cover close and when syrup is formed increase heat until pears are nicely browned.

THESE HINTS LIGHTEN YOUR HOUSE-CLEANING.

To Refreshen Linoleum — Wash clean and dry perfectly. With clean paint brush apply white shellac, being careful not to lap the strokes. Will not change the color, will brighten its service and dry in one hour.

To Clean Looking Glasses—Take a newspaper, fold it small, dip it in a basin of clean, cold water. When thoroughly wet, squeeze it out as you do a sponge. Then rub it pretty hard all over the surface of the glass, taking care that it is not so wet as to run down in streams. In fact, the paper must be completely moistened or dampened all through. Let it rest a few minutes, then go over the glass with a piece of fresh, dry newspaper till it looks clear and bright.

To Clean Leather Furniture—An excellent way of cleaning leather furniture is to wipe with a damp cloth to take off the dirt. When it is dry wipe again with a soft cloth dipped in the beaten white of an egg. Let the egg dry and then polish with a soft cloth.

Water Made Very Strong by boiling onions in it will clean gilt frames or ornaments without injury.

Put a blotter over grease spots on paper and apply a hot iron until heated through. Repeat if necessary.

When Vegetables become wilted and stale before you can use them, place them for an hour in a gallon of water to which a teaspoonful of baking soda has been added. They will be as crisp and fresh as when gathered from the garden.

THE TABLE

Golden Stars—Make an ordinary sponge cake batter; bake in star-shaped tins. One box marshmallows, one cup pecan nuts, one-quarter cup powdered sugar. Immediately on taking from oven break apart stars and lay one marshmallow, which has been covered with nuts, inside. Put on the other half of the star (this must be done quickly before the cake cools, so the marshmallow will melt). Sprinkle the top with powdered sugar.

Odd Meat Loaf—One green tomato, one ripe tomato, two pounds round steak ground, one green pepper, tablespoonful celery, teaspoonful onion, cup cracker crumbs, one egg, one-half cup milk, three thick slices bacon; mix ingredients together except bacon. Bake thirty minutes in moderate oven, having laid the strips of bacon across the loaf.

Apple, Date and Celery Salad—Dice about three tart apples, chop together several stalks of celery and small cupful of dates. Add to apples and pour over all a generous quantity of mayonnaise, to which a cupful of whipped cream has been added.

BEET SALAD.

Boil and peel the beets, then cut a slice off the bottom of each so that the beets will stand upright.

Scoop out the inside carefully. Cut the portion of beet removed from the centers into small cubes and add equal parts of cold boiled potato, celery and chopped nuts. Mix with salad dressing and fill the beet shells with the mixture, laying a slice of hard boiled egg on top of each.

How Silks Are Cleaned to Look New

There is no reason why soiled or passe summer frocks and accessories should be entirely discarded, for with little care and work, most of them can be made almost like new.

Chiffons, mousselines, thin silks and laces will, as a rule, stand soap and water during the process of renewal. Only the best white soap should be used, however. Other laundry requisites necessary will be vinegar, salt, borax, ammonia and clear cold tea.

Soap Jelly.

As soap should never be rubbed on delicate fabrics, the better plan is to make soap jelly. To do this shred good white soap into sufficient warm water to cover it, adding half a teaspoonful of borax. Set it on the back of the stove, but do not allow the mixture to boil, and when quite free from lumps the jelly is ready for use.

To wash white or dainty colored silk waists (only one should be washed at a time), take a bowl of warm—not hot—water and add sufficient soap jelly to make a lather. Lay in the waist, and, if much soiled, allow it to soak for 20 minutes, except in the case of a dainty color, which may run. Wash by squeezing—not—rubbing—through the hands, then remove and place in a second bowl of warm water and soap jelly, turning the waist on the wrong side. Squeeze through this bath, but do not wring the garment. Then rinse thoroughly in warm water to remove all traces of soap, otherwise the white silk might turn yellow when ironed. Finally put through cold water and the silk will be an ivory color. If a pure white tinge is desired add a few drops of blueing; to secure a cream shade put a teacupful of cold tea in the last rinsing water.

To Preserve Gloss on Silk.

The gloss of silk may be preserved by dipping the garment after rinsing in a solution of methylated spirit in the proportions of three tablespoonfuls of the spirit to a quart of water.

Before washing colored silks it is well to set the color by laying in salt and water for a short time and then adding salt to the rinsing water. If the bright tints appear to have faded in the wash one tablespoonful of common vinegar to a quart of water will revive the colors, but if the colors have disappeared in spots then ammonia will be a better agent for the purpose than vinegar.

Plain colors may be safely soaked if necessary, but where there are mixed colors, as in the case of striped or checked wash silks, the process should be accomplished quickly, otherwise the colors may run into each other. This would ruin the garment.

The last rinsing over, roll the wet blouse in a thick, clean cloth and leave there an hour or so before ironing.

Ironing.

In ironing use a piece of thin muslin between the silk and the iron. The latter must be quite warm, for the waist will be wet. Pass the iron over the surface until the article is almost dry, then remove the cloth and iron directly on the right side of the silk. If you neglect the use of the cloth the silk will form into hundreds of little wrinkles.

Begin with the sleeves, then stuff them full of tissue paper and proceed with the body of the waist, or, if found more convenient, reverse the order and fill the body part with the paper, ironing the sleeves last.

Not only silk waists but whole gowns may be safely attempted if one is willing to take this trouble.

Chiffon Cleansed Like Silks.

Chiffon and mousselines will respond to the same cleansing treatment as is recommended for fine silks, but some women claim that they have had better success in pinning these fabrics on a bed, a large pillow, etc., until dry, than by ironing them. They look more like new and are not limp as they are when ironed.

If one wishes a starch for any kind of fine goods the better way to make it is to mix dry starch with cold water and then boil it until it is perfectly clear. It should be of a very weak consistency.

The Danger in Face Powder

The modern use of face powder, as we have ventured to affirm, is not only justifiable but advisable as a healtful habit, when it is necessary of when a woman thinks it is necessary. Decked out in the latest style of pigment, mi-lady feels happier, looks as she feels, and, from obvious psychological influence, really is a healthier person for the time being.

Inflamed Eyelids.

However, there are some dangers she must avoid. In the first place, she must beware of those paints and other accessories of the toilet which contain lead, wood alcohol, mercury and similar harmful ingredients. In the second place, she must be careful how she powders, lest she suffer conjunctivitis.

Conjunctivitis is medical highbrow language for sore eyes—inflamed lining of the eyelids.

The particular kind of conjunctivitis caused by face powder is characterized by blurring of vision, inability to use the eyes for near work and frequent seizures of intense itching of the lids. If the eyes are rubbed to relieve the itching, the lids are liable to become swollen. There is a sticky, stringy secretion of mucus from the lids.

The fine powder applied with a powder puff gets into the eyes, especially rice powder. The rice powder produces a sort of mucilage when moistened with the tears, the woody rice cells swell and their angular corners cause irritation of the delicate lining of the lids. Rubbing obviously aggravates the condition by adding insult to injury.

Simple Remedies.

The trouble is quickly relieved by flushing the eyes with normal salt solution (teaspoonful table salt dissolved in a pint of boiled, still warm water). Allow the solution to run over eyeballs and in the sac of the lids quite freely, to wash away the irritating matter. Then smear the edges of the eyelids with equal parts of vaseline and lanolin, sterilized and put up in a collapsible tube. Work a small quantity of the ointment into the eyes. It is harmless. Repeat the irrigation and the application of the ointment twice a day until relieved. But of course the powder puff must be tossed into the scrap basket and a little more homeopathic powdering indulged in for a while.

A Pen for The Baby

Get a store box about three feet square and eighteen inches deep. See that inside and edge are made very smooth. Cut squares to fit, from better parts of old comforts, cover with washable material and knot closely; these make easily laundered pads for bottom.

Place baby and his playthings inside. If he is inclined to throw them out, fasten by strings or ribbons to edge of box so that he may haul them in again if he likes.

By holding to edge of box he will learn to walk and will be protected meantime from cold and drafts to which a creeping baby on the floor is always exposed; also from fire, hot liquids and many things of which the little child who has the range of the house is always in danger.

If the baby has not previously been spoiled he will be happy and contented in his little pen.

WINTER MORNING GLORIES.

If you wish to make your dining room more cheerful on winter days, put five or six morning glory seeds in a small flower pot (one a nice size for the table) and when they come up make a small rack for them.

With a little care in watering and twining them around the rack you soon have a pretty little plant. There will be from one to five blossoms on it every morning, which will look wonderfully bright and cheerful on the breakfast table on cold winter mornings.

When the sun is not too bright they sometimes stay out all day. They seem to stand the cold well, as they are not easily frozen.

OXALIC ACID FOR CLEANING.

To get stains out of tablecloths or any kind of garments, buy a box of oxalic acid for 25 cents at any druggist. It is rather expensive, but it lasts a long time and goes a long way. Of course, much depends upon the color of the material that you wish to clean free of spots and stains. For dark goods use a weak solution and for white materials one tablespoon (not heaping) to one-half cup of lukewarm water.

Oxalic acid for removing stains is something that never fails. Watch the stain disappear, then wash out immediately in cold, clear water.

These editorials are from the pens of well known citizens of Plainfield, or persons identified with local interests, and cover a wide range of subjects, the writers being urged to express their own views, whether they agree with the policy of this newspaper or not.

Mothers' Column, prepared by a committee from the Plainfield Mothers' Association, containing valuable hints on matters which are of especial interest to the home.

Building Page on Saturdays, containing a review of all the activities of the week, and articles about proposed new work to be done in Plainfield and vicinity.

Scoop, The Cub Reporter, a strip comic which has been running continuously for over four years, and getting more amusing every day.

Daddy's Bedtime Story, a feature for the children which has no equal in its class.

Mrs. Leonard's Article, of particular interest to the women readers.

Cartoons by one of the best known artists in the country.

W. C. T. U. Column, conducted by the Plainfield branch of this work, and detailing activities of the fight being made by this and allied organizations throughout the country.

And last but not least

Advertisements of every up-to-date and progressive store in Plainfield, Newark and New York.

All of these and many other features are to be found each week in the various issues of the

PLAINFIELD DAILY PRESS.

THE PRESS' SPECIAL OFFER TO PLAINFIELD

THIS is one of our big achievements, of which we are justly proud. Every reader of this paper—yes, every family in the city and in its environments—can this year enjoy either of these two nationally famous magazines, or both of them, with this paper, for but little more than the price of the paper alone. These two great magazines with approximately 1,500,000 subscribers, are known and loved the whole country over. At 15 cents a copy, $1.80 a year—$3.60 for the two, purchased by the month—they are unquestioned leaders in their respective fields.

How We Did It

We went to the publishers of these magazines and told them about this city. How its population has increased! How its wealth has increased! How its trade has increased! How its bank clearings have increased! We showed them how desirable it was for them, and for their advertisers, that they should have a large circulation here! Then we showed them how this paper was the one paper in this city to make this offer, and how we knew that the citizens of this city would welcome this opportunity enthusiastically.

Woman's Home Companion

Splendid Serial Novels Woman's Home Companion is famous for the excellence of its fiction, particularly its full-length serial novels. There will be at least four novels this year, by Margaret Deland, Fannie Heaslip Lea, and others of equal power. Hundreds of thousands will later pay $1.50 each for them, when they are published in book form, but readers of Woman's Home Companion will have had them first.

Fifty Splendid Short Stories By distinguished authors whose work you are always eager to read, will fill the pages of the Companion. Mary E. Wilkins Freeman, William J. Burns (the great detective), Zona Gale, Mary Heaton Vorse, Juliet Wilbor Tompkins, Grace S. Richmond—these are only a few of the popular favorites whose stories will appear during the year.

The Finer Things of Life Inspiration, ideals, culture, the things that lift us above the commonplace and the monotony of living—these have an important place in the program for 1916. The Rev. Dr. Charles E. Jefferson has prepared a series of intimate sermons for the Companion family on the duties and privileges of family life and the real meaning of family ties.

Laura Spencer Porter will help those who love pictures and want to know the best. Anne Bryan McCall, in The Tower Room, will continue her popular department for girls.

The New Fashions Fashion's new ideas, the chic touches that distinguish the smartly dressed woman of Fifth Avenue will always be found first in the Companion. Grace Margaret Gould, the Companion Fashion Editor, keeps her readers in constant touch with the great creators of fashion in Paris and New York.

For the Little People The Cherubs are coming! The cunningest, funniest little people you ever saw—drawn and versified by Olive Rush. Also stories, puzzles and prizes, plays for school and nursery, plans for kites, aeroplanes and boats, doll dressmaking lessons—all kinds of things to interest and amuse the little Companion readers.

Helpful Home Departments The Companion is famous for its practical departments. Every month it offers new ideas for cooking, for serving, for entertaining, for fancy work. Hundreds of ideas every month! Practical, really helpful ideas. Companion readers find these departments most valuable.

The American Magazine

aims to be, and is, a magazine for the whole family to share, each with the other—full of the new things, the interesting things, this month, next month, every month!

George Ade
William Allen White
Ellis Parker Butler
David Grayson
Ida Tarbell
John Sharp Williams
Ray Stannard Baker
Hugh Fullerton
Stephen Leacock
John Taintor Foote
Walter Pritchard Eaton
James Montgomery Flagg

These, and scores of other favorites, will contribute the timely and interesting articles, the stories, the striking illustrations, the departments. You will find The American Magazine always full of the things you are interested in; the things you want to read about.

The Effect of the War on America The industries have been created; old industries have been given new life; new cities have sprung up full sized in a month; men have become millionaires over night—these are some of the effects of the war on America. These articles tell a wonderful story of problems met, difficulties overcome, and successful achievement. They give a splendid, true picture of the war industries, the war fortunes, and the men that made them.

Being Better Business Men An intensely interesting series of practical, fact-bottom articles about the Retail Business, Real Estate, Advertising, Selling, and other important lines of business. Other articles for young men will take up the problems of young men—going into business in his own town; going into business with his father; going to the large city. It will be a very interesting and really valuable series.

Stories—Short and Long There is always a generous measure of stories in The American Magazine. Stories of city life; of country life; home stories; dog stories; love stories and adventure stories—a real feast of fiction. Important, too, no suggestive or unclean story has ever found its way into The American Magazine. Its stories are wholesome and cleverly told, that the whole family can, and does, enjoy.

The Big Saving

If you bought either of these magazines by the month you would pay fifteen cents for it. If you bought both of them you would pay thirty cents. One magazine purchased this way for the year would cost you $1.80. Both magazines $3.60. Our plan will give you the magazines each month by mail at your home, promptly on publication date for but a few cents more than this paper alone would cost. It is a big, big saving in convenience and in money.

ALLIES TO TAKE THE OFFENSIVE

War Council in Paris Decides It is Time to Strike at Enemy.

BALKAN MOVE FIRST

Joffre, Fresh From Battlefield, Presides—Italy Also Ready to Move—Artillery Duels on French Fronts.

Paris, March 13.—An early offensive by the Allies in the Balkans is expected to result from the Grand Council of War which was in session here today. Gen. Joffre, the French commander-in-chief, fresh from the bloody battlefield, presided. It is reported that some of the leaders for the Allies are insisting upon an immediate offensive against the German allies in all the theatres of war.

Italians Are Attacking.

Rome, March 13.—A new offensive movement by the Italians, the first decisive result of the recent military conference, has been opened over the greater part of the front in the Austro-Italian theatre of war.

Germans Report Artillery Duels.

Berlin, March 13.—German war statement:

Western theatre——"The weather being favorable, the activity of the artillery on both sides over a great part of the front is lively. There is increased activity of the artillery on both sides of the Meuse. East of the river this increased activity exten is as far as the Moselle river. There have been no other events of importance."

Gerard is Coming Home.

Washington, March 13.—Secretary of State Lansing today stated that he had given permission to James W. Gerard, United States Ambassador to Germany, to return to the United States on a brief vacation.

Armed Liner leaves New York.

Washington, March 13.—The State Department today authorized the armed Italian liner America to clear from New York with her guns under the stipulation that they will be used only for defensive purposes.

Roumania Asks Credit.

Bucharest, March 13.—The Roumanian government will ask a credit of $80,000,000 for the army. Generals Averscu, Cotescu and Presau have been appointed commanders of the three armies.

MISS WUERGLER BRIDE AT HOME CEREMONY

Becomes the Wife of Robert C. Ruerup, of Trenton—Reception Follows.

An attractive home wedding took place Saturday night at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Wuergler, of 742 Webster place, when their daughter, Miss Whilhelmina Freda Wuergler, became the bride of Robert C. Ruerup, of Trenton. The home was attractively decorated for the occasion, green and white being the prevailing color scheme. The marriage took place in the living room beneath of bower of ferns and cut flowers.

Miss Wuergler, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a pretty white charmeuse gown and carried a bouquet of bride roses. Miss Anna Wuergler, a sister of the bride, who acted as maid of honor, wore a charming frock of yellow crepe de chene. Frederick Richardson, of Irvington, was best man. As the bridal party entered the room, the wedding march from Lohengrin was played by Miss Molly Wuergler, a younger sister of the bride. Miss Wuergler was met at the bower by Mr. Ruerup and his best man and Rev. George Hauser, pastor of the German Reformed church of this city, who officiated at the ceremony, which was witnessed by a gathering of fifty guests present from Irvington, Allentown, New York, Newark and this city. Following the marriage ceremony supper was served, prepared by Mrs. Alexander Stills. Dancing was enjoyed until midnight. The couple left for a short honeymoon trip to Washington, D. C., and Old Point Comfort, after which they will reside in Trenton, where the groom holds a position with the New Jersey Telephone Company. Mr. and Mrs. Ruerup were the recipients of many handsome and useful presents, among which were articles of cut glass, silverware and furniture.

TO GIVE A BANQUET.

The Gesang Turn Verein Society will hold a banquet in Saengerbund Hall in honor of Bismarck's birthday, on Friday evening, March 31. Speakers of prominence will be engaged on the occasion and there will be singing by the singing section. It is expected that some of the stewards of the steamship Vaterland, interned in New York harbor, will be present as waiters, and that several of the officers of that large boat will be on hand as guests. The dinner will be in charge of Von Hofe, the caterer.

CHILD DIES FROM BURNS ABOUT HEAD

Mother Fought to Save Her and is in Serious Condition Herself.

Frances Revergio, the six-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Revergio, of 367 Cottage place, was fatally burned about 5:30 last night, while playing with a fire in the kitchen stove, and her mother is at Muhlenburg Hospital as a result of burns received while trying to save her baby daughter.

The child was badly burned about the head, face and entire upper body. Drs. Pittis and Currie attended her, but despite all that could be done she died at Muhlenberg Hospital shortly after midnight last night, a little more than six hours after her accident.

While her mother was cooking supper last night the little girl amused herself by holding paper over an open eye hole on the stove. After setting them afire she held them until the blaze almost reached her hand, then dropped them back into the stove. One burned too quickly and when the flames licked her hand she dropped the paper on the floor. Before it could be extinguished her dress had caught.

The mother grabbed the little girl and ran to a bed room with her. She attempted to smother the burning dress in bed quilts, but instead she only succeeded in setting her own clothing and the bed spreads on fire. Her franctic screams were heard by neighbors who immediately ran to the house and but for their assistance both mother and daughter would have been dead within a few minutes, for the woman bravely fought for her child's life, regardless of her own danger. A few buckets of water put out all the fire.

The mother was burned about the arms and face. It is not believed that she is badly injured, although there is a possibility that some of the flames from her daughter's clothing were inhaled.

GEORGE L. RECORD IS A CANDIDATE

Declares Himself to Be Out for G. O. P. Nomination for Governor.

Announcing that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of New Jersey at the September primaries, George L. Record, attorney, of No. 15 Exchange place, Jersey City, and for many years one of the Republican leaders in his county, issued a declartion of his principles yesterday.

Mr. Record stands for municipal home rule, ownership and local option, and incidentally declares that the State of New Jersey is governed by public service corporations and brewers. Mr. Record asserts that there can be no honest government in New Jersey with the liquor interests and public utility corporations in control of the two big political parties of that State. He pledges himself, if elected, to the task of driving them out of the State, and expresses his conviction that the great majority of Republican voters of the State favor local option, and that they can carry the primary and election without difficulty.

FIRST BAPTIST BIBLE SCHOOL RECEIVE REPORTS

The officers and teachers of the First Baptist church Bible school met yesterday afternoon and received reports for the past year from the secretary, treasurer, depatment superintendents and various committees. The reports of the secretary and department superintendents show increased membership, especially in the primary and beginners' department. It was found necesasry to transfer the latter to a much larger room. During the year twenty-one members of the school hae united with the church. The treasurer reported a substantial balance, and the missionary committee disbursements amounted to $460.56 This committee is also conducting five-minute talks on missions at each session of the school.

On recommendation of the nominating committee the following officers were unanimously elected for the coming year: Superintendent, A. M. Harris; associate superintendents, F. W. Jones, J. E. Church and Mrs. George H. Robins; treasurer, F. E. Bach.

TO ADDRESS REPUBLICANS.

Supervising Principal D. Frederick Aungst, of the borough schools, will address the members of the North Plainfield Republican Club at their meeting this evening. The topic of Mr. Aungst's discourse was to be "The Defects of a Democracy," but since the Mexican situation has become acute he may instead present a discussion of whether that country should be invaded by the U. S. A.

RASORES TO MEET.

The Rasores will meet tomorrow morning with Mrs. Lovell, of Crossman avenue.

GLASS JAR FULL OF OLD RECORDS

Dislodged From Nook in Vanderbeek Building by Wreckers at Work Today.

PLACED THERE IN 1880

Copy of the Constitutionalist and a Number of Business Cards Found—Coins Also in Deposit With Quantity of Old Ore.

Wreckers tearing down the old Vanderbeek building at the juncture of Park and North avenues this morning dislodged a unique cornerstone containing coins, various cards and papers and several pieces of gold and silver ore. Workmen came upon the object when removing the monument on the second floor containing the inscription "North avenue," and when the mortar was cleared a glass jar was revealed. This was of the common variety used by householders for preserving and was choked with papers yellowed by age and a few loose pieces of old money. A number of the Italians employed by the Hartman Wrecking Company, of New York, which has the demolishing contract, made a wild scramble for the prized relic, but it was rescued by David Glick, the superintendent, and turned over to the Plainfield Daily Press.

One of the articles in the jar that attracted special notice was a nine-column, four-page edition of The Weekly Constitutionalist, dated January 9, 1880. This paper was being published in the Harney building on North avenue at that time, and, besides a number of patent medicine, hotel and saloon, and professional advertisements, it contained stories of the day. Soon after the completion of the Vanderbeek building, W. L. Force and Brother, proprietors and editors of The Constitutionalist, moved their headquarters to this structure. The latter member of the firm, Albert Force, started the Plainfield Daily Press which was published in the Vanderbeek building up to February 1 last. Among the advertisements in the "cornerstone issue," which will be recognized by present-day Plainfielders, were those of W. W. Warnock, baker; W. C. Smith,

W. D. MURRAY NAMED IN BOY SCOUT BILL

Will Be One of National Incorporators of Movement.

William D. Murray, of Plainfield, is one of the incorporators of the "Boy Scouts of America," under a bill recently introduced in Congress by Representative Carlin, which has been recommended for passage by the House Judiciary Committee. The purpose of the incorporation is to carry on the work of the boy scouts and to protect holders of boy scout badges from having the insignia of the order worn by those not entitled to it. The act will also protect uniforms of boy scouts. All incorporators named in the bill are:

Colin H. Livingstone and Ernest P. Bicknell, of Washington, District of Columbia; Benjamin L. Dulaney, of Bristol, Tennessee; Milton A. McRae, of Detroit, Michigan; David Starr Jordan, of Berkeley, California; F. L. Seely, of Asheville, North Carolina; A. Stamford White, of Chicago, Illinois; Ernest Thompson Seton, of Greenwich, Connecticut; Daniel Carter Beard, of Flushing, New York; Lee F. Hammer, Jeremiah W. Jenks, Charles P. Neill, Frank Presbrey, Edgar M. Robinson, Mortimer L. Schiff, Lorillard Spencer and James E. West, of New York city: G. Barrett Rich, Jr., of Buffalo, New York; Robert Garrett, of Baltimore, Maryland; John Sherman Hoyt, of Norwalk, Connecticut; Charles C. Jackson, of Boston, Massachusetts; William D. Murray, of Plainfield, New Jersey; and George D. Porter, of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, their associates and successors.

REVIVAL CHOIR MEETS FOR REHEARSAL TONIGHT

The Biederwolf choir, which is made up of the members and friends from the following churches, will meet for rehearsal in Vincent chapel of the First Methodist church this evening promptly at 8 o'clock: First Baptist, First Methodist, Trinity Reformed, First Presbyterian, Temple Baptist, Netherwood Reformed, Grace Methodist, Warren chapel, Wilson Memorial, of Watchung, the churches of Dunellen and Scotch Plains. The books will be on sale at the door and each member of the choir is supposed to purchase one at the price fixed by the committee, twenty-five cents.

MISS COBLE BRIDE OF MAX BERNSTEIN

Ceremony is Performed by Rev. Dr. Elias Solomon at Bride's Home.

Max Bernstein, a member of the firm of the Reliable Jewelry Store, was married yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, to Miss Fannie Coble, of 885 Stebbins avenue, Bronx, N. Y. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride and was performed by Rev. Dr. Elias Solomon in the presence of about thirty relatives and friends. Among those present were H. W. Penn, also a member of the Reliable Jewelry firm, and his fiance, Miss S. F. Greenberg, of New York. Mr. and Mrs. Bernstein left for a honeymoon trip to Lakewood and will probably return to their newly-furnished home at 427 West Fifth street, the early part of next week.

Saturday night, Mr. Bernstein was given a surprise banquet at 131 West Fifth street, a number of his business associates giving the affair. Speeches were given and a general good time enjoyed by all until a late hour. Among those present were Messrs. Rosenthal, Cashden, Rosenbaum, Zimmerman, Penn, Krauthamer, Cohen, Roen, Fischer, Worth, Kurtsman and Richard.

GUILLERMO THORNE GIVEN A SURPRISE

Social Arranged in Honor of His Seventy-ninth Birthday Anniversary.

A social was held in honor of Guillermo Thorne, of Watchung avenue, Saturday night, following the regular business meeting of Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, the affair being in the nature of a birthday party, Mr. Thorne celebrating the seventy-ninth anniversary of his natal day.

There were interesting addresses during the business session, reference being made to the excellent work being done by the Daughters of America and explaining how the order originated. One of the features was a song of thanks and appreciation sung for the benefit of Mr. Thorne. The song, which was set to the music of "America," was composed by one of the members of the council. At the conclusion of the song a shower of American flags was given to Mr. Thorne.

Vocal and piano solos were given by Miss Grace Shinitt, after which supper was enjoyed in the banquet hall. Three large birthday cakes were made by members and Mr. Thorne enjoyed the cutting and serving of them. The affair was an entire surprise to Mr. Thorne and was enjoyed by all present.

Among the guests were the State officers, Junior Past State Councilor Mrs. Florence Gilbert and State Council Secretary Miss Sally Lake, of Ocean City; Deputy National Councilor Mrs. Johnson, of Newark; National Representatives Mrs. E. Apgar and Mrs. Nutter, of Newark.

BELIEVES OFFICE SEEKERS SHOULD DECLARE PRINCIPLES

Somerville, March 13.—Whether it is proper or not for men who are asking the voters to endorse their petitions for United States Senator, Congres and Governor to represent them, should not declare their positions and what they stand for has been raised by George Thomson, a prominent Republican of this place. Thomson is of the opinion that each and every man seeking office to be given by the people, next fall, should state what they stand for such as policies, effecting the industial and general business of the country.

Thomson, who is a strong Republican in every way, states that a man nowadays must let the people know where they stand. He has asked the sponsors of petitions from Somerset county to let the voters know the principals upon which candidates from this county expect to secure signers.

Thomson is desirous that the Republican party present a solid front next fall, as he believes this is the only way the G. O. P. can win. He looks forward to seeing Justice Charles Hughes or Senator Theodore Burton, of Ohio, nominated by the convention.

SCOTCH PLAINS MAN IS HELD FOR THE GRAND JURY

Gabriel Groletto, of Scotch Plains, who was arrested by Capt. Flynn and Lieut. Higgins, Saturday, on a charge of having been implicated with Fred Reardon in taking platinum covered magneto points from the International Motor Company, was bound over to the grand jury by Judge DeMeza in police court this morning. His bond was fixed at $400, which he made.

TEMPERATURE REPORT.

The temperature recorded at the State Trust company was as follows: 9 a. m., 42; 11 a. m., 52; 1 p. m., 53.

LOCAL PRIEST TO GO TO KENTUCKY

Rev. Father Vincent Sciolla Will Be Transferred From St. Mary's Parish.

HERE FOR TEN YEARS

Temporary Location Will Be at Colesburg Where Only Other Survivor of His Class Has Charge—Will Celebrate Silver Jubilee.

Father Vincent Sciolla, who has been an assistant rector at St. Mary's church for the past ten years, will leave the local parish on March 28, to transfer his field of labor to the Diocese of Kentucky. His temporary location will be at Colesburg, where the only other surviving member of his ordination class is a rector, but it is probable that he will be assigned by the Bishop of Kentucky to a charge at Elizabethtown. The change is being made at Father Sciolla's personal request. He only recently returned after a visit through Kentucky, and learning through it that the climate was beneficial to a slightly impaired physical condition, he decided upon the transfer. His successor at St. Mary's has not yet been selected.

Father Sciolla is a native of Italy, and although he was one of a large class admitted to the priesthood in that country, he and his Colesburg classmate are the only ones left. They have always been in close correspondence with each other and it was through this personal friendship that the Plainfield priest first became interested in the Southern field. Both men will have been actively engaged in religious work for twenty-five years in the coming month of July, and the two will celebrate their silver jubilee at Colesburg. It had been the intention of St. Mary's parish to take cognizance of the anniversary here.

Shortly after he came to this country, Father Sciolla was located at Jersey City and it was from that place that he came to Plainfield. He succeeded at the local parish Rev. Father Frederici, who is now in Jersey City. The activities of Father Sciolla in the local field have been very pronounced, a statement that especially applies to his work among the Italian members of the church. He not only labored among them in Plainfield but was always at their call in Scotch Plains and other places in the vicinity of Plainfield where no Catholic church is located. The Sunday-school class at Scotch Plains for the children of Fanwood township is one result of his interest in that locality. Since the establishment of St. Bernard's chapel in the East End, much of his time has been spent there.

It has been known for several months that Father Sciolla contemplated a change in the hope that a different climate would help his physical ailment, but the final decision was not reached until yesterday. By going to Kentucky, the Rev. Father not only gets a change of environment but will also be with the classmate who is one of his closest personal friends. He will leave Plainfield with the well wishes of all the parishioners of St. Mary's, St. Joseph's and St. Bernard's and the hundreds of other friends he has made in the city and borough.

YOUNG MAN ADMITS THE THEFT OF $105

John Purcell Took Boarder's Money and Went to Paterson.

John Purcell, accused of having stolen $105 from boarders at the home of John Welsh on Madison avenue, broke down in police court this morning and confessed his crime, after many minutes of pleading for a dismissal of the charge because of his innocence. Purcell was arrested in Paterson on information furnished by Chief Kiely, of this city. The charge made against him was that he had defrauded Welsh out of a $40 board bill. He entered a plea of guilty to this charge, but denied having taken $90 from Morris Daly and $15 from John Dunn. These men missed money from their rooms on the day that Purcell left. Judge De Meza talked to the young man for some time in police court this morning, finally drawing out of him the fact that he had committed all three crimes. He was held to await the action of the grand jury in Elizabeth on charges of larceny and defrauding a boarding house.

SURGEON CHIROPODIST OPENS.

Dr. Albert Cohn is opening an establishment in the Silbert building on East Front street today for the practice of chiropody. Dr. Cohn formerly lived in Newark and has had twenty-five years' experience in the care of feet. He is a surgeon chiropodist and is an expert on the treatment of all foot troubles, having earned an excellent reputation for himself in this line in Newark. His East Front street establishment has been fitted up with all modern conveniences, and he has issued an invitation to the public to inspect his quarters.

TROOP D PREPARING FOR ITS INSPECTION

Annual Event Will Take Place at Headquarters Thursday Night

The annual inspection of Troop D, First Squadron, Cavalry, will be held at the headquarters, 1120 Putnam avenue, when an officer of the United States Army will be present. The first call will be at 7:45, and the assembly at 8 o'clocsk on Thursday night. Every man is required to be present for inspection, as an absentee not only counts against the standing of the organization, but also in the general record of the State.

The quartermaster sergeant will report at troop quarters with a detail of two men at 10:30 o'clock in the morning for the inspection of property and the first sergeant with the troop clerk will report at the quarters at 2 o'clock in the afternoon for inspection of records.

The following men, elected corporals, having passed examination, have been warranted: James H. Brewster, Robert H. Cox, Marson I. Buttfield and William B. Tyler. These appointments have been announced:

Trumpeters, Warren Ackerman, Lewis A. Williams, Jr.; cooks, Eugene D. Johnson and Charles C. Irby; Josef Grandl has been relieved as horseshoer and appointed farrier, vice Mellick Tweedy, relieved at his own request.

The March mounted drill, scheduled for March 30, is changed to Saturday, March 25, which will take the place of the drill scheduled for March 23. Dinner will be served in the Essex Troop grill room at 6:30 o'clock in the evening. The usual drill will take place here on March 30. Recruit drills will be held Friday evenings. The revised schedule of dates for school for non-commissioned officers for the month is March 14-28.

NEWARK POSTMEN FOUND ENTHUSIASTIC

Three Hundred Carriers Are Coming Here on May 30.

At a meeting of the Newark association of Letter Carriers, Saturday night, J. W. A. Bauersachs and Philip Giese, acting as delegates from the local association, were accorded an enthusiastic reception when they explained the progress made in arranging for the big State convention of letter carriers to be held in Plainfield next Decoration Day. After a discussion the Plainfielders were informed that the Newark carriers would atend the convention three hundred strong, bringing with the delegation a big brass band, possibly a drum corps, and a following of many friends. Postmaster Sinnot, who recently assumed charge of the Newark office, also informed Messrs. Bauersachs and Giese that he would personally attend, and stood ready to lend any help within his power to make the convention a success.

News of Newark's interest in the big gathering greatly elated the Plainfield association, and the members begin to realize now that the influx to Plainfield on Decoration Day is already far beyond their original calculations. New York city, alone, is to send a complement of two thousand men in uniform. This big group will be accompained by at least two bands, and the New York Letter Carriers' Association's crack fife, drum and bugle corps. Word is also coming in from Trenton, Camden, Atlantic City, Elizabeth, Jersey City, Hoboken, Perth Amboy and New Brunswick that great interest is being taken in the Plainfield convention, that each one will be well represented. Details of the number of men in each group will be given later.

CITY PUTS HORSES IN STABLE ON BROOKS PROPERTY

The city of Plainfield today begins use of the new stables on the Brooks property, where its new municipal building is to be erelted. A small barn in the rear of the old Brooks' residence will be given over to horses working for street departments. Three animals formerly used by the fire department are to be transferred today.

WILL BE BROUGHT BACK FOR FAILING TO SUPPORT

John Huller, of Plainfield, wanted here on a charge of having failed to provide for his wife and children for the past two years, has been arrested in Hawthorne, New Jersey. Chief Kiely located the man and had him arrested there. He will be brought back for trial.

CYCLE CLUB BANQUET.

The Plainfield Motocycle Club will hold a banquet at the Eisemann Heights Inn at New Market Thursday evening. A bus will leave the club's room at 8:45.

CARRANZA MAY CROSS INTO U. S.

Wilson Accepts Proposal to Prevent Clash of Troops.

FUNSTON IS CAREFUL

Actual Invasion Has Not Yet Taken Place—Troops Mobilized for Action—Presidio at Monterey Destroyed by Fire.

Washington, March 13.—President Wilson today announced that he had accepted the proposal of General Carranza that American troops would be allowed to cross into Mexico in pursuit of Villa, provided a reciprocal favor of the same nature be granted him when he requests it. This action is expected to eliminate all trouble of a clash between American and Carranza troops in the forthcoming invasion of Chihuahua.

No Troops Have Crossed.

Washington, March 13.—Secretary of War Baker today stated that he had not been informed that American troops have yet crossed the border of Mexico. He declined to make any further statement. Judging from the attitude taken by General Funston, it probably will be some time before the actual invasion takes place.

Baker Confers with Wilson.

Washington, March 13.—Secretary of War Baker went to the White House shortly after 11 o'clock this morning to confer with President Wilson on the Mexican situation. He carried with him all the reports that he has received from the border.

Rigid Embargo is Enforced.

Washington, March 13.—With an embrago already enforced against the export of munitions or supplies of war to those persons of Mexico controlled by General Villa, the Department of Justice today issued further drastic orders. Fully fifty operatives of the Bureau of Investigation have been despatched to the border to aid the army censor in preventing information going to the Mexican outlaw.

No Cars for Border Shipments.

Washington, March 13.—The European War is holding up the American military expedition into Mexico to get Francisco Villa. With the United States on the verge of activities which may require the immediate shipment of huge quantities of supplies to the border, tens of thousands of railroad cars are effectually tied up in Eastern terminals loaded with the supplies for the warring nations of Europe. The Interstate Commerce Commission admitted today that the situation is serious. The Commission today was working on new plans to relieve this congestion.

Presidio Mysteriously Burns.

San Francisco, March 13.—The Presidio of Monterey burned to the ground today soon after the first U. S. cavalry left for the Mexican border. Mystery is attached to the origin of the fire, and to the fact that firemen were hampered in their fight against the flames by the lack of water. The supply had been cut off before the fire had been discovered.

General Pershing in Command.

San Antonio, March 13.—Major-General Funston announced today that Brigadier-General John J. Pershing, in command at Fort Bliss, will command the punitive forces into Mexico. General Funston has not been notified by the Washington authorities to hold up the expedition pending diplomatic negotiations with the de facto government, and preparations for crossing the border are proceeding

Six Aeroplanes in Service.

The first section of the aviation tion squadron that will see service in Mexico left here today. It consisted of six machines, eighty men and full equipment.

11th Cavalry is En Route.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 13.—The last troops of the Eleventh U. S. Cavalry left Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., on several special trains this morning for the Mexican border.

First Cavalry on March.

San Diego, March 13.—Four troops of the First Cavalry, Captain S. B. Arnold, left this morning for Douglas, Ariz.

LENTEN LECTURES.

The first of the series of Lenten lectures to be given under the auspices of the Grace Church Bible Readers' League will be given in the parish house on Monday and Tuesday nights, March 20 and 21. At that time, Rev George C. Foley, D. D., professor of the Philadelphia Divinity School, will speak on "What is a Prophet?"

MILLINERY OPENING.

Announcement has been made of the annual spring millinery opening for Daley's store on East Front street, which will begin tomorrow, and special attention will be devoted to the first three days of the exhibit. The proprietress has secured an elaborate assortment of all of the latest models of spring millinery and the display is one of the first and promises to be one of the most exclusive of the season for Plainfield.

DANIEL GRANTZ GETS INTO TROUBLE AT DUNELLEN

As a result of looking too long upon the cup Saturday afternoon, Daniel Grantz, of this place, is under bail furnished by Henry Wiedernhaupt to appear before Recorder David S. Campbell in the borough court at 7:30 tonight for a hearing on a charge of disorderly conducted preferred by J. H. L. Peters. Grantz went into Mr. Peters' barber shop, Saturday afternoon, and dropping on a chair he fell asleep. For a half hour he dozed and then noticing that Grantz was awake, Mr. Peters told him that he had better move on. Daniel, however, didn't feel disposed to do so.

Mr. Peters threatened to send for an officer. This aroused Grantz and Mr. Peters, highly incensed, grabbed the intruder to put him out. The latter resisted and shortly the two were rolling on the floor. Howard Titus and several other customers came to Mr. Peters' assistance and Grantz was finally ejected.

When Grantz took account of stock on the outside he found that he was [illegible] He tried to get his hat but found that the door had been [illegible] on the door in his rage. These tactics proved fruitless and enraged to the boiling point, he sent his huge fist crashing through the window light of one of the doors. This act sobered him and he moved on. He was arrested yesterday morning by Officer Patrick Tarpey.

FRED FLONE CUTS OFF THUMB WITH AN AXE

While cutting wood at his home in the woods back of John Fedderman's home, Saturday afternoon, Fred Flone, a Polack, cut his left thumb off when his axe slipped. He hurried to town and was found by John P. McCauley walking frantically up and down North avenue looking for a doctor. Mr. McCauley went into a nearby store and endeavored to procure a doctor by telephone but they all happened to be out. Then he enlisted the assistance of Marshal Patrick Tarpey and Flone, greatly weakened by the loss of blood, was assisted to the borough hall. More telephoning was done here and a doctor put in an appearance. The physician bandaged the wound and the patient was then removed to the St. Peter's Hospital in New Brunswick by H. E. Nelson.

REV. BROWN PREACHES.

The Rev. D. W. C. Ramsey, who was to have delivered the sermon at the union service conducted by the Presbyterian and Methodist Episcopal churches in the Presbyterian church, last evening, was prevented from doing so by illness. The Rev. E. R. Brown preached. The topic of his sermon was "The Necessity of Enthusism On the Part of the Works of the Church." The churches will hold a union prayer service in the Methodist Episccopal church Wednesday evening. These services are being held in connection with the Biederwolf campaign to be conducted in Plainfield in April.

ATTENDED FUNERAL.

Mrs. Edward and Cornelius Taylor and William H. Taylor attended the funeral of the latter's brother, Thomas Wesley Taylor, at Orange, Saturday afternoon. The deceased, who was 77 years old, was a retired carpenter.

BASEBALL CLUB BENEFIT.

A vaudeville show will be given in the local theatre for the benefit of the Clinton Avenue Baseball Club on Thursday evening. The name of the affair is "Tommy Apgar's Big Show." Eight acts of vaudeville are promised and among the performers is the local slight-of-hand artist, Prof. Jesse L. Rogers, ho will present "The Mystery of the Silk Stocking."

TO STOP SNOWBALLING.

The local police are going to put an immediate stop to the practice of throwing snowballs, which is principally indulged in by the younger element of the borough, "the school kid." Chief Mohan said Saturday evening that his lieutenants have been instructed to lock up all snowball throwers, no matter how young the culprit may happen to be.

Lewis Wyckoff, who has been employed for the past year at Cherry Hill farm owned by John M. Evans, expected to move back to Hunterdon county this spring, where he will have a farm of his own. It is said that John Biggs will take Mr. Wyckoff's place.

Scotch Plains, Fanwood

AUTO VICTIMS CONDITION.

Louis Suttaline, who was run into by an automobile a week ago on Martine avenue, appears to be more seriously injured than was at first thought and he is now confined to his home under the care of a doctor. As was told in these columns several days ago, the borough authorities located their man, a resident of Westfield, but Recorder Sheelen will not hear the case until Suttaline is able to appear and testify.

UNDERGOES OPERATION.

Fred Clark, of Bartle avenue, is a patient at Muhlenberg Hospital, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis Friday night. He did not become ill until late Friday afternoon, but when Dr. Munger was called he lost no time in performing the operation because he feared it had gone too long.

CAKE AND BREAD SALE.

A successful cake and bread sale conducted under the auspices of the women of the Baptist church, was held at the home of Mrs. F. W. Westcott, of Martine avenue, Saturday. A considerable amount was realized that will be devoted to church work.

REVIVE SOCIAL CLUB.

After being discontinued for nearly two years, it is now practically certain that the Saturday Night Club, one of the most flourishing of local social organizations for over a decade, will again be a fixture in the social routine of local residents. The first meeting since the re-organization was held in the Fanwood firehouse last Saturday night and attratced some fifty people, the majority of whom were former members. Cards were enjoyed the fore part of the evening, for which suitable prizes were awarded, and later Dushanck's orchestra furnished music for dancing. Refreshments followed. As before the meetings will be every other Saturday and each time the arrangements for the affair will be in charge of a committee.

Frank Hand has returned to New York after spending the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Hand, of Park avenue.

Miss Mary Stiles is confined to her home with a severe attack of grip.

FREEHOLDERS FIX HEARINGS FOR ROAD IMPROVEMENTS

Delegations will appear before the Somerset County Board of Freeholders at the monthly meeting of that body at Somerville tomorrow to be granted hearings on the following propositions, viz.: (1) For the county to accept and build the Chimney Rock road from Bound Brook to Martinsville with state aid; (2) for the county to accept and build the McCurdy road running on the south side of the Raritan river from Bound Brook to New Brunswick with the assistance of the township. Both of these propositions have been agitated by George Kirch, North Plainfield's progressive representative on the Board of Freeholders for the past two or three years, and the prospects of their receiving a favorable vote Tuesday is considered bright.

According to the proposals, all of the hills on the road, from Bound Brook to Martinsville would be cut to a five per cent. grade and the thoroughfare macadamized. The estimated cost is $40,000.

The McCurdy road was surveyed a year ago at the expense of Mr. McCurdy. It is more level than the road from Bound Brook to Martinsville, there being only one hill to improve and the estimated cost of building this road is about $30,000 less than the other.

PRIZES ARE BEING OFFERED FOR JERSEY CITY SLOGAN

Jersey City, March 13.—A slogan for Jersey City is wanted. Any one in the state may enter the contest and suggest a slogan, for which a grand prize of $25 is offered by the Jersey City Chamber of Commerce. Non-residents of the city are likewise eligible for three other prizes of $10, $5 and $2 for the best suggestions, aside from the winner. Details of the contest are being handled by the slogan editor of the Chamber of Commerce at 76 Montgomery street.

The contest will close June 10, which also will be the close of a "Made in Jersey City Week," when the manufacturers will hold an exhibition of their products. Business men and others from all parts of the state have been invited to attend the exhibition and learn of the diversified industries of the city, which may help in the selection of a slogan.

SOMERVILLE TO HAVE BOY FARMING CLUB

Somerville, March 13.—Wallace Conover, of this place, is organizing a class of Wideawakes, the object of which is to stimulate an interest in farming among boys. The boys will have a garden throughout the summer and prizes will be distributed to those who raise the best vegetables of the various kinds. The first meeting will be held March 15, when officers will be elected.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

That James E. Martinee, the senior Senator from New Jersey, will be missed, when a year hence he lays down his Senatorial toga, as it is generally expected he will, is generally admitted in the United States Senate, where his flagrant disregard of some of the traditions of that body created both amazement and amusement five years ago. "The intentions of Martine are all right," said a prominent United States Senator in talking with a Sunday Call man recently," and now that we have gotten to know him better we like him. He may not have used tact at times, it is true, bue we regard him as sincere, and he is certainly both sociable and likeable. We do not expect to see him come back, but he will take with him the good wishes of a majority of his colleagues."—Newark Sunday Call.

DECISION IS WON BY MISS MOROSINI

Heiress Is Winner In Suit For Annullment.

Kingston, N. Y., March 13.—The marriage of Giulia Morosini, heiress of the $7,000,000 estate of Giovanni Morosini, to Arthur M. Werner, the former mounted policeman, was annulled. Supreme Court Justice Hasbrouck approved the report of D. E. Atkins, the referee in the suit of Mrs Werner, or Miss Morosini, against her husband.

In his decision Justice Hasbrouck said that the ex-policeman's only desire seemed to be to get Miss Morosini's money and hers only to keep his love. His course, says Justice Hasbrouck, "reveals a character unusually despicable."

Of Miss Morosini he says: "I am satisfied that she has no intellectual strength; that she is a weak woman; that the defendant, in the days of her mature womanhood, made love to her and that, reciprocating and under the spell of the 'sublime passion,' she became the easy prey of this forceful man, the defendant. She wanted plainly only affection; he wanted nothing but money.

"From whatever angle we hold these circumstances up to view sordid lust of the defendant after money seems ever present. Such being the motive in this drama in real life, there should b no difficulty in exculpating an unoffending player."

Justice Hasbrouck said that he is not satisfied that Miss Morosini knew that Werner used money she gave him to get a Reno divorce from his first wife, Alice Redding, which he holds was illegal. The proceedings of Werner first in obtaining a position as superintendent of Miss Morosini's place on Long Island, then after his marriage to her of obtaining $10,000 a year from her as salary and of obtaining an agreement from her to pay him $55,000 to release her, are cited as evidence of his avarice.

DEATH IN EMPTY TIN CANS.

Punch Holes In Bottoms and Save Lives, Says U. S.

Washington, March 13.—The United States public health service announced that the tin can is a menace. An official bulletin says:

"Malaria experts of the United States health service have found that discarded tin cans containing rain water are breeding places for the mosquito, which is the sole agent in spreading malaria.

"A hole in the bottom of the empty can might have resulted in the saving of a human life. Certainly it would have assisted in preventing a debilitating illness. Empty tin cans have no business about the premises anyway, but if we must so decorate our back yards let us see to it that the can has a hole in the bottom."

DELEGATES TO BULL MOOSE CONVENTION

Progressives Hold An Enthusiastic State Convention—Still Loyal to Roosevelt.

The Progressive party of the State met at Trenton, Saturday, and nominated 54 delegates and alternates to the national convention of the party to be held in Chicago, beginning June 7. Everett Colby, of Essex; J. A. E. Hopkins, of Morris; Joseph H. Marvel, of Atlantic, and William H. Bright, of Cape May, were chosen as the "big four" to the convention, with Patrick H. Loftus, of Monmouth; Clark Miller, of Morris; J. B. Furber, of Union, and Louis B. Le Duc, of Camden, as alternates.

There were present representatives from practically all the Congressional districts and many counties, and all seemed ready to start a demonstration for Roosevelt at every mention of his name. Resolutions reiterating the party's faith in the 1912 platform were adopted. Among the district delegates chosen were Henry W. Herrman, of Plainfield; Charles C. Wheeler, of North Plainfield, and Irving S. Whiting, of Bound Brook.

Joseph Kirch resumed his duties in Kuhn's grocery store on Somerset street today, after an illness of two weeks with the grip.

AN ORDINANCE FOR THE WIDENING AND IMPROVEMENT OF SOMERSET STREET FROM THE CENTER OF JACKSON AVENUE NORTHWESTERLY TO THE CENTER OF JOHNSTON'S DRIVE.

The Mayor and Council of the Borough of North Plainfield do enact as follows:

Section 1. That Somerset street in said Borough from the center of Jackson avenue northwesterly to the center of Johnston's drive, be and the same is hereby ordered widened and improved as hereinafter specified, that is to say:

Widened (as shown by the map prepared under the direction of the Council, accompanying this ordinance when introduced, and showing the location and character of the improvement, the lands and real estate to be taken therefor, and the names as far as can be ascertained, of the owners of such lands and real estate, which said map is entitled: "Map showing proposed improvement of Somerset street from Jackson avenue northwesterly to Johnston's drive and Borough line, Borough of North Plainfield, N. J., 1916," made by H. C. VanEmburgh, Borough Engineer, so that the side lines thereof shall be sixty (60) feet apart instead of fifty (50) feet, as at present; such widening to be accomplished by setting back said side lines on each side five feet from the present location thereof from the center line of Jackson avenue to the center line of Johnston's drive; and so that said side lines shall be everywhere distant at right angles thirty feet from the center line of said section of said street beginning at a point at the intersection of the center lines of Jackson avenue and Somerset street said point being distant in a magnetic course of north 70 degrees 30 minutes east 138.41 feet from the easterly corner of the Methodist Episcopal church situated on Park place; thence north 49 degrees 54 minutes west 1647.57 feet to the center line of Mountain avenue; thence north 39 degrees 43 minutes west 1105.85 feet to the line between lands of L. M. Codington and the Union County Investment Co.; thence north 39 degrees 53 minutes west 714.30 feet to the center line of Jenning's lane; thence north 38 degrees 29 minutes west 929.90 feet to the center line of Johnston's drive.

And by moving back from the center and re-establishing the curbs on said section of Somerset street so that said curb lines shall be located twenty feet from said center line on each side of the street from Jackson avenue to Johnston's drive.

Also by removal or moving back of all fences, buildings, or parts of buildings, necessary to be removed back in order to so widen said street; the removal and resetting of all curbing, the removal and relaying of all sidewalks, the removal of all trees, poles, blocks, or other articles or things of whatsoever character, and the doing of all work whatsoever necessary to be removed or done for the proper accomplishment of such widening. And by grading, guttering, macadamizing to a depth of eight inches with crushed stone from center to curb on both sides of said section of said street so widened, and the placing thereof of first-class condition both as to roadways, gutters, curbs, sidewalks and in all other respects.

Section 2. This ordinance shall take effect on the 15th day of March, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Sixteen.

Approved March 3, 1916.

WILLIAM L. SMALLEY, Mayor,

Attest:
FREDERICK A. MARTIN, Borough Clerk.

IS FOUND DEAD ON RAILROAD TRACKS

Generally Believed That Victim Met With Foul Play.

White Hill, N. J., March 13.—Missed from his train after it left the local station, William Caskill, forty-nine years old, a conductor on the Trenton division of the Pennsylvania railroad, was found dead beside the tracks under conditions that Coroner Samuel Gaskill believes indicate that he met with foul play. He was last seen alive by passengers as he called out the White Hill stop.

A brakeman became suspicious when the conductor gave no signal at Bordentown, the next stop, and the train was backed to White Hill, where a searching party found the body beside the tracks. Gaskill's back was broken, several ribs were crushed, a suspicious hole was in the chest, and a severe contusion was noticed over the left temple.

Detectives said that Gaskill had some bitter enemies and that it would have been possible for an assailant to attack him on the car steps without being seen by passengers.

State and railroad detectives were working on the case, and Coroner Gaskill has ordered an inquest. A widow, two daughters and one son survive Gaskill.

SUFFRAGISTS ARE NOT DISCOURAGED

Say Legislative Action Was Almost a Victory for the Cause.

The suffragists, according to their leaders, are not surprised at the fate of their bill for Preesidential Suffrage in the Senate, and consider the vote of three to ten on the motion to reconsider the adverse report of the Elections Committee, to which it had been referred by the President of the Senate, William T. Read, of Camden county, as a very good one, although they regret that Senator Egan, of Hudson county, and Senator Ackley, of Cumberland county, were absent when the vote was taken, as both these men had promised to support the bill. The fact that three men of such prominence as Senators Hennessy, of Bergen, Colgate, of Essex, and Pierce, of Union, voted in favor of the motion, is very gratifying to them.

Mrs. Robert S. Huse, of Elizabeth, chairman of the Suffrage Legislative Committee, says, "We could not have expected any other result with the bill in the hands of a committee, every member of which is an anti-suffragist. One thing which interests me very much is the fact that some of the men who voted not to leave this bill on the calendar for further consideration and a vote, had evidently not even read the bill, because our county leaders received letters from them only a few days before the bill came up, referring to it as a bill to allow women to vote in the Presidential preferential primaries this spring—with which it, of course, had no more to do than the proverbial flowers which will soon bloom in the spring. We cannot help wondering whether the same careful consideration is given to all bills which these gentlemen vote upon."

Mrs. Feickert, of this city, president of the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Association, says, "The bill has accomplished its purpose. We have made it part of our work for the future to keep all our seventy-five thousand members, and through them the women of the state generally, informed upon the record of every man in the Legislature on every subject relating to the welfare of women or children. There has been no opportunity in the past for the Legislature to go on record in regard to a straight woman suffrage measure, because previous bills have been for a referendum to the voters of the state, and did not commit any man as to his personal views; and we were very anxious to know just which men were thorough-going suffragists. While six of the Senators present, when the vote was taken on Monday night, declined to vote at all, thus leaving it an open question how their votes would have been cast if the bill itself had been before them, and not merely a motion to reconsider the recommendations of an unfavorable committee, still we feel as if we know pretty well how each man stands, and we will be able to report to our members in each county the attitude of their own Senator in regard to even a very limited degree of suffrage for women.

"We hear so many statements that women would not vote if they had a chance, that we feel the Legislature lost a fine opportunity of settling this question, in regard to New Jersey women at any rate, when it did not pass the Presidential suffrage bill, a measure which it could just as easily have revoked next year if the result at the coming election had not warranted the continuance of such a law."

The service at the First Baptist church last night was evangelistic in nature, and at the close several persons expressed a desire to lead a Christin life.

APPEAL IN BEHALF OF THE BOBOLINK

New Jersey Audubon Society Urges Legislation to Protect Song Bird.

Years ago the bobolink was a not uncommon summer resident and nesting bird in suitable sectios of Northern New Jersey. Today there is little evidence that its status in the State embraces more than semi-yearly visits during spring and fall migration periods. The reason is not far to seek. Under the name of "Reed Bird" it has been classed as a game bird and its shooting permitted under the laws of the State during the months of September, October, November and December. The present regulations under the Federal migratory bird law shorten this open season to the months of September and October, but they are subject to change at any time, at the behest of the gunners.

The wonderful songs of the Bobolink, that prince of songsters, therefore, is rarely heard now within our State. The demand of a few marsh gunners for the legal right to shoot this bird of valuable insectivorous habits, outweighs the agricultural interests and the aesthetic pleas in its behalf. That incomparable, rollicking melody is hushed over all New Jersey meadows, because this bird, without a single attribute of a game bird, is claimed by a few pseudo-sportsmen as exclusively their own.

Is it not time that this stigma on the game laws of New Jersey was removed? Is it not time to return this jolly, insect-eating songster to its proper place among the song and insectivorous birds, protected at all times by the laws of New Jersey?

We believe that there can only be a confirmative answer from all who do not place a very questionable form of sport above every other consideration.

At the behest of the New Jersey Audubon Society, the Hon. Alonzo D. Herrick has introduced into the Legislature Assembly bill No. 22. We ask of every reader careful consideration of this bill. What are the claims in its behalf? Legal protection to a marvelous songster and valuable insect-eating bird. What is the opposition to the measure? The desire of a few gunners to shoot as game a bird that is entirely lacking in the essentials of a game bird. Remember that the bobolink is no longer even a menace to the rice crop of the south. That industry has left the path of the bird's migratory flight.

Thing of these things, reader, and let your representative in the Legislature know which you place first, economic and aesthetic considerations of the people of the State, or the "sport" of a few conscienceless gunners.

BOARDER TOOK CLOTHES AND WATCH, IS CHARGE

Somerville, March 13.—Henry Stable was arrested last Friday evening by the Bound Brook authorities upon information furnished by the county authorities. Stable is charged with grand larceny and is in the county jail here to wait the action of the grand jury. Stable, who is also known as Will Kaiser, boarded at the home of William Newland on Davenport street, Somerville. Last Thursday, Mrs. Newland returned to her home and discovered that Mr. Newland's new suit and hat and his gold watch had disappeared. Mrs. Newland notified Detective George D. Totten and Stable's arrest followed.

ARRESTED FOR BOARD BILL.

John Purcell, of 22 Kingsland avenue, Lyndhurst, was arrested by Chief Kiely and Captain Flynn Saturday afternoon on a charge of defrauding a boarding house. He was picked up on a warrant from outside authorities and will be sent back at once.

"SAVE IRISH BABIES" THE LATEST SLOGAN

Baby Welfare Committee and Mothers of St. Mary's Endorse Movement.

"Save the Irish Babies!" is the latest slogan in the nation-wide campaign for better babies. The success of "Baby Week" in America greatly interested the Marchioness of Aberdeen and Temair, who, with her husband, is in this country at the present time, with the object of gaining support for a movement on the same lines in Ireland under the auspices of the Women's National Health Association, of which she is the founder and president. In a letter addressed to Mrs. W. M. Sandford, of this city, one of the officers of the Mother's association, Lady Aberdeen states: "May I ask you to request any members of your organization who are of Irish parentage or sympathies to consider whether they could not follow up your nation-wide Baby Week by an effort to make the following week an Irish Babies' Week by arranging social gatherings or entertainments in connection with St. Patrick's Day, the proceeds of which might be devoted to the care of Irish mothers and babies?"

The plan has received the hearty endorsement of Mrs. Frederick Goddard, president of the Baby Welfare Committee of Plainfield. At a meeting of mothers held in St. Mary's Parochial school, Friday, March 10, the gathering endorsed the movement. Rev. Father B. M. Bogan, pastor of the church, presided at the meeting, and an address was given by Dr. Frederick Hughes, of this city. This meeting of mothers is probably the first of its kind that has been started among parochial schools in the state.

In discussing the matter, Lady Aberdeen said there is a criminal and needless waste of precious little lives going on, to a greater or lesser degree, everywhere. Much of this waste, she added, could be prevented by simple measures, and through proper care of mothers and babies, by instruction to mothers, through visiting nurses and in other ways, the Association has been saving many lives. Then came the war, said Lady Aberdeen, and the Association suddenly faced the danger of annihilation for lack of funds.

"Lord Aberdeen and I are looking to America to help save the worthy cause of child welfare work in Ireland from destruction. We came here, firstly, because of the well-known generous attitude of the American public toward any humanitarian effort; secondly, because America has really led the way in modern methods with regard to infant welfare, anti-tuberculosis work and kindred endeavors; thirdly, because America owes in some measure a debt to Ireland for the sturdy citizens she has received from there; and fourthly, because there was no place else to go. Any person wishing to help save the babies of Ireland may address communications to the American Auxiliary of the Women's National Health Association of Ireland, 105 East Twenty-second street, New York."

FOUR BOYS FROM BAYONNE ARRESTED IN THIS CITY

Alex Urbon, John Winkle, Polick Kalhanski and Louis Goble, all boys, were arrested by Patrolman Joseph Dunlap at the Clinton avenue station of the New Jersey Central railway at 2:30 yesterday morning, charged with trespassing on the property of the road. The boys ran away from home in Bayonne, Saturday. They walked up the tracks to Clinton avenue, where the officer found them warming by the station stove. Each had a number of packages of cigarettes and it is believed that these were stolen. Two of the boys have served terms in the Rahway Reformatory. They will be sent back to Bayonne.

NEGRO FINED $50 FOR ASSAULTING WHITE MAN

Somerville, March 13.—William Chavis, colored, was fined $50 by Judge Beekman at a special session of county court here this morning on a charge of assault and battery. Chavis was prosecuted by Ernest Partridge, of Bound Brook. The negro went to the Partridge home last summer and beat his wife, who was a servant there, and when Patridge objected he was assaulted. Chavis made a $200 cash bond at that time but left the county. He paid his fine today.

LAMONTE TO STUDY INSURANCE LAWS

Banking Commissioner Goes South to Look Into Fire Company Regulations.

Trenton, March 13.—For the purpose of making a study of legislation recently enacted by the Legislature of South Carolina and relating to the supervision of fire insurance companies, State Commissioner of Banking and Insurance George M. La Monte will spend the next ten days in the Southern State.

Commissioner La Monte will spend much of his time while in South Carolina in conference with the insurance commissioner of that State and making a detailed investigation of the effect of this new fire insurance legislation. There has been much complaint in New Jersey in recent years on fire insurance rates, this complaint resulting in an investigation two years ago and in the presentation of a resolution in the present Legislature by former Speaker Godfrey to look into the size of the salaries paid fire insurance officials.

The New Jersey Banking and Insurance Department did not have in its records the information sought by the former speaker, and it is possible that the Legislature will pass another resolution before its close to take up the question of the alleged high salaries paid to officials of these companies and which are said to play at least a part in the high rates that are exacted for insurance.

The insurance companies of South Carolina have complained vigorously at the legislation passed there and it is to ascertain, by personal inquiry, whether there is anything worth while in the new laws that could be applied in New Jersey, that Commissioner La Monte has undertaken the trip South.

POLICE CALLED TO QUELL BASKETBALL DISTURBANCE

Somerville, March 13.—A near riot was precipitated Saturday night in the local armory when McCreay, center for the Riversides, of the Perth Amboy basketball team, struck Wachter, of the Company M team, in the midst of a heated game. According to spectators the blow was without provocation. Some one of the few fans that came here with the Riversides feared a general conflict and, realizing their inferiority in numbers, turned in a hurry call for the police. Other players crowded around the two men, and spectators aided in stopping the conflict. Wacheter was knocked to the floor, but was not hurt except for a slight bruise. No arrests were made by the police but a small squad of men was left to keep order.

The game ended 44 to 33 in favor of Riversides.

POLITICAL NOTES.

There appears to be considerable Edge sentiment in Republican circles throughout Union county. This may be accounted for in the fact that the Republican candidate for Governor has done some quiet missionary work among county Republicans within the last two months. He has paid two or more informal visits to Elizabeth, and has had friendly chats with the leader. He is scheduled to make an address at the St. Patrick's Day dinner to be given next Thursday night under the auspices of the Celtic Club. One of his rivals for the gubernatorial nomination, former Senator Prince, is scheduled to make an address at the same dinner along with Attorney-General Wescott, who is considered as a very likely condidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator.

While everything appears harmonious in so far as the Wittpenn gubernatorial candidacy is concerned, there is no evidence of a rift in the political clouds which have hovered over and which still hover over the Democratic situation in Union county.

Hamilton F. Kean, candidate for delegate-at-large to the Republican national convention, has started an active campaign. An appeal was sent out last week to Republicans in Union county outlining Mr. Kean's position in regard to national issues, and stating that if chosen at the primaries he would go to the Convention as an uninstructed candidate.

BOROUGH COURT CASE.

William McCarty, aged 23, of 649 East Sixth street, and Kate Barry, aged 41, of 519 West Third street, Plainfield, were each fined $5 by Recorder Fred Hand in the borough court this morning, both being arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct. The pair was arrested by Marshal Sheaths.

LAST SURVIVOR OF THE MERRIMAC DIES

Somerville Man Had Been so Designated by the Government.

Somerville, March 13.—John McGuire, aged 78 years, who on July 1, 1914, was officially declared the last survivor of the Merrimac, died at the home of the Misses Gilmore, on Division street here today. He was a stoker on the armored ship Merrimac during all of the Civil War, and was in the famous battle between that ship and the Monitor in Hampton Roads in the spring of '62.

After the war he was a seaman in the Red Jacket, plying between New York and Elizabethport for many years, leaving that position to become a brakeman on the New Jersey Central Railroad. He retired as a passenger brakeman in 1905. He had been a resident of Somerville for the past forty-eight years.

"BUDDIE" SAYS HE HOPES ALL WILL AID SHIP FUND

"Buddie" Drake is thelatest contributor to Marjoriet Sterrett's battleship fund, this little fellow's ten cent donation having been received by the Plainfield Daily Press this morning. "Buddie," who lives in Plainfield and attends the Plainfield public schools, writes as follows: "I am sending you a dime for the battleship U. S. America. I hope all the people of Plainfield will do so."

We also hope that "Buddie's" last wish comes true,and indications point to a very fair representation of Plainfield people on the list of contributors to the worthy cause. Now is the time to send in you dime and letter for the grand list will be made public within a few days. This will be published the second time following the moving picture show in the Proctor Theatre on March 24 and 25, when the film, "Defense or Tribute," in five parts, will be shown under the auspices of the Plainfield Daily Press. The proceeds of this event will be used to swell the battleship donation coming from Plainfield.

HIBERNIANS COMING BALL WILL ECLIPSE ALL RECORDS

Division No. 4, A. O. H. of this city, has all plans completed for its annual St. Patrick's Eve Ball in Saengerbund Hall, Thursday night. From present indications it will be the largest the Hibernians have ever conducted. A full orchestra will be located on the main floor to furnish a program of modern dancing music, while the two famous Irish pipers from Celtic Park, Professors McDonough and Hennessey, will provide inspiration for jigs and reels below stairs. A feature of the bill will be the prize Irish jig, to be conducted under the personal supervision of the two pipers. Ten entries have already been received, and more are expected. Another prize is offered for the best waltzing couple on the main floor.

John J. Hurley is chairman of the committee of arrangements, and those who have attended the Hibernian affairs in the past know that he is competent of providing a good time for everyone. He has selected a very capable committee and announces as a noteworthy feature the attendance of "Jim" Coffey, the heavyweight pugilist, who is a frequent Plainfield visitor because of relatives living here. Mr. Coffey has consented to act as assistant floor manager and has promised to aid in making the ball a complete success.

The freeholders have signified their willingness to do this, and after being put in repair parts of Broad street, Lenox avenue, North avenue and Elmer street will come again under town control.

Rev. Mary Duffy will lecture at the Westfield Theatre Thursday night under the auspices of Holy Trinity church on "Ireland in History, Music and Story."

HERBERT ALBERTS GIVEN A BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

The members of the Plainfield Motorcycle Club, with their wives and other friends, tendered Herbert Alberts, of Regent street, a surprise party, Saturday evening, in honor of his birthday. The home was attractively decorated with the club colors, under the direction of the president, Paul Meyers. The program of entertainment included singing, dancing and piano-playing. The music for the dancing was furnished by Bill Higgins. At 2 o'clock luncheon was served, after which the festivities were continued until 5 o'clock.

OUR STORE IDEA

This store is going about its daily work on the idea of "Service to the Public"—service of a high type, based on absolute integrity. This means and includes:

- —dependable merchandise, fresh, new, desirable
- —wide selection in the various stocks
- —prices fair to the customer
- —a close connection with the world's style originators and reliable manufacturers
- —understating rather than overstating the value of merchandise, whether in spoken or written word
- —a liberality in dealing
- —uniform courtesy throughout the store
- —excellent store accommodations and conveniences

Because of a studious application of this "idea" this store is of greater service than ever before to a constantly increasing clientele.

TO TRAIN NEW JERSEY CHILDREN.

A bill which bears the name of Assemblyman Pierson, of Union county, was passed by the House of the New Jersey Legislature last week which is to prepare boys and even girls of this State for war. It provides for the establishing and maintaining in the public schools of the State of a continuous course of education in military training under competent instructors. Many Jersey mothers and some fathers, possibly, will at once protest against the final passage of such an act because of their fear that its workings will foster a militarism which will lead to war. This fear cannot be borne out by history. To prepare a man for war, and prepare him properly, means to teach him of the horribleness of conflict and there is nothing to be feared in the Pierson bill. It is a step that will be taken by the legislatives bodies of other States, if the government does not provide for some sort of national training before long. There is an ever present danger of war over the American people, not only now, but in times of peace among our brother countries. If war should come the sons of New Jersey mothers would volunteer and when forced to fight for the protection of their homes and their country they will be slaughtered by tens of thousands because of their very unpreparedness.

The only other argument that can be presented against such a measure is that two hours spent in military training each day will take the pupils from their regular course of study and will reduce their instruction along other and greater lines. One needs but to know a graduate of West Point, of Culver, of Bingham, of V. M. I., or any other such school to answer this. West Point has been turning out young men trained in all the arts and sciences of war for years and yet its graduates compare favorably with those of any other educational institution in all the country. Boys who come out of Culver and enter college are found to be the equals of graduates of any other preparatory school, and the same is true of other "military" prep seats of learning.

The first thing demanded of a soldier is health. He must have a healthy body or he cannot fight, no matter how great his knowledge of military tactics or strategy. If the children of New Jersey are given military training by "competent instructors" as the Pierson bill provides, they will be made strong physically, and failure to do this is the greatest fault of the public school system of today, that turns out thousands of alert brains in weak bodies. In his speech in favor of the Pierson bill Assemblyman Runyon said:

"Let us have military training. The sorriest chapter of the present European war was that the people were not prepared. As the flower of manhood of the European countries is destroyed on the battlefields it is awful to feel that they were sent out to fight without being ready. We pray that the honor of this country shall be upheld, but if war must come let us be prepared."

• • • • • •

A LESSON TO PACIFISTS.

Nothing could bring the disgraceful state of American unpreparedness before the people of this country any better than the Mexican situation as it is today. There is no doubt but that Gen. Funston will be able to cope with border bandits, and that the job will be done quickly and well, but even the most loyal officer of the United States army could hardly argue that the army is bigger than the job—that a more serious invasion could be evenly met. Instead of being invaded by millions of trained and efficient soldiers, we were attacked by a band of not more than 600 poorly equipped, half-fed outlaws, driven to fight by the point of their leader's sword. That they may be arrested and punished practically the entire army is called out. In addition to using cavalry, infantry and airmen, what few are ready, the coast artillery men must leave their guns and aid as foot soldiers. This means that the entire United States army is concentrated at one point to defend this country against the invasion of a ragged robber band of 500, leaving all the country but a few miles undefended. Volunteers may be needed even yet. The facts clearly faced certainly meet all the arguments of pacifists and leave them hopelessly stranded on the mountain of egotism.

SAVE US!

The Camden Post-Telegram suggests that the Legislature remain in continuous session throughout the year, subject to call as is the case with grand juries during each term. Past experience has shown that the sooner the kind of Legislatures we have been having lately get through their work, the better it is for the people of the State. If the same type of men were elected now-a-days as was the case some years ago, the suggestion might be feasible, but when a group of puppets get together like the present crowd, adjournment cannot come too soon. Aside from the three men from Union county, and perhaps a half dozen others, there is not a man in the House of Assembly at the present time that would make a good alderman.

• • • • • •

Advertise Plainfield! At the big dinner of the Business Men's Association held the other night, every speaker reminded local citizens that it was their duty to boost the city to outsiders—that the many advantages enjoyed by Plainfield and Plainfield alone should be told those living in other cities that they might be attracted here. This one idea ran through the entire dinner, and Plainfield citizens were pretty well impressed with the fact that they are missing a great opportunity if they do not advertise their home town.

• • • • • •

For once President Wilson has the people of American solidly behind him. In ordering an armed invasion of Mexico he acted in accord with the desires of all parties and factions and so far not a single criticism has appeared in the American press. One bitter article in a paper printed just across the border with a circulation in New Mexico was suppressed. Editors everywhere are of the opinion that Villa can no longer be considered susceptible to persuasion.

• • • • • •

Congressman Capstick's position on the McLemore resolution may not have been that of all his constituents, but they are compelled to admire his courage in standing for his convictions, even in opposition to the President.

• • • • • •

Congress may not adjourn, it is announced, until late in the summer. Its members are taking an awful chance on publicity when they run into the baseball season.

• • • • • •

It certainly doesn't seem right to put a nice, innocent, peace-loving young man like Mr. Baker, of Cleveland, in charge of such a nasty war.

On the Spur of the Moment

by Roy K. Moulton

My Friend.

I like to go 'round with a feller I know;
He ain't so blamed handsome, as the handsome men go.
He's not very bright, and sometimes I most think
That he is just slightly on the blink.
He doesn't talk science or music or art,
Or try his discernment on me to impart.
He doesn't talk shop or the state of my health,
Or bore me to death with visions of wealth.
'Tis a joy to go tramping with him any day,
Because of the things I'm sure he won't say.
He hasn't a fad that he tries hard to spread;
He hasn't a single new thought in his head.
But it's mighty consoling to have him around.
I know him clear through, from his hat to the ground.
With me he has always been right on the square,
And I'd trust him with all of my coin anywhere.
He has told me the truth when a good downright lie
Would have been a much pleasanter thing, hope to die.
For to tell you the fact, he's a good friend of mine;
About the best friend that I've got, I opine.
'Tis hard to describe him, so I'll just relate
That he's only a common, plain sort of a skate.
He's not worth a glance from the window to see.
My friend whom I speak of is no one but ME.

The Gamblers.

Tell us not in mournful numbers life is but one long sad scene, and the man is dead who labors, daylight through for just a bean; lives of Rockey and of Morgan, both remind us we are hicks, if we try to make a living with our shovels and our picks. Rather go we to the city, to the busy marts of trade, and regale ourselves in fliers, till our fortune has been made; gather in the tens and twenties, gather in both right and left, get it quick and get it early, you can do it it if you're deft. Let the other fellows labor, let them slave and sweat and dig; we will nestle by the ticker, gathering in their shekels big. Matters not if we've a billion, we will keep on getting more; not a bit of mercy show them, what care we if they are poor? What care we if baby's dying, just for milk and good fresh air, if the extra gouge we give them classes us a millionaire? No, you bet we'll have not mercy, though they rave and rail and cuss, old man KIDD and all his pirates never had a thing on us And you bet he never will have, when it comes to squeezing tight. Why, we'd even be so low down as to swipe the widow's mite, if we thought that in doing so we could add another tier to the millions we have hoarded, ere we go unto our bier.

Famous Words of Famous Men.

"Great moments in a nation's fate inspire great men to great utterances," says a correspondent in the London Globe. "It was so with Nelson, and 'England expects every man to do his duty.' Nor is Mr. Asquith behindhand, and his rousing watchword, 'I take my salary and I mean to continue to take it,' sends a thrill through every patriot's heart to the very confines of the empire. I trust these noble words will be proudly and suitably inscribed on the monument that awaits him after the war." Hear! hear! Also here.

Mr. Taft's Shirt.

Editor Keister, of the Pewamo News, commenting on the theft of a pair of fur-lined gloves from President Wilson while he was in St. Louis on his recent swing around the circle, thinks Mr. Wilson got off easy. As proof, he cites the experience of ex-President Taft, who went to Philadelphia to see a football game and lost a shirt. When he found it it was doing duty as a Chautauqua tent.

- Proctor's Theatre -

At Proctor's today.

Douglas Fairbanks, the noted Triangle star who made such hits in "The Lamb" and "Double Trouble," appears tomorrow at Proctor's in his latest and by far his most triumphant production entitled "His Picture in the Papers," in which he has the role of the scapegrace son of a manufacturer of peculiar food products. This feature gives the popular comedian excellent opportunities along humorous as well as dramatic lines, and, with the assistance of Loretta Blake, as his winsome sweetheart, and a capable supporting cast, the result cannot but be greeted with wholesome interest by the many delighted patrons. Another feature tomorrow is the presentation of the second episode of "The Strange Case of Mary Page," the remarkable mystery serial which has set the whole populace agog with interest and in which are those two international favorites, Henry Walthall and Edna Mayo. Wednesday will see the introduction of the latest Fox feature entitled "The Fool's Revenge," with Maude Gilbert and William Tooker assuming the leads. This is one of the grand old successes that enjoyed as much popularity in its day as "The Old Homestead" and "Way Down East," and this is the first time it has been adapted to the screen. That it will attract hundreds of amusement seekers is a foregone conclusion, and with the program enhanced by the addition of the third episode of "The Iron Claw," it can safely be predicted that the attendance at Proctor's on Wednesday will eclipse all former records. On Thursday, one of the most notable achievements in the annals of filmdom will be celebrated at Proctor's, when the picturization of Elinor Glyn's most famous novel, "Three Weeks," will be presented on the screen. This announcement will create a sensation among local film fans, and not content with supplying so wonderful an attraction, the management have gone further, for on Friday they will present the sequel to "Three Weeks," entitled "One Day," from the pen of the same author, and a production which vies in popularity with its predecessor. On Thursday, in addition to "Three Weeks," Charlie Chaplin will again make his appearance in one of his most comical creations entitled "The Bank," while on Friday, among the added attractions, will be the latest episode of "The Red Circle," the epoch-making serial production which will soon come to a close. Such productions as the above containing so large a number of famous stars, cannot but attract the majority of amusement seekers in this vicinity, and with perfect projection and refined surroundings, Proctor's is daily coming more into its own as the most popular photoplay palace in this section of the state.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME--

NINE TO BE GRADUATED AT NEW BRUNSWICK SEMINARY

New Brunswick, March 13.—Nine candidates for the ministry, two of them from this state, will be graduated May 18 at the annual commencement of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary. The New Jersey members of the class are Chauncey N. Stevens, of this city, and Harold W. Schenck, of Plainfield.

The speakers at the commencement will be Rev. Ferdinand S. Wilson of Bayonne, representing the board of superintendents of the institution appointed by the General Synod of the Reformed church, and Rev. Dr. J. Preston Searle, president of the seminary, representing the faculty. The oration at the Alumni Association meeting to follow the commencement in Hertzog hall will be delivered by Rev. Dr. Henry E. Cobb, of New York.

CHRISTIAN FIELD

The Young Women's Missionary Society of the Congregational church will meet Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. Miss Ethel McIntosh will be the leader and the subject will be "By the Way."

Rev. Dr. Nathaniel W. Pratt, of New York city, will preach at the Congregational church next Sunday.

There will be a union prayer-meeting Wednesday night at the Park Avenue Baptist church, the congregations of the Crescent Avenue, Seventh-Day Baptist and Congregational churches uniting.

The Woman's Association of the Congregational church makes an earnest appeal for good second-hand clothing for a missionary family in Georgia.

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

At the Plainfield theatre in the near future, John Cort will present the new comic opera, "The Princess Pat," with book and lyrics by Henry Blossom and music by Victor Herbert, author and composer of "Mlle. Modiste," "The Red Mill," "The Prima Donna" and "The Only Girl," with a cast and chorus of superior excellence and an augmented Herbert orchestra. The story of the opera relates how Princess di Montaldo (nee Patrice O'Connor), wishing to impress her loving but undemonstrative Italian husband with her charms, flirts with Anthony Schmoltz, an elderly Teutonic plutocrat. Bob Darrow, a young man of ready wit, is induced by the Princess to help promote the scheme, which he does as a means of helping his friend, Tony Schmoltz, Jr., who is desperately in love with Grace Holbrook, whom his father is about to marry. Mr. Herbert's score contains some twenty numbers, several of which are waltzes. These songs suggest a popular theme: "Allies," "Make Him Guess," "I'd Like to be a Quitter," "Love is Best of All," "For Better or for Worse," "I Wish I was on an Island in an Ocean of Girls," "In Day Dreams," "All for You," "The Shoes of Husband Number One as Worn by Number Two" and "Two Laughing Eyes," aside from Victor Herbert's enchanting music, the story of the opera is highly interesting.

Bert Baker comes to the Plainfield theatre this afternoon and evening with "The Bon Tons" company in a brand new show. Mr. Baker has always succeeded in furnishing his audiences with entertainment of the kind that always compels hearty laughter, and this season from all accounts he is doing more along the same lines with the accompaniment of a remarkable scenic and costume equipment. An entirely new play was written for the Bon Ton company which is described as burlesque in all that the word implies. Real satire and pronounced caricature form the basis of the new piece. It is titled "Copper at 64," and is in two acts, with five elaborate scenes which are said to faithfully reproduce the locations named by the author. They and other scenes with their accompanying costumes are calculated to keep the spectator looking while they are listening to melodious songs and give vent to their merriment at the humorous situations that are said to be evolved by the author. Bert Baker regards his new character as perfect, so it may be taken for granted that in it he will keep those in front in constant laughter. Babe La Tour—one of the cleverest women on the burlesque stage—is Mr. Baker's support. She has played here in other productions and will be readily remembered for the cleverness of her work.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS RECEIVED AT GUILD MEETING

Encouraging reports were received at the annual meeting of the Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild held on Friday at the home of Robert Love, 138 Grove street, the borough.

Mrs. E. R. Winter, secretary and treasurer, reported that ten meetings had been held during the year. She also reported a balance in the treasury of $21.96. Mrs. Case, chairman of the distributing committee, reported that Warren chapel and Grace Episcopal church gave flowers and plants for Children's Day service and that these articles had been distributed: 2,500 bunches of flowers, 25 bushels fresh fruit and vegetables, 50 potted plants, six dozen eggs, 150 glasses of jelly, Stero cubes, canned soups.

The Friends' Sewing Circle has contributed three comfortables, eight garments. Eight new garments were bought and distributed. A quantity of second-hand clothing was received and distributed. From the harvest home at the Park Avenue Baptist church a large quantity of peaches, pears, grapes and canned fruit were received. The Irving school sent fruit and potatoes. The Garden club sent one hundred glasses of jelly, which have been distributed in Bonnie Burn, Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield, North Plainfield and Jersey City.

Miss C. M. Suydam reported that a large number of books and magazines had been distributed. Mrs. Hillman reported that she and Miss Hilda Van Winkle had recently visited the families on the list to learn their needs. Randolph Douglass and Howard Hall told of the work of the Boys' auxiliary.

He Went Out to Visit This Monster.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — Nobody Knows How Old Ice In The Northlands Is.

"TONIGHT I feel just like telling you a story of the northlands," daddy told his children. So they snuggled down as quiet as sleepers, and this is what he told: "Way far up in the north, where it is never summer as we understand it, are acres and thousands of acres of creeping ice that are called glaciers. During the short season when sun shines enormous pieces break off and slowly, slowly go creeping toward the sea."

"Can ice be older than grandpa, daddy?" asked Jack.

Daddy smiled. "Some of the ice in the northlands is called 'paleocrystic,' which means that it was formed before mankind kept any history of Mother Nature's doings. But what I want you to remember always is that tons and thousands of tons of this creeping ice slowly make their way down to the sea, where they become icebergs.

"These huge ice masses, snow, ice and dirt, drop off into the sea, and then Mother Nature starts in to mold them into giants quite as you children make a snow man out of a snowball. She smothers them in thick fogs that last for days. Then she snows and rains on them, while the piercing north wind, one of her chief engineers, is ever at work, freezing, enlarging and molding the iceberg, which is only one way of saying ice mountain. After years and centuries of this massing you can imagine how gigantic icebergs become. I once heard an explorer say that he saw an iceberg fully eight miles long. This same explorer, who knows the coast of Labrador better than we know the street we live on, Jack, once met an iceberg not very far from the coast of Labrador. Now guess how he got acquainted with it."

"Did he bump his boat on it and get sunk?" Evelyn wondered.

"He was too clever for that!" cried daddy. "But he put on oilskins and went out in a rowboat to visit this monster of the north, which had got stranded on the bottom of the sea. Only one-eighth of an iceberg ever shows above water, you know, and the other seven-eighths of this berg had touched bottom. The waves had cut great channels under and through it, so that he rowed past glistening white pillars. The walls and ceilings of this ice palace dripped, dripped, all honeycombed and rotting in a climate already too warm for ice monsters, and its icy walls glistened with all the colors of the rainbow, which it had to borrow from the sunshine, because icebergs have no color of their own and can only reflect what the giant sun strikes it with—red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet. Some time I will tell you about icebergs and steamers," daddy promised, looking at the clock.

BREADS

White Bread—In the evening dissolve half cake compressed yeast in a little warm water. Mash three medium-sized boiled potatoes, add about one-fourth cup sugar and a heaping tablespoon of flour. Pour on just enough boiling water to scald flour, mix well with potatoes, then add enough more water to make about 1½ quarts. When lukewarm, add the dissolved yeast cake and let stand over night in warm place. (It is best to mash potatoes with a ricer, or strain the whole, before adding the yeast, as this takes out all the little lumps and makes the bread finer.) In the morning the yeast should be foamy and ready to sponge. Add as much flour as can be beaten in with a spoon, and stand in warm place to rise. When light, add tablespoon of lard and pinch of salt. Knead quite stiff, adding as much flour as is required. Let rise again. Then mold into loaves, let rise to double size and bake.

To make kuchen with bread dough: When ready to put bread into loaves, save out a small piece of dough and work in a little more shortening and sugar. Roll out to desired thickness and let rise. When light, put on some thick light brown sugar and cinnamon. Bake about twenty minutes. (This is delicious.)

Cornbread With Raisins—One pint white corn meal, two tablespoons sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon soda, one teaspoon cream of tartar, milk enough to make soft batter; then add one cup seeded raisins. Mix in order given and bake in cake pan thirty minutes.

THE TABLE

Cracked Wheat—Ordinary wheat, put through the coarse grinder of the food chopper. Requires less time to cook if the grains are broken.

Peach Dumpling—To one can of sweetened canned peaches add a cup of water and half a tablespoon of butter; put the fruit in a granite kettle and when it reaches the boiling point drop in small dumplings made from soft baking powder biscuit dough. Cover with a close fitting lid and cook five minutes; serve as soon as done. The fruit and liquid make the sauce for the dumplings. A favorite cold weather dessert, quickly made.

Patty Cake Recipe — Beat the whites of two eggs stiff; then beat separately one whole egg and put together; add gradually, while stirring, one-half cup of granulated sugar and one-half cup of sifted flour mixed with a level teaspoonful of baking powder and one-fourth cup of melted butter; flavor with rose.

Nut Bread—Four cups flour, one-half cup sugar, two cups milk, two eggs, four tablespoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt, one cup chopped nuts. Beat well, let rise twenty minutes. Bake three-quarters of an hour in a slow oven.

Fig Pudding—Three ounces beef suet, one-half pound figs (chopped), two and one-third cups stale bread crumbs, one-half cup sugar, two eggs, one-half cup milk. Chop suet and work with the hands until creamy, then add figs. Soak bread crumbs in milk, add eggs well beaten, sugar and salt. Combine mixtures, turn into a buttered mold, steam three hours.

Cake and Pie Combination—Line two pie tins with a rich crust and bake just a minute or so, for it must be put back in the oven. Then fill with the following ingredients. Put pie part first on crust, then cake part in each tin. Pie part: One lemon, one egg, one cup sugar, one cup syrup, one cup water, one tablespoon cornstarch dissolved in a little cold water; boil until thickened, then let cool. Cake part: One-half cup butter and lard, one cup sugar, one egg, one cup water. Flour to make a nice batter and two teaspoons baking powder.

Pigeons in Nest—Boil some yellow macaroni gently until it is quite swelled out and tender, then cut in pieces the length of a finger and lay them on a dish like a straw nest. Truss pigeons with the heads on (having scalded and picked them clean) and turned under the left wing; leave the feet on also. Having stewed them, arrange as in a nest; pour gravy over and serve. The nest may also be made of boiled rice or bread cut in pieces the length and thickness of a finger and fried a nice brown in hot lard seasoned with pepper and salt; or make it of bread toasted a yellow brown. Any small birds may be stewed or roasted and served in this way.

Marrying for Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

Jacob Townsend Fights Hard to Ward Off Bankruptcy.

"Orturde, may I speak with you alone a few minutes," asked Jacob Townsend as they rose from the dinner table. Ortrude silently followed him to their room. After she entered he closed the door and she turned and faced him inquiringly.

"Where are the things that you bought today in Kansas City?" he asked, looking her steadily in the eye.

"They are here. Why?" she answered.

"Let me see them," continued Jacob.

"There is nothing that would be of interest to you." Ortrude's tone was cold.

"Your bills have always had a compelling interest to me, and if I am not to make an assignment they——"

"I am due downstairs with my cousin. You will please stage your drama some other time." She started to leave the room, but Jacob turned, locked the door and put the key in his pocket.

"Now, the sooner we get this thing over the better I shall be suited. Bring everything here that you bought." He produced a memorandum from his pocket. "I have an itemized account here of everything you bought. The bill amounted to one hundred and seventeen dollars."

Ortrude realized in a flash that she was up against something different from anything she had experienced yet and she stiffened for the conflict.

"If you think, Jacob Townsend, that I am to be locked in a room and called to an account for my expenditures as if I were a child you are very much mistaken." Her eyes blazed. "Unlock that door and let me pass or you will regret it the longest day you have to live."

"You may as well take this thing quietly as to make a scene. These things are all going to be returned. I cannot pay for them and shall not try. You have evening dresses enough for all the functions you are called upon to appear in." He glanced at the bill.

Ortrude gasped and her heart thumped painfully, but she steadied herself and said with apparent calmness: "The evening dress was not for me. I am making a little present to Adelaide. The child has never had a party dress."

"My own daughter has no evening dress. She has given up going to school in the East because you have so involved me in debt that I could not afford to send her, and this is the time that you think appropriate to spend over a hundred dollars on a cousin. Verily you are considerate." Jacob's face was white with rage; his eyes shot fire.

"And you would put me in the position of offering her a gift and taking it away from her. It is contemptible." There were signs of panic in Ortrude's voice.

"You put yourself in that position with your consummate selfishness. Give her one of your own dresses. You surely have some to spare." Withering scorn was vibrant in Jacob's voice. "Kindly get these purchases together. I intend to take them to the store with me this noon." Ortrude did not dare oppose her husband in his present mood, and with her head held high in the air and proud disdain on her face she began slowly to gather the things together. Jacob deftly folded the articles and placed them in boxes.

"The dress is in Adelaide's room," she said, not deigning to look at him.

Jacob took the key from his pocket, unlocked the door and allowed her to pass, standing in the hall to make sure she did not go downstairs.

"I should think this Jew trick of sending back goods would add to your prestige as a merchant. It seems your name is not the only thing about you that is Jewish," was her parting shot as he went down the stairs with the boxes.

JUNIOR CLASS GIVES CLEVER PERFORMANCE

"The Sleeping Car" and "Proposal Under Difficulties" Presented.

Clever acting and excellent presentation featured the annual theatricals of the Junior Class of the Plainfield High School in the High School auditorium, Saturday night, "The Sleeping Car" and "Proposal Under Difficulties" amusing the large audience. The two sketches were presented by two casts, both of which were well coached and balanced.

The scene of the "Sleeping Car" is in a sleeper on a train en route to Boston. A young woman is on the train with an aunt and daughter hurrying to reach Boston before her husband. She also expects to meet her brother coming from California in that city, but after retiring to sleep the husband boards the train. In trying to find his wife he wakes the whole car. During the argument that follows his wife forgets which berth she had left her child in and again the sleepers are aroused. The brother gets on the train just as the car gets quieted again and in the commotion that follows his sister recognizes him. In each search for the berth where the baby has been left the berth occupied by a Californian is picked as the right one and the mix-up continued until the train reaches its destination, when the party leaves.

The members of the cast included: Baby, Thelma Hand; Mrs. Roberts, the mother, Lois Goetter; Aunt Mary, Marion Lansdale; the Californian, Fred Smith; Mr. Roberts, Everett Case; Campbell, the brother, Burnham Carter; the conductor, Parker Newell; the porter, Paul Geary; extra passengers, Irene Moy, Emilie White, Edward Crone, Horace Bunker and Chester Alpaugh.

"Proposals Under Difficulties" represented a fashionable drawing room of the present day. Robert Yardsley and Jack Barlow, two young men, are both in love with the same girl and both decide upon the same afternoon to call and propose. Yardsley arrives first and while waiting for Dorothy Andrews, the object of his love, to make her appearance, he decides to rehearse his part. While in the act of making a proposal to an imaginary person the maid enters and thinking that he is asking her to marry him does not give him a chance to explain but runs off to break her engagement with the coachman. Barlow now enters and both men spend the intervening time, until Miss Andrews makes her entrance, in trying to get rid of the other. It continues when the mistress of the house enters the room much to her annoyance.

Time passed until the maid appears at the door and attempts to warn Yardsley of impending danger but not succeeding in doing so she rushes into the room to save him from her jilted lover. An explanation follows, when Yardsley makes a proposal to the right party with success and Barlow is defeated in his desire.

The cast: Robert Yardsley, Horace Bunker, Jack Barlow; Caryl Dunavon; Dorothy Andrews, Elizabeth Manning; Jennie, the maid, Fannie Mann; the coachman, Paul Geary. A large part of the credit for the success goes to the Misses Anderson, Biddle and Fox, three members of the faculty, who did the coaching. Lewis Zeek, business manager; Katherine Endress, assistant; Mildred Drake, property manager, Mr. Lord; electrician, Alfred Seal, stage manager, and Evan Stevens, stage director, worked hard for the affair also.

DR. HILLIS WILL LECTURE AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis will lecture in the Congregational church, Tuesday evening, March 28, at 8 oclock, on the subject, "The America of Today and Tomorrow."

Dr. Hillis is pastor of the historic Plymouth church, of Brooklyn, N. Y., from whose pulpit Henry Ward Beecher gave his anti-slavery message to the world.

This lecture is said to be one of the most interesting and helpful of any presented on the platform during recent years. Dr. Hillis has been in great demand before colleges, Chautauquas and summer schools. The lecture will be under the auspices of the Men's Club and the Tuckabatchee Class for the benefit of the church building fund.

FINED $25 FOR CURSING ON UNION LINE CAR

Anthony Kondly, aged 28 years, of Newark, was fined $25 or 60 days in police court this morning for having used profane language on a Union Line car. He was arrested by Patrolman McGinley at East Fifth street yesterday afternoon. Passengers on the car said that he was cursing loudly.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Perrette, of Fanwood announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Perrette, to Salvadore Domonus, of Roselle. The wedding will take place in May.

DEAD LINE LAID FOR LAWYERS

Unruly Tongues Must Be Checked, Is Decision.

SUPREME COURT'S RULING

Attorney Who Was Attacked by Another One Wins Suit — Decision Is Rendered by Justice Minturn and Will Be Target For Discussion Throughout State.

Trenton, March 13.—A decision of marked importance to the lawyers of New Jersey was handed down by the court of errors and appeals, for it seeks to decide just how far lawyers may go in the abuse of each other in the conduct of court trials.

The opinion in the case was written by Supreme Court Justice Minturn, and the purport of it is that the extent of privilege invoked and enunciated under what is commonly designated as the "English rule" has been generally repudiated in this country and is not the law of this state.

Therefore there are limits to the extent of abuse that can be heaped upon one lawyer by a fellow practitioner without the abused one's recourse to law for damages.

The suit was brought by Anthony La Porta against Clement De R. Leonard as the result of language alleged to have been used during the trial of a suit for slander in the recorder's court of Hoboken. It was alleged by La Porta that Leonard referred to him in the following language: "You are a vermin. You are a disgrace to the bar and are starting out in the wrong way as a young lawyer." This was followed by some other unpleasant utterances. A verdict for $300 was returned against Leonard.

In deciding the case Justice Minturn held that the privilege invoked, that statements by counsel were privileged, does not extend to the limit of protecting counsel in giving utterance to slanderous expressions against counsel, which expressions have no relation to or bearing upon the issue or subject matter before the court. It was the claim of Leonard that he did not utter the language and that if he did he was protected in so doing by the legal privilege peculiar to counsel, "which, as he conceives, hedges him about in absolute security so long as his utterances are honestly conceived, to conduce to the advantage of his client."

Justice Minturn, however, said that the claim of privilege obtains recognition as an exception to a general rule of liability only from the highest considerations of necessity and public policy. "The defendant," says Justice Minturn, "upon the trial insisted that while the remarks which are the basis of this action may not be entitled to receive recognition in any logical compendium of the retort courteous, they may without question be properly classified under the classic appellation of a tu quoque. And if to this it be answered that in a court of law his legal status thus acquired is no answer to the plaintiff's claim for damages, his insistence is nevertheless that the jury should have had the opportunity to consider the offense in question, in conjunction with the serious accusation which provoked it, and that in the light of this provocation the offense charged to him might appear to be but the natural and indignant ebullition of a learned advocate, whose ripe experience in the trials of the forum had reached the didactic stage of the seer and yellow leaf, which entitled him to paternally admonish a neophytic junior, whose practical vision of a legal career is usually circumscribed by the buoyant and unstable prospective of the radiant hues of incipient morn. Concededly in such a status Experentia docet."

MANGLES ARM, BUT SAVES LIFE

Workman Wearing Three Coats Caught In Pump Cogs.

Ocean City, March 13.—The sleeve of his coat catching in the cogs of a big force pump used in pumping in piling here, Cornelius Mahan's right arm was broken and badly crushed and two fingers of his left hand so badly crushed that they had to be amputated by Dr. Corson. He was otherwise cut and bruised. Mahan succeeded in tearing off the sleeves of three coats he wore, and the material from these, together with nails in the pocket of one coat, stopped the pump and saved him from fatal injuries.

Follows Granddaughter to Death.

Newark, March 13.—On the day of her granddaughter's funeral Mrs. Rose M. Bulson, sixty-six years old, wife of Clarence Bulson, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George H. Covert, 264 Clifton avenue, after a long illness. The granddaughter was Helen Margaret Bulson, six years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bulson of 77 Bloomfield avenue, who died of the measles.

For Military Training.

New Brunswick, March 13.—The New Jersey state council of education, at its annual meeting here, decided to support a bill now before the state senate to provide for a commission to formulate a plan of military training for boys and for instruction in nursing and domestic science for girls.

JAR FULL OF OLD RECORDS

mason and builder; Farmer's Hotel; L. Manning's Marble Yard; William H. Brower, florist; Hedden's Livery; Mulford Estil, bookseller, and many others.

Among the news stories were the ones telling or the re-election of Dr. Charles H. Stillman as president of the Board of Education; the formation of the grocery firm of Rockfellow and Kilbourne; Common Council meeting, with Messrs. Corriell, Depew, Finch, Mayer, Stover, Redfield, Rushmore and Potts present; and the presentation of a gold fire hat to William A. Halsted, then chief engineer of the Plainfield fire company.

Another article in the jar was a copy of the constitution and by-laws of the New Jersey Game and Fish Protective Society, organized at Plainfield May 3, 1879. The officers of this organization were: President, James A. Vosseller; vice-presidents, Dr. H. C. Fithian, Percy C. Ohl and John I. Holly; secretary, W. L. Force; treasurer, W. E. Jones; directors, M. W. Schenck, R. Robertson, H. I. Webb, R. S. Little, Isaac L. Brokaw, E. P. Thorn, Julian Scott, Joseph C. Ohl and J. W. King.

A note of explanation written on the stationery of The Constitutionalist reads: "This jar was deposited in cornerstone on the 10th day of Jan., 1880. Isaac Pangborn, mason, and John Chandler, carpenter. Richard R. Davis, architect. John M. C. Marsh looking over my shoulder as I write. (Signed) William Laing Force."

Another relic is a cleverly written appeal from Chas. S. Cook, the Constitutionalist carrier boy, to his patrons, informing them that New Year's offerings are in order. The card of A. Vanderbeek describes the typical Plainfield store of that day, offering for sale pianos, organs, sheet music, guns, pistols, tuners' services, fishing tackle, sewing machines, sporting goods and a variety of other stock in a store located at Park and North avenues. F. Caspar, proprietor of Centennial Hall, at No. 5 East Second street, was advertising Feigenspan's "Celebrated Lager" at that time on a card containing the Central Railroad timetable. On the back of the Constitutionalist's business card it was explained that Berchey Mining stock was selling on January 10, 1880, for $58 per 100 shares. Other cards in the jar were those of E. P. Thorn, proprietor of the Mansion House at Park avenue and Second street, where the Queen City now stands; and Mrs. W. L. Force, 8 Cherry street, dealer in fancy goods, notions, hosiery, etc.

Four big Liberty pennies, dated 1850, 1832, 1826 and 1802, and one English piece with the head of George the Third on it, dated 1775, comprised the coin contribution to the cornerstone jar.

All of the articles were in an excellent state of preservation when found this morning, and the reading matter on the cards and papers is as clear as on the day it was printed. This week will witness the finish of the tearing-down work, only the first story skeleton of the big brick structure now remaining.

MRS. JOHN W. SHEPHERD DIES AT HORNICK, IOWA

Word was received here today by Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Shepherd, of 176 Somerset street, the borough, of the death of their daughter-in-law, Mrs. John W. Shepherd, of Hornick, Iowa. Mrs. Shepherd underwent an operation on March 7, which resulted in her death on Friday last. Beside her husband, she is survived by three children. Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd were former residents of the borough, having removed West about thirteen years ago.

MRS. SPEER TO SPEAK.

The annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will be held tomorrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock, in the chapel. Mrs. Robert F. Speer, of Englewood, will speak on "The World's Work and Ours." A cordial invitation is extended to Plainfield women to hear Mrs. Speer, who is an unusually interesting speaker.

Schedule.

Tonight—Hoboken at New Brunswick.

Plainfield Elks concluded their league schedule by winning the last game at New Brunswick Saturday night by fourteen pins, 969 to 955. The champions took the first two games, with totals of 904 and 921. They averaged 926.2.

Plainfield led for the first couple of frames of the opener, but after that went to pieces, and totaled only 784. New Brunswick was seventy-five pins to the good in the fourth frame and won by a margin of 120 sticks. Bill Causbrook had to be content with a tally of 116 in this game, the Plainfielder having four holes and three misses. Kiely also had three misses in this game.

Plainfield lost the second by twenty-five pins, 921 to 896. The locals were only twenty pins behind going into the fifth, and practically held their own during the rest of the way. Causbrook wound up with a triple for a score of 204, and came back with 202 in the third game.

The final game was Plainfield's. Going into the third with the score tied, the Queen City Bills forged to the front, and were leading, 519 to 459, in the fifth. Quake Vail inserted five strikes in a row, and although a missed spare in the ninth stopped him, he had a count of 226, which was high for the night. He averaged 202.2. Blatz hit 201 in his last game. Bastedo hung up 212, Harkins 207 and 203, and McCormick 215 for New Brunswick.

It is likely that no member of the Plainfield team will finish in the prize list. Frank Blatz has the best average for the season—a mark of 185.6 for forty-eight games. Captain Waldorf is second. He rolled 183.8 for fifty-four games, being only seven pins ahead of Vail.

The scores:

FINAL AVERAGES OF PLAINFIELD ANTLERS.

Averages of the Plainfield Elks' Senior League bowlers who finished their season Saturday night, are as follows:

| | G. | Ave. | H.S. |
|---|---|---|---|
| F. J. Blatz | 48 | 185.6 | 222 |
| J. E. Waldorf | 54 | 183.8 | 248 |
| W. M. Vail | 54 | 183.1 | 248 |
| W. R. Causbrook | 48 | 177.39 | 232 |
| P. S. Kiely | 54 | 175.32 | 231 |

Although four teams in the Senior Elks League have finished their schedule of fifty-four games, all of them are second division outfits, so that the scramble for the five money prizes is as undecided as ever. This is the last week of the race. Only four more matches are left to roll, the final one being carded for Saturday night.

The teams that have finished are Rahway, which quintet again wound up in last place; New York, Jersey City and Plainfield, which are sixth, seventh and eighth, respectively. Hoboken will end its season tonight at New Brunswick; the Paterson and Newark Antlers will wind up in Newark Thursday night; Elizabeth's final series, postponed from last Thursday, will be rolled with New Brunswick in Elizabeth Wednesday night; and the season will end with Rutherford at New Brunswick Saturday night.

New Brunswick's chances of beating out Newark for first place received a jolt Saturday night, when the Plainfield pinners won their last game of the season on the champions' alleys with a total of 969. As matters now stand, New Brunswick will have to win all of its nine remaining games while Newark is losing three straight to Paterson, in order to nose out the leaders for the championship.

Because the Newark team was not in action last week, the average leaders are the same as last Monday. Newark continues to lead for the Radel trophy, with an average of 941.43, Elizabeth being 54 pins behind, with 940.40. These two teams are far ahead of the others, Paterson being third, with 927.13. Jack Speary, the individual average champion, has an average of 197.2 for fifty-one games.

TRI-COUNTY BALL LEAGUE IS ORGANIZED IN DOVER

Dave Driscoll was in Dover Saturday, looking over the field for the Saturday baseball league which will be organized in Morris, Sussex and Warren counties. The league met Saturday night and elected Assemblyman Henry T. Kays, of Newton, president. It is likely that Hackettstown, Newton, Morristown and Dover will form the circuit. The Lincoln Giants will represent Dover. Driscoll placed Hackettstown's team in the league last year.

TAYLOR'S 235 FEATURES COLUMBUS CLUB BOWLING

TOWNLEY'S GOALS NOSE OUT PARISH HOUSE SECOND TEAM

The Scotch Plains Parish House second team was defeated Saturday evening on its own court, 38 to 36, by the Crescent Five, of this city. After being two points behind, with scarcely a minute to play, the locals slipped in two baskets, which gave them the verdict.

The shooting of Townley was responsible for the victory. He eluded his guard in the last minute of play and shot the two needed field goals, beside tallying seven more. Burner and Jackson each tallied three and four baskets respectively. Dealaman and Hodge were the main contributors to the scoring column of the home team.

Schedule.

Tomorrow night—Paterson at Plainfield; New Brunswick at Elizabeth.

New Brunswick Elks, by winning two games at Paterson yesterday afternoon, all but clinched the Elks' Junior League championship. The College Town colts need to win only one of their remaining games in order to make sure of the title. They have won twenty-three games and lost seven, Jersey City, which has finished the season in second place, having a record of twenty-three wins and thirteen defeats.

The Newark and Elizabeth teams, which are tied for third place, are seven games behind the Brunswicks, and cannot pass either Jersey City or New Brunswick, as they have only six games left to roll.

The games yesterday were close, the coming champions taking the opener by nine pins, 916 to 907, and the sandwich by ten points, 912 to 902. Roth exploded a 252 in the last game, in which the homesters soared to 944. The visitors must have seen the writing on the wall, for they did not exert themselves over the lost cause, and finished with a modest 806. Romary had a 221 count.

LOCAL SQUASH TEAM WINS FOURTH MATCH

Interclub League Leaders Accomplish Worthy Feat in Beating Montclair.

The Montclair Athletic Club lost its second match in the Interclub Squash League, in this city, Saturday, dropping four out of five matches. The Plainfield Squash Club is leading the league, having won four straight matches, and can only be tied for first place by losing both its remaining matches while Montclair is winning.

In previous seasons, the Montclair Athletic Club racqueters have swept all opposition before them, and their defeats at the hands of the Englewood Field Club and Plainfield players have been big surprises. A feature of Saturday's match was the playing of C. B. Tyler, who defeated J. G. Waldron, one of the Montclair favorites, in straight games, 15—3, 15—12. H. J. Crawford was the only Montclair winner. He defeated W. S. Tyler, 15—7, 15—17, 15—11. De Forest defeated Jenkins, 15—5, 6—15, 15—6; Carter won from Sanderson, 15—6, 15—8; and Day defeated Uhler, 15—8, 12—15, 15—12.

FORMER HOPE PLAYERS START WELL, BUT LOSE, 34 TO 23

For the first few minutes of the basketball game in the Hope Chapel gym, Saturday night, the former Hope players ran away from the present combination. After the score stood 12 to 2 against them, the 1916 Hopes took a brace, and during the remainder of the game made 32 points to their opponents' 11. The final score was 34 to 23.

One of the vets who played with the "Has-Beens" was Teddy Howes, a Hope player of a decade ago.

NEWARK ELKS' EXPLANATION IS SATISFACTORY TO LEAGUE

Newark Elks' reason for postponing the Paterson series last Tuesday night without consulting the Senior League executive committee, has been satisfactorily explained to the league by William Weingarth, captain of the Newark team. As told exclusively in the Daily Press, George L. Hirtzel, a member of the executive committee, demanded an explanation from the Newark team for its apparent violation of the rules. Captain Weingarth explained that a mixup over what night the Paterson-Newark series was to be rolled was caused by Secretary Campbell's mistake in arranging the schedule.

HOME TEAM WINS

Defeat Flemington Gun Club Shooters 212 to 193—Hank Stevens Breaks 45 Out of 50—U. G. Tingley and J. P. Terry leading winners

All attendance records for the Climax Gun Club were broken Saturday, twenty-seven amateurs and professionals facing the traps. A team match between the Flemington Gun Club and the Climax Gun Club was won by the Plainfielders by a margin of nineteen birds. Hank Stevens, a professional, led in the feature event, at 50 targets, with a kill of 45. Ulysses G. Tingley, of North Plainfield, broke 44, and led the amateurs.

There were five events in the program, three at 5 birds, one at 25, and the last over the half-century route, which constituted the team match. John Terry and U. G. Tingley each won two firsts, and Percy Terry was second three times.

Tingley won the first event with a perfect score, J. Terry doing the same in the second and winning the third with 14. L. Molinari was high in the 25-bird shoot, with 23. In the team race, the five best scores on each side were used, the totals being 212 and 193.

In a two-man match at 25 birds, G. Ord and A. Albert, who broke 21 and 16, respectively. The totals Terry and A. Seidler, who killed 21 and 16, respeectively. The totals were 40 to 37.

The match with Flemington was the second, and as each club won one shoot, the rubber will be decided at Flemington. A toss of a coin, to decide where the third shoot should be held, was won by the Hunterdon county team.

THREE KILLED BY TRAIN.

Bride Elect and Prospective Husband Among the Victims.

Atlantic City, N. J., March 13.—When an Atlantic City express train on the West Jersey and Seashore railroad struck a buggy in which they were riding at West Berlin, twelve miles from Camden, three persons met instant death, and the charge is made that the crossing signal bell was out of order. The victims of the disaster were Mrs. Sallie Cook, fifty-five years old, and Anna, nineteen years old, wife and daughter of Isaac Cook of West Berlin, and Harry Myrtetus, twenty-two years old, son of Christopher Myrtetus, member of the Berlin township committee.

The party had been out for a drive, and young Myrtetus, who had been paying attentions to Miss Cook, was in charge of the team.

LESS LIQUOR; COST MORE.

Britain's Drink Consumption For Year of War.

London, March 13.—Published figures show that the total consumption of alcoholic liquors during 1915 in the United Kingdom was 92 per cent of that of the previous year, while the expenditure for this purpose increased 10½ per cent, reaching the total of £182,000,000 ($919,000,000).

One of the greatest sales of whisky in the history of the trade was made when over 1,000,000 bottles of liquor were put up at auction. Record prices, ranging from 9 to 11 shillings per proof gallon, were obtained.

FIX G. O. P. SLATE FOR CONVENTION

Complete List of Delegates and Alternates Who Have Received Endorsement.

"BIG FOUR" IS CHOSEN

Messrs. Bugbee, Kip, Kean and Baird Appear to be Favored as the Ones to Represent New Jersey in Chicago—Few Contests Reported.

The slatemaking of Republican organization leaders for delegates and alternates from New Jersey to the national convention of their party at Chicago on June 7 is drawing near completion. There will be four delegates-at-large and four alternates-at-large and two delegates and two alternates from each of the twelve Congressional districts.

The slate for the "big four" remains as originally chosen: Newton A. K. Bugbee, of Mercer county, chairman of the Republican State Committee; Ira A. Kip, Jr., of Essex; Hamilton F. Kean, of Union, and David Baird, of Camden. Those favored for alternates-at-large are Pierre P. Garven, of Hudson; Myron W. Robinson, of Bergen; C. Ledyard Blair, of Somerset, and Bloomfield H. Minch, of Cumberland.

The selection of the former prosecutor of Hudson county for alternate-at-large is understood to have settled the fight between him and former Judge Horace Roberson, a member of the commission which governs Bayonne, for delegate from the Hudson county end of the Eighth Congressional district, Roberson now being the choice for district delegate. Former Mayor Henry M. Doremus, of Newark, is favored for delegate from the Essex county end of the district. Mayor Robert E. Torrance, of Kearny, and Frederick Schultz, of the Seventh ward of Jersey City, are slated as alternates from the Eighth.

From the Ninth district, which lies wholly in Essex county, the selections are as follows: For delegates, Charles Bradley, of Newark, and Manton B. Metcalf, of Orange; for alternates, Howard Marshall, of East Orange, and Henry Young, Jr., of Newark.

Mayor Thomas L. Raymond, of Newark, has been definitely placed on the slate for delegates from the Tenth district, which also lies wholly in the county, and Fred E. Kip, of Montclair, has been chosen as his running mate. William B. Kinney and Dr. George L. Warren, both of Newark, are slated as their alternates.

Organization candidates for delegates and alternate from the other districts, so far as chosen, are:

First—Delegates, Senator George W. Gaunt, of Gloucester, and Lucius Hires, of Salem.

Third—Delegates, Lewis A. Thompson, of Red Bank, Monmouth county, and Alfred B. March, of New Brunswick, Middlesex county.

Fourth—Delegates, Assemblyman Ogden H. Hammond, of Bernardsville, Somerset county, and Albert K. Leukel, of Trenton, Mercer county.

Sixth—Delegate John I. Blair Reilly, of Phillipsburg, Warren county.

Seventh—Delegate, Colonel William Barbour, of Paterson, Passaic county.

Twelfth—Delegates, George Warren and John Hedding; alternates, Frederick Diefenbach and Thomas Angell.

In the Second district one delegate is to be chosen from Atlantic county and one from Cape May county. In the Fifth there is to be one from Union and one from Morris. Former Senator E. R. Ackerman will be the Union county man.

In the Eleventh, where there has been a bitter fight between the Verdonites and the anti-Verdonites, the candidates of the antis are: For delegates, H. W. Mayberry and Dietrich Rahrenberg; for alternates, Harry Ruhl and Frederick Dendefkan.

The announcement that former Assemblyman Henry C. Hines and William A. Lord, formerly city counsel of Orange, are to run in the Ninth district as Roosevelt candidates for delegates has not, apparently, caused any serious anxiety among the "regular" Republican leaders.

Do You Want a "Guest-Tenant?"

When you rent a room of your home to someone, you secure a "guest-tenant." Your "roomer" is a guest of your house, on a business basis—but still a guest, somewhat in touch with your home, and this makes it highly important that the person should be of the right sort.

In advertising a furnished room it is a simple matter to indicate that the tenant-to-be must have reasonably convincing credentials as to character. You will thus have applications from a desirable class of people while a door sign or window card would merely bring to you the chance passer-by.

AIR DUELS OVER FRENCH FRONTS

Germans Say They Brought Down Five Allied Machines Yesterday.

BIG GUNS ARE BUSY

No Infantry Fighting—Greece Has Refused New Entente Demands, Berlin Hears—Premier Asquith Slightly Ill.

Berlin, March 14 (by wireless).—The following statement was issued at German Headquarters today:

"Western Theatre—There is no change in the general situation. In the sector of Wieltje, northeast of Ypres, the English were driven back. Two English aeroplanes have been shot down, one near Arras and the other near Bapsume. The occupants of both were killed. Two more French aeroplanes have been brought down by us, one at Marre and the other near Malancourt. An English biplane was compelled by our fire to land at Cambrai. The occupants were made prisoners.

"Eastern Theatre—There is nothing to report.

"Balkan Theatre—The positions are unchanged."

Premier Asquith is Ill.

London, March 17.—Premier Asquith is ill, it was announced in a bulletin issued at his office today. The Prime Minister is suffering from bronchial catarrh, said the physician's statement.

Greece Rejects New Demands.

New demands made upon Greece by the Entente Powers have been rejected by th Athens government, the Overseas News Agency announced today. The demands were presented by representatives of the Allies to Premier Skouloudis, who submitted them to the entire cabinet, which declined to accept them.

Russ Attacks Beaten Back.

Vienna, March 14 (via wireless).—Russian attacks on the Dniester and Bessarabian frontier were repulsed says to-day's official statement. In the Italian theatre of war artillery activity extended to the whole of the Isonzo front. Enemy's attacks near Salz were repulsed.

Munition Ship in Danger.

New York, March 14.—The S. S. Zealandia, which plies between this port and Malta with ammunition for the British army and navy, lost both her steam and hand steering gear at sea. News of the vessel's plight was received here today in a wireless message from the tanker Richmond.

Fierce Artillery Fighting.

Paris, March, 14.—French war statement:

"West of the Meuse the cannonade was rather violent during the night. On the right bank a strong reconnaisance by the enemy in Havremont Forest was checked by our curtains of fire. The bombardment continued violent in the region of Vaux and Damloup. In the Woevre region the artillery on both sides was active, particularly in the sector of Eix. No important development is reported. In Le Pretre Forest a German detachment, which attempted a surprise attack against our trenches at Croix der Carmes, was met with a fusilade and was scattered, the attacking force leaving some dead on the ground."

Silius Was Unarmed.

Washington, March 14.—Confirmation that the Norwegian bark Silius, which was mysteriously sunk off the French coast, was unarmed was received at the State Department from Consul Osborne, at Havre, France. Consul Osborne reported that one American was injured. He was John Hartman, of Philadelphia.

Red Cross Supplies Burn.

Halifax, N. S., March 14.—Pier No. 2, at the steamship terminals, was destroyed by fire early today, with $150,000 loss. The American immigration offices were on the pier. The upper floors of the buildings on the pier were filled with Red Cross supplies for the British army, and all were burned.

FURNISHED HOUSE WANTED FOR BIEDERWOLF PARTY

The entertainment committee in connection with the Biederwolf evangelistic campaign, of which Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie is the chairman, is very anxious to secure a furnished house for the Biederwolf party of ten people from April 1 tor 8 to May 20. It is desired that the dwelling accommodate as many as possible in separate rooms.

Anyone having such a residence to offer are requested to advise the committee of the method of lighting and heating, number of bathrooms and the distance from the proposed tabernacle, which will be on West Front street, opposite Plainfield avenue, and the rental desired. Early replies are requested by Dr. Zelie, 813 Park avenue 'Phone 242.

OLD HOTEL MAY BE TORN DOWN

Residents' Association Believes This Only Solution of of Netherwood Problem.

INVESTIGATION IS ON

Committee Appointed at Quarterly Meeting of Civic Organization to Reach a Decision—Other Important Matters Discussed.

Whether or not the Netherwood Hotel can be made a paying proposition or what course to pursue in order to have it razed to make way for realty improvement in that section, formed the chief topic for discussion at the quarterly meeting of the Netherwood Residents' Association last night. The matter has been under investigation by the officers and trustees for several months, and what developed at the gathering was the result of painstaking inquiry. The large gathering was unanimous in its opinion that the property can never be made to pay as it stands, and the only thing to do is to have the building torn down, sell the materials to second-hand dealers and utilize the ideal location for residences of the type Netherwood desires.

The matter was placed in the hands of a committee composed of E. P. Thomas, C. E. Lipscomb, A. C. Wilmerding and Matthew Stuart, to devise ways and means for permanent solution of the intricate problem.

Practically every adult Plainfielder is acquainted with the history of the big hotel. The building is one of the largest in the city and has stood idle for many intermittent years since it was erected about 1875. The last time that it assumed anything like its once great activity was when it was conducted as Truell Hall by the late Mrs. J. R. Truell. Since then, its spacious corridors and long halls have echoed only with the occasional footsteps of watchmen or casual visitors. It stands on a prominence surrounded by spacious grounds, which can be divided up into very desirable residential sites. It was brought out at the meeting of the association last night that while the structure is not an eye-sore when viewed from the front, the rear aspect is not of the best. It was also stated that it stood in the way of development that is needed and that the longer the building remains the more detrimental it will probably be.

The trustees of the Netherwood association made inquiries from the owners and mortgagees as to what could be done toward re-opening the building as a hotel. Statements from competent hotel men made it emphatic that the structure was not the kind of country hostelry that is popular today, and that no one could assume such a great obligation as would be imposed if it was rented. What people want at the present time in suburban New York is a hotel not unlike a country club. One proposition was advanced at the trustees' meeting to have the association back an experienced hotel proprietor and furnish a fund of $25,000, and give the proposition a thorough test. This, however, failed to receive support. The only thing left was to talk about razing the building, and this is the subject that the committee appointed will deal with. If it is found that enough sentiment can be aroused in the Netherwood section to furnish the necessary money, the hotel may be taken over, torn down, the materials sold, and the ground developed as a purely business proposition.

A number of other important matters were brought up at the meeting, one of which was a decision to ask the Common Council just what the Netherwood residents may expect in the way of fire protection in the near future. A new pumping engine is soon to be installed at the Netherwood quarters, but there are other essentials that need disposition, and itwas believed by the members that the city officials should be asked ex-

PROSPECTS FOR ARMORY ARE GOOD

Co. K Receive Encouraging Reports at Its Fifteenth Annual Reunion.

EXPECT ACTION SOON

More Than One Hundred Present and Former Members of Company Enjoy Anniversary Event—Col. W. B. Martin a Speaker.

An armory for Plainfield, the long nourished hope that bids fair to be realized soon, was the important topic of the evening at the fifteenth annual banquet of Company K in the Babcock building last night. The subject was particularly timely, as several of the speakers were among the delegation of representative citizens who appeared before the appropriations committee in Trenton yesterday afternoon. The party, which included Captain Charles A. Peterson, former Borough Mayor Newton B. Smalley, Councilman Charles S. Sminck, William A. Coddington, L. B. Woolston, Howard Woolston, Samuel Rothberg and John Cooper, brought home a favorable report, and said that from the present outlook Plainfield would be one of four cities to get armories, the other three being Mt. Holly, Atlantic City and Freehold. The appropriations will be decided upon at the end of the present session, which, unless the Senate has an adjourned meeting, will be Thursday night.

More than a hundred present and former members of the Plainfield company of the Second Infantry sat down to the excellent menu served in the Masonic banquet rooms. Captain Peterson presided as toastmaster, and he called upon Col. Edwin J. Murfin, of Lincoln, Neb., a member of the Nebraska National Guard; Lieut.-Col. William B. Martin, former captain of Company K; former Lieutenant Nathaniel Hort; and former Mayor N. B. Smalley, Samuel Rothberg and Howard Woolston, the last named two former members of the company, who made the trip to Trenton in the afternoon.

Col. Murfin, who is a native of Jersey City, where he was formerly a member of the National Goard, is East in the interests of the organization, from which he has been sent to appear before Congress at Washington.

Lieut.-Col. Martin, who is a candidate for county clerk, gave a sketch of his military career, particularly that part during which he was affiliated with Company K, of which he was

MRS. HENRY PEDEFLOUS DIES IN 48TH YEAR

Passes Away at Her Home at Watchung Following Six Week's Illness.

Mrs. Barbara Pedeflous, wife of Henry Pedeflous, the proprietor of Pedeflous' hotel on Mountain boulevard, Watchung, died at her home there early this morning. She had been ill for the past six weeks suffering from a complication of troubles, which had their commencement with heart trouble. She had been confined to her bed practically all the time since the illness began and the end had been expected for several days.

Mrs. Pedeflous was born in Brooklyn forty-eight years ago, and removed to the home on Mountain boulevard then known as Warrenville road, twenty-six years ago. She was an able assistant to her husband in establishing the mushroom-growing business, which became one of the best-known in this part of the state, and also in the other activities in which he has been engaged. She was very well known throughout Plainfield and North Plainfield, as well as the township where she resided. Beside her husband, she is survived by one son, John P. Pedeflous, and two daughters Mrs. H. P. Vosseller, of Watchung, and Mrs. Joseph H. White, of Jersey City. There are also two brothers, Adam Muff, of Plainfield, and Henry Muff, of Brooklyn.

The funeral will be held at the late home, Thursday morning at 8 o'clock, and in St. Joseph's church, the borough of which she was a member, at 10 o'clock. Burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

LOUIS POLLOCK.

Louis Pollock, aged 48, who has conducted a grocery store at 653 West Third street, for a good many years, died last evening after a long illness. He is survived by a wife and several children. He was buried this afternoon in the Hebrew cemetery at South Plainfield.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morris, of this city, announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Maude, to McClellan Staats Morris, also of this city. The wedding will take place in the near future.

AUSTRIAN SCIENTIST DEAD.

Vienna, March 14.—Dr. Marie Von Ebner Eschenbsch, famous writer and scientist, died today.

TRINITY SUNDAY SCHOOL ELECTS

Mrs. J. M. Tier Presented With Purse of Gold Following Her Retirement.

The election of officers, presentation of reports together with several resignations, were features of the annual meeting of the officers and teachers of Trinity Reformed church Bible school last night. Superintendent Fred E. Smith presided. James B. Conkling, treasurer, presented a short report showing the school to be in an excellent condition financially.

These officers were elected for the year: Superintendent, Fred E. Smith; assistant, Edgar F. Sheppard; second assistant, William F. Oliver; superintendent intermediate department, Mrs. Leonard S. Smith; superintendent junior department, Miss Lena Bohan; superintendent beginners' department, Miss Winifred Rapalje; superintendent cradle roll, Mrs. H. E. Gayle; superintendent home department, Mrs. Julius Williams; treasurer, James B. Conkling; librarian, Harry C. VanEmburgh; assistants, William Wyman, Sidney Frazee, H. E. Kenyon and George E. Volk.

Executive committee, Charles M. Dolliver, chairman; Miss Mabel Wilson, A. W. Dunavan. Library committee, Mrs. Daniel Rapalje, chairman; J. M. Welsh, secretary; J. C. Osborn, treasurer; Mrs. Frank E. Woodruff, Mrs. Harry M. Cooke, Miss Lelia Wherry, Miss Lena Bohan, Miss Sadie Searing, L. M. Leek. Temperance committee, W. J. Trembath, chairman; William R. Kriney and Charles M. Dolliver.

The music committee will be the same as last year with the exception that Miss Helen Woodruff was elected to take the place of Miss Jeanette Neal, resigned. Edgar F. Sheppard was elected precentor, P. A. Vroom assistant, Miss S. Etta Robert pianist, and Miss Helen Woodruff assistant.

The resignation of Mrs. J. M. Tier as superintendent of the primary department was received with much regret. She has been the head of this department for many years. In recognition of her long and faithful service, she was presented with a purse of gold.

Chauncey F. Colthar, secretary, and Clarence Rittenhouse, assistant secretary, also resigned, their action being regretted. A nominating committee comprising A. W. Dunavan, chairman; Mrs. Frank E. Woodruff and William F. Oliver, was named to fill these positions.

BOYS WANTED TO STAY HERE IN JAIL

Band That Mutilated School Are Sent Back to Bayonne.

The four boys who were arrested by Patrolman Dunlap at the Clinton avenue station were returned to Bayonne yesterday, where they will be tried for mutilating the school building where they attended. One of the boys wrote Chief Kiely a note while here asking that he be kept in Plainfield for a year, saying he believed a year in prison would make a good boy of him.

When the teachers of School No. 1, at Bayonne, reported for duty Monday morning they found that since Saturday night the building had been entered, the desks cut, telephone wires severed, the blackboards mutilated, windows smashed, the teachers' desks entered and the school bank savings of the pupils stolen.

The police suspect that it was the same gang that broke into the store of the New Jersey Metal Ceiling Company, 370 Avenue C, Friday night, and stole $13. The robbers left a note on which finger prints were detected These prints will be compared with the finger prints of the four boys when they are brought back this afternoon.

MISS BECKER BRIDE OF CHARLES BERGER

Somerville, March 14.—Miss Matilda Becker, of Raritan, was united in marriage to Charles Berger, of Somerville, on Saturday. The ceremony was performed in the Third Reformed church chapel by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Lumley. The groom is a member of Raritan Valley Aerie, No. 2013, F. O. Eagles, and is conductor of the degree team of the lodge. Mr. and Mrs. Berger are spending their honeymoon in Florida, and upon their return will reside here.

HENRY H. APGAR.

Henry H. Apgar, aged sixty-nine years, died last night at his home, 1325 South Second street. The funeral will be held at his late home and will be in charge of Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph. Burial will be at New Germantown

ST. PATRICK'S SOCIAL.

The Band of Workers of Class No. 2, Trinity Reformed church Bible school, of which Mr. Vroom is teacher, will hold their St. Patrick Social at the home of Mrs. Edward S. Weaver, 30 Marcelia place, on Thursday.

MISS BROWNLEE A MARCH BRIDE

Will Become Wife of Dr. F. L. Young at Crescent Ave. Church This Evening.

RECEPTION TO FOLLOW

After Trip Through South Couple Will Reside at Knoxville, Tenn., Where the Bridegroom is Engaged in Practice of Medicine.

The marriage of Miss Mildred Lee Brownlee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Leeman Brownlee, of Putnam avenue, and Dr. Frank LeRoy Young, son of Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Young, of Knoxville, Tenn., will take place at 6 o'clock tonight in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the church, will officiate at the ceremony, which will be witnessed by the two families of the young couple and a number of friends.

Miss Brownlee, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear a white embroidered tulle gown, and a veil. She will carry a shower bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and white roses. Miss Esther May Brownlee, a sister of the bride, and maid of honor for the wedding, will wear a frock of pink silk net and will carry an arm bouquet of roses and blue forget-me-nots. Rev. Paul H. Elmore, of Briar-Cliff-Manor-onthe-Hudson, a cousin of the bridegroom, will act as best man, while F. Clyde Doane and Albert Brownlee, the latter a brother of the bride, will be the ushers. As the bridal party will enter the church, Miss Roxana Love will play the wedding march. Following the ceremony a wedding supper will be served at the bride's home to the immediate relatives and friends of the couple. Dr. and Mrs. Young will leave later on a wedding trip through the South, after which they will make their home in Knoxville, Tenn., where the groom is a specialist and has an extensive practice.

Miss Brownlee has a large circle of friends in both the city and borough, and is known to the local public for her appearance in many local benefits in the past. She is an accomplished interpretative dancer, and has been active in the local Recreation Committee work. She was graduated from the Plainfield High School with the class of 1912 and while in that school made her debut in theatricals and other functions which the class gave. She is also a graduate of the Teachers' College of Columbia University, New York.

Excellent Progress Being Made at Rehearsals Under Direction of C. Braider.

Between two hundred and fifty and three hundred enthusiastic singers met at the First M. E. church for the first rehearsal of one of the three units of the choir that will take part in the Biederwolf meeting, which start April 9. Clifford A. Breider, chairman of the music committee, directed the work, and later expressed himself as most pleased with the asupicious beginning. This splendid beginning is indicative of the earnestness with which the people of Plainfield are responding.

The next rehearsal of the part of the choir made up of the members and friends from the following churches will meet in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church promptly at 8 o'clock this evening: The Congregational, the Seventh-Day Baptist, the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian, the Park Avenue Baptist and the Baptist church of South Plainfield. The books will be on sale at the door, and each member of the choir is supposed to purchase one at the price fixed by the committee, twentyfive cents.

As further evidence of the above, attention is called to the session of the Personal Workers Class, under the leadership of the Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, held in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A, which was attended by more than one hundred men and women. The course being given by Dr. Hudson is inspiring and helpful, and will result in the preparation of many for the most important work of personal evangelization.

Speaker Says One Out of Every 300 Persons is Mentally Defective—Club Adopts Resolution Favoring County Workhouse Plan.

"The Menace of the Mentally Defective" was the subject of an illustrated talk given under the auspices of the Monday Afternoon Club in the Parish House of the Congregational church, yesterday afternoon. Alexander Johnson, director of the extension department of the Training School at Vineland, was the speaker and brought to the attention of his audience facts which could not be realized except by those who actually made a study of conditions among the feeble minded in our country. The estimate at the present day, said Mr. Johnson, is that out of every three hundred persons, one is feeble minded. These people are divided into three classes, the idiots, the least mentally developed; the imbecile, with the mind of a child from three to seven years, and the Morans, with the minds of children from eight to twelve years. The two latter types are the highest developed and the most susceptible to training. The idiots are perfectly harmless but must be washed, cleaned, dressed, cared for and protected.

The speaker, who has had many years experience in dealing with the feeble minded, deplored the conditions which existed in many institutions where as many as three generations of feeble minded can be found. To

NEWCOMB ACQUITTED BY CORONERS JURY

Local Man Not Guilty of Criminal Negligence in Fatal Auto Accident.

Warren T. Newcomb, of this city, who was driving the machine in which Miss Margaret Hyland, of Brooklyn, was killed in an accident in the Bronx, New York, on the night of March 4, was guilty of negligence only, according to the verdict of a coroner's jury found yesterday. Newcomb had been held for criminal negligence. He was discharged by the coroner. Newcomb is a marine architect with an office at 49 Wall street. He lives at Truell Inn. Frank Gore, also of this city, who was with Newcomb at the time of the accident, testified at the coroner's hearing.

Y. M. H. A. TO ENJOY AN EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

Under the auspices of the Young Men's Hebrew Association of Plainfield, an educational program will be presented at the association rooms, 204 West Front street, Sunday evening, when Morris Clark and Albert Lefkowitch, of New York city, assisted by Mme. Freda Heller, will give an instructive lecture and song recital, all talented artists.

The program will be an interpretation of Jewish music and promises to be an attractive one. The artists have appeared in all the large cities of this country and their work has been favorably commented upon.

CENSOR GUARDS ALL BORDER NEWS

General Funston Protects Troops' Movements by Rigid Regulations.

PUTS IN WIRELESS

Americans Leave Chihuahua on Special Train—General Pershing Still at Columbus—Invasion May Be Under Way.

San Antonio, Texas, March 14.—Major-General Funston today ordered a rigid censorship established at Columbus, N. M., and instructed General John J. Pershing to take charge of the telegraph office, guard all telephone lines, and watch all automobile routes out of the town. General Funston's action was taken to prevent knowledge of the movements of troops on the border becoming known through press despatches.

Funston Installs Wireless.

Washington, March 14.—General Funston today notified the War Department that he is having a wireless station installed at Fort Sam Houston, near San Antonio. The despatch was interpreted as meaning that General Funston plans remaining at San Antonio, and will direct the campaign to get Villa by wireless.

Polk Goes Over Situation.

Washington, March 14.—Counsellor F. L. Polk, of the State Department, now acting as secretary in the absence of Secretary Lansing, was summoned to the White House today for a conference with President Wilson. It was understood that the President wished to go over the entire situation with the acting secretary.

Americans Flee Chihuahua.

Washington, March 14.—United States Consul Fletcher, at Chihuahua, Mexico, wired the State Department toda ythat thirty-five Americans were leaving there on a special train for the Texas border. The message was dated yesterday.

Embargo on Southern Pacific.

Houston, Tex., March 14.—An embargo against all classes of freight for New York or points beyond via Galveston has been ordered by the Southern Pacific lines, it is announced by Charles K. Dunlap, traffic manager.

Forest Fires Ruin Ranges.

Albuquerque, N. M., March 14.—Nearly fifty miles of the finest winter range country in Eastern New Mexico has been wiped out by two prairie fires. The fires were in Quay and Curry counties, and reinforcements of firefighters were rushed from Texas on special trains.

Leave on Mexico Orders.

New London, Conn., March 14.—The first result of the Mexican difficulty in so far as the New London artillery district is concerned was noted when Captain G. R. Jones, surgeon at the Fort Wright hospital, left under orders for Fort Sam Houston, Tex. Four first class privates in the hospital service left for the same destination. These are all the orders given out at the island forts as yet with reference to Mexico, and there is no effort at general preparedness to enable the entire garrison to leave at a moment's notice, as was the case in the previous Mexican crisis.

El Paso, Tex., March 14.—A private of the Seventh United States infantry while on sentry duty in Camp Colton, which is close to the international line where it crosses the river, was fired upon by a Mexican who stood on his side of the line.

The Mexican tried to fire a second time, but his gun jammed, and the American soldier went over to the Mexican side and captured him.

El Paso, March 14.—It was officially verified at Fort Bliss that when Villa raided Columbus last Thursday he got away with eighty horses belonging to the Thirteenth United States cavalry. He is using these to escape.

ADDRESS BY FATHER HART.

The adjourned meeting of the Women's League of St. Joseph's church was held in the church hall last night, a large number of members being in attendance. During the meeting Rev. Father P. J. Hart made an address, and Miss Dorothy Jacob recited a poem. Solos were sung by Mrs. Thomas Derrick, with Mrs. Aller accompanying her on thepiano.

A. G. HOOLEY MENTIONED.

Abram G. Hooley is mentioned as one who may be appointed a member of the Board of Health by Mayor W. L. Smalley to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. V. E. Vanderhoef at the last meeting of the Health Board.

FATHER IS IMPROVING.

Word has been received from Rev. E. C. Gillespie, pastor of the Grace M. E. church, who was called to Iowa by the serious illness of his father last week, that the latter is getting better. Mr. Gillespie's grandmother, who is ill in the same house, is also improving.

PREPARING FOR THE PLAINFIELD REVIVAL

Churches of Dunellen and New Market Join in a Series of Prayer Meetings.

Cottage prayer meeting preparatory to the Union evangelistic campaign to be conducted by the churches of New Market and Dunellen prior to the Biederwolf campaign to be held in Plainfield during April will be held this evening in district No. 2 of the territory covered by the churches. This district, which is under the oversight of the New Market churches, lies south of Walnut street, Dunellen, and extends as far south and east and west as Randolphville and the Union school. District No. 2 has been divided into six sections and a committee in each has provided for a cottage prayer meeting to be held in different homes each Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, commencing with this evening and continuing until the Biederwolf campaign commences at Plainfield.

The several sections of District No. 2 are as follows: (1) Union School section, the territory south and east of Blue's corner; (2) Randolphville section, the territory south and west of Blue's corner; (3) New Market (south), the territory between the Lehigh Valley railroad and Blue's corner; (4) New Market (north), the territory between the Lehigh Valley and Center street; (5) Dunellen-New Market (southeast), the territory east of Whittier avenue between Center and Walnut streets; (6) Dunellen-New Market (southwest), the territory west of Whittier avenue between Center and Walnut streets.

The meetings this evening will be held as follows:

HALL PLANT GETS ANOTHER WAR ORDER

Large Force of Men Working Full Time on Lathes and Presses.

The Hall Press works, which has been rushed for some time past in filling domestic orders for its presses and war orders for lathes, has received another war order. The order is for twenty lathes and it was given to the Hall concern by the Baldwin Locomotive Company. In addition to this order, it was said last evening that the Baldwin concern is to give the company another order for fifty lathes. It was said that the contract for this second order would be signed today.

About four hundred men are employed at the plant, which is working night and day and turning out forty lathes a month. When the new orders are added to the number of lathes yet to turn out, the total of unfilled war orders is 120 lathes. The feature about the prosperity at the Hall plant is that the domestic orders for presses surpasses the war order business. A person who is in a position to know told a representative of this paper last evening that the concern has business enough to keep its plant going steadily for two years.

LEAVES THE CENTRAL.

James E. Bays, of New Market, has given up his position with the Jersey Central to take a position as bookkeeper and general man with the Dunellen Lumber and Stone Company.

FRED RUSSELL SECURES THE FITZSIMMONS' PLACE

Contractor Otis M. Webber is making extensive plumbing improvements throughout the old "Bob" Fitzsimmons' house for C. M. Hendrix, of Jersey City. Fred Russell, of Three Bridges, a former resident of this borough, has signed a contract to farm and take care of the extensive grounds of the place, and he and his family will move there on April 1. Some people have the idea that Mr. Hendrix, who is a lawyer and has practiced surgery, intends to open a sanitarium. The size of the house and the grounds makes the place ideal for such a project. Whether Mr. Hendrix really intends to do this, however, cannot be ascertained.

Harold Noble, of Front street, has left the employ of the Sloan Engine Company at Netherwood to take a position in the Spicer plant at South Plainfield.

Rev. E. R. Brown was taken ill yesterday and obliged to take to his bed.

C. S. DAY INJURED.

Charles S. Day, the grocer, sustained bruises Sunday evening when he slipped and fell down the stairs leading from the hay mow of his barn where he had gone to put some hay down for his horses. It was rumored that he broke several ribs, but this was not so.

STAG AND SMOKER.

The Farmers' Baseball Club will hold a stag and smoker in Friendship Hall, Saturday evening. George Duffy, the black-faced comedian, and William Apgar, the harmonica player, both of Plainfield, will be present.

The New Market Card club will hold a dance at the home of Mrs. Clarence Haight on Thursday evening.

Mrs. George Coriell, Sr., has been on the sick list for the past several days.

GRANTZ FINED $10.

Daniel Grantz, who was disorderly in the barber shop of J. H. L. Peters, Saturday afternoon, was fined $10 and obliged to sign a pledge for one year. The pledge provided that he was to abstain from the use of spirituous liquors and to report to the chief of police every Saturday afternoon.

Mark Hipp, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hipp, of Front street, has been ill with bronchitis since Saturday.

Miss Jessie M. Stites entertained Miss Bessie McCaffery, of Passaic, Sunday.

Henry S. Garretson visited his mother, Mrs. Gertrude E. Garretson, at Raritan Landing, Sunday. Mrs. Garretson is over 80 years old.

The Dunellen Lumber and Stone Company has sold one of its houses at Dewey Park to Harry F. Kramer.

WESLEY HUGHES PROMOTED.

Wesley Hughes, who is employed by the International Motor Company, has been promoted to the position which Philip Huenke, brother of W. G. Huenke, gave up to return to farm work at Egg Harbor.

W. C. T. U. MEETING.

The monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Mrs. Firman H. Gise on Thursday afternoon at the usual hour.

Clarence Dunster and family have moved from Rock avenue to the Dunellen Lumber and Stone Company house at 246 North avenue.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Presbyterian church will hold an important business meeting in the chapel this evening.

Edward and Robert Jeitels, of Philadelphia, grandsons of the late Squire Luckey, were visitors in the borough yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Paxton Van Arsdale, of Front street, has recovered from her protracted illness.

Mrs. L. T. Thurston, of Hasbrook Heights, is spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Waller.

South Plainfield.

A St. Patrick's dance will be held in Washington Hall next Friday evening. The members of the committee are John Kane, George Bradburry, William Thornton, John Thornton, William Shanafy and Samuel Shields. Music will be furnished by Guttman's orchestra from Perth Amboy.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sandhere attended the funeral of their cousin, Charles Nevins, of Jersey City, who was buried in St. Mary's cemetery in Plainfield, yesterday.

Mrs. James Wilson, of Elizabeth, who has been the guest of her son, James Wilson, of this place, for some time, returned home yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Snyder entertained a party of young folks from Newark over Sunday.

Mrs. Joseph Miller, of Newark, is spending a few days with her father, Harry Sofield.

Clifford Brown and Robert Walters were the guests of friends in New Brunswick over Sunday.

Miss Nellie McDonough has returned home, after spending a few days with her aunt in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Sanator has been entertaining Mrs. Sanator's brother, Louis Pomponio, of New York, for a few days.

Angelo Chirrello, of New York, who has been the guest of his mother of this place for a few days, has returned.

Miss May Purchase has returned from a visit with friends in New York.

Scotch Plains, Fanwood

GUILD MEETING.

The next meeting of the All Saints' Guild, one of the organizations working for the Episcopal church building fund, has been called for this coming Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. P. Robinson, of North avenue.

SECURE PROMINENT SPEAKERS.

The Rev. J. Madison Hare, organizer of the Parish House Men's Forum, is busy arranging for the appearance of speakers at future meetings of the Forum. Some prominent men have already been secured to make addresses on present-day issues, including W. C. Hope, of the New Jersey Central, and Col. Hines, of the Public Service Corporation.

INJURED HIS SHOULDER.

Clifford Hall, of North avenue, is detained from his studies at New York University by a dislocated shoulder blade. Hall does not know just how he sustained the injury, as it did not bother him until Saturday afternoon, while he was home.

SEWING FOR CHARITY.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Episcopal church will continue sewing for charity at its weekly meeting at the home of Mrs. James Carter, of North avenue.

SEWING CIRCLE MEETING.

The members of the Ladies' Sewing Circle of the Willow Grove chapel will meet in the chapel tomorrow afternoon for the March session.

Mrs. James Thetford and son, of Belleville, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walter Slocum, of Martine avenue.

The Tuesday Afternoon Literary Club meets at the home of the Misses Hayes, of Martine avenue, this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hand are entertaining John Hays, of Morristown.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

"My Lady's Slipper," the first costime play in which Anita Stewart and Earl Williams have appeared together, is the headline attraction at the U. S. Astor Theatre, topping a program of splendid screen subjects. Anita Stewart and Earl Williams are among the best known screen artists in America and their appearance in a play together is an event of note in the screen world. Therefore the presentation of "My Lady's Slipper" at the Astor may be considered an important event. "My Lady's Slipper" is beyond question one of the best dramatic subjects released by the Vitagraph Company this season and merits the patronage of every film fan in Plainfield. Miss Stewart is afforded just the type of character for which she is best suited and Mr. Williams, too, has a very congenial role. The result is that two splendid character interpretations are given by these artists.

Tomorrow and Thursday, Charles Cherry, the noted Frohman star, will be seen in "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," at the Astor, together with other comedy and dramatic subjects. Friday and Saturday the leading attraction will be "Bella Donna," starring the most beautiful woman on the screen, Pauline Frederick. It is a Paramount picture in five most engrossing parts and is a thriller of the first order.

MORE THAN 1,750 BOWLERS ENTER A. C. B. A. TOURNEY

Washington, D. C., March 14.—John J. Donovan, secretary of the Atlantic Coast Bowling Association, now reports there will be more than 350 teams of five men entered in this season's International Bowling Tournament, which will be held in Washington, D. C., commencing April 3, and he claims that he will not be surprised to see an entry list for 500 teams before the closing of the entries on March 25.

With 350 five-men teams, there will be about 1,000 two-men teams, and 2,000 individuals.

WOMEN TENNIS STARS BEGIN PLAY FOR INDOOR CHAMPIONSH

Women tennis players began competition yesterday at the Seventh Regiment Armory, New York, in the annual national indoor championship tournament and completed two rounds in the singles event. The draw did not bring together any of the best players in either the first or second round, and for the most part the matches were won in straight sets by one-sided scores. There was no announcement of the draw until just before the start of play, and when it was posted interest attached to the positions of Miss Molla Bjurstedt, the champion, and Miss Marie Wagner, these two being considered the strongest in the tournament.

Both are in the upper half of the draw, but are so placed that should each win in the early rounds they will not meet until the semi-finals.

WENCK'S PLAN FOR SECRET STAKEHOLDER VOTED DOWN

The efforts of Fred A. Wenck, of the New York State Athletic Commission, for the appointment of a secret stakeholder for the money involved in the Willard-Moran bout on March 25 have been blocked by the other two members of the commission, Frank Dwyer and John Franey. Chairman Wenck was to have announced a new stakeholder yesterday, but the other commissioners did not come to the city, and there was no meeting. In the meantime all the forfeits and checks are held by the original stakeholder, Bob Vernon, who will continue to serve in that capacity.

Chairman Wenck has been the minority member of the commission since its organization, and although he has advocated many new measures, several of them have been defeated by the vote of the other two members, who together control the majority vote.

HEIR TO $150,000 IS SLAYER OF WIFE

Shoots Himself After Committing Murder Act.

New York, March 14.—As his wife, Mary, lay asleep, John Boyle, thirty-four years old, son and principal heir of the late John C. Boyle, a wealthy liquor dealer, shot her and then himself in their apartment at 230 West Ninety-seventh street. He died instantly. Mrs. Boyle lived half an hour, but was never conscious.

The police believe that the young man, long a sufferer from nervousness, suddenly became insane. It was said at the apartment house that Boyle was fond of his wife and none of the residents there knew of any trouble between them.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyle were married seven years ago. They had no children. The husband, who had been under the care of physicians for months, did no work, it was said. Recently he had spent some time in a sanitarium, but was not much benefited. In the company of a nurse and at the solicitation of his wife Boyle lately went to Atlantic City in the hope that the sea air would help him, but he stayed only a few days.

The couple on Sunday night went to a theater with Mr. and Mrs. Stanhope, from whom they rented their apartment furnished. They arrived home apparently happy.

Mrs. Stanhope heard the report of the revolver when Boyle shot his wife. She knocked on the door and Boyle announced that he had shot his wife and that he was going to shoot himself. Mrs. Stanhope was too frightened to interfere.

RUSSIA'S GRANDMA WRITES TO AMERICA

Tells of Experience In Siberian Prison.

Boston, March 14.—Neither old age nor the rigors of exile in Siberia, where the winters are nine months long and the temperature often sinks to 55 degrees below zero, have broken the spirit of Catherine Breshkovskaya, "Baboushka" (Little Grandmother), Russia's famous political prisoner.

From her prison at Irkutsk, the capital of eastern Siberia, the undaunted revolutionist wrote to Alice Stone Blackwell, the suffragist leader of this city, and the letter reveals the unflinching courage of a remarkable person. Mme. Breshkovskaya was originally confined in northern Siberia, where it was unbearably cold, but the Russian government finally consented to remove her to the relatively mild climate of the Irkutsk district.

The exile's letter is dated Dec. 27, 1915.

"Every minute when I am out of doors," she wrote, "I am followed by a row of policemen, and one of them enters the house and even the apartment where I am staying.

"It is not difficult to wait, having so many excellent moments in life as are a part of my existence. Do not be sorry for my eyes. The oculist says my eyes will serve me long enough when carefully used.

"My address is only Catherine Breshkovskaya, Irkutsk, Russia. All the post bureaus of Siberia are well informed of my presence, and they find me in every corner of this immense country. If I am sent away I will inform you."

Mme. Breshkovskaya is seventy-two years of age. She was in this country eleven years ago and made a deep impression upon Julia Ward Howe, Jane Addams and other well known women. She returned to Russia carrying more than $10,000 that had been collected here for the cause of revolution.

The following year she was arrested on the charge of belonging to an illegal party and was put in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul. No formal charges were prepared against her for a year and a half.

It is believed that the life of the "Little Grandmother" will end in Siberia.

MANITOBA DRY BY 2 TO 1.

Winnipeg Majority Three to One For Straight Prohibition.

Winnipeg, Man., March 14.—Manitoba went dry by a two to one vote and redeemed the pledge of Premier Norris, elected last year, that at the earliest day possible he would submit a prohibition measure with no war time limitations.

Winnipeg carried the measure by nearly three to one. The measure is for straight prohibition and goes into effect automatically with refusals to renew licenses.

New Brunswick and Ontario will shortly introduce similar measures, and it is quite probable that by July all of Canada except a part of Quebec will be dry.

Write to Your Next Employer Through "The Classified"

The work-seeker's classified advertisement need not be a "regular letter," of course; but it should be a clear statement of facts about the business capabilities of the advertiser. It SHOULD give to a prospective employer a definite idea as to the probable fitness of the advertiser for the position sought.

State WHAT YOU CAN DO, what you have done, how well you can do the work you are seeking. If your "ad" is frank, concise, factful—if it indicates in the writer a clean-cut, forceful personality, it will get the attention of YOUR NEXT EMPLOYER!

MINUTES OF MEETINGS OF THE BOARD OF CHOSEN FREEHOLDERS OF UNION COUNTY, N. J.

1916.

The organization meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union was held in the Courthouse, Elizabeth, N. J., on Saturday, January 1, 1916, at 12 noon.

The oaths of office of the newly-elected members having been administered and having been filed in the county clerk's office as required by law, the clerk proceeded with the organization of the board for the ensuing year.

The roll was called by cities, towns, townships and boroughs, as follows:

Elizabeth—William F. Marsh, Elias Applegate, James O. Brokaw, Thomas F. Haviland.

Rahway—William H. Randolph, Clifford B. Gehring.

Summit—John N. Cady, William I. McMane.

Plainfield—S. P. T. Wilbur.

Westfield—Joseph Perry.

Cranford—George G. Teller.

Linden—Henry Krouse.

Union—Noah Woodruff.

New Providence—Bradford Jones.

Mountainside—Elston Darby.

Springfield—Peter H. Meisel.

Fanwood—Burton J. Hall.

Hillside Township—Abram Morris was present, but stated he did not qualify on account of being ineligible by reason of his appointment as county clerk.

Absent—J. Hervey Doane, Charles A. Smith, William J. Thompson.

The clerk called for nominations.

There being a quorum present, the clerk called for nomination for director. Freeholder Teller in a brief speech nominated John N. Cady, said nomination being seconded by Freeholder N. Woodruff.

Freeholder Krouse moved that said nomination be made unanimous, and said motion being carried, the clerk declared John N. Cady unanimously elected as director of the board for the ensuing year.

The clerk asked Freeholders Teller, N. Woodruff and Krouse to escort the director-elect to the chair, after which the director in a brief speech thanked the members of the board for the honor conferred upon him.

By Freeholder Hall:

Resolved, That the salary of the county clerk be fixed at the sum of four thousand dollars ($4,000) per annum; further

Resolved, That the county collector be allowed the sum of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) per annum for clerk hire and expenses, both to be paid to him monthly.

On motion by Freeholder Hall this resolution was adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Hall:

Resolved, That the county collector be required to give bond in the penal sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000).

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this resolution was on roll call adopted unanimously.

The director called for nomination of county collector. Freeholder Hall nominated Nathan R. Leavitt for said office, said nomination being seconded by Freeholder N. Woodruff. Mr. Meisel moved that nominations close, and the clerk cast one ballot for Nathan R. Leavitt. Said motion carried, and the director declared him duly elected as county collector for term prescribed by law.

Director Cady also announced the following committee on collector's bond: Freeholders Thompson, Brokaw and N. Woodruff.

By Freeholder Wilbur:

Resolved, That the rules of the last board be adopted as the rules of this board and that the regular meetings of this board be held on the first Thursday of each month at 2:30 p. m., unless otherwise ordered by the board.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this resolution was adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Krouse:

Resolved, That the director be and hereby is constituted a member of all committees.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this resolution was adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Smith:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the director to look after the interests of the county at the session of the next Legislature.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this resolution was adopted unanimously. The director appointed as said committee Freeholders Meisel, Krouse and Teller.

By Freeholder Hall:

Resolved, That the director be authorized to appoint an appropriation commitee of five to submit to the board the appropriations for the year 1916.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this resolution was adopted unanimously.

The director appointed as said committee Freeholders Smith, Hall, Perry, Applegate and Jones.

Board of Chosen Freeholders, Courthouse, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Gentlemen—I beg leave to enclose herewith the budget of the Union County Mosquito Extermination Commission for the year 1916. I have gone over the estimates and plans as submitted to me by the secretary of the Union County Mosquito Extermination Commission and note, among other matters, that the budget for the year 1916 is less by one thousand dollars that the corresponding budget of the present year. In viey of the very effective work which is being done by the Union County Mosquito Extermination Commission, I feel justified in approving the budget as submitted.

Budget Plan and Method of Work of the Union County Mosquito Extermination Commission for the Year 1916.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Administration, including executive office and engineering salaries, and expenses for maintaining the office | | $ 4,300 |
| Inspection, including permanent and temporary salt marsh and inland inspectors' salaries and expenses | | 6,000 |
| Permanent elimination of breeding places, including salt marsh labor and material, old work (maintenance) | | 2,000 |
| New work | | 4,500 |
| Inland labor and material, old work (maintenance) | | 700 |
| New work | | 1,900 |
| Temporary elimination of breeding places, including cost of fuel oil and cost of labor and wagon hire for applying oil | | 1,200 |
| Equipment, including transportation expenses, tools, boots, instruments, etc. | | 1,000 |
| General expenses and education | | 400 |
| Total | | $22,000 |

The plan of the work next year is similar to that of the past year, viz., that the committee will hold meetings at regular intervals for properly carrying out the mosquito extermination work in this county, will organize and be responsible for the work of the field force of inspectors, laborers and office help, so that mosquito nuisance will be abated in an efficient and satisfactory manner. This actual conduct of the work will be chiefly one of so treating mosquito breeding places that breeding will be prevented by the same means as are fully explained in the report of the work for 1915, which has been forwarded to you.

Assuring you our appreciation of your support of the mosquito extermination work of Union county, I am,

Sincerely yours,
JOHN N. LIFMAN,
Dean and Director.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this communication was received and referred to the appropriation committee.

At 1.20 p. m., on motion by Freeholder Krouse, the director declared a recess of ten minutes for the appropriation committee to submit tentative appropriations for the year 1916.

At 1.30 p. m. the board reassembled with the same members present.

By Freeholder Smith:

BURTON P. HALL,
JOSEPH PERRY,
BRADFORD JONES,
ELIAS APPLEGATE,
Committee.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this resolution was on roll call adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Krouse:

Resolved, That the appropriation heretofore made for the distribution amongst the hospitals in the county be paid by the county collector as follows:

| Muhlenberg Hospital | 7,000.00 |
| Summit Hospital Association | 3,500.00 |

Further Resolved, That the county collector is authorized to pay the above appropriations in monthly instalments.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this resolution was adopted unanimously.

The committee on collector's bond reported that the county collector had filed the proper bond and in a sufficient amount.

By Freeholder Krouse:

Resolved, That when this board adjourns, it adjourn to meet on Thursday, January 6, 1916, at 2:30 p. m.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur this resolution was adopted unanimously.

On motion by Freeholder Wilbur the director declared the board adjourned till Thursday, January 6, 1916, at 2:30 p. m.

J. EDWARD ROWE, Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE

To provide for the construction of a further addition to the system of sewerage already constructed in the City of Plainfield, No. 17—

WHEREAS, There has been constructed in said city a system of sewerage and such action in relation thereto has from time to time been taken as is set forth in the preamble to the ordinance of said city, entitled "An Ordinance to provide for the construction of an addition to the system of sewerage already constructed in the City of Plainfield," approved November 6, 1897, to which preamble reference is hereby made for greater certainty and

WHEREAS, In the opinion of the Common Council the public good requires that a further addition, as herein described, to the system of sewerage already constructed, should be now constructed in and for said city under the provisions of the Act in said preamble referred to, and the Common Council has so determined and does hereby so determine; therefore,

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the Common Council doth hereby direct and order that a further addition to the system of sewerage already constructed under said Act and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, be constructed in and for said city under the provisions of the Act of the Legislature above referred to, with all the appurtenances necessary to complete the same, and of such dimensions and material and according to such plans as the said Common Council may hereafter direct, in and through the following described streets, avenues, property, lands and rights of way described, mentioned and referred to in this ordinance to wit:

Ravine road, from the present sewer to Dixie Lane;
Williver street;
Lafayette place;
Clinton place;
Johannis place;
Stelle avenue, from Hobert avenue to Grant avenue;
Hobert avenue, from Sherman avenue to Stelle avenue.

Section 2. That house connections shall be constructed from the above-named sewers to the curb lines.

ARRANGE DETAILS OF CARRIERS' DAY

Committee Still in Need of Funds to Entertain Visitors on May 30.

Arrangements for the parade, the business session and banquet to the New Jersey Letter Carriers' Association, which will be in convention in Plainfield on May 30, were made at a meeting of the general committee held last night. No time was set for any of the events, but all will be held after noon, as delegates will not all arrive before that time.

Noon of Decoration Day will see more than 3,000 letter carriers from other cities here, according to the estimates of those who are working on details of the convention. There will be this many in the big parade, and the committee has assurances that plenty of music will be provided.

New York visitors to the convention are to come on two special trains. These will reach her in plenty of time for the parade. As those from outside the state will not be participants in the business session, this feature of the day may precede the parade. The banquet will be held in the evening. Only accredited delegates to the convention will be guests here.

The only thing that now stands in the way of a proper reception of both delegates and visitors to the convention, according to committee members, is a shortage of funds. Only $500 of the $1,500 needed has been subscribed. The local carriers are not permitted to solicit funds, and this must be done through the Citizens' Committee, but local merchants and business men are not contributing as fast as could be expected.

"We will receive any donations, no matter how small," said one of the committee members this morning. "Every Plainfielder should contribute—no matter if it is only a dollar, or even less. It is a Plainfield event, and all should have a part in it."

"GLIMPSES OF IRELAND."

The Woman's Society for Christian Work of the Seventh Day Baptist church has arranged to conduct a sociable in the church parlors, Thursday night. As this is St. Patrick's Day Eve, it has been given the appropriate title of "Glimpses of Ireland." The program will comprise Irish songs and readings, provided by capable talent.

TWO PINOCHLE MATCHES.

In the initial matches of the borough pinochle tournament held last evening, Gaub's barbershop team defeated the team of the North Plainfield Domino Club at Gaub's barbershop, taking three straight games, and the North Plainfield Republican Club defeated the fire department by the score of two games to one. The latter match was played at fire headquarters.

PURCHASE SUPPLIES FOR BELGIAN RELIEF

Miss Ayers, Well Known Pianist, Will Give Recital Here in Aid of the Fund.

The latest meeting of the Plainfield Belgian Relief Fund was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. F. W. Wallace, of Hillside avenue. Mrs. Wallace stated that she had been making inquiries concerning the expenditure of the $150 voted at the former meeting for shoes, the $50 voted for stockings, and the $50 voted for outing flannel and that she had found that the shoes and stockings can be bought to the best advantage from the Vacation War Relief. The shoes cost eighty-five cents a pair and have been ordered for children from four to sixteen years of age; the stockings are seventy-five cents a dozen and they have been ordered in assorted sizes for children from two to fourteen years of age. The flannel has not yet been ordered. A great many articles of all kinds have been sent the chairman to be shipped to the refugees through Mrs. Duryea and a warm letter of thanks from the latter was read to the society. Mrs. Duryea suggests that there is a great need for unbleached muslin underwear and nightgowns for girls and women and for trousers and percale shirts for boys. For men in the trenches in case anyone wishes to work for the soldiers rather than for the women and children, comfort packets are in great demand. These contain, each a shirt, handkerchiefs, of khaki color, suspenders, a candle, a cake of soap, towels and pencil and paper.

The treasurer's report showed that $153.69 had been received since the preceding meeting. It was resolved that $75 be spent for boys' trousers and shirts and $50 for women's shoes.

It was also reported that the proceeds for the skating carvnial, February 21, reached $25.

After the reading of two very interesting letters by Mrs. Van der Linde, Miss Corey spoke on the subject of the piano recital to be given April 7 by Miss Ayres, for the benefit of the Belgians. Miss Ayres is a brilliant young pianist who achieved great success as a pupil under Gabrilowitsch and scored a triumph when she made her debut in Philadelphia with the New York Symphony Orchestra. Since that time she has appeared as a soloist a number of times with the New York Symphony and has given many recitals in different parts of the country.

Recent contributors are Mrs. Pond, John Cox, Miss Munger, E. H. Van Ingen and C. L. through the Daily Press.

COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN.

President William D. Murray, of the Y. M. C. A., today announced the following chairmen of committees for the ensuing year: Executive, L. D. Albin; finance, J. W. Gavett; physical work, J. W. Sandford; boys' work, J. M. McClymont; religious work, George E. Hall; membership, L. D. Albin; house, F. R. Stevens.

45TH SERIES RETIRED BY LOAN ASSOCIATION

The forty-fifth series of the Union Building and Loan Association which has expired, was paid off at the meeting of the association last night. There were twelve members whose shares had reached their par value, who received $12,400. They have paid on their shares for a period of 137 months, several months less than the usual time.

The annual report shows that during the year the association gained fifty-four new members, representing an increase of 685 shares over last year. One mortgage loan was cancelled and two loans were made to shareholders. Beside this, $35,300 was loaned on bond and mortgage, the total invested in bond and mortgages being $148,150. The total amount loaned on shares was $8,400 and the total assets are $170,623.10.

The membership of the association is 450, with a total of 5,318 shares. The receipts for last year were $126,527.81. When J. V. E. Vanderhoef became secretary of the association in 1903, the receipts and disbursements for that year were $40,000. The officers of the association are as follows:

E. M. Laing, president; A. D. Edgar, vice president; J. V. E. Vanderhoef, secretary; M. C. Van Arsdale treasurer. Attorney—Chas. M. Dolliver. Auditing committee—C. B. Vail, H. R. Thorn, Edward Baker, Jr. Finance committee—C. H. Dunham, S. J. Robinson, L. Van Syckle. Appraisal committee—A. D. Edgar, J. P. Emmons, J. C. Manning, L. Van Syckle. Directors—J. P. Emmons, J. C. Manning, T. J. Parent, C. H. Dunham, A. D. Edgar, S. J. Robinson, E. M. Laing, M. C. Van Arsdale L. Van Syckel, J. A. Gaffney, J. V. E. Vanderhoef, Chas. M. Dolliver.

CHARGED WITH IMPROPER FEEDING OF HIS DOGS

"If you don't take better care of your dogs I will impose a heavy sentence upon you," said Recorder Hand in the borough court this morning in releasing William Relling, of Jefferson avenue, who was arraigned on the complaints of his neighbors alleging that he was improperly feeding his dogs, three in number.

The neighbors told the police that these dogs, made vicious by hunger, have been killing chickens, rummaging and upsetting garbage cans, and even going so far as chasing people out of their own yards. Relling seemed to be impressed by the lecture administered by Recorder Hand, and he left the court promising to see that his animals are properly fed in the future.

Rev. Father Baldwin, chaplain of Mt. St. Mary College, will preach the Lenten sermon in St. Joseph's church tomorrow night.

ONLY AFTER STRAY DUCK--FINED $10

Mrs. Finchot Called Him "Polock," But He is Slav, He Says.

For threatening to do bodily harm to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Finchot, of of South avenue, Friday evening, Andrew Ascoss, a neighbor, was fined $10 be Recorder David S. Campbell, in the Dunellen borough court last evening.

The trouble arose over Ascoss transgressing on the property of the Finchots'. Ascoss admitted having gone over into the yard of the Finchots, but said that he did so in order to get several of his ducks which had strayed there. He said that Mrs. Finchot called him a "Polack" and that this made him made because he was a Slav.

On Friday evening Mrs. Finchot said that she caught Ascoss coming through her yard with a bag of coal on his back and had given him a good "raking" over for trespassing, whereupon, she charged that Ascoss became enraged and chased her into her home with a bean pole and then yelled to his wife to get him an axe so that he could knock down the door which she (Mrs. Finchot) had locked.

Peter Milesky, Ascoss' landlord, testified that he had held Ascoss and prevented him from doing violence. Others to testify were Mr. and Mrs. John Sharski and John Rabbi.

Louis Feldman acted as interpreter.

BOY SCOUTS CANNOT PARADE WITH CARRIERS

It was decided at a meeting of the Boy Scout Council last night that the Boy Scouts of the city would be unable to join in the parade of the letter carriers here on Decoration Day for the reason that they are to take part in the Memorial Day parade in the morning.

Irving Wilsie made application to the council for one merit badge, and Walter S. Marder, Jr., applied for seven merit badges. The applications were referred. All of the committees reported progress, and it was announcerd that a special talk for announced that a special talk for the scouts was being arranged for April 10. Theodore G. Davis, president of the council, presided at last night's meeting.

REPORT ON BARBERS' BILL.

Local No. 315, Journeymen Barbers' International Union, at a meeting in Trades Council hall next Thursday night, will receive a report from the state association relative to the Barbers' Bill, introduced by Assemblyman William N. Runyon, and passed in the lower house of the Legislature last week. Following the meeting, the members will enjoy a turkey supper served in Moose Hall.

PERSHING LEADS ARMY IN MEXICO

United States Troops to Cross Border Today.

CARRANZA IS AGREEABLE.

Arrangement Is Made With "First Chief's" Diplomat—Pursuit of Villa Is Hampered by Burning of Bridges by Bandits—Rebel Steals United States Horses.

El Paso, Tex., March 14.—Headed by General John J. Pershing, a regiment of United States soldiers is on Mexican soil in a search for General Villa.

Though silent to the last and keeping his going a secret until the train was ready to leave, General Pershing is understood to have entrained for Columbus, N. M. It is reported that the expedition will go into Mexico from that point.

At nightfall it was known that no troops had yet crossed into Mexico. It was also known that the re-enforcements en route to the border from other points would not reach Columbus or El Paso in time for an entry today. It is also understood that there is no intention at present of taking troops across at El Paso at this time, if at all.

Leaves With a Regiment.

General Pershing left here with the Sixteenth infantry and followed the Sixth infantry, which entrained this morning. The Eighth cavalry, under orders to join the expedition, did not depart during the day, although in readiness. It is reported that this cavalry regiment is awaiting the arrival here of the Twenty-third infantry from Galveston before leaving.

The Twenty-third infantry, that regiment, and the Seventh infantry, half of the Twentieth infantry and a light battery of four guns of the Fifth field artillery will be kept in El Paso to protect the city in case of trouble.

A battalion of twelve light mountain batteries left here for Columbus. The signal corps stationed here did not get under way for the west today, but will go as soon as railroad equipment is obtained.

A hospital corps from San Antonio, consisting of nine flat cars with army ambulances, three Pullman's and six box cars, passed through El Paso.

Pershing In Conference.

When the conference between General Pershing and General Gabriel Gavira in the Mexican consulate was about to end without any progress being made toward a decision, a telegram from Washington notified General Pershing that President Wilson had virtually acceded to the request of the Carranza government that the Constitutionalist troops be permitted to pursue bandits into the United States should occasion arise.

This dispatch clarified the situation, which had become tense, and the conference ended.

"I have nothing to say, as there is nothing I can say," said General Pershing afterward. "The telegram came at a crucial moment. I have had a very satisfactory conference with General Gavira. It was wholly a matter of anticipation."

General Pershing reached the consulate unaccompanied. Ten minutes later General Gavira arrived in an automobile from Juarez. He was accompanied by several aids and Mayor M. M. Prieto. After an exchange of greetings everybody retired from the office of Consul Garcia, with the exception of the consul and the two generals. The audience hall was cleared of all persons who were waiting for interviews, so that the conference might be in absolute secrecy.

Upon the conclusion of the conference the two generals, the Juarez mayor and Consul Garcia came down the stairway and conversed a brief time on the front porch. Then General Pershing entered his automobile and was taken to town.

No information was given regarding the details of the conference except that it had to do with the attitude of General Gavira and his officers if American troops began their campaign against Villa through Juarez.

Consul Garcia after the conference said, "I feel much relieved, for I was much disheartened when the welfare of my country was at stake."

General Gavira expressed pleasure at having conferred with General Pershing and said that he was satisfied with the outcome.

Villa Reported Going East.

No additional troops arrived in Juarez, but General Gavira asserted that 500 troops detrained at Laguna, midway between Juarez and Chihuahua City, and marched west to prevent Villa escaping eastward from Casas Grandes. Information in Juarez is that Villa had suddenly headed east.

No effort has been made to send troops from Chihuahua by way of Guerrero, as the bridges are said to be burned between Rincon and Madera. Word has also been received that Villa and his men have burned a number of bridges south of Corralitos, and for this reason no trains upon the Mexico Northwestern road could reach Villa after attaining Guzman.

Agreement With Carranza.

Washington, March 14.—Secretary of State Lansing notified the Carranza government that the United States had agreed to permit Carranza forces to enter American territory in pursuit of bandits who might cross the border into Mexico, commit depredations there and return to the United States.

In return for this privilege, the communication set forth, the United States understands that Carranza has no objection to the American expedition which has been organized for the pursuit of Villa and that this government is now prepared to exercise this right without further exchange of views.

With the formal note, which was addressed to Acuna, Carranza's secretary for foreign affairs, and forwarded by telegraph through United States Consul Silliman at Guadalajara, was a statement by Mr. Lansing setting forth that the American expedition will be scrupulously confined to the pursuit and capture of Villa.

Copies of the note and statement were also sent to Eliseo Arredondo, the Mexican ambassador designate in this city, and to Major General F. H. Funston, commander in chief of the American forces on the border.

Funston to Move at Once.

With the receipt of his copies of the correspondence General Funston is expected to lose no time in getting his expedition under way.

Secretary of War Baker went to the White House, remaining with the president about an hour. When he left he refused to make any comments except to say that if the troops had crossed the border he had not been advised of the fact.

The tension in Washington has not been lessened by publication of the note to Carranza.

While the belief is professed in official circles that it may serve to placate him, all plans of the war department have been drawn with the possibility in view that the entry of the troops into Mexico will be the signal for Carranzistas and Villistas in northern Mexico to unite in opposition to the invasion.

THE GAY STATESMAN.

A Tribute to the Versatile Genius of Alexander Hamilton.

Because no man can live exclusively to himself either for good or evil, with every mention of Burr's name the figure of Hamilton rises, an avenging ghost. Even before that precocious young native of the West Indies walked into our military history at Princeton, a lad only nineteen, lost in thought, a cocked hat pulled down over his eyes while his hand rested upon a cannon that he patted absentmindedly as if it were a favorite horse, he had done valiant work for American liberty with his pen. From the time he touched our shores to the July morning more than thirty years later when Burr's bullet laid him low he was a force to be reckoned with.

And his was one of those natures, keenly alive on many sides, whose astonishing maturity of intellect did not snuff out the rest of life. He became "my boy" to Washington very early in his service, worked willingly at headquarters day in and day out with a sober application equal to Washington's own, yet contrived to snatch from such never ending drudgery youth's dear and fleeting joys. He brought gayety even to Washington's mess table, courted black eyed Elizabeth Schuyler under the muzzles of British guns and in the years of their married life together managed with all his prodigious labors to bend social graces as well as the solid qualities of his mind to enriching their days and nights.

Besides being a great statesman, he was "an enjoying gentleman," to use the quaint old phrase. Talleyrand, corrupt and appreciative, looked upon him with amazement. "Il avait divine l'Europe," he said, which, from a European of that day, about an American was near the highest praise. Hamilton's management of the treasury, without breath of scandal or self seeking, filled the Frenchman with even greater astonishment. "I have beheld one of the wonders of the world," he exclaimed—"a man who has made a nation rich laboring all night to provide his family with bread."—Helen Nicolay in Century.

actly what might be expected. The Highway committee reported through Mr. Cannon that much is being done to beautify the Netherwood streets. An interested friend has donated the use of a piece of ground to raise trees and a large number have been planted with the idea of bringing them to a state of perfection for replanting, along the thoroughfares where they are most needed. Sentiment seems to be in favor of getting rid of some of the ill-selected and common variety of shade givers and substituting better ones. The committee is now growing Norway maples, Oriental planes and other varieties.

Two resolutions were passed to be forwarded the Common Council. One of these asks that proper sidewalks be placed on all new streets in Netherwood that have been accepted by the city and the other calls for a number of lights to be placed in sections where they are needed. Tax Collector W. R. Townsend was to have addressed the meeting on tax matters, but was unable to be present. President Wardlaw, who was in the chair, stated that he had secured most of the facts from Mr. Townsend, and gave the address by proxy.

To Calculate Congresses.

To determine the years covered by a given congress double the number of the congress and add the product to 1789. The result will be the year in which the congress closed. Take, for example, the Thirty-fifth congress. Doubling it gives us seventy; add 1789 and we have 1859, the year in which, on March 4, the Thirty-fifth congress closed. To find the number of a congress sitting in any year subtract 1789 from the year. If the result is an even number half that number will give the congress of which the year in question saw the close. If the result is an odd number add one, and half the result will give the congress in which the year in question was the first year. Take, again, the congress sitting in 1858. Subtract 1789 from 1858 and the result is sixty-nine. Add one, making seventy, and divide by two, showing that the Thirty-first congress was holding its first regular session in that year. The year 1789 is the basic number, because that was the year in which the First congress under the constitution convened.—Philadelphia Press.

Ironing the Tablecloth.

A tablecloth should be pulled into shape before being ironed. After it is pulled into shape, fold it together lengthwise through the middle, so that the wrong side will be outside; then turn back the edges at each side so that the cloth is in four long folds, each fold of the same width. The outer folds will now be right side out. Iron these two outer folds, then turn them inside and iron the two inner folds that are now outside and are the right side of the tablecloth. When the four folds are thus finished the long length can be doubled back and forward the desired width, but the crosswise folds should not be ironed in. Papers can be placed where the tablecloth hangs over on the floor from the ironing board. A little practice will soon make you perfect. The old fashioned way was to first iron a tablecloth on the wrong side, but the tablecloths coming under my observation that look the best are ironed in the manner above described.—Eunice Haskins in Independent Farmer.

An Ideal Island.

The island of Ascension, in the Atlantic, belonging to Great Britain, is unique in many respects. There is no private property in land, no rents, no taxes and no use for money. The flocks and herds are public property, and the meat is issued as rations. So are the vegetables grown on the farms. When an island fisherman makes a catch he brings it to the guardroom, whence it is issued by the sergeant major. Practically the entire population are sailors, and they work at most of the common trades. The climate is almost perfect. The island is 8 by 6 miles in size and has a population of about 450. It is 250 miles northward of St. Helena and is governed by a captain appointed from the British navy.

MANY CITIES WATCH SNEEZES.

Preparedness Against Sickness Is Simple, but Frequently Neglected.

Seventeen cities and one state, through their health departments, are now enlisted in the "watch your sneeze" campaign recently started by the New York Association For Improving the Condition of the Poor. New York was the first city to enlist and Florida the first and thus far the only state to mark the crusade with its official approval, though in Connecticut a state wide campaign is also under way through the activities of the Connecticut Research association. The other cities are: Baltimore, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, Colorado Springs, Amsterdam, Bridgeport, Plainfield, Lynchburg, Schenectady, Paterson, Poughkeepsie, Pueblo, New Britain, Pasadena, South Orange, Jersey City and Sacramento.

"Information is the only ammunition we need in this fight," says Philip S. Platt, who is directing the effort, "and the only information needed is the one simple fact that unsmothered sneezes spread diseases. Preparedness is easy in the anti-sneeze campaign. 'Have a hanky handy.' That is all there is to it. We do not ask people to stop sneezing, but what we do ask is that they sneeze into a handkerchief."

TIGRIS LOSS OF BRITISH 5,000

Relief Army Is Halted In Mesopotamia.

TURKS CLAIM BIG VICTORY

Artillery Battles Continue to Rage About Verdun—Fight Extends Over Fifty Mile Front—Hard Battle Is Fought in the Le Pretre Woods.

London, March 14.—More than 5,000 British fell in the battles around Felahie, in Mesopotamia, according to reports of the Turkish war office.

The following statement, dated March 12, was issued:

"The enemy's losses in the battle of Felahie, on the Mesopotamian front, are estimated at at least 5,000.

"In Arabia, on the Yemen front, a British division of 6,000 infantry, 600 cavalry and twelve guns advanced from Sheik Osman and occupied Afoch and also the heights to the southwest. The Turkish force made a counter attack, and the enemy retired in disorder after three hours' fighting to Sheik Osman.

"Three days later while reconnoitering a detachment engaged British cavalry with machine guns, and the British fled in the direction of Sheik Osman, leaving behind twenty killed and wounded."

The official press bureau stated that the foregoing operations were reconnoisance to ascertain the strength of the Turkish forces in the neighborhood of Subar and Wahl, which were successful. The British casualties were five killed and thirty-five wounded.

Verdun Fight Raging.

The whole region northeast, east and southeast of Verdun fortress is shaking under terrific artillery fire. The struggle is extending along a curving fifty mile front southeast of the citadel, according to official statements from the German and French war offices.

It is considered almost certain that this entire front is about to break out in heavy infantry actions. Paris is awaiting the new thrust with confidence. An official statement from the French war office estimated German losses in the Verdun offensive at thus far 200,000.

A sharp struggle in Le Pretre woods, forty-five miles southeast of Verdun, was reported in both official statements. Paris announced the capture of more than 200 yards of German trenches in the Carmes wood. The German war office, however, claimed the repulse of the French attack.

Aviators on both sides were busy throughout the night. A French squadron raided the depot at Conflans, through which the crown prince obtains supplies from Metz. The German war office reported air attacks on the Clermont-Verdun railway depots and the destruction of four French aeroplanes.

The kaiser is again on the Verdun front, and it is believed he will remain there until the battle is decided one way or another.

Paris Statement.

The Paris official statement said:

There was no infantry action in the region to the north of Verdun. Bombardment continued during the night against Bethincourt and in the region of Douaumont, as well as in the Woevre region. In the sectors of Moulainville and Ronvaux our artillery is showing great activity on the entire front.

In La Pretre forest a body of our troops penetrated an enemy trench near Croix des Carmes on a front of about 200 yards. Having exploded mines and caused some losses to the enemy, this body of troops returned to our lines with twenty prisoners.

The night was calm on the rest of the front.

One of our bombarding groups in a night flight threw thirty shells of large caliber on the railway station of Conflans, where five houses are known to have been set on fire. All our machines returned undamaged.

Berlin Statement.

The Berlin statement said:

Clear weather reigning, artillery on both sides has become very active on a large part of the front, the cannonading reaching a greater intensity on both banks of the Meuse and as far as the Moselle.

There have been small patrol combats on the Somme.

In La Pretre forest a small French attack failed.

German fliers successfully attacked the enemy's railroads and encampments, especially on the railroad from Clermont to Verdun. Three enemy aeroplanes were destroyed, two in the Champagne and one in the Meuse sector.

HANEL TO DIE APRIL 24.

Just a Year From the Time He Killed Mrs. Hellner.

New York, March 14.—Joseph E. Hanel, who killed Mrs. Julia Hellner in her home in Flatbush on April 23 last, was sentenced to die in the week beginning April 24 by Supreme Court Justice Crane in Brooklyn yesterday. Hanel kept his nerve until he was entering the detention pen. There he collapsed.

Before sentence was pronounced Justice Crane was asked to read a letter from a man for whom Hanel worked while a fugitive.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens so Naturally Nobody can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is, that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance.. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

Four Overcome by Gas.

Newark, March 14.—Four members of a family were almost suffocated by illuminating gas in Irvington. But for the fact that the gas was escaping from a jet in the kitchen instead of the sleeping apartments several of the family of David L. Shields might have been asphyxiated Saturday night. Every member of the family has catarrh so badly, according to a physician, that none is able to detect the odor of gas.

DISCUSS FEEBLE MINDED

substantiate his statements, Mr. Johnson illustrated with diagrams, showing the ancestry of some of the inmates at Vineland and other institutions. Practically two-thirds of the feeble minded derive this trait from their parents; one-third from diseases and unknown causes. One reason for the protection of these people is to diminish the number in the country; the women especially, physically old and mentally weak, are often the victims of deceit and misleading. Mentally powerless, these young girls have absolutely no idea of virtue and many times have five and six offsprings. One case particularly, the speaker referred to, where a woman ninety-four years of age and about nine years mentally lived in the same home with her granddaughter. This case is true of many of the women. When parents are feeble minded without a doubt their children will be. Sometimes it occurs that in a perfectly normal family a feeble minded child will be found but this does in no way reflect on the parentage of that child. Cases of this kind are under the list of "unknown cause."

Continuing, Mr. Johnson pointed out that play was the very life of many of these children. With proper training and permanent control, away from all possible evil they become a positive asset to society and in many cases earn their own living. Every human being has some peculiarity which when properly developed may be of some use to the community. These people who are old physically are only children in mind, heart and responsibility, and should be protected—the latter a duty of the State. One-third of the burden of taxes of county, State and nation could be diminished with the elimination of the feeble minded. Concluding his talk, Mr. Johnson urged every member of the club and their friends to write to the local senator urging him to use all his influence in having the bill for a county institution passed.

Preceding the lecture members of the Monday Afternoon Club took part in a discussion on the "Responsibility of Club Women in Securing a Workhouse for Union County." This was led by Miss Townsend, executive secretary of the Elizabeth Charity Organization Society. At the conclusion of the meeting the members passed a resolution in which they asked the cooperation of other Women's Clubs to send resolutions to the Board of Freeholders, urging that body to act and provide a prison farm colony for Union county.

MRS. DAVID L. RANDOLPH IS BURIED IN HILLSIDE

The funeral of Mrs. David L. Randolph, whose death occurred in Horseheads, N. Y., last Friday, was held in the Seventh-Day Baptist church yesterday afternoon. Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor of the church, officiated in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends. During the service, solos were sung by Mrs. William Curry, a niece of the deceased, and Arthur L. Titsworth presided at the organ. The floral offerings were especially noteworthy, among the number being several handsome set pieces. Interment took place in Hillside cemetery, the following acting as pall bearers: F. A. Dunham, William Randolph, Nathan Randolph, Asa Randolph, of this city; D. D. Rogers, of Daytona, Florida, and Henry L. Maxson, of Freeport, L. I.

GASOLINE GOING UP.

Gasoline at forty cents! That is what one of the heads of the biggest concern opposing Standard Oil has predicted before the end of the coming summer. There does not seem to be any particular reason why the price is going up, as it is reported that the supply is greater than ever before, and improvements in machinery have made the work of producing it even less than it was when the price was from twelve to fifteen cents. The war demand, and a desire for swollen profits are given as the reason for the present and the promised higher prices.

The problem is one that is worrying the users of machines more than a little. The taxi men feel that they are justified in increasing rates in Plainfield, and are said to be preparing to ask the Council to let them charge more for the longer hauls in the city. They are said to have figured it out that on the longest runs made, when wear and tear and upkeep are considered, they actually lose money under the present ordinance. Of course, they would have to effectively demonstrate this to the Council, and if their contention is right they should be given a chance to collect a little more. No one wants to see a man do business at a loss, if the loss can be shown to really be there.

But perhaps the situation is not quite so bad as it has been pictured. As the Paterson Press points out, if the prices are arbitrarily controlled by a monopoly, it is certain that far-sighted financiers will not permit the screws to be put on too hard. The demand could be permanently reduced by too much price boosting, which would lead to cutting down the use of gasoline to its minimum, thus inflicting a permanent injury on the market. Cars and engines of light consumption would be manufactured in larger quantities to offset the expense of fuel. Therefore, at about the time the foreign need lets up, a sharp slump may be expected.

Furthermore, the cost of gasoline is not the chief factor of expense for a motorist. At the present rate an average expenditure of $100 for a year might be assumed for every car owner. Car depreciation exceeds that item by a large margin, while tires and other necessities of upkeep are considerably greater. If gasoline prices are being artificially juggled, as is generally taken for granted, they are being juggled by experts who, for the sake of their own profits, will not go beyond certain limits.

HOW TRUE!

The Newark Sunday Call sums up the situation about a nuisance which Plainfielders are forced to put up with, as well as people in many other sections of the State, when it says: "If you get a bill from the Public Service Corporation you must first tear off and throw into the waste basket a passionate appeal from the company to buy a vacuum cleaner. Then you are told that 'watt hours' at ten cents per thousand equal $2.30 according to 246,000,000, with a deduction of 223,000,000, and 'see back of the bill.' There, after you have read about suction brooms, you are told the unit of measurement of electrical energy is the watt hour, and the next dial denotes the correct registration (on the fifth dial mentioned) which is ignored in order that the state of meter shown on the dial correctly calls for the uniform division of three cyphers. By subtracting the previous statement, subject, however, to the multiplying constant, so stated on the face the registration may be otherwise, but if, however, the multiplying energy remains the measure of the actual consumption of the electrical constant, then the true consumption of registration is always charged as responsible to the manufacturer and is not altered by the Public Service Corporation. As, however, checks are as good as receipts, no acknowledgment will be made of bills paid. If this is not clear, it is about as much as the Public Service makes it."

Senator Walter E. Edge, who seeks the Republican nomination for Governor, is not having an easy time of it in Atlantic City, even if he has been endorsed by a lot of regular Republican organizations throughout the State, and apparently has the backing of the Republican Board of Guardians, or such of them as are left. He is the owner of a newspaper in the resort town, and there is a political campaign on there for the election of a mayor. William Riddle, the present incumbent, has, according to an editorial in the Review of that city, a habit of getting drunk and inviting gamblers to come there, and saying other things which would create the impression that decent people are not wanted in the city. A monster revival has been held there, similar to the Biederwolf campaign which is to be held in this city, and following it the good people have united to defeat Riddle for re-election. They want the support of Edge and his papers, but up to date the gubernatorial candidate evidently feels that Riddle's support is more to be desired than that of the better element in the city, and has failed to join the fight to put the Mayor out of the running. The Edge papers have not deliberately stated their interest in Riddle, one way or the other, but the good people of the city are waiting with more than passing curiosity a definite announcement as to what they are going to do.

In the light of recent developments in Meixco it is evident that the United States made a great mistake in not finishing the job when it was started at Vera Cruz two years ago next month. "Watchful waiting" seems to have merely prolonged the trouble, and it will only be a matter of time before we will be compelled to raise an army and go down and clean up that country as we have done in Cuba and the Philippines. Incidentally the illustration of unpreparedness is the biggest argument yet in favor of Congress immediately seeing that the army is greatly increased.

The question of a trolley to South Plainfield has again been revived. It is to be hoped that the people interested will get back of the proposition, and convince the Public Service officials of the actual necessity of such a line. Judging from the business done by the busses, it is very evident that it would not take long to make a trolley to that town a successful paying proposition, especially if one of the present local branches of the system was extended. Certainly the trolley would open up a fine section of Middlesex county for development.

On the Spur of the Moment

by Roy K. Moulton

A Soliloquy.

To mote or not mote—that is the question;
Whether it is nobler in the mind to suffer
And walk, or hike or hire a horse and buggy,
Or take up arms against a sea of troubles,
Of carburetors, oil pumps and tires that puncture,
Of gasoline that's boosted to the heavens;
Or is it best to walk and never know them,
Or travel in the hot and dusty tram car,
Thus not invitde and thereby escaping
The heartache and the thousand natural shocks
That cars are heir to. 'Tis a consummation,
Perhaps, devoutly to be wished.

It Was a Dream.

A friend of ours said the other day:

"A friend who had heard that I sometimes suffered from insomnia told me a sure cure. "Eat a quart of peanuts and drink two or three glasses of milk before going to bed,' said he, 'and I'll warrant you'll be asleep in half an hour.' I did as he suggested, and my friend was right. I did go to sleep very soon after retiring. Then a friend with his head under his arm came along and asked me if I wanted to buy his feet. I was negotiating with him when the dragon on which I was riding slipped out of his skin, and left me floating in midair. While I was considering how to get down, a bull with two heads peered over the edge of the wall and said he would haul me up if I would first climb up and rig a windlass for him. So as I was sliding down the mountainside the brakeman came in and I asked him when the train would reach my station. 'We passed your station miles back,' he said, calmly folding up the train and slipping it into his vest pocket. At this juncture the clown bounded into the ring and pulled the center pole out of the ground, lifting up the tent and all the people in it, while I stood on the earth below watching myself go out of sight among the clouds above. Then I awoke and found that I had been asleep almost ten minutes."

It's a Gay Life.

We have received thefollowing selexplanatory epistle:

"Dear Sir: I want you to tell the people what a snap a chauffeur has who is in the family of an almostrich man. I am chauffeur and, believe me, there is nothing to it but one round of pleasure. All I have to do during the day is this:

"Wash and polish the car before breakfast.
"Take the old man to his office.
"Return and get my breakfast.
"Make repairs on car.
"Help with the housework.
"Curry three horses.
"Go and pick up luncheon guests
"Help serve in dining room.
"Wash the dishes.
"Take the missus out calling in afternoon.
"Go and pick up a lot of friends.
"Act as butler during dinner.
"Take the family out riding in the evening.
"Take care of the horses for the night.
"Put car away.
"Puut car away.
"Then, nothin to do 'til tomorrow, and then repeat. It's a gay life.
Yours. PIERRE."

Rather a Good Plan.

A Portland man sent his wife's dressmaker a note of thanks for saying she would make no more gowns until the old bill was paid. The women are wondering how it will work out, but hubby still chuckles over his best money-saving scheme.

That Dear Old Buckwheat.

A Neodosha man wrote to a Michigan milling company to know if they could furnish him with some buckwheat flour "like grandmother used to use. The milling company wrote back: "No, the buckwheat our grandmothers used was full of dirt, pollen and weed seed and was an abomination. We can give you buckwheat put up in proper and sanitary manner and free from all impurities. Our buckwheat is washed, scoured and kiln-dried before grinding."

THE GREAT SPRING DRIVE

- Proctor's Theatre -

William Fox presents Maude Gilbert and William H. Tooker in "The Fool's Revenge," at Proctor's Theatre, Wednesday.

It is now the fashion in Plainfield to see all classes of film fans going to Proctor's, for it is now the byword in this city, if one wants to see the biggest stars, the biggest features, presented by faultless projection and in an atmosphere of refinement, one has but one place to go—and that is Proctor's. That popular playhouse is enjoying wonderful prosperity, and no wonder; for where else can one see such a gorgeous galaxy of stars and attractions. Today, for instance, the headline feature is a Triangle production with Douglas Fairbanks, one of the greatest of the young comedy stars appearing on both stage and screen. It is entitled, "His Picture in the Papers," and a more interesting story of adventure and excitement cannot be found anywhere. Then today, also, we find Henry Walthall and Edna Mayo, co-starring in the second episode of "The Strange Case of Mary Page," the remarkable mystery serial that has taken the whole country by storm. Tomorrow, William Fox presents his latest masterpiece, "The Fool's Revenge," adapted from one of the most famous of dramatic stage productions, and in which Maud Gilbert and William Tooker assume the two difficult leading parts. In addition, tomorrow, Pearl White, the most beloved of screen heroines, will be seen in the third episode of "The Iron Claw," the gripping, thrilling Pathe serial feature. Assisting Miss White are such famous screen idols as Creighton Hale and Sheldon Lewis. Thursday and Friday will see two of the most famous screen productions ever filmed in this city. Everyone has read Elinor Glyn's famous novel, "Three Weeks," and its sequel, "One Day." Now you have a chance to see these two wonderful stories in film form at Proctor's, for on Thursday the management have arranged to present "Three Weeks," and for Friday, they will show "One Day." That hundreds will be turned away is a foregone conclusion, so in order to secure choice seats you had better be on hand early in the afternoon. In addition, on Thursday, Charlie Chaplin will appear in "The Bank," one of the most laughable of his funny creations, while Friday will see the latest episode of "The Red Circle." Saturday, Bessie Barrisca will appear in an excellent Triangle feature, entitled, "Honor's Altar," and in addition, Charlie Chaplin will be here again in a mammoth three-reel revue of the most comic of his capers, entitled "His First Vacation."

A FAIRY CHARM.

Go among the roses,
Ere the sun is up,
Drink a dewy potion
From a buttercup,
Then among the roseblooms,
In a scented nook,
Close your eyes, and wait until Something happens—look!

Every opening rosebud
Shows an elfin face;
Every curling petal gives
One a hiding place.
Elfin quarrels, elfin duels.
Elfin swords the thorns;
Elfin dancing to the music
Of the tiny elfin horns.
Elfin ladies, elfin dandies,
Leaves their greensilk coats;
Elfin songs resounding gaily
From the tiny elfin throats.
Morning breezes shake the bushes,
Make an elfin dancing scene;
Hush! a fullblown rose is opening
Bow before the elfin queen.

Then the beams of early sunrise
Redden all the eastern sky,
Rosy tints on clouds above you
For a moment draw your eye—
Gone are elfi men and women,
Gone are elfin men and women,
Nothing left: save morning sunshine
Glinting on a host of roses.
Vainly you may search the bushes,
But, where petals closest lie,
See! an elfin hand is waving,
Wafting you a blythe good-bye.

PRUDENCE K. JAMIESON.

Stenographer Brings Suit.

Newark, March 14.—The Mack Manufacturing company of this city is sued for $157.28 in the Monmouth county supreme court circuit. Arthur W. Kelly of Red Bank, stenographer, says he furnished a transcript of testimony in a suit for which he has received no compensation.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME--

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

Announcement is made of the early presentation by John Cort at the Plainfield Theatre of Victor Herbert's latest musical triumph, "The Princess Pat." Henry Blossom is the author of the book and lyrics, and Mr. Herbert has supplied Mr. Blossom's book with a score that is dainty, sweet, gay, spirited and rich in melody. This latest offering is said to be Victor Herbert all over again, he being at his best. His manner is in all the measures and all the orchestrations. Mr. Blossom's book has the virtue of being entirely American. It seeks neither Paris nor the banks of the Blue Danube, but finds its setting on Long Island. Mr. Blossom's book, around which a fascinating entertainment is written, is sprinkled with the sort of jokes comic opera invites, but better jokes than the average librettist seems to be able either to select or create. Mr. Cort has engaged a cast of rare talent and personalities that is especially fitted for the tasks imposed. Miss Ruth Welch is a charmingly youthful, cheery, piquant "Princess Pat." She has excellent support in Georgio Sregario, Paul Nicholson, Earl Benham, Effie Toye, Philip H. Ryley, Ben hendricks, Tote Mark, Edward Metcalf and Henry Vincent.

TEACHERS' COTTAGES ARE RECOMMENDED

Can Be Used Also as a Community Center and Place of Residence.

Teachers' cottages, erected by the community in or near the schoolhouse, and used not only as the teacher's residence, but also as the community center, are advocated in a bulletin prepared by Dr. S. Kellog and distributed by the Department of the Interior through its Bureau of Education to county superintendents and other officers in charge of rural schools. The bulletin describes the movement for teachers' residences in rural districts, and gives plans for cottages of various sizes and types.

Lack of sututable boarding accommodations is one of the most serious difficulties in the way of securing suitable teachers for country schools, the bulletin declares. There are more that 200,000 rural school districts in the United States, and over 16,000,000 children of school age who live in the country or in towns of less than 2,500 population, yet it is impossible because of the living conditions to get teachers of the highest type to remain in the conutry.

Mr. Kellogg says: "Many farmhouses have no accommodations whatever for a teacher, and often, kitchen, living room and dining room are combined in one, with no heat in any other room in the house. The farmer and his family have to spend most of their time working indoors or out, eating and sleeping. Their occupations and hours of labor in no way corresponds to those of the teacher, which increases the difficulty of fitting the teacher's necessary habits to those of the farmer with any satisfaction to either. A good teacher must spend a considerable amount of time almost every evening upon school work, for which a quiet, comfortable room is essential. If she insists upon such a room when she goes to board in the country, she is likely to be considered "stuck up" and exclusive. If she gets a room by herself it is often unheated and too uncomfortable for study in cold weather.

"On the other hand, if the teacher is forced to spend her entire time in the living room with the rest of the family she has no opportunity to prepare properly for her school duties, and is also very likely to be drawn unavoidably into neighborhood gossip and factional disputes to the detriment of her teaching influence. Many of the better situated families in the country districts who have the facilities do not care to take a steady boarder, so that if a teacher gets a place to board at all she may be forced to go to farm houses, where only the barest accommodations can be secured."

It is because of these conditions that the teachers' cottage movement has developed rapidly in the past few years, until, according to an investigation by J. C. Muerman, of the Bureau of Education, recorded in the bulletin, there are now one or more teachers' cottages in every State, and in the State of Washington, where the movement has been fostered by Mrs. Josephine Preston, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, there are now 108 of these cottages.

PURIM WILL BE CELEBRATED BY JEWS HERE NEXT SUNDAY

Purim, a minor feast in the Jewish calendar, will be celebrated Sunday. Then the children of Israel will spend the time in feasting and merry-making in commemoration of the events recorded in the Book of Esther. According to the Jewish reckoning of time, the festival occurs on the fourteenth day of Adar.

Although largely devoid of the religious spirit, and while business transactions and even manual labor are permitted on the Purim, which has been held in high esteem at all times and in all countries in which the Hebrews have found themselves, there is, however, a reading of the Book of Esther in the synagogue. On the eve of Purim it is also prescribed that the Megillah shall be read.

The feast recalls the deliverance of the Jews of Persia through the intervention of Queen Esther and her kinsman, Mordecai, from a threatened massacre planned by Haman, the King's vizier. In the words of the Book of Esther it commemorates "The day wherein the Jews had rest from their enemies and the month which was turned unto them from sorrow to gladness and from mourning unto a good day."

It was decreed that the day be one of "feasting and merry-making," and observed in a spirit that finds expression in sending portions to one another and gifts to the poor. This custom is still observed. It has been considered obligatory on the part of the poorest Jews, even those dependent upon others, to give to at least two others.

Will Sue Police Chief.

Newark, March 14.—Robert F. Kellett, president of the Jitney Service association, said he will sue Chief of Police Long for damages. Kellett was acquitted by a Hudson county jury after Newark policemen testified against him on a charge involving a young woman.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Orion, the Hunter of the Winter Skies.

Daddy Pointed Orion Out to Them.

"WHEN the Goddess Diana took her brother's dare to send an arrow through the black thing in the sea and when this turned out to be her lover, Orion, and when his dead body came floating to her on the waves," daddy told his children a Greek legend, "Diana was sick with grief, but all her weeping could not bring back life to her dead hunter. So guess what she did to glorify him?"

"Buried him beautifully in seaweed," Evelyn tried.

"Diana placed him among the stars in the sky, a giant with three stars in his belt, three in his sword, one big one on his shoulder and another on the tail of his lion's skin that he wraps himself in. His favorite dog, Sirius, she put in the sky, too, so he would not be lonely, and the seven sisters, the Pleiades, fleeing before him."

"Oh, daddy, if we went outdoors now could we see Orion in the sky?"

"Now is just the time of the whole year when his stars are most brilliant and wonderful. Would you like to scamper into your coats and mittens and go out on the porch with me to find him?"

Jack and Evelyn dashed off so not to waste a minute and, all muffled up to their eyes, took daddy's hand while he led them out into the beautiful, cold winter night. So they stood gazing south till daddy pointed out Orion to them, with the stars in his belt gleaming like diamonds. Then they dashed back to daddy's armchair.

"You may wonder what the Pleiades have to do with Orion in the sky. On earth they were wood nymphs who joined the hunting train of Diana. When she went tearing through the woods like a young deer they used to follow her. Well, when Orion saw them he fell in love with them and chased them. In their fright they prayed Father Jupiter to change their form so that Orion could not see them. Pitying them, Jupiter turned them into seven pigeons and placed them in the sky as stars.

"Now, here is another interesting thing about these sisters. Although there used to be seven, we now can see but six, because Electra left her starry place in the skies rather than have to look down on the ruin of Troy, which was founded by her son. The sight of the fall of their beloved city made the six sisters so ill that even now they are very pale. But the giant hunter Orion still glows from the high place his ladylove put him in, and as long as you live every glorious starry winter night you two children can see him posing in the southern sky."

"Oh, daddy, what a nice story!" cried Evelyn. "Here are two kisses."

SAND BAG FOR HEAT

A sand bag is invaluable in the sick room. Get clean, fine sand and dry in a kettle on the stove. Make a bag eight inches square of flannel and fill with dry sand. Sew the openings carefully. Cover the bag with cotton or linen to prevent the sand from sifting out. Heat bag in the oven. After using this, you will never attempt to warm the feet or hands of a sick person with a hot bottle.

The sand holds heat a long time and the bag can be tucked up to the back without hurting the invalid.

LIBRARY PASTE

Dry a pint of flour in the oven. When hot wet with cold water and stir into a smooth paste, then add gradually sufficient boiling water to make a thin starch, stirring until thoroughly smooth. Then force through a sieve to remove lumps, and when lukewarm add a teaspoon of carbolic acid to preserve. Put in wide-mouthed bottles and cork.

THE TABLE

Corn Beef Hash—To one cup of chopped corn beef use two cups of potato and half cup bread crumbs and a little finely chopped celery. Season with salt, pepper, a little onion, if desired. Fry in small cakes slowly ten to fifteen minutes.

Fried Oysters—To one pint of oysters use one egg (beaten), to which has been added one gill of cream or milk. Dip oysters in egg and milk. Roll in cracker crumbs. Fry very slowly in an ordinary spider for five to seven minutes, being careful to brown well and turn with care. Serve with lemon slices on parsley. Season with salt and pepper.

Filled Cookies—One cup of butter and lard mixed, two cups of sugar (cream this), one cup of sour milk, two eggs, one teaspoon of soda (with sour milk), one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon nutmeg, flour enough to roll; filling, three-fourths cup of chopped raisins, one tablespoon of flour, three-fourths cup of sugar, one cup of hot water; cook until it thickens; add a little lemon juice; roll cookie dough thin; spread this in between.

Beef Steak Rolls or Balls—One pound round steak (cut thin), two pounds bacon, one small clove of garlic, one small red pepper, salt, one package macaroni, one quart tomatoes; grind or chop bacon fine with garlic and pepper. Cut steak in small strips about 1½ by 3 inches. Sprinkle steak with salt and spread with the chopped bacon, garlic and pepper. Roll steak and wrap with thread. (Will stay without tying.) Have macaroni boiled till done in salt water. Fry steak (after it's in rolls) in fat or butter until it's browned all the way around. Remove steak from frying pan and pour the tomatoes into the pan. When it boils add the macaroni (first having strained all water off the macaroni). Let these boil. To serve, first remove the thread from steak. Put the macaroni and tomatoes into a tureen with the meat on top. This recipe is fine warmed over.

Cocoa Cake—Two cups light brown sugar, one-half cup butter creamed together, one-half cup sour cream, one-half teaspoon soda mixed together; then mix one-half cup hot water, two tablespoons cocoa and one-half teaspoon soda and add to the other ingredients; then add two beaten eggs, two cups flour and one teaspoon vanilla. Bake in two layers and frost with mocha frosting: one cup confectioner's sugar, two tablespoons cocoa, two tablespoons hot coffee, butter size of a walnut, one teaspoon vanilla.

Italian Spaghetti—One quart tomato juice, one-half box spaghetti, one-half pound hamburg, two onions, one green pepper, one cup of cheese cut into small bits, salt, cayenne pepper and bay leaf, one tablespoon butter. Melt butter in large skillet, fry onion, pepper and hamburg steak until quite done and browned (not too much), add cheese and melt, mixing thoroughly. Into this pour tomato juice and cook all together until tomato and cheese mixture is thoroughly blended. Season with salt and pepper rather highly and drop in two or three whole bay leaves. Have spaghetti ready cooked, putting it into boiling salt water and when tender pour over it cold water and drain. The tomato mixture and spaghetti should not be mixed until ready to use, when each can be heated separately and mixed just before serving.

Do You Want a "Guest-Tenant?"

When you rent a room of your home to someone, you secure a "guest-tenant." Your "roomer" is a guest of your house, on a business basis—but still a guest, somewhat in touch with your home, and this makes it highly important that the person should be of the right sort.

In advertising a furnished room it is a simple matter to indicate that the tenant-to-be must have reasonably convincing credentials as to character. You will thus have applications from a desirable class of people while a door sign or window card would merely bring to you the chance passer-by.

Marrying for Money

By MRS. EVA LEONARD

His Children Wonder if Townsend Can Restrain His Wife's Extravagance.

"Adelaide, I had to send the dress back." Ortrude's tone expressed real distress.

"What? Not the lovely new party dress?" Adelaide's eyes were wide with astonishment. "What was the matter?"

"J. C. got a telephone call from the firm. There was some mixup about it, and the goods had to go back. J. C. felt very bad about it." Ortrude was determined that the girl should not know that her husband had refused to pay for the dress and other purchases.

"I told the truth about his feeling bad at any rate," reflected the young wife bitterly. "In fact, I never saw him show his feelings so plainly."

"Then we can't have the party." The keen disappointment of Adelaide's tone was also visible in her face.

"Oh, we'll have the party all right," said Ortrude reassuringly.

"But I have nothing I can wear and not disgrace you," objected the girl.

"We'll fix something. Come on up to my room and we will see what can be altered with the least work." Five or six lovely creations were brought out and tried on and finally Ortrude decided that a soft white silk would be the most appropriate, and set about remodeling it.

Since the painful scene when Jacob Townsend had forced his wife to deliver over her purchases to be returned because he could not pay for them, Ortrude had not spoken to him except in the presence of Adelaide. As she was pleasant and affable when with the family, it was the more noticeable that the atmosphere was suggestive of the polar regions when they were alone. Jacob essayed one or two remarks, but was so severely frostbitten that he retired into his shell and remained there. The result was that Ortrude and Adelaide were left alone most of the time. Marian did her studying in the den over the store, and when the store was closed for the night, the three sat there till bed time in spite of the heat.

"I suppose both of us will have to go to this party that she is giving to the girl," said Dudley, as he and Marian leaned out of the window overlooking a lumber yard.

"I suppose so," admitted Marian, unwillingly. "My, but I am glad Daddy made her cough up those dry-goods she bought. I wonder how he did it."

"Oh, don't you know? He called up the firm and had them give him an itemized bill and asked them to allow him to send the goods back. He told them he would not pay for them, and warned them that if they sold any goods on credit to Mrs. Townsend in future they did so at their own risk; that he would not pay any debts that she contracted." There was a ring of pride in Dudley's voice.

"Hurrah for Daddy!" shouted Marian. "I did not think he would do it."

"There is a limit to the extent to which he will be run over, I am glad to say," replied the son.

"But can he make her hold to that? Is it legal?" asked the girl.

"Oh, yes. It is a desperate and not much used course, but it will hold water in court and no firm wants to let itself in for a law proceeding to collect its bills."

"I suppose she will go somewhere else to trade," sneered Marian.

"Possibly, but the same recourse is open to him elsewhere, and it will soon become embarrassing to my lady to be refused credit." Dudley's tone was cheerful

"Do you mean that you think Daddy will be able to get the upper hand and restrain her extravagance?" asked the girl incredulously.

"Well, it looks hopeful to say the least," was the response.

THE W. C. T. U.

Not all employes in Pennsylvania welcomed the Workmen's Compensation Act which became effective on January 1. The trouble with it is that it indirectly violates the ancient principle of "personal liberty." To get its benefits one must generally wave good-bye to old John Barleycorn. When Pennsylvania employers go to the expense of insuring their workmen against injury under the provisions of the new act, they take pains to reduce accidents to a minimum. The first step is to discharge drinkers—drinkers on duty or off. So it was in industrial plants and in steel mills, where thousands of men had their "puddlers"—a whisky and a beer at lunch time. In many Pennsylvania communities nowadays the corner saloon no longer employs an extra bartender for the noon hour. tI has taken Pennsylvania a long time to realize that liquor has no place in the economy of labor. Apparently it has been realized now that Pennsylvania industry has no room for John Barleycorn.

The use of alcohol is one of civilizations greatest curses. Like many poisons, it is of great good employed as a medicine, but its use as a beverage is an unfortunate affliction, to be deplored and fought against as much as the use of morphine, cocaine and the many other evils that are growing apace with civilization.

Alcohol is responsible for over half the crimes committed, for a person under its influences is irresponsible. The use of it creates a morbid moral state, perverts the mind, destroys health, degrades genius, wrecks social affection, crushes ambition, destroys will, conscience, feeling, honor, in fact, all the attributes that go to make character. The habit newly acquired lends to the mind and body invigorating, delusive sensations; the victim is in a high state of mental delight—feels better, more generous and genial, however, this high artificial stimulation is of short duration.

To these easily ignitable souls, drink seems the elixir of life, the fountain of youth, the source of courage, it is the fabled nectar of the Gods!

But, as soon as the chains of the habit are securely welded, the victim now begins to feel the whip hand of his master. No longer free, he is now a slave to his vice- experiencing remorse, horror, weakness, self-condemnation, all of which can not help the enfeebled will to break the shackles of the tyrant master. He is now a member of the vast army, a hundred thousand strong, who annually march to the dreary domain where the drunkard's journey ends. God's best gift to man, will power, the greatest moral force, is not exempt from the ravages of intemperance. The great power, which in some persons, is impregnable, soon becomes enfeebled, broken, then destroyed, under the influence of the liquor habit, then the creature is unmanned, there is no prospect, no ambition, no honor, nothing to cherish ,save the insatiable desire to swill.—Mrs. S. P. Vetter, Patterson, La.

Gentlemen, your trade cannot be treated like any other business, for it is unlike any other. The liquor traffic tends to produce criminality in the population at large and lawbreaking among the saloonkeepers themselves. If the American people do not control it with a firm hand, it will soon control them.—Theodore Roosevelt.

A traveling salesman who goes into every nook and corner of Arizona, visiting the W. C. T. U. booth at the Panama-Pacific exposition, asked what we knew of the results of prohibition in Arizona. Miss Brown, the director, repeated some of the statemeents which had come to her from residents and travelers, not at all knowing his attitude in the matter. Then he told her that he had been in all parts of the state ,having gone over the territory for fourteen years. He said: "You cannot exaggerate changed conditions. In the mines the accidents have decreased 80 per cent, the efficiency has more than doubled, and the physical appearance of the communities has greatly improved. The faces of men look far fresher, healthier and happier. Business has improved greatly. Merchants and other business men who formerly opposed prohibition on the ground of injury to business are now its greatest boosters and would not allow a return to old conditions. Prohibition has come to stay in Arizona." The visitor admitted that he had always been accusomed to take a glass of wine with his meals, but declared there is not one argument for the continuance of the liquor traffic.

A Birmingham, England, employer, who is a stanch tetotaler, recently advertised for a foreman for one of the departments of his works, and a large crowd of men called at the factory. When the employer saw them outside he said generally: "Well, we might as well go and have a drink," pointing to a tavern opposite. He suited the action to his words, and led the way across, the men following. When he reached the swing doors of the public house he turned around and saw one man loitering behind the others, and called out to him: "Aren't you coming in?" 'It'm a teetotaler, thanks," was the response. "Well, you're the man for me," the employer promptly rejoined, and he there and then engaged him, while all the others were sent about their business.

From the Sacramento Union comes the following: A well known resident of Sacramento the other day met on a train two men and their wives who had come from Kansas seeking farms in California. He asked them why they did not investigate the country around Sacramento, as it offered many opportunities for the home-seeker. They replied that they had spent three days in this city and had been much impressed with, what they saw. "But," said one of them, "Sacramento has entirely too many saloons for us, and the farmers' roads are lined with roadhouses, so we decided to go elsewhere to locate."

IMMIGRANT PROBLEM AMONG THE COLLEGES

Social Work is Assuming Special Importance as a Subject Among Students.

Social work among immigrants is assuming special importance as a college subject, according to the Bureau of Education of the Department of the Interior. Fourteen institutions are now offering special courses which treat on the subject of immigration, though few of these have as yet given much attention to the practical problem of what to do with the immigrant as a man and a citizen. Sixty-nine institutions treat the subject incidentally in connection with courses in economics, history and sociology.

In order to help in the present urgent demand for Americanization service for immigrants, the Bureau of Education has had prepared a syllabus entitled, "Professional Course for Service among Immigrants." Some of the topics treated are as follows: The Incoming Tide and Its Distribution; Legislation and Restriction; Employment; Standards of Living; Education; and Ideals and Methods in Americanization Work.

In view of the interest shown by colleges in the subject of immigrant education, the Commissioner of Education has offered to give assistance and advice with respect to courses of study and methods to any colleges or universities planning to introduce courses in training for leadership in Americanization service. The division of immigrant education in the bureau has centered its attention upon problems connected with the education of immigrants and the inculcation of American civic ideals. Dr. F. E. Farrington of this division declares:

"American colleges and universities are more and more awakening to the necessity of touching modern life on its dynamic side; of inspiring and initiating social progress, and of training leaders in the work of civic uplift. Here is a field which opens up almost limitless possibilities in the way of social service. One needs, however, a peculiar sympathy for and a specific knowledge of the foreigner, appreciation of his limitations and his possibilities, as well as a realization of what he can contribute to our economic, ethical, and spiritual progress when properly assimilated, and what grave dangers he can also bring if we fail to imbue him with our national ideals. The fields are already ripe unto the harvest, but trained and competent laborers are few. Letters have been received at the Bureau of Education, lamenting the fact that evening-school classes for foreigners have been given up on account of the lack of trained principals and teachers to handle this problem.

"Upon our colleges and universities, therefore, devolves the responsibility of preparing these workers; of giving them breadth of vision and catholicity of purpose—in short, of training them for their tasks."

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Adv.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles You.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful fn a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

SCOTT BASEBALL LEADER OF TABS

Field Captain Made Manager Last Night, Succeeding James Monahan.

WILL PLAY SUNDAYS

Attractions Will Again Be Staged at Avon Oval—Will Use Baptists' Lot for League Games—Lou Dixon Expected to do the Catching.

James Scott was chosen manager of St. Mary's T. A. B. S. baseball team for this season, at a meeting of the society last night. He succeeds James Monahan, who is employed out of town this year, and will be unable to devote his time to handling the Abstainers' diamond forces.

Manager-elect Scott was field captain of the Tabs last year, and played first base. His team is again entered in the City League, in which it was last year the chief rival of the Netherwood Club, which won the pennant. The Tabs will not play their Saturday games at Avon Park Oval this year, but will share the Myrtle avenue field with the First Baptist nine.

Manager Scott has announced that the Woodland avenue grounds will not be forsaken altogether, however, and will be used for Sunday games. Avon Park Oval will be put in shape in May. Some good attractions are being planned.

The Tabs are well provided in the way of paraphernalia, and will use the same uniforms they purchased last year. It is likely that several new faces will be seen in the line-up, one of them being Lou Dixon, the hard-hitting Saurer catcher.

HIGH SCHOOL SWIMMING TEAM IN PRACTICE MEET

The members of the P. H. S. swimming squad had a meet among themselves yesterday afternoon in the school pool, and it resulted in some keen competition, with a tie score in points of 27 to 27. Brower, as a member of the Blues, took practically all first places. Johnson captured the only first place for the Reds when he plunged nearly forty feet.

The results:

100-yard swim—Brower (Blue), first; Brownlee (Red), second; Fitch (Red), third.

Dives—Field (Blue), first; Brownlee (Red), second; Snyder (Red), third.

20-yard swim—Brower (Blue), first; Field (Red), second; Snyder (Red), third.

40-yard swim—Brower (Blue), first; Snyder (Red), second; Johnson (Red), third.

Plunge—Johnson (Red), first; Condict (Blue), second; Williams (Red), third.

Relay—won by Reds.

L. I. ATHLETIC CLUBS JOIN.

The Long Island Athletic League was definitely formed at a meeting held last night, these ten clubs joining: Brooklyn A. A., Presentation Club, Long Island A. C., Loughlin Lyceum, Knights of St. Antony, St. Augustine's Club, Trinity Club, Emanuel Club, Swedish A. C., and Boeckmann's Pastime Club.

JUNIOR ELKS TO MEET.

President Alexander P. Hinton, of the Junior Elks' Bowling League, has issued a call for a special meeting to be held Thursday night at the Jersey City lodge. Notices of the meeting were mailed today by Secretary Vincent W. Nash, of Plainfield. The league has several prizes to buy and these will be decided upon when the delegates gather.

JACK MARTIN OFF FOR PINE BLUFF

Plainfield Ball Player Ordered to Report to the Milwaukee Manager.

Jack Martin is now speeding on his way Southward. The Plainfielder left this city today for Pine Bluff, Ark., the spring training quarters of the Milwaukee American Association ball-tossers, for whom he will play shortstop this season.

The local infielder left town feeling in the best of health, and anticipates a successful season. He played in the American Association last year, as a member of the St. Paul Club, and is popular all around the circle. Martin was rated the best short fielder in the Chivington circuit last year. His flashy fielding easily carried off first honors. His batting was in streaks, being at a .300 clip the first few weeks, and although it fell off later in the season, was always especially timely.

Martin at first intended to report next Monday, March 20, but he got a telegram ordering him to camp this week.

ADDED STARTER IS HEROINE OF GAME

Enters Game in Second Half and Makes Goals That Win for Hopes.

Miss Ida Peterson's entrance in the second half decided a basketball game played on the Scotch Plains Parish House court last night between the Hope Chapel girls, of this city, and the Sunshine Weavers, of Scotch Plains. Miss Peterson went in a forward position for Hope in the last half, and made five baskets in quick succession, giving her team a 15 to 4 victory.

The same teams will appear on the Hope Chapel court next Monday night. A boys' game was also played on the S. P. P. H. floor last night, the home team running away from a Westfield quintet, 40 to 15.

CANADIAN BOWLERS THINK THEY CAN LICK IMPERIALS

Manager Smalley, of the Canadian bowling team, questions the right of the Imperials to claim the city championship until that aggregation rolls his team. A match scheduled between the two teams, before the Imperials won the City League championship, was cancelled by Manager Jack Connolly, of the Imperials, after the copping of the prize. In canceling this match, Smalley said that Connolly told him that his team would have to get a reputation before it would be recognized by the Imperials. Smalley says that the trouble with Manager Connolly is that he is afraid that the Canadians would defeat the Imperials. Manager Smalley therefore wishes to challenge the Imperials to a match. If Connolly refuses to accept the challenge, Smalley says that he will claim the city championship for his aggregation.

The personnel of the Canadian aggregation follows: George Rohrs, James McKenzie, John Miller, Walter Conover and Clarence Smalley.

MET TITLE FOR VOLLMER.

New Brunswick, March 14.—Herbert Vollmer, of New York A. C., and Columbia University, won the 500-yard metropolitan swimming championship in the Rutgers College pool last night, but failed in his intention to break the American record. His time was 6:23 2-5. He was pushed right to the finish by his team-mate, Joseph Wheatley, whose time was 6:24 1-5. Teddy Cann, of Hamilton institute, the only other starter, was a good third. Vollmer and Wheatley kept abreast of each other, the former winning in a sensational finish.

TIGERS WOULD MEET PENN.

The tie for the intercollegiate basketball championship may be played off between Princeton and Pennsylvania. The Tigers favor the play-off.

Thursday night—Oakland vs. Chalmers.

The first match on the house tournament schedule at the Elks' Club, rolled January 11 and subsequently ordered rerolled because the Cadillac team changed its lineup without permission, was bowled again last night, and the Cadillacs again won three games from the Reos.

Harry Blimm rolled 202, and Frank Emmons touched 201.

The Cadillacs are in first place, having lost but one game out of nine. The defeat last night sent the Reos from fourth to fifth place.

EMERY WILL STAY HOME THIS YEAR

Popular Infielder Who Was With Durham Last Year Won't Join Minors.

Jimmy Emery is another Plainfield ball-tosser who will not play league ball this summer. Jimmy, who was with Durham last season, takes the same view that Nibs Hand, Eugene Lidgate, and the other local leaguers hold, and thinks that he will be better off working at his regular line, which he can do all year round, than to sign up for a six months' contract with a minor league outfit. As a result, Emery will again be seen sporting the livery of some local club on Saturdays.

The popular infielder has had considerable baseball experience, although he hasn't gained as much fame as his old partner, Jack Martin. Emery was with the Federal League the first year of the outlaw body's existence, and also played in the Ohio State League.

ENANDER WINS HOP, STEP, JUMP EVENT

Elliott Only Two Inches Behind Y. M. C. A. Athletic Winner Yesterday.

Enander, of the Wawayanda team, led a large field in the running hop, step and jump event of the Indian League class at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. Elliot was second, the Sioux competitor clearing 21 feet 7 inches, two inches less than the winner.

HAUGHTON REMAINS AT HEAD.

Cambridge, Mass., March 14.—Provision of a staff of coaches for the Harvard University football team next Fall was discussed at a meeting of the Athletic Committee last night, but no announcement of any decision in the matter was made. It is understood that Percy D. Haughton is to be the nominal head coach; Leo Leary, field coach, and Charles Brickley, first assistant. Word that the latter had resigned as head coach of the Johns Hopkins University eleven came from Baltimore last night.

TOLEDO GETS STEVE EVANS.

Roger Bresnahan, manager of the Toledo American Association ball club, has signed Outfielder Al Shaw as a member of his team. Shaw played with the Kansas City Federal League team last year. Steve Evans, formerly of the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Federals, has also cast his lot with Bresnahan's team.

Basketball Too Warlike.

Hackensack, N. J., March 14.—The series of games arranged to determine the basketball championship of Bergen county has come to an abrupt end. The games in Hackensack between the Woodridge Arrows and the Spartans of Teaneck ended in a free for all fight.

SOUTH SIDE NEWARK CHAMPS.

South Side High School basketball players won the championship of the Newark High Schools' Athletic Association yesterday by defeating the Central High School five by a score of 42 to 24. The game was the play-off of a tie for first place.

ATLANTIC CITY GOLF MAY 4-6.

The Country Club of Atlantic City has announced the dates for its annual spring tournament, which will be held May 4, 5 and 6, with a qualifying round of eighteen holes and five sixteens to qualify.

POND MEN ON ALLEYS.

City Series Lone Bright Spot In P. H. S. Record

Even though they succeeded in retaining the city interscholastic championship, the basketball season of the Plainfield High School court warriors was a rather disappointing one. With only one regular to build the team around, Coach Patch could not seem to get the right combination. In one game the team would play well, and the next contest would find wretched teamwork. The team suffered close defeats, three or four games being lost by one or two points that were made in the last minutes of play.

Winning but seven out of the twenty scheduled games, they were outscored by their opponents by over one hundred and fifty points, and in no one game were the locals credited with more than thirty points. Four of the teams played were new to the local schedule and in the case of the Princeton Apollos, a team of Princeton University players, the Red and Blue five was clearly outclassed, as was true in three other games. St. Benedict's was the only team to hand out two defeats, but Westfield and Roselle, after losing earlier in the season, turned and won the second games. East Orange gave P. H. S. the worst trimming of the year, 57 to 20. St. Benedict's in the second game ran up fifty points.

Out of the entire squad there was only one man who played in every game. He was Captain "Bill" Whelan. Peacock missed one and Linke two. Dunham and Coudray and McDowell and Kyle each played in sixteen contests, the first two and last two pairing together at the forward berths. Those two combinations were the best that could be obtained, as they were all worse when paired differently. Dunham led both in the scoring of baskets and fouls, with a total of 140 points, or about nine a game, but McDowell, who worked mainly as a relief man until late in the season, was close behind with 113 points. Whelan and Peacock seldom tried shooting from guard, with the result that the former scored but four times, and Peacock only once.

Graduation will play havoc with the team, taking Whelan, Peacock, Linke, Coudray and Dunham; but even with that loss, prospects for next year seem fairly bright. McDowell and Kyle will surely have the forward berths, while Alpaugh and Snyder will have claim on the guards. Snyder, who is a Freshman, put up a rattling good game, and next year should be even better.

BATTLE OF CHANTILLY NOT AS GREAT AS MEUSE, BUT IT HOLDS IMPORTANT PLACE IN HISTORY OF BOXING

Although the historian may consider it a minor affair as compared with the great battles fought in France during the present war, and may even pass over it without mention, nevertheless the battle of Chantilly had some features deserving of perpetuation in print. It was just 28 years ago this week that this conflict was fought on Baron Rothschild's training grounds near Chantilly, France. It was England against America, the former represented by the lithe, slender, scientific boxer, Charlie Mitchell, and the latter by the big, broad, bluff, bellicose Irish-American, "yours truly John L."

Although this was a bare knuckle battle under the old London rules, with the world's championship and $5,000 at stake, it was not marked by any great degree of ferocity. The opponents and their seconds—Jake Kilrain and Jack Baldock for Mitchell and Ashton and McDonald for Sullivan—seemed to remember that they were on the soil of France, that land of politeness and suave courtesy, and acted accordingly. The rude language so often heard at such affairs was almost lacking, and "Mr." Sullivan and "Mr." Mitchell bombarded each other with the utmost good feeling. When Charles landed a good one, John would say, "That was a fine punch, Mitchell," and the Britisher was not to be outdone.

Now and then John L. bellowed and roared and glared as of yore, but for the most part he fought quietly. Perhaps this was because he had discovered in his previous experience with Mitchell that the little Englishman was not to be frightened by such tactics as usually scared John L.'s opponents into a blue funk, with the result that they were beaten before they had scarcely commenced. There were only two men who ever fought Sullivan who were not more or less affected by John's imitation of a bull looking at a red flag, and they were Mitchell and Corbet. Jake Kilrain was too game to be really frightened by such tactics, but at times he was angered by Sully's bellowing, and temporarily lost his head. As for Mitchell, although he was an inch and a half shorter and 30 pounds lighter than Sullivan, he was wholly unaffected by the Bostonian's bulldozing stunts, and gazed upon the raving John with a sneering smile.

In the early rounds of the battle of Chantilly, Sullivan often knocked his opponent down, and several times Mitchell had to be carried to his corner. It was soon plain to the spectators, however, that Mitchell was not badly hurt by Sullivan's blows, and that he was trying to wear the big fellow out. At the end of the thirty-ninth round the affair was called a draw, the battle having occupied three hours and eleven minutes. Neither man was badly hurt, although Sullivan looked much the worse. John's right eye was in mourning and his lips were out and swollen, while a thin stream of crimson poured from his nose and trickled from his moustache. Mitchell had a big bump on his temple, but he had shed no blood. Altogether the affair was unsatisfactory to the fans who had traveled so far to see it.

After the crowd returned to London, an American was explaining Sullivan's failure to win. "A cold, driving rain was falling," he said, "and poor John was chilled to the bone. He suffered terribly from the cold, and my heart ached for the poor old fellow, fighting away so gamely hour after hour. Poor John!"

"It was a bloody shyme," agreed an Englishman. "But, blimey, who was 'olding the umbrella over Mitchell?"

WILL OPPOSE CONFIRMING CUTLER ON PARTY GROUNDS

Trenton, March 14.—Governor Fielder will have to face another fight over a nomination — that of former Judge Willard W. Cutler of Morristown as Circuit Court judge. Senator Carlton B. Pierce is the recalcitrant this time, opposing the Cutler nomination on the grounds that his appointment would place the Circuit Court back in politics. The Senator yesterday issued a statement defining his stand in the matter, pointing to the fact that at present the court is constituted of four Democrats and three Republicans. The Pierce statement follows:

"I am opposed to the confirmation because the Circuit Court now stands four Democrats to three Republicans, and the addition of another Democrat will throw the court back into politics, from which it has only just emerged.

"The policy of the state has been to keep the higher courts clear of politics. This has been accomplished in the Court of Errors, Supreme Court and Court of Chancery by keeping their membership divided as equally as may be between the two parties. About a year ago Governor Fielder put the Circuit Court on the same basis by the re-appointment of Judge Spear, and I believe the policy thus inaugurated was right and should be continued.

"It is said the Governor should be permitted to make the court Democratic now because a former Governor made it Republican. But two wrongs do not make a right, and it is more important to the state at large to take the court out of politics than to indulge present reprisals and invite later retaliation. I believe the bar generally will approve this position."

LOCAL STARS IN MUSICAL SHOW

"Gems" to Be Given at High School Friday Evening, March 24.

BENEFIT OF EXCHANGE

Program Will Comprise Both Old and New Songs—Gorgeous Costumes—Miss Colladay Will Be in Charge.

The musical panorama, entitled "Gems," to be given in the High School auditorium on Friday evening, March 24, under the auspices of the Women's Exchange, and direction of Miss Edna E. Colladay, promises to outshine any collection of local talent "Gems" that has been gathered together in a long time.

Many local stars will scintillate brilliantly, and "Gems" bids fair to appeal to every spectator, irrespective of sex, age or disposition.

First come the gorgeously-costumed "dolls" of all descriptions, sizes and varieties—gay French dolls from Paris; sparkling paper dolls, demure little Quaker dolls, flirtatiously-inclined dolls with many curls, Jap dolls from the far-off Orient, natty sailor boys—and last, but not least, the two dearest to every childish heart, "Kewpie" doll and the "rag" doll. As they merrily sing and dance their way through "The Dolls' Party," with little Agnes Huberman as "Kewpie," Stella Butler and Helen Wotton as soloists, spectators will be carried wistfully back to their childhood days, and they wish, temporarily, at least, that they could be up there, too, enjoying it as the participants do.

Next comes a military march, in which forty boys, led by William Thiers, who cause wonder as to how such young soldiers could have come to drill so well. A bit proud of them as they march and sing, clad in their uniforms, with their guns and flags and serious little faces—for they are the coming generation of home-protectors and may some day be doing in earnest what they will do for the audience's approval.

The attractively-costumed chorus that sing "An Old-Fashioned Garden in Virginia," follow them, and all will be surprised and delighted at this melodious number. Then follows a solo, "Could You Learn to Love a Little Girl Like Me," which little Miss Edna May James, from Burlington, sings in the most appealing, naive manner ,which will undoubtedly capture Plainfield hearts as it has in other productions Miss Colladay has given. Little Miss James is eight years old, and the cleverest child of her years that the director has ever encountered. She is coming to Plainfield to sparkle expressiv for "Gems." "Katie Rooney," with its pretty Irish costumes and attractive young couples, who dance gracefully the pretty waltz that concludes the number, is sure to win hearty applause.

Mrs. Clyde Doane, as soloist in "The Boogie Boo," and her tiny night-robed charus; and Mr. Clyde Doane ,and his chorus of 'Spooks," with graceful and popular Stella Butler as the "Spooky Girl," is bound to be one of the most thrilling numbers on the program. Leonard Lewis and Donald Hylan, both of whom are so well known as clever comedians that it is only necessary to mention their names to secure interest, have a piano and song specialty that is sure to win them fresh laurels. "Country Bumpkins,,—recruited from the P. H. S.—who sing so well and dance so gracefully that all will marvel at the realistic pink gingham aprons and sunbonnets and overalls and big farmer hats of the "rube" chorus. "Dear Old Moon," with Miss Elsie Goddard as soloist, and an ensemble chorus, with six young couples who do a graceful hesitation, concludes the first part of the program.

In the intermission an excellent male sextette, composed of Messrs. Austin Andrews, Laurence H. Van Buren, Donald McGee, Sherman Joost, Willis West and Clyde Doan, sing a harmonious medley of songs that is sure to please everyone.

Among the more recent additions to the caste are Mrs. W. C. Wright, whose rich mezzo-soprano voice will be heard in a lullaby of Miss Colladay's composition; and Miss Helen Besler, whose interpretation of "The Little Damozel" is excellent.

Saturday's issue of this paper will contain specific information concerning the second part of the "Gems" program. The chart is at Miller's drug store, Fourth street and Park avenue, and seats are being marked off rapidly.

FREEHOLDERS ACCEPT ROAD.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders, at its meeting yesterday, accepted the Chimney Rock road, runinng from Bound Brook to Martinsville, and the McCurdy road, running on the south side of the Raritan river, from Bound Brook to Martinsville. Extensive improvement work will be started on new roads as soon as seasonable weather arrives. The Chimney Rock road will be improved with the assistance of the State, and the McCurdy road with the assistance of the township. The total cost of doing the work will be in the neighborhood of $50,000.

New Bulgar War Loan.

Amsterdam, March 15.—A new six per cent. war loan is shortly to be issued by the Bulgarian government, according to the Deutsche Tagezeitung.

French Retake Trenches.

Paris, March 15.—French war statement:

"West of the Meuse the enemy made no new attack during the night on our front between Bethincourt and Cumieres. Counter attacks with the bayonet and with grenades enabled us to recapture part of the trenches occupied yesterday by the enemy in the direction of Hill No. 165. We hold Bethincourt, the height of Le Mort Homme, the south border of Cumieres forest, and the village of Cumieres. The bombardment has continued with intensity in the entire sector, our artillery replying energetically to that of the enemy."

Gen. Petain is Happy.

Paris, March 15.—Deputies Lauraine and Pate, members of the Army Committee, have returned from Verdun. They declare the conditions there to be excellent. General Petain reassured them, saying:

"I now feel happy and am certain of ultimate success."

Western theatre—"We blew up advanced English positions in the region of Neuve Chappelle, together with their occupants. The English are bombarding Lens heavily. French artillery has been very active against our positions at Ville Aux Bois, northwest of Rheims, and also in Champagne."

DUTCH STEAMER OUT OF NEW YORK DAMAGED

London, March 15.—A wireless from the Dutch steamship Jan Van Nassau says that she has been damaged at sea, but gives no details. The vessel left New York recently for Rotterdam. She is a new steamship of 3,300 tons.

GREEN IS CONFIRMED.

Albany, March 15.—The Senate today unanimously confirmed the nomination by Governor Whitman of State Excise Commissioner George E. Green, of Binghamton, as commissioner for a full five-year tearm. from April 1 next.

SCHOOLS FAIL TO GET APPROPRIATION

Board Informed That Money for Manual Training Work Is Not Available.

Dr. Henry M. Maxson, superintendent of schools here, informed the Board of Education at its meeting last night that the State had thus far failed to provide the usual appropriation for the support of the manual training departments of the public schools, and the secretary was instructed to communicate with the State authorities regarding the matter.

The bond of William H. Dennick, who has secured the contract for building the new Emerson avenue school, was approved and filed. A communication was received from the State Board of Education informing the board that copies of the contract had been received and filed.

The board received a petition from the Plainfield Mothers' Association requesting that ample facilities be provided at the high school for the serving of school lunches, it having been intimated that the room used for that purpose was to be taken for an extension of school work. The petition was signed by three hundred persons. It was referred to the school committee.

Dr. Maxson presented a report on the recent convention of the National Association of School Superintendents held at Detroit. This was listened to with much interest, after which it was filed. The rest of the business of the evening was chiefly of a routine nature, during which there was an informal discussion of school matters in general.

ASTOR CASE OUT OF CHANCERY COURT

Contractor Made No Claim Against Owners—Will Conduct Sale.

At a hearing held in the Court of Chancery, Newark, yesterday on the lease of the Astor Theatre of this city, attorneys for the Meyer Contracting Company disclaimed any desire or intent to sell the interest of Abrams and Dreier, owners of the building and the lease, and the restraining order against the sale prayed by Judge William Newcorn, attorney for Abrams and Dreier, was dismissed.

This leaves the contracting company free to execute its judgment against whatever interest Joseph Coven, former lessee, may have in the Astor, and the sale will probably be conducted on the supposition that he holds title in the lease, although this claim was not recognized by the court and such sale will not interfere in any way with the operation of the Astor, or with the owners of the theatre. Coven formerly had a ten year lease on the theatre building. He contracted for improvements to be made, but sold his lease back to Abrams and Dreier with seven years yet to run. The Meyer Contracting Company, which made the improvements, brought suit to collect $3,700 due on the remodeling. Before selling out his interest Coven signed a contract releasing the owners or future owners from any liability for work done during his lease. This release was set out by Judge Newcorn in his answer to the original lein suit.

The Meyer Contracting Company will dispose of all Coven interests in the theatre through a sheriff's sale, hoping later to establish that he still possesses title to the lease.

BOY EPILEPTICS RUN AWAY FROM STATE HOME

Robert Dean, aged 17, and William Brown, aged 15, both colored, were picked up here yesterday as escapers from the State epileptic home at Skillman. They were sent back there yesterday afternoon.

FIELDER'S SEC. GETS $7,500 JOB.

Trenton, March 15.—The State Board of Public Utility Commissioners yesterday appointed L. Edward Herrmann, of Jersey City, as its counsel, to succeed Frank H. Sommer, of Newark, who recently resigned become dean of the New York Unisity Law School. The place pays $7,500 a year, and the term is at the pleasure of the board. Mr. Herrman is the secrtary to Governor Fielder, but will resign that position at once. The Utility Board is composed of three Democrats, and the new counsel is also a Democrat.

MUST PAY $4 TO WIFE AND CHILDREN

John Huther Will Make Bond Rather Than Go to Jail.

John Huther, aged 24 years, who left his wife and two children here recently, was arraigned in court this morning on a charge of non-support. Huther was arrested in Hawthorne, where he has been working as a night watchman. His wife appeared against him. She has one child five years old and another four. Judge De Meza ordered Huther to pay $4 a week to the support of his family and demanded a $400 bond to insure the order being carried out.

Huther didn't understand the meaning of the bond and asked if it was absolutely necessary. "It is unless you want to spend a year or two in jail," the Judge told him. "I'll never go to jail for any woman," remarked the defendant.

WITH U. S. MARINE FORCES IN HAITI

Rowland B. Wyckoff, of South Plainfield, Helping to Protect American Interests.

With the expeditionary force of U. S. Marines now in Haiti for the protection of American interests in that wartorn little isle, is Rowland B. Wyckoff, of South Plainfield.

Rowland, who is a nephew of Mrs. Elizabeth Sumner, of South Plainfield, is a fighting unit of that highly-efficient military arm of the government service—the United States Marine Corps. Marines wear a distinctively military uniform and they perform a soldier's duties while roving the seas aboard ship. They are always landed first when trouble threatens, and they bear the brunt of the initial fighting. Usually these "soldiers of the sea" are able to cope with any situation which may arise abroad without having to call in the army to assist.

Young Wyckoff enlisted in the United States Marine Corps at its Newark recruiting station on November 5, 1915, and already has had many and varied experiences as a member of that gallant organization, "the oldest branch of the service."

SEARCH BEING MADE FOR HEIRS TO $150,000

Princeton, March 15.—James A. Higginson, a tailor at 58 Nassau street, Princeton, is making a search all over the country for a McAvoy family which he says has an estate valued at $150,000 awaiting it somewhere out in Ohio. The tailor has information to lead him to think that the family lives in New York or New Jersey.

The property is in Lisbon, Columbia county, Ohio, and is known as the James W. Reilly estate. The owner died some years ago. The heirs, who, the Princeton tailor asserts, will come in for the fortune are Mary Jane McAvoy, James McAvoy, Ellen McAvoy, and William McAvoy, formerly of Dundalk, Ireland.

PLAINFIELD MEN TO MANUFACTURE VAULTS

Elizabeth, March 15.—The Norwalk Vault Company filed application for a charter of incorporation here today. Incorporators are W. Fred Willcox, of Plainfield; Raymond C. Brown, of Brooklyn, and Rowland G. Bush, of Plainfield. Captital authorized is $35,000, of which $1,000 has been paid in. The company will manufacture and sell vaults and will have an office at North avenue and Berckman streets, Plainfield, with Mr. Willcox as agent.

BANK OF NEW YORK 132 YEARS OLD TODAY

New York, March 15.—The Bank of New York today celebrated its 132d anniversary of the establishment by a group of merchants under the legal guidance of Alexander Hamilton. The bank still occupies the site at the corner of Wall adn William streets it purchased in 1797. It is the oldest bank in the State.

CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.

Thomas Laughran, director and former president of the Jersey City Board of Education, one of the charter members of the Hudson County Progressive Republican Association, has formally announced his candidacy for gubernatorial honors this year. He will enter the fight for governor in opposition to the candidacy of George L. Record, whom he brands as a boss.

WARDEN OSBORNE FREED BY COURT

Charge of Perjury Against Him is Dismissed on Technicality.

White Plains, N. Y., March 15.—The case against Thomas Mott Osborne, former warden of Sing Sing prison, was dismissed in the Supreme Court here today.

Warden Osborne was on trial for perjury in connection with alleged misstatements of conditions made to Dr. Diedling, who went on a tour of investigation without authority from the Prison Commissioner. A dismissal of the case was ordered on the technical grounds that he could not have been guilty of perjury in his statements to Dr. Diedling, whether truthful or not, as that individual was not an authorized agent of the Prison Commission in seeking facts concerning conditions in Sing Sing.

SHIP FUND SWELLED BY SEVEN NEW ONES

Children Responding Readily to Appeal to Plainfield Daily Press.

Four children from one family, two from another and one from a third today contributed ten cents each to the Marjorie Sterrett battleship fund through the Plainfield Daily Press. The latest donations were received from John, Dorothy, Lillian and Gerald Christiansen; Charles and Ernest Brick and John T. Hart. Charles and Ernest Brick sent the following note with their two contributions: "We are sending you two dimes to help a worthy cause, the 'U. S. S. America.' This is a chance for all."

Present indications are that "all" will be enrolled among the Plainfield battleship aides between now and the time Marjorie Sterrett's goal is realized. The response to the appeal of the Plainfield Daily Press has been prompt and gratifying and it is hoped that the grand list will contain the name of every Plainfield school pupil. A letter should accompany each contribution and these will be published.

Those who have already sent in their dimes are counting the days to March 24, when the first production of "Defense or Tribute," a five reel motion picture, will be shown at Proctor's Theatre, under the auspices of the Plainfield Daily Press. Local educational and well known professional men have given the picture the highest endorsement and now the younger generation are looking forward to seeing the production either on March 24 or 25.

COUNTY CLERK ASPIRANTS LOOMING UP IN UNION

Elizabeth, March 15.—County Clerk Abram P. Morris will, it is understood, be a candidate at the primaries on the Democratic ticket to succeed himself. William A. Leonard, who was being pushed for the appointment as county clerk for the ad interim term, but who was sidetracked for Mr. Morris, is understood to be still in the ring. Mr. Morris, who is a Hillside resident, succeeded the late James C. Calvert, Republican.

The Republican organization, too, is not suffering from a dearth of aspirants for the place. There are two candidates now in the courthouse who are very much in the race. They are Neil McLeod, Jr., a deputy in Mr. Morris' office, and Edward Bauer, assistant county register. Both are residents of Elizabeth. Lieutenant Colonel William B. Martin, a member of the Elizabeth Excise Board, is another possibility as a candidate.

STREET CAR HITS FORD; IT IS "SLIGHTLY BENT"

A Fourth street car yesterday afternoon ran into a Ford runabout on Front street, near Park avenue. The machine was owned by John D. Loizeaux and driven by Andrew Palmer. It was "slightly bent," according to the report of police headquarters. No one was injured.

WILL SELL FARM STOCK.

An assortment of farm stock and implements will be sold at auction tomorrow afternoon at the farm of W. I. Bell, formerly known as the Valentine farm, at road ending Central avenue, by Robert Murray, the local auctioneer. One horse and a Jersey cow, a number of chickens and a complete set of farming implements will be sold.

PRINCE OF WALES RELIEF.

The Prince of Wales Relief for Soldiers and Sailors will meet in the parish house of Grace P. E. church tomorrow morning at 11:30. Immediately after the routine session of the society, a meeting of especial interest to all members will be called by the chairman, Mrs. Rufus Delafield.

CARRANZA SOLDIERS MUTINY; KILL COMMANDER AND DEFY THE U. S.; WILL JOIN VILLA BANDITS

13TH CAVALRY RUSHED TO PRESIDO, TEXAS, TO PREVENT ATTACKS ON AMERICAN CITIZENS BY REBELS NEAR THERE.

TOWN IN NEW MEXICO TAKEN, IS REPORT

Secretary Baker Denies Troop Train Was Blown up by Mexicans—4,500 American Cavalrymen Begin Hunt for Villa Despite Alarming Conditions on the Border—No Comment on Reported Delay by Funston.

Presido, Tex., March 15.—Carranza troops at Ojinaga, the Mexican town just across the border from here, have mutinied and killed their commander, General Rojas. The mutiny occurred last night, but it was not until today that early reports of a revolt were confirmed. The mutinist soldiers are said to have declared their intention of joining Villa and opposing any U. S. troops that try to enter Mexico. Troops of the 13th U. S. Cavalry arrived here from Marfa today to guard against an attack on Presido by the revolting Carranzistas.

No News From Hachita.

Washington, March 15.—Secretary of War Baker today denied reports that a troop train had been blown up en route to the border. He declared that he had no information on the subject. He declined to comment on reports that General Funston had requested an indefinite delay before beginning operations in Mexico. General Scott, chief of staff, made vigorous denial of reports that the War Department intended to call off the summer training camps because of the Mexican crisis. He said no action of the kind was contemplated. The general staff was without any information of the reported capture of Hachita by Carranza troops.

United States Troops Cross Border.

San Antonio, Tex., March 15.—United States Cavalry to the number of 4,500, today crossed the border into Mexico as part of the punitive expedition to catch Villa. According to report, the crossing was made from Columbus, N. M

20,000 More Men for Army.

Washington, March 15.—Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the Military Affairs Committee, introduced in the Senate today a joint resolution adopted yesterday by the House, providing for an increase of approximately 20,000 men for the army. The resolution was reported favorably earlier in the day by the committee.

Socks for U. S. Soldiers.

Milwaukee, March 15.—Factories here that have been turning out socks for the Allied troops have received inquiries from the United States Government, asking for information concerning their ability to supply socks for the army.

Censorship Begins Today.

El Paso, Texas, March 15.—It is reported that a military censorship will be placed on all news from El Paso, beginning this afternoon.

ARMY IS PATHETIC ADMITS COL. GLENN

U. S. Officer Principal Speaker at Sphinx Club Dinner.

"I tell you the American army is the most pathetic thing that ever came along in history, and other nations realize this even better, perhaps, that we do ourselves," was the startling declaration of Colonel Edwin F. Glenn, U. S. A., chief of staff of the eastern department, at the monthly dinner of the Sphinx Club given at the Waldorf Astoria last night. Col. Glenn was the first speaker of the evening and responded to the toast "The Army." He sat at the right hand of R. F. R. Huntsman, of Plainfield. Mr. Huntsman, who is advertising manager of the Brooklyn Standard-Union, and treasurer of the Sphinx Club, acted as toastmaster of last night's dinner. To the left of Mr. Huntsman was Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, whose toast was "The Navy." The other speakers included ex-Congressman William M. Calder, Brig. Gen. John G. Eddy, of the National Guard of New York, and Lawrence W. Luellan, the inventor of a system of mobile coast armament now being considered by the Ordnance Department of the army.

GIRL FOUND IN ROAD; FAKING, FATHER SAYS

Bessie Thomas, aged 20 years, colored, was found lying in the middle of Richmond street, in front of 849, at 11:10 last night. William Shinan found the girl and reported to police headquarters. She said she lived at 821 Richmond street and when taken home her father said that she was "faking." The girl was unruly, he said, and after an argument with her parents had left home. He believed she lay down in the road seeking sympathy.

"THE THREE PALS" DANCE.

Jacob Schlick, Leonard Schlick and Herman Theis, Jr., who are known as the "Three Pals," will conduct a social and dance in Saengerbund Hall Friday night. Halbforster's orchestra, of Elizabeth, will furnish the music, and the trio assures all attending a very enjoyable time. "The Three Pals" have been on the Gesang and Turn Verein entertainment committee for the past year, and were responsible for several of the successful social events which the organization conducted during that time.

DR. ZELIE TO SPEAK.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, will address the union meeting to be held tonight at the Park Avenue Baptist church. The members of the Seventh-Day Baptist Congregational, Crescent Avenue and Park Avenue churches will join in this service. Rev. Dr. B. S. Hudson and Rev. Edwin Shaw will also be present.

H. C. WHITE RE-APPOINTED.

Henry C. White, of North Plainfield, has been re-appointed a member of the State Board of Conservation and Development, by Governor Fielder.

LOCAL BRIDGES MAY SOON BE REPLACED

Freeholders Also Planning to Do Away With Dangerous Curve.

The bridge committees from the Union county and Somerset county Boards of Freeholders will hold a conference in this city Saturday afternoon for the purpose of discussing a proposition to replace the Westervelt avenue and Terrill road bridges over Green brook with modern concrete structures. The Union county committee, composed of S. P. T. Wilbur, of Plainfield, and Freeholders Perry, of Westfield, and Hall, of Fanwood, have had the matter under consideration for a long time and are making every effort to secure co-operation on the part of the Somerset county officials. Both the bridges mentioned have been doing duty for many years.

The Union county Freeholders have arranged to rebuild Mountain avenue from the Somerset county line at Scotch Plains to Mountainside, and it is probable that this work will result in the elimination of a curve now existing in Mountian avenue at Terrill road. The curve has been a danger point to both automobilists and pedestrians and the officials of Mt. St. Mary's College are especially anxious that it be done away with. At a meeting of the Freeholders, Monday afternoon, David T. Kenney, of the borough, who owns considerable ground in the vicinity, offered to donate sufficient land to the county to straighten the road. Solid concrete has been decided upon as the material for rebuilding Mountain avenue and when it is put down the thoroughfare will be one of the finest in Union county.

ENTERTAINED CARD CLUB.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., of East Second street, entertained the card club, of which they are members, at their home on Monday evening. There were five tables in play.

SAYS CONDITIONS IN STATE OF WASHINGTON ARE IDEAL

Walter Brown, who moved with his family from this borough to Tacoma, Washington, last September, has come East on business. He is stopping with his father, John Brown, of Bound Brook. Mr. Brown speaks highly of the State of Washington. He likes the people, the climate and general business conditions. He has been employed in a railroad repair shop at Tacoma, but he has given this position up and leased a produce farm just outside of the city limits. When he left Tacoma the grass was two inches high and rose bushes were in bud. Fresh eggs were plentiful and selling at eighteen cents a dozen.

MRS. ANNIE RIKEMAN DIES IN HER 68TH YEAR

Mrs. Annie Rikeman, aged 69 years, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Rene P. F. VonMinden, yesterday afternoon, after a short illness with heart trouble. The deceased had lived with her daughter for the past five years, coming here from Philadelphia. She was the widow of Joseph Rikeman, who died in 1872.

The deceased was an estimable woman and highly esteemed by all who knew her. She is survived besides Mrs. VonMinden by a brother, Isaac Mann, of Pennsylvania. The funeral will be held at Mrs. VonMinden's home at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. Burial will be at the Middlesex Hillside cemetery.

The Methodist and Presbyterian churches will hold a union prayer service in the Methodist Episcopal church this evening.

Rev. D. W. C. Ramsey, who has been suffering from lumbago, was able to be out yesterday.

The monthly meeting of the Sunday-school Board of the M. E. Sunday-school was held at the home of H. S. Townley, last evening.

The factory of the Harris, Silver, Baker Company has been shut down for a few days to allow repairs to be made to the machinery.

Mr. Carrol and family, who have lived in the house on the property of the Gabrielle & Schall Chemical Company, will move elsewhere in town shortly.

Bertram Voorhees, son of Wickoff Voorhees, is ill.

Carl Hoffman has taken a position as linesman with the Public Service Company. He is located in Plainfield.

Mrs. Holman has been on the sick list for the past few days.

The First and Seventh-Day Baptist churches will hold a union prayer service in the First Baptist church, this evening.

In announcing the names of the music committee of the Methodist Episcopal church the name of Miss Estelle Eick was included through an error.

WILL SEW FOR SOLDIERS.

The society recently formed by the women of the vicinity to make surgical supplies for the wounded soldiers of the contending European powers will meet in the Baraca room of the Presbyterian church at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Harry Dodwell was brought home from the Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday by C. T. Voorhees in his automobile.

Mrs. William H. Clum has returned from Elizabeth, where she spent a little over a week visiting her niece, Mrs. Ward Collins.

Jacob Snell, who has been ill with the grip since the forepart of last week, shows little improvement.

THREATENED WITH PNEUMONIA.

Paul Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Smith, of Front street, is threatened with pneumonia. He was taken ill in school yesterday morning. Later a physician was summoned.

TO GIVE A FARCE COMEDY.

At a business meeting of the Presbyterian C. E. Society held in the Baraca room last evening, it was decided to give a farce comedy, "The Eloping of Ellen," sometime during May.

BUILDING BOOM IN SIGHT.

Contractor Edward Daniels believes that the advent of real spring weather will see a boom in the building trade in this borough. Mr. Daniels bases his opinion upon the number who are talking of building. Speaking of the advance in building materials as a retardent, Mr. Daniels said that people who are thinking of building have found upon investigating that this advance has only increased the cost of building an average type of house $75.

Scotch Plains, Fanwood

George Johnson, the township collector and local member of the County Republican Committee, is detained at his home on Westfield avenue by rheumatism.

ENTERTAINED CLUB.

The Misses Lydia and Hannah Hayes, of Martine avenue, entertained the members of the Tuesday Afternoon Literary club at their home yesterday afternoon, when an interesting time was spent discussing the literature and art of England. Several of the members read papers on the more prominent authors and artists, and at the close of the meeting, refreshments were served.

Mrs. Joseph E. Rhodes, of Midway avenue, has returned from spending several weeks in New York, where she stopped at the Hotel McAlpin.

Mrs. Henry L. Jespersen, Sr., of Martine avenue, has been entertaining Mrs. M. L. Banks, of St. Paul, Minn., for several days.

ELECTED PRESIDENT.

Kenneth Drake has been elected president of the eighth grade, School No. 1. The graduating class this year is a large one, and will undoubtedly stand high among those that have gone before.

ACTED AS PEACE-MAKER.

Holding session in the Borough last night, Recorder Charles Sheelan acted as peacemaker in a quarrel among the Italians residing in the colony located on LaGrande avenue. The trouble was started by several youngsters calling each other names, and grew until they began breaking windows and destroying other things. After hearing both sides air their troubles, the Recorder fined them enough to replace the windows and let them go with a warning.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry K. Woodbridge, who have resided on Paterson road, the borough, for several years, have removed to Park avenue, Scotch Plains.

SUB-ROSA CLUB MEETS.

A meeting of the Sub-Rosa club was held last night at the home of Miss Ruth Dunn, of Front street, and was largely attended. At the end of a short business meeting, a social time was enjoyed, with dancing and music, at the conclusion of which refreshments were served.

Mrs. Thomas Whiteneck, who has been ill at her home on Forest road for several months, is slowly recovering.

J. F. CLARK IMPROVING.

BRANDEIS IS UNFIT, SAYS SENATE LETTER

Protest Is Lodged Against His Confirmation.

Washington, March 15. — A letter bearing the signatures of former President Taft, Elihu Root, Joseph H. Choate and other eminent lawyers and jurists, declaring that Louis D. Brandeis is "not a fit person to be a member of the supreme court of the United States" was filed with the senate committee on the judiciary.

The letter also was signed by Simeon D. Baldwin of Connecticut and Francis Rawle of Philadelphia. All of the men named have served as president of the American Bar association. The communication contained this statement:

The undersigned feel under the painful duty to say to you that in their opinion, taking into view the repute, character and professional career of Louis D. Brandeis, he is not a fit person to be a member of the supreme court of the United States.

The protest made a profound impression upon members of the senate. Senators close to the administration were disturbed and admitted that the fight on the nomination will be conducted with great determination.

It was said that some sensational speeches are to be made when the senate takes up the Brandeis nomination in executive session and that the protest will result in attacks on Taft, Root and others who have criticised President Wilson's nominee to the supreme court bench. Indications are that the debate on the nomination will be protracted.

Hearings were reopened before the senate subcommittee. William F. Fitzgerald of the brokerage firm of Towle & Fitzgerald, Boston, was the principal witness. He was called at the request of Senator Weeks to testify regarding the alleged connection of Mr. Brandeis with the Old Dominion Copper and Smelting company case, in which a refund of $2,000,000 from promoters was sought by the company.

ASKS LIBEL ON APPAM CARGO

Part of Goods Removed by Captors, Captain Charges.

Norfolk, Va., March 15.—Captain Henry G. Harrison, who commanded the British liner Appam, filed libel proceedings for possession of the vessel's cargo when she was captured by the German raider Moewe on Jan. 15. He charges that part of the cargo has been removed by Lieutenant Berg and his crew. The cargo is valued at $800,000.

EAGLES TO HOLD A FAIR.

Somerville, March 14.—What has every appearance of being one of the best fairs held here will be that of the F. O. Eagles, April 26-29. A contest will be held between the fire companies of Raritan, Bound Brook and Somerville as to which is the more popular company of all departments.

C. H. FROST DIRECTOR IN AMERICAN LEGION

The annual meeting of the American Legion, an organization formed last winter, to co-ordinate the services of citizens with military training and technical equipment that would be useful in case of war, was held yesterday afternoon at the Down Town Association, New York.

Arrangements were made for the issuance before long of the first number of an official organ to be known as The Legion Call, and other plans for extending the work of the organization were discussed.

Theodore Roosevelt, William H. Taft, Elihu Root, Jacob M. Dickinson, Henry L. Stimson, Luke E. Wright, George von L. Meyer, Truman H. Newberry and Charles J. Bonaparte were re-elected members of the council.

Officers and directors were chosen as follows: President, Alexander M. White, New York; vice-president, Roy D. Jones, Boston; treasurer, Nelson Lloyd, Syosset, L. I.; secretary, Dr. John E. Hausmann, New York; directors, E. Ormonde Power, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Arthur Sullivant Hoffman, Henry Rogers Winthrop, Courtland Smith, Henry Collins Walsh, Frederick Trevor Hill and W. T. Hornaday, of New York; Regis Henri Post, of Bayport, L. I.; Charles H. Frost, of this city, and Samuel Wesley Long, of Wilmington, Del.

CREAM FOR CATARRH OPENS UP NOSTRILS

Tells How To Get Quick Relief from Head-Colds. It's Splendid.

In one minute your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffing, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh will be gone.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh—Relief comes so quickly.—Adv.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results From An Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or, rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that Indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach, much like garbage sours in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids, and, instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink it while it is effervescing, and, furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

ALL AMERICA HONORS THE MEMORY OF SHAKESPEARE 300 YEARS AFTER DEATH

Schools and Colleges, Men, Women and Children of Every Class, Pay Tribute to Poet Who Wrote For All.

Some Facts About the Celebrations That Are Planned In This Country and Brief Outline of Bard's Life.

IT falls to the duty of America this year to celebrate fittingly the tercentenary of the death of William Shakespeare, the greatest writer of plays the world has ever known, for England, where the great playwright was born, and other parts of Europe as well are rent by the great struggle in progress, and men's minds are not turned to honoring the memory of past heroes, but, rather, to developing new heroes in an entirely different line of endeavor—that of killing their fellow men.

Shakespeare died at Stratford-on-Avon on April 23, 1616. And now, 300 years later, his merit, ability and talent are to be recognized a hundred times—nay, a thousand times—more than they were at the time when he was writing his plays.

Colleges, social settlements, children, recreation centers, playgrounds, clubs, private and public schools, parochial schools, dancing schools, art schools, the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., Masonic lodges, the poor and the rich, the college professor and the young man with only a grammar school education, are honoring the memory of the writer who wrote for all classes. They are celebrating in their own way by giving plays, masques, festivals, pageants, music recitals, dances, choruses, ballads, lectures, sermons, art and handicraft exhibits, library exhibits, club programs, study courses, story telling, tableaus, tree plantings and even by growing Shakespearean gardens.

Life Enshrouded In Mystery.

The life of no great man is enshrouded in so much mystery as that of Shakespeare. For 200 years the patient work of scholars has revealed only fragments of his history at a time, but from these has been built up gradually a biography which has come to be accepted as fairly authoritative. Recently, however, came Professor Charles William Wallace of the University of Nebraska, who, after a number of years spent in painstaking investigation, has made discoveries that necessitate the recasting of Shakespeare's history. Upon many of the most obscure points in his life these discoveries shed unexpected light. On other points, which were thought to be settled, history will be greatly changed.

The principal facts about his life, briefly set forth, are as follows:

About April 23, 1564, William Shakespeare was born. He was baptized on the 26th of the same month in the parish church of his birthplace, Stratford-on-Avon, in Warwickshire.

His father, John Shakespeare, was a prosperous glover, a burgess of the corporation of Stratford, the owner of a farm. He sent William, it is thought, to the free grammar school in Stratford, but withdrew him at the age of thirteen because he had lost most of his fortune.

William Shakespeare married in 1582 (being then eighteen) Anne Hathaway, eight years his senior. His first child, Susanna, was baptized May 26, 1583, and twins, Hamnet and Judith, were baptized Feb. 2, 1585.

He left Stratford in 1584. The tradition is that he went away to escape punishment for poaching on Sir Thomas Lucy's estate.

What he did for the next eight years no one has discovered. But in 1592 he was known as an actor and playwright and was satirized by Robert Greene in "A Groatsworth of Wit."

"Venus and Adonis" was published in April, 1593; "Lucrece" in May, 1594. In 1593 it is thought that Shakespeare visited northern Italy.

In the summer of 1594 he was a leading member of the Chamberlain's company of actors. He played at the Rose on Bankside, the Cross Keys and later at the Globe.

In 1601 he was rich enough to buy a house and garden in New place, Chapel street. He was well liked by Queen Elizabeth, and his plays had royal patronage.

Two of his sonnets were printed in 1599 in a volume of miscellaneous verse called "The Passionate Pilgrim." This book was on the title page ascribed to Shakespeare, but most authorities hold that he was not its author.

A book called "Shakespeare's Sonnets, Never Before Imprinted," was published in 1609.

In 1610 he left London to live at New place, Stratford. It was in 1613 that he purchased for £140 a freehold house in Blackfriars, London, near the Wardrobe. He died at Stratford April 23, 1616.

New York's Celebration.

New York city will probably hold the greatest demonstration in honor of "Bill" Shakespeare, as the poet Percy Mackaye, who wrote the New York community masque, prefers to call him. The Shakespeare celebration committee has been at work for a long time, and the spectacle will be one long to be remembered.

It will not be a "highbrows' pink tea," but a massive, magnificent pageant by the children of New York, a people's picnic "not to honor Shakespeare," Mackaye tells us, "but to honor his art."

Thousands of people of all nationalities and classes in all parts of the greater city will honor in the next two months the memory of the poet in any way they choose, and from these participants in the local celebrations will be selected choruses and acting groups for a great community masque to be given in the month of May.

Similar celebrations will be held in other cities and towns in all sections of the United States and Canada and probably in some European and South American cities, although at these latter places on a smaller scale. Some of these celebrations will be formal, some informal.

But this is Shakespeare year, and students of his works will call to mind their favorite passages. Hardly a home of education and refinement but has a copy of Shakespeare's works, for the plays, although there remain some who stick to the theory that it would have been impossible for Shakespeare, the son of an uneducated and unknown Englishman, to produce these masterpieces of the English language. There have been many arguments on this question, and it will never be settled to the satisfaction of all.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE AND HIS HOME AT STRATFORD-ON-AVON

Interesting Statistics.

A Shakespearean enthusiast with much leisure time on his hands and a regular mania for statistics has discovered that the plays of Shakespeare contain 106,007 lines and 814,780 words. "Hamlet" is the longest play, with 3,930 lines, and the "Comedy of Errors" the shortest, with 1,777 lines. Altogether the plays contain 1,277 characters, of which 157 are females.

The longest part is that of Hamlet, who has 11,610 words to deliver. The part with the longest word in it is that of Costard in "Love's Labour's Lost," who tells Moth that he is "not so long by the head as honorificabilitudinitatibus."

Many Portraits Exist.

Although something like 4,000 portraits have been given bearing Shakespeare's name, said M. H. Spielman in a lecture at the Royal Institution in London, only two could be accepted. The desire to know what manner of man he was, he proceeded, had even led to a demand that his grave should be opened and to a number of portraits which made them marvel at the credulity of persons who had given them acceptance. Many leaders in art had been led to support as genuine spurious and fabricated portraits which a few months before had not been in existence. With reference to the suggested opening of the grave, it had been urged that it would be no more desecration than in the case of Schiller, of Charles I., of Swedenborg and others. None, however, had dared to face the doggerel of the Shakespearean curse which had kept him out of Westminster abbey: "Good friend, for Jesu' sake forebear to digge the dust interred here"—not even when it was suggested that it should be done by women.

Who steals my purse steals trash; 'tis something, nothing;
'Twas mine, 'tis his and has been slave to thousands.
But he that filches from me my good name
Robs me of that which not enriches him
And makes me poor indeed.
—Othello, Act 3, Scene 3.

Andrew Carnegie does not limit himself to a single quotation, but gives a reason for selecting several.

A noble literary lord held that these were the gems:

We are such stuff as dreams are made of, and our little life is rounded with a sleep.—Tempest, Act 4, Scene 1.

In every cabin I flamed amazement.—Tempest, Act 1, Scene 2.

Not a soul but felt some fever of the mad.—Tempest, Act 1, Scene 2.

As a rule of life:

To thine own self be true • • • thou canst not then be false to any man.—Hamlet, Act 1, Scene 3.

One might readily expect that a humorist would choose the lines of a jester. So did Irvin Cobb, the noted humorist and lecturer—

Invest me in my motley; give me leave
To speak my mind, and I will through and through Cleanse the foul body of the infected world
If they will patiently receive my medicine.
—As You Like It, Act 2, Scene 7.

Did Bacon Write Plays?

For a hundred years there have been some—yes, many—persons who believe that Shakespeare did not write the plays attributed to him, saying that they were the product of the pen of Sir Francis Bacon. However, it has been proved to the complete satisfaction of a great majority of scholars that the Bard of Avon did write all of the actor-poet's works still are the most read of all English books, aside from the Bible.

It is interesting to observe the selections of their favorite Shakespearean quotations by men in different walks of life.

Favorite Quotations.

If a careful analysis is made a large census of thought will show that the passage above all others which seems to have broadest appeal is the one beginning "To thine own self be true."

William J. Bryan chose this one:

To thine own self be true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man.
—Hamlet, Act 1, Scene 3.

And Mr. Bryan says of this passage, "I do not recall any piece of advice more useful or more felicitously expressed."

This same passage is also the choice of the secretary of war, Lindley M. Garrison, and Admiral A. T. Mahan also selects the same passage. But he calls attention to the fact that "own self" does not mean own interests.

Otis Skinner, actor, chose a passage from "Henry VIII.:"

Things done well
And with a care exempt themselves from fear.
—Henry VIII., Act. 1, Scene 2.

To his mind this indicates that mental science was a well known thing to Shakespeare.

Hudson Maxim, inventor, chose another seldom quoted passage and in doing so said that he chose it because of its literary and figurative value. It is a part of Marc Antony's speech over Caesar's dead body:

Oh, pardon me, thou bleeding piece of earth.—Julius Caesar, Act 3, Scene 1.

Gompers Likes Othello's Speech.

Samuel Gompers selects the famous bit from the hypocritical speech of Iago for its fine comparison between the material and the immaterial in life, maintaining that even such a villain spoke the truth when he tried to mask his villainy:

Good name in man and woman, dear my lord,
Is the immediate jewel of their souls

HOLDUP MAN DISGUISED AS WOMAN, HE SAYS

Abe Sirota Makes Lucky "Get Away" When Held up in the Borough.

Abe Sirota, manager of the Union Pacific Tea Store in the borough, was held up at 7:20 last evening, opposite the home of Mrs. Marguerite Summers, 19 Craig place, where he boards. The "highwayman" Sirota believes to have been a man disguised as a woman, who approached him from behind and threatened to stick the sharp point of an umbrella in his stomach if he didn't throw his hands up. Sirota had a considerable amount of money in his possession, and he decided to take a chance on attempting to make his escape. So he turned and ran as fast as he could towards Somerset street without looking to see whether he was being pursued.

As Sirota turned into Somerset street he ran into the arms of an officer. He hurriedly told the latter of the hold-up, and the two hastened back to the scene. The culprit, however,, had mysteriously disappeared, and although a thorough search was made of the yards of the neighborhood it was fruitless.

Sirota told a reporter this morning that when he stepped out on the porch of Mrs. Summers' home after supper he hesitated on the porch when he saw a man come limping along the sidewalk. The stranger paused for a second and then abruptly crossed the street and continued on his way. When he disappeared Sirota ventured from the house. He had no more than reached the sidewalk, however, when he saw the person who later held him up approaching. The person was arrayed in woman's apparel, and this quieted Sirota's fears. On taking a second glance, however, he noted that although it was raining, an umbrella which the person was carrying was not raised. This made him uneasy again, and upon taking a few steps in the direction of Somerset street, he turned abruptly and discovered that the person was right on his heels. Then followed a gruff order for Sirota to throw up his hands and his decision to endeavor to make his escape.

KILLED ON R. R. TRACKS

Pennsy Conductor Is Victim of Brutal Tragedy Near Fieldsboro Station—Is Stabbed to Death by Assassin—Coroner Defers Inquest Into Crime Until Next Friday.

Fieldsboro, March 15.—That William Gaskill, the Pennsylvania railroad conductor whose body was found beside the tracks at the Fieldsboro station, was murdered by an enemy, who had threatened his life in an anonymous letter, is the theory on which railroad and state detectives have centered after a day's exhaustive investigation of the mysterious tragedy.

Two wounds, one in the breast and the other in the abdomen of the dead man, have furnished the strongest proof in the eyes of the authorities that he was the victim of foul play. Dr. Robert Seivers declared, after an examination of the body, that both wounds appeared to have been caused by knife stabs.

Gaskill's body was found on the westbound track, where it would have been mangled by a train en route to Camden and soon due.

Mrs. Gaskill, widow of the dead conductor, at her home at Bordentown, said she was convinced that her husband had been murdered. "He recently received threatening letters, with no names signed, and told some of his friends that he feared an attack on his life," she said.

Efforts are being made to locate these letters, which the police think may furnish an important clew.

Coroner Gaskill announced a postponement of the inquest from Wednesday to Friday. Conductor Gaskill was buried today.

THE FORUM

Editor Daily Press:

It has been suggested by some of the taxpayers, who are opposed to the location of the proposed new city hall since my last communication, that we try and get the Mayor and his building committee to let the people have a say in the matter. Very few favor the location for the city building. Why couldn't the location be disposed of and one nearer the business section be procured. The house on the plot could be moved back on Sixth street and the balance cut up in very desirable building plots. It is a "swell" residential section. I think it would be agreeable to almost every citizen who takes any interest in the matter. Of course, there would be a few who would not be suited. That is to be expected. The Mayor would not only please nine-tenths of the taxpayers, but would make lots of friends, who would then have a different opinion from what they have now. Would not it be better for everybody concerned if the taxpayers were pleased, than to go on and have a lot of dissatisfied people at his heels all the time.

There is very little doubt if the thing goes on as it is now mapped out, there will be no city hall this year. There is strong talk of serving an injunction on the committee, restraining them from going on with the building until the citizens can be heard. That might take all summer. Where, if a new site was selected, the building could go right along. There doesn't seem to be any kick about a new city hall—only the location. I cannot believe it would make any difference to the Mayor where the building was located, so long as the people were satisfied. The time to thrash this out is now. Not wait until after it is too late. I hope the Mayor will take this matter up with his committee and see if something can be done so the building will not be stopped.

E. T. BARROWS PROTESTS TO CONGRESSMAN CAPSTICK

Elliott T. Barrows, of this city, has written a letter to Congressman John H. Capstick, because of his vote on the McLemore resolution in Congress last week. He says:

"Quoting from your letter to your constituents, published in our local papers February 11, I beg to say that in this intelligent district of yours, neither 'misinformation,' nor 'misconception,' exists concerning the facts, or circumstances surrounding your vote.

"'Being on the ground,' does not place you in an advantageous position to 'analyze the situation,' but on the contrary, surrounded by the din of politicians, shuffling for their personal or parties' advantage, you do not know how keenly or clearly many of us see our business tied up by foreign powers, and embarrassed by our own Senators and Representatives.

"Every schoolboy knows that the issue was not whether Americans could sail on armed merchantmen, or that we could, or could not ship our products and manufactures to any and all neutral countries, but whether the President should be allowed through the department of State, to negotiate, unhampered, with foreign powers, or whether Congressmen like yourself should endeavor to put him in a hole.

"It was no 'aesthetic sense' that led the President to appeal for support to the home and fireside; and your neighboring Congressmen, Parker, representing a constituency like your own, and Lehlbach, representing one of the largest German-American districts in the State, saw the flag of their country and the voice of the people.

"Alas, that your vision might not have been as clear; but you have made it very plain in your letter, that it was your own 'conscence' that led you to perform a 'moral obligation' along the 'exigencies of the situation,' therefore you should continue to represent that conscience, and like 'Congressman Page, of North Carolina,' give notice you will retire, and follow a business that will allow your "judgment' and 'convictions,' to apply to something that only represents youself, and not interfere, or embarrass your fellow countrymen.

"E. T. BARROWS."

FORT URGES READING OF BIBLE IN THE SCHOOLS

Addressing the boys' work committeemen of the New Jersey Y. M. C. A.'s at the Down Town Club, Newark, Monday night, former Governor J. Franklin Fort made a plea that the Bible be read in public schools and the youth trained to observe the Sabbath, declaring that the "foundation, stability and future glory of this republic rests on the Bible."

More than 200 men attended the banquet, at which former State Senator J. Henry Bachellor was toastmaster. All of the speakers of the evening emphasized the importance of work among boys and the need for further development of this effort in order that the future of the nation as a Christian land might be insured.

FRENCH PUSHING BACK GERMANS

Capture Prisoners In Offensive In the Vosges.

BRING DOWN AEROPLANES

Kaiser's Air Craft Is Attacked In Verdun Section — Brisulles Railroad Property Is Bombarded by Parisian Airmen — Artillery Duels Ensue on Verdun Front.

Paris, March 15.—The French troops repulsed the German attack on the western side of the Meuse. The heavy German artillery, which had been maintaining a heavy bombardment of this region, doubled the intensity of its fire between Bethincourt and the Cumieres wood and followed this with an infantry attack in force.

The attack was repulsed with serious losses to the Germans, except at two points between Bethincourt and Le Mort Homme.

This was the only infantry action of the day on the Verdun front. There was very heavy bomzardment, however, by the artillery of both sides to the east of the Meuse and in the Woevre.

In the Vosges the artillery activity centered about Chappelotte and the valley of the Thur. Attacks were made by French troops on small sectors of enemy trenches at Stosswihr and Carspach, gaining some prisoners and material.

Three German aeroplanes were brought down by French aviators in the Verdun sector. To the east of Lice a French aeroplane attacked by four German machines brought down one of the latter and returned unharmed to the French lines.

Germans Repulsed Three Times.

The official communique issued by the French war office was:

To the north of the Aisne, the Germans attempted three times to penetrate our trenches at the northwest edge of the Buttes wood. None of their attempts was successful.

In the Argonne our artillery executed an effective fire in the sector of the Four de Paris, where a munition depot was blown up, as well as on the railways, roads and enemy organizations in the region of Montfaucon and Avecourt.

To the west of the Meuse the bombardment with shells of great caliber on our positions from Bethincourt to Cumieres has redoubled in violence. In the afternoon the Germans launched a very strong attack on this sector and were repulsed on the whole front with serious loss. They gained a foothold in our trenches at only one point, between Bethincourt and Le Mort Homme.

East of the Meuse and in the Woevre the artillery was very active on both sides in the course of the day. There was no infantry action.

North of St. Mihiel our batteries bombarded important enemy camps in the Heudicourt wood and caused a great fire in the railroad station and stores at La Marche-en-Woevre.

In Lorraine we bombarded an enemy column to the northeast of Delme.

French Airmen Victorious.

In the Vosges there was great activity by the artillery of both sides in the sector of Chappelotte and in the valley of the Thur. Sudden attacks on enemy trenches at Stosswihr and Carspach enabled us to take some sixty prisoners and rather important material without any loss on our part.

Six aeroplanes of the first bombarding group and five double motored machines threw forty-two bombs of large caliber on the railway station of Brisulles.

There were numerous aerial combats in the region of Verdun. Three German aviators have been brought down by our aviators within the German lines. One of our aeroplanes, which was attacked by four enemy machines to the east of Lice, engaged them in combat and succeeded in bringing down one of the German machines, which fell in the region of Cernay. The French aeroplane returned undamaged to our lines.

MOTORISTS ANXIOUS FOR NEW BRIDGE

Engineer Lane Reports on Post Card Canvass of Hudson and Union.

An analysis of the return postal card investigation carried on during the two weeks ending Saturday, March 11, among the automobile owners of Hudson and Union counties, relative to the necessity and convenience of a highway bridge across Newark Bay that will connect the Hudson county boulevard at Bayonne with the main roads of Union county at Elizabeth, indicates that this project is worthy of a further, broader and more detailed investigation, according to F. Van Z. Lane, engineer and secretary of the Bayonne Chamber of Commerce. In a letter to Chairman Keenan, of the bridge committee, Mr. Lane says:

"The enactment of Bill No. 429, which has been introduced in the Assembly, will permit such a comprehensive investigation because there will then be available a fund of $-5,000 to be contributed equally by each of these counties and by the State, and to be used specifically for this purpose. The investigation just completed shows that the sentiment in these two counties in favor of such a bridge among those who use the roads and travel about the most—i. e., the automobile owners—is unanimous, and that this sentiment is not confirmed to any one community, but that it is practically uniform throughout the two counties. North Hudson communities are just as enthusiastic as are Bayonne and Jersey City, which lie in between Plainfield, Westfield, Cranford and Summit are as much, if not more, interested than Elizabeth. This indicates that the necessity and convenience of such a bridge is more than local.

"Although these two populous counties are practically adjacent, it is necessary to go through another county to go from one to the other, and that even this route is so unsatisfactory that fifty per cent. of the time, tourists from each of these counties go out of the State to reach the other county, and even take two ferries to do this.

"If this bridge was begun today, nearly 1,000,000 automobiles would use it the first year of its operation."

MRS. BERTRAND RUSSELL TO SPEAK IN THIS CITY

Mrs. Bertrand Russell, of London, Eng., who was sent to this country by the Constitutional Suffragists, in the interest of relief work abroad, will speak at the parish house of the Congregational church, Monday night at 8 o'clock, instead of at the home of Mrs. R. This evening she will be the guest at dinner of Cecil Spring Rice, British Ambassador at Washington.

SMITH MAKES DILLON HUSTLE.

Evidently Gunboat Smith's long absence from boxing competition has done him a world of good. At any rate, the big California heavyweight, who has not appeared in a bout in New York since his knockout at the hands of Jim Coffey some time ago, showed wonderful improvement in his ten-round bout with Jack Dillon, the Indianapolis light-heavyweight, last night at the Broadway Sporting Club, in Brooklyn, and, although he was slightly outpointed, Smith at the final bell was striving to exchange blow for blow with his more aggressive opponent.

INCREASED INTEREST IN RECREATION WORK

Washington School the Center of Many Activties Under Miss Lamson's Direction.

As an evidence of the activities which are conducted at the Washington school, at Darrow avenue and Essex street, it is noticeable that six different affairs will be under way in the building tomorrow night, with one exception all of them being directly under the supervision of the Public Recreation committee. The one exception is the annual "Ladies' Night" reception of the West End Civic Association, which is to be held in the main auditorium commencing at 8 o'clock. Beside this affair, Miss Isabel Scarborough's dressmaking class will meet in an upper corridor; the Glee club will hold a rehearsal in the kindergarten room; Miss Emma Ryno's folk dancing class will undergo instruction in another corridor; roller skating will be enjoyed by its numerous patrons in the basement, and the game room will be open all evening.

It is only within the past few years that the local schools have been open evenings, but the use of them has now become general throughout the city. While the high school building is the scene of greater activities because of central location, the Washington school is a close second. Not only the people of the West End, but those of other districts, congregate there nightly, and the work has done a great deal for the advancement of both young and old in a social and educational way. Miss Lillian Lamson, who is recreation supervisor for the entire city, continues to originate ideas for the betterment of the work, and spends much of her time at the Washington school, directing the various classes.

POLICE CHIEF HITS THE TRAIL AT NORRISTOWN, PA.

Sunday proved to be a most eventful day in the campaign which is being held in Norristown, Pa., under the direction of Evangelist W. E. Biederwolf. Each of the three gatherings were largely attended; the money for the campaign was fully provided for, the "trail hitters" included the chief of police, and the throng placed itself on record on the liquor question

About eight thousand people of Norristown, Conshohocken and vicinity, the major number men, declared themselves, by a rasing vote, in favor of two resolutions [illegible]ng on the present agitation wit[illegible]gard to the sale of malt and spirituous liquors. The other is a formal declaration for local option, a demand for all candidates for the Legislature to place themselves on record, and the furthering of a campaign looking towards the nomination and selection of such men as will pledge themselves to support Governor Brumbaugh in his county local option legislation.

The matter was presented Sunday afternoon at the men's mass meeting, and, with but very few exceptions, all of the 4,000 and more present gave their hearty approval to the resolution, which were read by the evangelist. The results of the campaign to last Sunday night are as follows: Total offerings, $7,159.91 (this covers the expenses); trail hitters, decisions, 685; reconsecrations, 805; children, 94; total, 1,584.

HAS TOO MUCH ELASTICITY FOR U. S. NAVY SERVICE

Because Harold L. Willard, of this city, had a little too much elasticity in one of his arms, he was unable to pass the examination for admission into the United State Navy. J. J. Griffin, attached to the recruiting station, in Elizabeth, visited the Queen City for the purpose of securing recruits, and Willard was one of the applicants.

When the time came for the young man to be examined he asked Mr. Griffin whether he would be accepted for the navy even though one of his arms was longer than the other. This aroused the recruiting officer's curiosity, and he at once started to measure Willard, and he found that one arm was about three inches longer than the other. A second time he measured the arms and discovered that they were the same length, and then the officer informed him that if he would keep normal for a minute he could probably be accepted. Willard, however, replied that he was sorry, but he was a married man and could not enlist.

Upon making inquiry regarding the matter, Mr. Griffin learned that he is a brother of Willard, "the man who grows," now performing in vaudeville, for which, it is said, that he receives $750 a week. He recently appeared in Proctor's Theatre.

Twelve men were examined during the visit to the Queen City, and three were accepted, which is considered a high average. In Newark, it is said, only about one in every ten applicants is taken. The recruiting party will again visit Plainfield on Friday. The temporary recruiting station is in the postoffice.

VILLA PURSUED BY U. S. ARMY

Trapped Near United States Border, El Paso Reports.

WARSHIPS AWAIT ORDERS

United States Battleship Fleet In Guantanamo Bay Is Ready to Respond to Call to Mexican Waters. Carranza Soldiers to Assist United States Troops to Catch Villa.

Washington, March 15.—Under orders from the navy department the United States battleship fleet is being held in Guantanamo ready to sail for Mexican waters if necessary.

The possibility of grave trouble in consequence of the proposed American expedition to capture Villa and particularly the danger which Americans in Mexico might incur prompted naval as well as military precautions.

Secretary Daniels received reports from Rear Admiral Winslow at San Diego that conditions reported to him from the Mexican coast were normal. Reports from Vera Cruz and Tampico confirmed this information.

The fleet at Guantanamo bay consists of the battleships Wyoming, Arkansas, New York, Delaware and Texas, forming the First division, under command of Vice Admiral Henry T. Mayo, the battleships Florida, Kansas, Michigan, South Carolina and Utah, forming the Second division, under command of Rear Admiral A. F. Fechteler, the battleships New Jersey, Nebraska, Rhode Island and Virginia, forming the Third division, under command of Rear Admiral De Witt Coffman, and the battleship Louisiana, flagship of Rear Admiral Herbert O. Dunn, commanding the Fourth division.

El Paso, Tex., March 15.—General Francisco Villa and his bandit band, said by creditable authority to total not more than 400 men, was heading for Galena, east of Casas Grandes, a distance of twenty-seven miles. It is necessary to cross through Chocolate pass, which divides a range of rough mountains, to reach Galena from Casas Grandes or from Columbus, N. M., the present detraining point of the American army.

Five columns of Carranza troops are in pursuit of Villa, accompanied by Carranza Consul Andres Garcia.

One of the expeditionary forces reached Juarez from Chihuahua City in command of General Luis Gutierrez, militaary governor of Chihuahua, and went into camp at a bridge below Juarez. They are expected to move southward over the Mexican Northwestern railroad at once and begin a campaign from Guzman east into the Galena district after Villa.

General Gutierrez soon after his arrival met General Gavira, the local commandant, and Consul Garcia at El Paso in a private conference. Afterward General Gutierrez gave out that, besides the troops holding points and maintaining patrols, five columns of 1,200 men each are closing upon the bandit chief under the respective commands of Gutierrez himself and Generals Luis Herrera, Rafael Malconado, Benjamin Garma and Jose Cabazos.

Villa Cannot Escape.

While the cavalry forces are moving in from the east, the column of 900 men at Santa Ana, under Colonel Ceno, is believed at the Juarez headquarters to be sufficient to check any attempt by Villa to escape to the south up the canyon of the Santa Maria river.

A dispatch received from Colonel Nieto Macia at Pearson stated that Villa carried a large number of wounded with him in wagons into Galena. The Mormons at Casas Grandes, he said, feel perfectly secure and have no desire to be taken out of the country. He also confirmed the news of the safety of Mrs. Wright's child, kidnaped by Villa and found at the Connes Valles ranch.

Every effort is being made by the Mexicans to effect the capture of Villa before the arrival of American troops on the scene. They feel that it would be a reflection upon them to have the American troops effect the capture of the bandit after the Mexican forces in such large numbers have been at the task for such a length of time.

It is believed in American sources that the Mexican forces are being spurred to more determined efforts than ever before in their trail of Villa. Discussion of the American campaign took on the form of speculation today regarding the plans of the Americans for keeping open a line of communication and supplying themselves with provisions.

Without the co-operation of the Juarez authorities and the repair and use of the Mexico Northwestern railroad from Juarez to Casas Grandes the American army's Mexican base of operations will be 125 miles from the American line, as it is that distance from Columbus to Casas Grandes, the respective points where the American troops will take up their march into Mexico and open their campaign after Villa.

Scarcity of Water.

A wagon trail established by the Mormons leads from Columbus south to Casas Grandes, but there is not water enough except at one point to supply men and beasts for any considerable force of men. At Casas Grandes there is plenty of water, and after reaching Casas Grandes, except to the eastward, there is very little territory without water. The country is mountainous, much of it the worst on the whole American continent. There are very few ranches or farms in the country and no forage for horses at this time of the year.

Some of the mountainous country is impassable for cavalry and is penetrable only by men on foot. Mountain passes are numerous, and chances for ambuscade are plentiful. The American authorities are possessed of ample maps of the country, however, and are guided by men who are experts on the topography of the country. These men were gathered here by General Pershing before departing from El Paso, and they include a number of young Mormon cowboys.

Men were secured who know the country as far south as Guerrero, which lies directly west of Chihuahua City, indicating that General Pershing expects to follow the trail a great distance if necessary. Guerrero is the old stamping ground of Villa in the days when he held out against and defied the Diaz government.

No automobile trucks have been brought here as yet for the purpose of carrying supplies for General Pershing, and it is known that only a few have yet arrived at Columbus, but Major William Elliott, depot quartermaster, has placed orders for ten small touring cars, four of one make and six of another, and is negotiating for several others. These cars will be used for dispatch work and for carrying light supplies. The equipment of these cars is standard, with the addition of an extra dismountable rim and casing.

Messages Are Censored.

As rigid a censorship as prevails in the European war zone was established by American forces along the Mexican border. Signal corps operators were put in charge of the telegraph and telephone offices at Columbus, N. M., the concentration point of the American army of occupation, and troops were also placed on guard in the offices of the dispatchers of all railroads entering El Paso, so that every personal and telephone conversation was heard by military men. The result was that the public was denied all news regarding the movement of troops.

However, it was shown that a special train carrying army engineers arrived here from San Antonio, and one company, said to be Company G, was left at El Paso, while three other companies, said to have been Companies E, H and F, went west.

The greatest secrecy is being maintained as to the movements of the aeroplane corps from Fort Sam Houston for use in the field in scouting Villa's location. It is feared that the train be held up, and it is believed here that the aeroplane special has passed through and is now in Columbus.

Incoming passengers from Columbus stated that the military camp at Columbus was assuming big proportions, but there is no indication that the army will be in readiness to move for three or four days. It was stated that the delay in getting started is due to the lack of train equipment and the remoteness of the New Mexico and El Paso frontier from the garrisons scattered throughout the country.

A censorship against picture men was said by the arrivals to be in force, and the "movie" men were leaving for other points.

It was reported that the First cavalry, stationed at Presidio, at San Francisco, has reached Douglas, Ariz., where it will be stationed.

Suspicions of the police that Villista sympathizers were plotting trouble in El Paso were confirmed when Mauser rifles, ammunition, pistols and sabers were seized by the police from a house on South El Paso street.

The raid was made by a squad of police upon information that the house at this corner was being used as a storehouse for ammunition.

Plans to Endow His Church.

Elwood, March 15.—Celebrating the fifteenth anniversary of his pastorate at the Brainerd Episcopal church, Rev. Minot S. Morgan told his congregation that he was preparing an endowment fund to care for the fixed expenses of the church property. By contributions solicited entirely outside of the village, he told how the property had been increased from a small building on a side street to an attractive church, Sunday school and manse, modernly equipped, while the membership has increased 100 per cent.

Coal Case on Trial.

Trenton, March 15:—The Lehigh Coal and Navigation company was placed on trial in the federal court here on an indictment for accepting rebates in anthracite coal shipments from the Central Railroad company of New Jersey from Nesquehoning, Pa., to points in New Jersey. The New Jersey Central was found guilty of giving the rebates and fined $200,000.

STEWART SLATED AS AN ALTERNATE

Collins Wanted Former Mayor Named, But He is Sidetracked for Logue.

RUSSELL IS IGNORED

Echo of a Bitter Political Fight Within Democratic Ranks of Union county—Scully Gets Martine's Place as Delegate-at-Large.

Trenton, March 15.—An echo of a bitter political fight within the Democratic ranks in Union county reached the executive committee of the State Democratic committee this week when a vacancy on the slate for alternate-at-large to St. Louis convention was filled. William A. Logue, of Bridgeton, was slated to fill the gap. The committee also "recommended" Representative Scully for candidate for delegate-at-large, instead of United States Senator James E. Martine, who had refused to get into that particular race.

As to the Union county clash, it will be recalled that former Judge Clarence L. Cole had been "recommended" as one alterante when the whole committee met recently to make suggestions as to candidates. He declined, and consequently the executive committee, as the authorized body to fill vacancies, had to find somebody to put in his place.

It happened that at the session of the State committee, when the candidates for delegates and alternates were named, General Dennis F. Collins, of Elizabeth, asked that Percy H. Stewart, of Plainfield, be substituted for anyone who might retire from the alternate ticket. Immediately upon hearing that former Judge Cole had quit, Lucius T. Russell, editor of the Elizabeth Times, bearing that Collins request in mind, wrote to each member of the executive committee asking to be heard on that Stewart matter.

Russell and Collins are in a political death grip in Union county. Stewart favors the Collins faction. So it was not difficult for the committee to surmise what Russell would say if he was invited to appear. Russell has been saying it in his newspaper quite frequently. The burden of his tale is that Collins, who is president of a brewery, has been trying to run the party in Elizabeth as an annex to his brewery, and that beer is the sign manual of the vanishing Democracy in Elizabeth.

The executive committee apparently decided to take a short cut and turn down Collins without putting Russell to the trouble of traveling to Trenton on a day when the State Board of Taxes and Assessments, of which he is president, did not meet. So Stewart was sidetracked, and Logue was placed on the slate for alternate-at-large to St. Louis.

It is said that the Russell letter was not even officially brought before the meeting, and that the action of the executive committee in selecting Logue was unanimous. There was no mention of the Union county fracas in the report of the proceedings given out by Secretary William L. Dill, after the meeting, nor of the Russell letter, but it was a subject of gossip among some of the committeemen afterward.

The members of the executive committee are: Representative Scully, who was absent; James R. Nugent, Essex; J. Warren Davis, Salem; Charles F. MacDoanld, Monmouth; Johnston Cornish, Warren; Alexander J. Dunn, Ocean; Jacob Shurts, Somerset.

It had been a foregone conclusion that Scully would be substituted for Martine for delegate-at-large. The supporters of Scully as a possible contestant for the Senatorship to succeed Martine had been hoping that the Presidential primaries would have furnished an opportunity for a test of strength between the two men. When Martine "ducked" he spoiled that game, and the present outlook is that opposition to the senior Senator will not crystallize till after the national conventions.

FOWLER BITTERLY DENOUNCES WILSON

Candidate for Senator Has Kind Word for Colonel Roosevelt.

Trenton, March 5.—Former Congressman Fowler, of Union, who is a candidate for United States Senator, is for anything to best Wilson, not excepting Roosevelt. Mr. Fowler was in Trenton, mingling with legislators this week, booming his own candidacy among Republican leaders. Mr. Fowler was extreme in his denunciation of the national administration. In not a single thing does he believe it has acted wisely or well.

Hundreds of thousands will be starving after the war, he said. To prevent such a catastrophe he declared that a high protective tariff should be enacted at once. The war, Mr. Fowler contended, had temporarily saved this country the most distressful times in the history of the civilized world. The Federal reserve act he described as the worst crime ever perpetrated by a government upon a free people.

The erstwhile congressman believes there are a dozen available presidential condidates, anyone of whom can defeat Wilson. He had an especially good word to say about both Roosevelt and Burton.

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

Says you really feel clean, sweet and fresh inside, and are seldom ill.

If you are accustomed to wake up with a coated tongue, foul breath or a dull, dizzy headache; or, if your meals sour and turn into gas and acids, you have a real surprise awaiting you.

Tomorrow morning, immediately upon arising, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is intended to first neutralize and then wash out of your stomach, liver, kidneys and thirty feet of intestines all the indigestible waste, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal.

Those subject to sick headaches, backache, bilious attacks, constipation or any form of stomach trouble, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin enjoying this morning inside-bath. It is said that men and women who try this become enthusiastic and keep it up daily. It is a splendid health measure, for it is more important to keep clean and pure on the inside than on the outside, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing disease, while the bowel pores do.

The principle of bathing inside is not new, as millions of people practice it. Just as hot water and soap cleanse, purify and freshen the skin, so hot water and a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Limestone phosphate is an inexpensive white powder and almost tasteless.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

Let Electricity Do Your Work

So many things about the house can be done by Electricity now that every housewife should have the opportunity of employing electrical help.

Electricity will do your sweeping, your dusting, your laundry work, your dish-washing, your house lighting, your heating and cooking, and a dozen and one other tasks about the home.

In a word, Electricity plays the part of a servant that never takes a day off, is ready to work day or night and costs very little in wages per month.

But, to use Electricity one must have wires in the house. Every new house of any pretension, is wired; as a matter of necessity, but there are many old houses that are not wired. And as a result the occupants of these houses are denied the benefits of electrical service.

To overcome this handicap, the men engaged in the industry have arranged for a "WIRE YOUR HOME" month, March 15th to April 15th.

During this month special prices will be quoted by competent contractors for wiring homes for electricity.

The work can be done without marring floors, walls or decorations, and at reasonable cost.

It will pay you to take advantage of the special offer and have your home wired.

SOON TIME TO SWAT.

"Swat the fly" is a slogan that should not be forgotten nowadays. The time when the pests will be with us will be here before we realize it, and there are plenty of them hibernating in residences and other places that have been kept warm during the winter, who are ready to go forth breeding millions of offspring. In fact, where the circumstances are favorable, many of them have undoubtedly begun to breed already. As the Newark Evening News says, even now we should begin adopting measures to prevent their breeding where filth is not kept down. They cannot thrive except in garbage cans, ash barrels, stables, yards and similar places.

Dirt in itself, as is so well known, is not especially dangerous to human health, for in itself it does not create germs. They come from germ predecessors, and they are short lived except when they have human tissue upon which to nurture themselves, if they are germs of human disease, that is. They are rarely found in garbage and do not survive long if placed in it. Typhoid bacilli do not eixst in water for more than two weeks, and in milk they die as soon as the milk has turned sour. Germs come from predecessors, and they leave the body of a sick person through the discharges, to be communicated to a well person chiefly by coming in contact with the mucous membrane. The natural method of contagion is by direct contact. By flying, germ-laden, from discharge to contact with healthy membrane, or the food which reaches healthy membrane, the fly supplies one of the principal means whereby disease is communicated without direct contact. Absence of filth accumulations, the tight lid on the garbage can, remove the means of breeding, and food on which flies thrive. It is not too early now to begin a crusade of extermination.

THE ACTIVE AGENT AGAIN.

The easy way the gunmen of late have been making confessions as soon as arrested upon suspicion, almost leads one to the conclusion that these degenerates of the trigger and the sandbag are not the genuine article.

The promptness with which the so-called gunmen just arrested in New York have confessed to the district attorney's office the full plans of the sweatshop girls on strike in that city to kill the new employes of the sweatshop owners looks somewhat like the work of the agent provocateur.

To the man in the street it would seem that these shirtwaist makers could make much better use of their wealth than to give it to gunmen to kill or beat up men worth no more than to hire themselves out as guards for sweatshops where girls are making a fight for living wages. To others it might appear that if these sweatshop girls had so much money they would not have needed to strike for a living wage.

There is a suspicious ease about the manner in which these gunmen were detected and arrested when it is compared to the trouble New York authorities have had to arrest gunmen in other cases, in which some of the city's prominent business men have been victims and the full machinery of the law at work to apprehend them.

These men are arrested almost without effort, and can hardly wait long enough to pour their confession into the ear of the district attorney. From the viewpoint of the disinterested outsider they look like what the police call a "plant."

• • • • • •

HITTING THE TRAIL.

Judging from the reports in the Norristown Daily Register, Evangelist Biederwolf, who comes to Plainfield next month, is working wonders in the Pennsylvania city. Since he started his work there three weeks ago Sunday, he has preached to 96,650 people, and collections amounting to $7,159.91 have been received at the meetings. A total of 1,584 people have hit the trail, or over 500 a week. On Saturday last the chief of police of the city, accompanied by his wife and little daughter traveled down the sawdus, and any evangelist that can land a chief of police is "going some." The advance interest shown in this city, as proven by the attendance at prayer meetings, and the way in which the people eagerly look for the news of the campaign in the papers, proves beyond a doubt that the revival cannot fail to be a big success, and Plainfield is not a community that needs it half as much as some others. All of the expense for the work were raised in the first three weeks in Norristown, and we will be much surprised if Plainfield does not beat that record easily.

• • • • • •

It really looks as if the Legislature plans to recognize the splendid ability of the officers and men of Company K, Second Regiment, of this city, and provide a suitable armory for their use. Plainfield's crack infantry organization has developed to its high state of efficiency in spite of the fact that it has been held back by unsuitable quarters, and the $25,000 which will probably be appropriated will merely mean a tardy recognition of the work that has been done by the local soldier boys. Our congratulations go to Captain Peterson and his hustling men, with the hope that before another year rolls around they will have a suitable home to continue their splendid work.

• • • • • •

Last summer so effectively demonstrated that there has as yet been no practical way found to eradicate mosquitoes, that the Legislature has refused to consider the Dalrymple bill, which was aimed to kill off the pests. The people have been paying money for years, through their tax bills, to do away with them, and the plan has been such an utter failure that all laws compelling the expenditure of public money for the purpose should be repealed. That would be much more satisfactory than the attempt to pass additional legislation providing for appropriations for the purpose.

• • • • • •

Somehow or other we cannot believe that Plainfielders will not provide all of the $1,500 needed to entertain the letter carriers, and more too. This city has become too well known for its hospitality to let that reputation be upset when thousands of visitors are coming to go away and tell of the glories of the "Queen City of New Jersey." If you have not sent in your contribution put something in an envelope, if only a dollar, and hand it to the postman tomorrow.

• • • • • •

If the old Netherwood Hotel is torn down, as was suggested at the meeting of the Netherwood Residents' Association, that organization will earn the thanks of the people of the entire city. It would take thousands of dollars to improve it so that it would be successful as in the old days, and it might well be superseded by a number of modern residences. The site is one of the best in the city.

• • • • • •

"Boys wanted to stay in jail here," reads a headline. Chief Kiely's "hotel" seems to be popular with out of town visitors.

A RICH TURNOVER

- Proctor's Theatre -

"Three Weeks" at Proctor's Theatre, Thursday.

The management of Proctor's popular photoplay palace will today present what is said to be one of the greatest of the oldtime dramatic successes, "The Fool's Revenge," with Maude Gilbert and William Tooker in the leading roles. This is a William Fox production, and as such is a masterpiece of photoplay art, the producers sparing no expense or time to make this one of the greatest features ever released by that famous concern. In addition today Pearl White, the dashing, daring, fearless young screen star, with the assistance of Creighton Hale, Sheldon Lewis and "The Laughing Mask," will create intense excitement and interest by their thrilling adventures in the third episode of "The Iron Claw." Tomorrow will see the presentation in film form of Elinor Glyn's most famous novel, which is known all over the civilized world, "Three Weeks," a picture up in lavish style and adhering to the original novel with wonderful accuracy. Friday, the sequel of "Three Weeks," "One Day," written by the fertile mind of the same author, will be the headline attraction. No lover of amusement, either on the screen or the stage, can afford to miss either one of these extraordinary attractions, and the management is making preparations to accommodate the greatest crowd of enthusiastic theatre-goers in the history of this city. On Thursday, in addition to "Three Weeks," Charlie Chaplin will appear in one of his greatest laugh-provoking vehicles, entieled "The Bank," while on Friday the eleventh episode of "The Red Circle" will be a special attraction. Saturday, Bessie Barriscale, whose name is linked with the greatest of screen stars, will be seen in a production that awakens her wonderful sympathetic and emotional powers, entitled "Honor's Altar," a feature that literally abounds with intensely interesting dramatic and emotional situations. Charlie Chaplin will again amuse the kiddies and the older folks on Saturday in a wonderful revue of his most comical capers, entitled "His First Vacation."

You should not miss any of the above features; they are by far the greatest array of photoplays ever presented in this vicinity.

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

Paul Nicholson and Philip H. Ryley, in the new Victor Herbert musical play, "The Princess Pat," Plainfield Theatre, Wednesday, March 29, matinee and night.

The show given last night in the Plainfield Theatre can be classed among the best ever booked by the management for the local house. The bill is replete with quality and quantity, and few programs ever contained such a quota of headline calibre talent. The program will be repeated this afternoon and tonight. Like many other big programs which have been presented by the Second street playhouse, it would be a difficult matter to pick out any one of the numerous headline acts for precedence, so the theatre-going public may feel assured that no matter what position they occupy, each and every one is a feature. The bill includes: The Misses Siegele and Dunn, a clever team that has all the elements that go to make up a vaudeville offering of the very highest order. Youth, beauty and magnetism is theirs, and when added to this comes the sterling merit of their work, the rest is assured of success. The Great Lund Family render a musical act such as is worthy many times the price of admission alone. Henry Jordan, a monologist, keeps his audience in roars of laughter through the twenty minutes allotted him for his presentation. "A Little Bit of Heaven," a sketch in one act presented by Brickman and Paten, proved immensely popular, and the couple received a big hand. In Mat Keefe and Dave Irwin, comedians extraordinary, onlookers are given a treat. Their "gags" are the newest and their songs of the catchy variety. They are a sure cure for the blues. The last number on the program, the George David family of acrobats, present an act full of sensational feats as well as replete with humorous incidents, which break the spell of awe when some seemingly impossible feat is accomplished. Beside the vaudeville numbers, photoplays will occupy a portion of the program. The feature picture today is Charlie Chaplin in one of his best presentations. To morrow the third episode of the "Iron Claw" will be produced.

Among the best of the many attractions of the burlesque field on the road this season is "The Bostonians" Company, which will play an engagement at the Plainfield Theatre next Monday, matinee and night. "The Bostonians" company is said to be one of the best equipped and strongest organizations of comedians and vaudeville performers ever organized to present burlesque at popular prices. The entertainment will consist of two rollicking burlesques and an olio of excellent vaudeville acts. The burlesques will present the ensemble in a melange of mirth and melody. There will not be a moment during the action of the burlesque that there will not be something doing in the of good comedy business, music and dancing numbers and entertainers specialties. The burlesque will be staged with new and attractive settings and the costuming will be found a revelation of gorgeousness. All the elements that go to make a first-class performance of burlesque and vaudeville will be found in the entertainment to be presented by "The Bostonians" company.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How Four Kittens Got a Nice Bath Every Morning.

Mother Cat Loved Rusty Best of All.

WHEN daddy went to tell a bedtime story to his children he found Jack and Evelyn already perched on the arm of his chair. Soon as they saw him they shouted, "Oh, daddy, we want a story about kittens that live in a haymow!"

"Although Mother Cat had to depend upon a nice puppy to take care of her four kittens while she went mousing and took a little pleasure from home cares herself, she was very particular about her children's baths. Every morning soon as sunbeams began to fall across the sweet hay her family slept in she gave each kitten an affectionate cuff on his fluffy ear to wake him for the day. 'Come on, my dears,' she would say cheerfully. 'Wake up! Rusty behaved so well yesterday that I will take him first.' Then she would put on a big blue and white checked apron over her nice white fur and get out the little blue bathtub full of nice hot water and some soap that the cook in the farmhouse had once thrown away in a pail of water after mopping the floor. So into the tub sprang Rusty, and Mother Cat put some brown soap on a rag and carefully scrubbed the hayseeds out of his pretty pink ear. Being her best looking child, Mother Cat loved Rusty best of all, but she tried not to be partial. Seizing him by the nape of his neck, she would sozzle him up and down four times, wipe him with a soft towel and say, 'There now; sit in the sunbeam awhile, lick off your toes carefully so they won't freeze, and in ten minutes I will give you a nice hug!' Whiney began to whimper for her turn next; so a good ducking she got. 'Here's the washrag, my dear,' said her mother. 'Sit over there out of the draft and do your own ears.' Rosie, who was really Sympherosa and was just called Rosie for short, and Malty, being great chums, begged to get into the tub together. As this saved time, Mother Cat let them. They flung water at the drying Rusty every time her back was turned to reach the soap, and when they almost tipped the tub over she gave each a cuff on a fluffy ear, dipped them up and down in the water three times and tossed them, dripping wet, over on the hay. 'Dry yourselves romping about, you saucy kittens!' she said.

"By 7 o'clock all four kittens were as dry as bones and frisky as anything. 'Here's your breakfast,' said their mother, whipping four juicy little mice out of her apron pocket, where she had kept them all night so the puppy wouldn't find and eat them. Breakfast over, all four kittens had to go to school to the puppy. And what do you think was the first word they learned to spell?" cried daddy.

The children guessed and guessed, but they weren't very good guessers.

"Why, rat, of course!" daddy told them. "R-A-T, you know!"

CRACKERS AN ASSET

Keep on hand several boxes of crackers, sweet and otherwise. They are valuable when company arrives unexpectedly.

If a hot dish is wanted butter unsweetened crackers, put in layers in deep baking dish with grated cheese between, seasoning each layer with a little salt and cayenne, cover with boiling milk and bake until the top is brown, the crackers twice their original size and the cheese melted. An egg may be beaten up with cold milk and used instead of hot milk. It will form a delicate custard with the crackers and cheese.

For another hot dish drain a can of tomatoes, use the solid portion in place of the cheese, season liquid and pour over crackers. Bake as before.

For filling cracker sandwiches, free sardines from skin and bone, add an equal quantity of hard boiled egg, rub to a paste and season with cayenne and lemon juice. Salmon may be prepared in similar manner. Neufchatel or cream cheese may be mixed to a paste with chopped nuts or sweet peppers and seasoned with cayenne and a little salt. Chopped olives also go well with cheese. Freshly roasted peanuts chopped and mixed with butter makes a good filling, also any of the salted meats.

For a sweet any of the slightly sweetened crackers may be put together after being slightly buttered, with a filling of chopped nuts and raisins, or chopped dates and preserved ginger, or figs and nut meats with grated lemon peel, grated or shredded cocoanut mixed with powdered sugar and a little sweet cream, or cocoa, sweetened and slightly moistened wit hcream, is liked by many.

Spread crackers with marshmallows chopped in pieces, sprinkle with nuts and candied fruit finely chopped, cover with another cracker and set in oven till marshmallow is melted. Or use marshmallow cream, which may be had at grocers. It makes a delicious filling.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

When boiling macaroni or spaghetti, take small lump of butter and grease rim of vessel inside about an inch down from top. This will keep contents from boiling over.

Put some strong vinegar in your aluminum ware and heat it over the fire; will remove all tarnish and make as bright as new.

To pull out a cork when you haven't any cork puller or knife handy, take two safety pins and stick through cork horizontally; pull on top of pins; will pull cork in a hurry.

When your wash boiler springs a leak, for a quick remedy throw in a handful of corn meal; will quickly fill up the hole.

When Frying Eggs—When grease is hot, sprinkle some flour in the grease and there will be no trouble of the grease popping. It also adds to the eggs.

To Polish Eyeglasses—Most people like the use of good perfume; if anyone who wears eyeglasses will try a little on a nice soft handkerchief, to clean them with, they will find it works like magic.

THE TABLE

Shepherd Pie—To one cup chopped meat add one cup bread crumbs; moisten with sweet milk, cover top with layer of cold potatoes, season with a little butter, salt, pepper; moisten with milk. Bake in buttered tin.

Chili Con Carne—Half pound beef and half pound pork put through food chopper together. Fry same in hot skillet with one teaspoon butter and two medium-sized onions chopped fine, until brown. Add one can tomatoes strained through colander, also one can red kidney beans. Add half package spaghetti which has been boiled until tender. Season with salt and one level teaspoon chili powder, half teaspoon paprika and dash or so red pepper if desired. Cook all together twenty or thirty minutes and serve hot with saltines or rye bread, as preferred.

Favorite Brown Loaf—One egg, one-half cup sugar, one teaspoonful soda dissolved in one cup sour milk, one cup graham flour, one-half cup white flour, pinch salt. Use same rule for gems, by adding two tablespoons melted shortening.

Mock Pumpkin Pie (original)—Three eggs beaten, two tablespoons sugar, one teacup cream, six tablespoons grape jelly, one tablespoon melted butter. Flavor with nutmeg. Bake in an under crust. This makes two pies. Very good.

Marrying for Money

—By MRS. EVA LEONARD—

Nell and Olive Discuss the Party at the Townsend's.

"Well, what did you think of the party last night?" asked Nell Morton as Olive Ellson walked into the cozy living room. Ortrude had found it necessary to include friends of her own age in the list of guests, in order to have a party of impressive size.

"The party was a great success. Mrs. Townsend makes an ideal hostess. I think even Mildred would admit that. She certainly had a good time last night," replied Olive, spreading a blanket on the floor and putting the baby down to roll to her heart's content.

"What do you think of the youthful cousin?" Nell drew up a low rocker by the side of her own chair.

"Young, trustful and innocent, she has not the first inkling of convention. Her preference for Dudley's society must have been embarrassing to that young gentleman," laughed Olive.

"Yes, I saw him drowning his mortification in the frappe cup," said Nell, joining in the laugh. "Do you think Fate is already throwing the shuttle?"

"By Fate do you refer to the young wife?" Olive looked up inquiringly.

"I thought I saw signs of campaigning for the eligible Dudley. You know Dudley is very popular with the young woman. He has been polite to her." Nell smiled into Olive's face.

"All I can say is that the young Adelaide would have hectic going as soon as Marian saw that her feet were set in her brother's direction, and it would not take her long to see it either. Dudley is the apple of her eye," replied Olive.

"How about the young man himself? Would he succumb to the heaviest pressure?"

"I do not know. He is a very reserved young fellow, but often those quiet boys have lots of character, and are not easily bagged. The unhappy relations that his father's marriage have plunged the family into would make him wary, I should think." Nell embroidered in silence for a while, and then added: "Did you happen to see Mrs. Townsend when she brought Adelaide up to Dudley at the beginning of the dance and asked him to lead off? It was a natural enough thing to do, as the girl was an entire stranger, and anyone could see she was unused to society ways, but the way her eyes dwelt on them as they whirled away was significant, I thought. He changed color with surprise, but he danced with her just the same."

"Dudley is not one who would go ahead of facts. Marian does the imagining," remarked Olive.

"There was a marked contrast in the way the girls were gotten up. Marian looked girlish in her dainty white dress. It was so much more appropriate for a young girl than the costly white silk in which Adelaide was fussed up. She was so evidently rigged up to make an impression." Nell resumed her work.

"Adelaide is a very colorless girl beside that vivid little Marian. Dudley is so devoted to her that he will not have any eyes for the other one I am thinking," said Olive.

"One can never tell what a boy will do when it comes to falling in love," answered Nell sagely.

SENATOR SHIVELY, LONG ILL, IS DEAD

Indiana Congressman, Former Editor and Lawyer.

Washington, March 15.—United States Senator Benjamin Franklin Shively of Indiana died after an illness of several months.

Benjamin F. Shively was born on a farm in St. Joseph county, Ind., and would have been fifty-nine years old had he lived until next Monday. He was a son of the Rev. Joel Shively, whose father, of the same name, was a clerical pioneer in Indiana.

Mr. Shively prepared himself at the Northern Indiana normal school at Valparaiso, Ind., and at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, to become a teacher, and from 1874 to 1880 he conducted schools in the winter and farmed in the summer. He was editor of a country paper from 1880 to 1883 and was admitted to the Indiana bar in 1885.

He was elected to congress in 1884 as a Democrat to fill the unexpired term of the late Major William H. Calkins, Republican, who resigned to accept the Republican nomination for governor. He again carried his congressional district, the Thirteenth Indiana, in 1886, 1888 and 1890, although it had long been regarded as Republican. He was the youngest member in the first two houses in which he served. He was a member of the ways and means committee at a time when the tariff question was paramount.

Mr. Shively was the Democratic candidate for governor of Indiana in 1896, but failed of election. He received the complimentary vote of the Democrats in the Indiana general assembly for United States senator in 1903 and 1905.

Mr. Shively was elected by the Democratic state legislature to the United States senate for the term of 1909-15, taking his seat on March 4, 1909, and succeeded himself for a second term. He was acting chairman of the committee on foreign relations during a protracted illness of Chairman Stone.

He was always keenly interested in educational matters and for many years was a trustee of Indiana university at Bloomington. He was president of the board several years.

Mr. Shively married Miss Emma Laura Jenks at Brookville, Pa., on June 19, 1889.

N. J. PRIMARY IS ADVANCED.

Legislature Passes Measure Over Veto of Governor.

Trenton, March 15. — The primary election in New Jersey for the selection of delegates to the national conventions to nominate presidential and vice presidential candidates will be held this year on the second Tuesday in April instead of the fourth Tuesday in May, as provided for in the election laws existing before the advent of the present legislature.

The advancing of the date was finally decided when the senate by a party vote passed over Governor Fielder's veto assembly bill 523. The bill was passed over the governor's veto by the assembly last night.

SAY MINE SUNK SILIUS.

Three of Seven Rescued Americans Are on Way to New York.

Washington, March 15.—Reports received in official circles indicated that a floating mine and not a submarine sank the Norwegian bark Silius, from which seven Americans were rescued in Havre Roads. Telegraphic reports from Consul Osborne at Havre have so far given no hint that the ship was sunk by a torpedo. The German government takes the view that the sinking of the Silius in no way involves Germany.

SHOT MILKMAN AS BURGLAR.

Elizabeth Barber Fires Bullet Through Door, Hitting Caller.

Elizabeth, March 15. — George W. Ralph, a milk wagon driver, was shot in the neck by Robert Paladino, a barber, of 256 Livingston street, who thought he was a burglar. The shot was fired through the panel of a door leading from a back room into the barber shop.

Ralph, after he was wounded, jumped into the wagon he was delivering milk from and owned by the Alderney Dairy company and drove to the Alexian hospital. Surgeons at the hospital applied X rays in efforts to find the bullet, but without success, and Ralph is now lying near death. Paladino was arrested and held for action of the county criminal court.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

Mr. Earley has gained the privilege for the pupils of the high school to have access to the Plainfield Public Library if their parents own property. Heretofore, the pupils were not allowed to take books from the library, and Mr. Earley, feeling that it was an injustice or an oversight, took the matter up with the proper authorities, who granted the privilege.

The new singing books have arrived. They include many grand operas, and will be used solely for chorus work.

The high school quartet has been holding rehearsals and will probably sing before the school shortly. Alfred Willett has been substituted for the first bass, in place of Harold Lunger, who left school.

Alec Diplock, of the Junior class, read an interesting letter, yesterday, from his brother, who is fighting in France under the British colors. It described many an exciting episode, while it also gave an idea of army life on and off the firing line.

Lester Chandler, '15, who is taking a biological and public health course at Boston Tech., has been made an assistant to the professor of the biological laboratory. Chandler has made considerable progress since his entrance into that institution, his recognized ability winning him the position.

The members of the Senior class are now busily engaged with their essays, which are required before graduation, and must be presented to the English department before April 15.

Miss Mohring has granted the physic pupils the privilege of putting in extra laboratory periods now, thus discontinuing the afternoon sessions when the weather gets warmer. The pupils have one hundred experiments, as their objective, and are striving hard to reach this goal. Three-quarters of that number have already been accomplished.

After much deliberation, the various parts for "The Deacon's Elopement," which is to be given by the Junior class, have been chosen. Miss Duchesne has selected the following for the different parts: Katharine Britting, Marguerite Barkelew, Lillian Spencer, Margaret Smith, William Seidel, Robert Daley, Alfred Willett, Kenneth Laurie and William Carson.

Weather Forecast.

Snow in the interior; snow or rain in extreme south portion; colder by night; strong northeast to north winds.

WEATHER EVERYWHERE.

Observations of the United States weather bureau taken at 8 p. m. yesterday follow:

| | Temp. | Weather. |
|---|---|---|
| Albany | 28 | Snow |
| Atlantic City | 38 | Rain |
| Boston | 34 | Snow |
| Buffalo | 18 | Snow |
| Chicago | 30 | Cloudy |
| St. Louis | 32 | Cloudy |
| New Orleans | 70 | Cloudy |
| New York | 37 | Rain |

OUCH! LUMBAGO! RUB PAINS FROM SORE, LAME BACK

Rub Backache away with small trial bottle of old, penetrating St. Jacob's Oil.

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back and out comes the pain. It is harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had a backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years.

is the new flatness front and back. Most of the French couturiers show this, with more or less fullness and flare at the sides. But the method of treatment is so diverse, it results in a fascinating variety of style which can be summed up only in the word "potpourri."

The new flatness heralds the beginning of satins.

Etamine, the old spotted foulard, rich satins, white mohair, oatmeal tweeds—are all used in tailored suits. Colors were never so daringly and daintily blended.

And though the mode today is a caprice, this collection is so beautifully chosen and so well represents fashion as its various creators interpret it, that we are sure the elegante of New York will find no difficulty in choosing a hat no matter what her type.

The exposition presents—

—the new straws—copeaux, paille matee, paille frangee, paillasson, crin, milan, et paille d'Italie, lisere.

—the new trimmings—glace ribbons, foliage and flowers; feathers, trimmings, argents or bronze, and an abundance of charming straw garnitures.

—the new colors—bleu horizon, vert prairie, tourterelle gris, ecaille blonde, chataigne.

At this formal opening of the Salon of French Millinery there will be launched in New York.

La Mode Louis XIII

This mode has developed quite naturally as all successful fashions do.

It is the hat in harmonious contrast with the silhouette of the new gowns.

And the Louis XIII. hat are long in front, long in back and narrow at the sides.

Which, you see, makes the silhouette quite perfect.

Our French premiere sensed the mode Louis XIII. in Paris. She recognized the tendency. She went to the archives to confirm her deductions. Yes, the Louis XIII. fashions with their ampleur at the hips, their closely worn hair, decidedly suggested the fashion of today. So with her head full of old prints and old portraits she came to America and has here brought to perfection the Louis XIII. mode.

Events have proved how right she was, for French hats lately arrived have shown a growing tendency to the long oval Louis XIII. line.

La Mode Louis XIII. Admits of Many Interpretations

One may have a Louis XIII. street hat, a Louis XIII. garden hat, a Louis XIII. restaurant hat and they will all be quite different.

The honor of your visit is asked to see the new fashion.

Tomorrow night—Plainfield at Elizabeth.

New Brunswick last night made sure of the Elks' Junior League championship by winning one game at Elizabeth. The College Towners, with six games left to roll, needed only one game to clinch the title, and although Elizabeth won the first two games last night, the boys from the Raritan gained their needed victory in the last game of the series.

Big scores ruled last night. Elizabeth pinners hit 1003 in the first game, going one pin over their previous high score record. They shot 970 in the second game. In the last fight the visitors totaled 978, a mark equal to their best score of the season.

John Van Bergen hit 246 and 221 for an average of 218.2. Hirsch shot 245 for New Brunswick, and averaged 202. Gathman rolled 212 and 218 for an even 200 average.

Eddie Burke, the Elizabeth Tabs' baseball player, rolled his first championship game with Elizabeth. Taylor walloped out marks of 209 and 224 for Brunswick, and Harding put up 203.

PEGS AND P. H. S. SIX TO MEET AT P. H. S. FRIDAY

An interesting basketball game is scheduled for Friday night in the Plainfield High School. The Plainfield High School girls' team will meet the P. E. G. S. first team aggregation. The school girls have been playing more often than the "Pegs," but, nevertheless, the latter have been keeping weekly practices, and expect to give a good account of themselves.

The two teams will probably line up as follows:

P. H. S.—Misses Irma Good and Elsa Palmer, forwards; Clementine Bremble and Natalie Goetter, centers; Jennie Bremble and Priscilla Pennock, guards.

P. E. G. S.—Misses Helen Hummel and Helen Bryniarski, forwards; Mildred McAuliffe and Lucy Johnson, centers; Clara Smith and Elsie Debele, guards.

ELKS' JUNIOR LEAGUE WILL CONVENE IN ELIZABETH HOME

The meeting of the Elks' Junior Bowling League tomorrow night will be held at Elizabeth instead of at Jersey City. The change has been made because Elizabeth is more centrally located, and because two of the teams, Plainfield and Elizabeth, will be bowling there that night. A committee, to obtain the prizes, will be appointed, and the members will go to New York Friday to make the purchases.

Close pinning marked the seven matches decided last night in the Gates' individual tournament. So evenly matched were the bowlers who were opposed, that not one of the seven matches was won in straight games.

Harry Radin rolled nine games, losing two to Jack Connolly, two to George Rohrs and one to Peter Van Zandt. Connolly lost the odd to Rohrs and Smith. Rohrs won the rubber from Smith on a roll-off, and Voorhees took two from Jonap. Voorhees rolled 238, Connolly 222, Radin 212, Rohrs 203 and 199, and Smith 202 and 201.

WILLARD GETTING DOWN TO HARD WORK FOR BIG FIGHT

Jess Willard is taking his training more seriously every day. He works much harder in private at the Pioneer Club than he did last week with a big crowd looking on. The champion says he can work better when only a few are watching him, and his accomplishments since the throngs of spectators were barred from his quarters bears out this statement.

Moran Rests.

Frank Moran had a day of rest from gymnasium work and boxing yesterday. In the morning he took his usual morning jaunt of five miles, and in the afternoon took a ride in his car.

"Frank is in wonderful shape," said Trainer Willie Lewis yesterday. "He weighs 202½ pounds and is as hard as iron."

Wenck Will Not Resign.

The numerous rumors of Fred A. Wenck's resignation as Chairman of the State Athletic Commission did not disturb that official much yesterday and he lightly waved aside any probability that he would be unseated.

Won't Stop Bout.

Albany, March 15.—The attempt of Assemblyman Martin G. McCue, of New York, to prevent by Legislative action the Jess Willard-Frank Moran boxing contest met with failure yesterday.

KAUFF IN CAMP; ROUSCH AND ROBERTSON ON HAND

Marlin, Texas, March 15.—Within two hours after reporting to Manager McGraw here yesterday, Benny Kauff, the season's most celebrated hold-out, was hard at work in a New York uniform, and by the end of the week he expects to be in shape to take part in the exhibition games.

Dave Robertson has an injured hip, and will probably not join the club until after the season opens. Ed. Rousch is still holding out for more money.

LOCAL ELKS AT ELIZABETH.

For the third time this season, a date has been set for the Elks' Junior League match, Plainfield at Elizabeth, which series is now carded for tomorrow night. The match was originally scheduled for February 22, and was later billed for March 2, being postponed both times.

BRITT MARTIN WILL MANAGE HOPE NINE

Ex-Saurer Leader Elected to the Athletic Board of the Chapel.

Britt Martin will probably manage the Hope Chapel nine in the City Baseball League this year. The veteran has been elected to a place on the athletic board of the chapel, succeeding his brother, Jack, who has departed for the South.

Britt has managed the Saurer club for the last few seasons, but the International Motor Company plant will not be represented on the diamond this year. Some other Saurer players are expected to play on Hope this season. The Fourth streeters will also make an effort to land Jimmy Emery, who has announced his intention of not playing league ball this summer.

The Hopes will again play their home games on the Soccer Field diamond. The team finished in fifth place in the league last year. Several of the old players will remain on the squad, one of them who is sure of a place being Dick Schott, the pitcher.

SPORT NOTES

This week's big boxing mill is at St. Paul, where Mike Gibbons meets Jeff Smith on Friday night, the fellow who whipped Les Darcy, the Australian wonder, and he is expected to give Mike a better argument that Young Ahearn brought out to Minnesota.

Charles Ellis, the new three-cushion cue champion, must answer many knocks on the door without delay. Early in April he must defend his title against August Kieckhefer, the Chicagoan, and if he still holds the title he must go against Maupome. And he must go strong, for of the five defeats he has suffered this season, the Chicagoan administered one and the St. Louis player, three.

The fight champs are gathering in high numbers in New York, and there will be some mitts swinging for championship stakes on the evening before the big Willard-Moran bout. Freddie Welsh is matched with Young Brown, Johnny Kilbane promises to meet Harry Donohue, of Peoria, and Johnny Ertle is booked with Mickey Dunn.

The Pacific Coast has sent two basketball teams to the national championship tournament which opens today in Chicago. The Olympic quintet, which won the championship last year, will defend its crown. The Oakland team, which came East with them, is also fast, and was the runner-up last year.

Track athletics is resumed between Cornell and Michigan, and the relay teams from these universities will compete in the two-mile event at Buffalo next Saturday.

Princeton, Lehigh, Columbia, Pennsylvania and Cornell will take part in the intercollegiate wrestling tournament which will take place Friday and Saturday at the Princeton gymnasium.

Friday night—P. O. S. of A. vs. Juniors.

In one of the most exciting matches of the season the Baracas, of the Dunellen League, defeated the O. Z. T., the league leaders, on the Presbyterian alleys, last evening, taking two games out of three. The O. Z. T. pinners still maintain the leadership of the league with a percentage of .750, as against .667 for the Baracas.

The Baracas broke the high team score record in the first game, when they knocked the pins over for a count of 902. The previous record of 894 was held by the O. Z. T.'s. The latter team, with a handicap of 50, put up 913 in the second game.

The most consistent bowling of the night was done by Fromeyer, the Baraca anchor.

BASKETBALL CHAMPS ELECT TO GET FOES, NOT MEDALS

At a meeting of the basketball team held at the Plainfield High School yesterday afternoon, it was decided to take watchfobs, with a gold basketball as the pendant, instead of medals, as a token of winning the interscholastic championship in the season just closed. It is probable that they will be awarded at chapel exercises at the same time the loving cup offered by the Daily Press is presented. The election of a captain will not take place until after the picture is taken, but the race will be between Arthur Kyle and Robert McDowell.

VAUGHAN TO COACH EXETER.

Harry Vaughan, a former Yale football star, has been engaged to coach the Phillips-Exeter Academy eleven, it was learned last night. He will succeed T. A. D. Jones, who resigned to become head coach at Yale.

PLAINFIELD ELKS LOSE TO PATERSON

Finish 33, 55 and 81 Points to Bad in Junior League Match Rolled Here.

Paterson Elks won all three games of an Elks' Junior League series at the Elks' Club here last night. The Silk City tribe spilled the maples for 925 and 902. Plainfield lost by margins of 33, 55 and 81 pins.

Bill Simpson returned the only select score on the home side of the score board. He bowled 210 in the last game. Romary and Roth made 208 and 212, respectively.

UNITED HUNTS MEET DATED FOR MAY 13

Entry Blanks Out for the Two Days of Racing at Spring Meeting.

Dates were announced yesterday for the two-day meeting of the United Hunts Racing Association which will be held this spring. The opening day will be Saturday, May 13, and the other will be Wednesday, May 17.

The entry blanks, which have just been issued, show thirteen races, seven for the first day and six on the final day. The feature of the first day's program is the Great United Hunts Steeplechase, which has a preliminary closing on March 23. The other events will remain open until April 20. This handicap is for four-year-olds and upward, over a two and onehalf mile course, and has a value of $5,000, $3,500 going to the winner.

The race also carries a valuable piece of plate, which has to be won twice, not necessarily consecutively. The entrance fee is $50, with an additional $100 if entered by March 23. Owners waiting until April 20 will have to pay $200 more. The long-distance event on the program is the Timber Toppers Champion Chase, over a four-mile course. This race has the value of $1,000, and is open to all hunters duly registered with the hunts committee of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association or the Canadian Association.

One of the oldest races connected with this meeting, the Shinnock, will be run on the final day. This is another handicap steeplechase for four-yearolds and upward. The distance is two miles over a brush course. The purse is $1,500, $1,000 of which goes to the winner, with a piece of plate. Gentlemeen riders will be allowed five pounds off from the weights assigned.

EXCELLENT ATTRACTIONS IN TABS' HALL FRIDAY NIGHT

Next Friday night the T. A. B. S. court will be the scene of a great battle between the Knights of Columbus and the T. A. B. S. In a preliminary game, the Inner-Triangles, a fast Junior team of Netherwood, will play the Scotch Plains Parish House Juniors at 8:15 sharp. Dancing will be enjoyed after the games, and the admission fee will be twenty-five cents.

STARS IN MANHATTAN GAMES.

More than 500 entries have been received for the annual indoor games of Manhattan College, which will be held tonight at the Twenty-second Corps of Engineers Armory, New York. The "Jasper Three-Quarter" will be the star race of the program, and will bring together Dave Caldwell, Devanny, Overton, Sid Leslie, Homer Baker, and Jim Powers. The College of the City of New York has entered a team in a match relay race against the Manhattan quartet for a special trophy. Among the other entries are many of the fastest runners in the East.

Y. W. C. A.

The basketball team will go to Easton, Pa., Saturday, to play the return game with the association girls of that place. The young women who will represent the local association will be the Misses Ellen Doughty, Laura Smith, Nettie Steiner, Dora Loetzer, Ethel Blazier and Lucy Johnson. Miss Winifred Mann, the coach, will accompany the girls. They will remain the guests of the Easton girls over the week-end, and will return to this city Sunday afternoon.

KENNEL CLUB MEETING.

The Plainfield Kennel Club members will meet tonight in the Queen City Hotel.

Local Sport News, Views, Reviews and Interviews

EXHIBITION AND OPPOSITION.

If the St. Christopher's are brought to this city again, the promoters who stage the match should provide some strong out-of-town quintet to oppose the speedy New York basketballers. In their previous exhibition here, the colored passers from Manhattan Isle have routed the best local opposition they have encountered, and the games, as far as the contest element is concerned, have been failures. The St. Christopher's have never shown a local audience how well they can play when they are pitted against worthy rivals, and such a game would be worth going miles to see. The players from the big New York church are no miracle shooters, but their passing has never been excelled on a local court.

• • • • • •

The Imperials' hard earned claims on the city bowling championship are being disputed. The defi to the new champions has been longer arriving than usual, but, strange to say, it comes from the very coterie from which the Gates team was picked. It would surely be easy pickin's for any challengers to wrest in three or six games a title for which the Imps had to roll twenty games, against three rivals. The Canadians or any other team may defeat the champions and get all the credit that goes with the achievement, but the championship crown will stay with the Imps for one full year before any other quintet will have a chance to wear it.

• • • • • •

Miss Molla Bjurstedt, who showed on the Plainfield Country Club tennis courts last summer how she won all the important titles of 1915, has Miss Marie Wagner for a partner in the doubles of the women's national indoor championship now being held in New York. The champion's teaming with Miss Wagner is said to be a partnership which has been formed to last throughout the summer, in which case Miss Bjurstedt, who has never been as successful playing with a partner as she has been in the singles, will probably win the doubles titles with the same ease that she now annexes the singles.

• • • • • •

Clubs in the City Baseball League are beginning to stir. The Tabs have elected Jim Scott manager; Britt Martin will lead Hope Chapel; the First Baptists, who will be managed by Dune Patterson, will meet tomorrow night; the Clinton Avenues are earning money to carry them through the season; the Netherwoods have been ready for the season's opening several weeks now; and the Plainfield A. A., having concluded its basketball season, is ready to turn its attention to baseball. The early activity promises much for the interest all hands expect to take in the league doings this summer.

• • • • • •

Squash players who represent Plainfield in the Interclub League recorded one of their most notable victories in disposing of the Montclair Athletic Club raequeters here Saturday. The local team has won every match it has played in the league so far, having defeated every rival. The team will probably be called upon to face the strongest teams that Englewood and Montclair can muster in its two remaining matches. A victory in either tussle will bring the pennant to Plainfield.

• • • • • •

Platt Adams, formerly the world's greatest all-around jumper, will endeavor to come back Saturday night, in the national indoor championship games in New York. The former Plainfield Y. M. C. A. competitor is entered in the standing high and standing broad. Last summer, Adams was hurt playing baseball, and he has not been in an athletic meet this winter.

• • • • • •

No gun club in the State could have presented a busier scene than at the Climax Gun Club traps Saturday. With its own ranks swollen by the presence of the Flemington shooters and a couple of professionals, the Plainfield avenue club had the largest crowd out in its history. Such a turnout is an unmistakable sign of a flourishing gun club.

WILL NOT SUPPORT SENATOR MARTINE

Union County Federation of Patriotic Societies Will Oppose His Re-election.

Elizabeth, March 14.—Charging Senator James E. Martine with having opposed most of the important measures in which it is interested, the Union County Federation of Patriotic Societies has announced that it will not support him for re-election and that it will, if necessary, conduct an active campaign against him.

The Senator's opposition to the Burnett Immigration Bill has also condemned him in the eyes of the Federation as they believe the bill to be a constructive one that would not only reduce the immigration to this country but also enable it to assimilate, in some measure, the great mass of foreigners in this country who have not, and many of whom will not, become naturalized citizens. The Federation seeks the passage of any bill that will benefit our country and its institutions.

The Federation also declares that Senator Martine has expressed antagonism to certain newspapers and has taken the position that he would, if occasion offered, welcome their suppression. Should either of the anti-free press bills now in committee in the House of Representatives, be considered by the Senate, the Federation claims that it has just cause to believe that the Senator will line up with the supporters of the bills. Although given the opportunity he has failed to express himself with regard to the bills mentioned.

With the Senator's general service as a representative of the people, the Federation has little to say in commendation. This announcement makes clear the Federation's attitude toward the coming campaign.

BIEDERWOLF CHOIR TO SING AT UNION SERVICE

At the union prayer service to be held in the First Presbyterian church this evening the members of the Biederwolf choir unit number one will lead in the song service to begin at 7:45. This part of the service will be in charge of Clifford A. Braider and Miss Gertrude Sharp will play, assisted by members of the orchestra of the First Methodist Sunday-school orchestra.

PROBE IS UP TO FIRE COMMITTEE

Council Gives That Body Authority to Make An Investigation.

MAY DODGE PUBLICITY

Hearing on Lyle Charges Against Fire Department to Be Held Soon —Conference on Matter Was Kept Quiet.

Whether or not the public is to be kept informed of developments in the investigation resulting from charges recently made by J. Irvine Lyle, of 1200 West Seventh street, that the Plainfield fire department is inefficient is a matter that now rests in the hands of the fire committee of the Common Council.

At a conference of all members of the Council held Tuesday evening, from which newspaper men were excluded, it was decided to leave the investigation with the fire committee. No announcement of the plans of that body has been made. Members of the Council also agreed that statements for the public should come from Chairman Cose, of that body, but nothing has been heard from Mr. Cose.

Some members of the Council favor a public hearing. They believe that the interests of the city can best be served by having all facts concerning the Lyle complaint brought out in open meetings. It is possible, however, that the fire committee may decide to conduct the investigation behind closed doors.

Mr. Lyle has filed no formal charges against Chief Doane, but cited certain statements of witnesses to a fire at his home on the night of January 18 on which he based the assertion that the firemen were improperly directed in extinguishing the blaze. He insists that the loss was above what it should have been and asks that an investigation be made for the purpose of deciding whether or not changes in the department are necessary. All of Mr. Lyle's evidence is in. His letter to the Mayor and Council was accompanied by signed statements from a number of witnesses, among them being Donald Hylan, son of Councilman Hylan. Members of the fire committee will probably ask these people to come before them, but will not have the authority to force attendance. They will then give Chief Doane and other members of the department the privilege of presenting any evidence they see fit.

TO TELL OF ENGLISH WAR RELIEF WORK

Mrs. Bertrand Russell, of London, to Speak in This City Monday Night.

The Hon. Mrs. Bertrand Russell, of London, England, who spoke at a tea given in her honor in Plainfield last week has consented to return and speak at a larger meeting on "English War Relief Work." Her informal talk at the tea so interested those completed so that all who desire may completed so tha all who desire may have a chance to hear her at the parish house of the Congregational curch, on Seventh street and Madison avenue, next Monday avening, at 8:15 o'clock.

Mrs. Russell is only to be in the United States a few weeks and has been in great demand to speak at important meetings in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, and Canada. In Washington Mrs. Russell was the guest of the British Ambassador, and speaks with intimate knowledge of the conditions and work in the countries at war.

This lecture is given under the patronage of Mrs. C. T. Lincoln, Mrs. Charles A. Eaton, Mrs. J. Sheridan Zelie, Mrs E. Vicars StSevenson, Mrs. D. H. Rowland, Mrs. W. H. Murray, Mrs Bond Thomas, Mrs Leighton Calkins, Mrs. J. M-Charles, Mrs Allan Cowperthwaite, Mrs. F. C. Ard, Mrs. L. H. Van Buren, Mrs. George L. Babcock, Mrs. U. L. Conrad, Mrs. M. B. Mellor, Mrs. Story Rowland

VARLEY'S SPRING OPENING.

Varley's annual spring millinery opening began in the West Front street store this morning, and special attention will be directed to the display of season models tomorrow and Saturday. The assortment includes the newest creations in moderately-priced headwear, and the proprietor has extended a cordial invitation to the public in general to view the exhibit in "The Paris."

ELKS DANCE TONIGHT.

The entertainment committee of Plainfield lodge of Elks will conduct a St. Patrick's Day Eve reception and dance in the Watchung avenue clubhouse tonight. A number of new features particularly appropriate to St. Patrick's Day will be introduced and assurance is given that the affair will be one of the largest attended of the season.

RELIEF WORKERS TO CONDUCT CAMPAIGN

Prince of Wales Committee Decides on Impersonal Plan to Secure Needed Fnuds.

At a special meeting of the local branch of the Prince of Wales Relief for Soldiers and Sailors, held in Grace Church Parish House this morning, the members unanimously voted to begin what is to be styled an "Alphabetic Campaign," for the purpose of raising funds to carry on the work through the summer. The proceedings will be of an impersonal nature, the amounts contributed by each member being shown only by an alphabetical letter and number on a blocked map. The campaign will begin on March 23 and will continue until the last Thursday of May. Membership cards will be given out at the meeting next week and the committee urges that all be present to receive them.

According to the plans for the campaign as already mapped out, each participant is to contribute at least three dollars and as much more as she can raise. In order to secure larger amounts, various social affairs will be held according to the talent of the giver and the capacity of her home. The members will be allowed to join in conducting the larger entertainments, each one reciving a proportionate share of the proceeds for her contributions. The dates of these will be announced from time to time. More supplies were made at the regular working session this morning and it was stated after everything had been packed the New Jersey Branch has now shipped a grand total of 118,000 hospital requisites for the wounded soldiers and sailors in Europe.

AUTO DAMAGE SUIT ENDS IN MISTRIAL

Court Holds That Testimony of One of the Complainants Had Prejudiced Jury.

Elizabeth, March 16.—The suit of Andrew Gibson and wife, of Clark township, against Mrs. Louise H. Underhill, of North Plainfield, as a result of an auto and carriage collision in Rahway, ended in a mistrial in the Circuit Court yesterday.

Judge George S. Silzer directed that the case go over until the May term after Gibson had testified that he had been examined by an insurance company physician. The court held that this testimony had prejudiced the case to the jury.

Gibson sustained a stroke of apoplexy following the accident. It occurred August 18, when he and his wife were in a carriage with which Mrs. Underhill's auto collided. He seeks $5,000 compensation, while his wife asks $2,500.

GEORGE CORLIES, OF JERSEY CITY, LEASES THE ASTOR

George Corlies, of Jersey City, yesterday signed the lease for the Astor moving picture theatre on West Front street, and beginning next Monday will operate the same as a successor to the former company, which gave up the lease. It is said that Mr. Corlies expects to form a company of which he will be the head and that the same picture service which has been given at the theatre will be continued.

Frank Hall is the president of the company which operates a chain of moving picture theatres known as the Astor and some time ago it was known that this company did not intend to renew its lease with Abrams and Drier for the local theatre, deciding to devote its attention to its enterprises in the larger cities.

PRIZE SILVER CAMPINE.

Adam Fritts, the borough fireman who spends his spare time in mounting animals, has delivered to W. J. Trembath the prize silver campine cockerel, which died of a cold two weeks ago. This bird won two silver cups and 35 ribbons for Mr. Trembath. The last blue ribbon was won at Charlestown, West Va., a short time ago.

PINOCHLE MATCHES.

The second matches of the Borough Pinochle Club will be played this evening when the Fire Department meets the Domino Club at the latter's quarters and Gaub's barbershop tackles the Republican Club in the rooms of the club.

STEAMSHIP IS ON ROCKS.

Washington, March 16.—The Arlington wireless station today reported the steamship William Bisbee, of Rockland, Me., in distress, ten miles off Cape Cod. Coastguard cutters have gone to her aid.

TO RECEIVE BIDS.

At tomorrow evening's meeting of the Borough Council bids will be opened for a motor fire truck and the contract of making the addition to fire headquarters.

A reception will be tendered to the members recently received in the membership of Grace M. E. church in that church this evening.

EGYPT'S NEWS AND PROBLEMS DISCUSSED

Mrs. Helen B. Montgomery Gives First of Series of Lenten Talks.

Using her own book, "The King's Highway," Mrs. Helen Barrett Montgomery, addressed a large gathering in the first Baptist church yesterday afternoon, when she discoursed informally on the first chapter, "Egypt's News and Problems," and her travels and experiences in visiting mission stations in the Orient. Opening her talk, Mrs. Montgomery explained the meaning of the title of her book, which was built and developed from that one figure "highway." People have gone before on the highways of water and land and through their sufferings, hunger and persecution the highway of ease was opened to the civilization of today. Taking the same thought she applied it to everyday life and pictured the many missionaries scattered through the world. Their being was made possible through the thousands of persons who have gone before and conquered life's difficulties for them. Whether in the home, school, office or in foreign lands, all are bent on the same errand—they are a part of the highway and God's mission to the world.

When the missionaries were first sent to Africa, after a few years of settlement they died, and the usual answer was that our people cannot live in that climate. Scientists, however, have delved into the causes and have opened a highway whereby the establishment of churches and schools was made possible, and today we have thousands working in the foreign field. In just this same way a material preparation was necessary for a spiritual highway in order to Christianize the East.

During her talk Mrs. Montgomery spoke of the United Presbyterian Mission in Egypt, which is called the "American Mission," and is not designated by the denominational name. She said these people went there to convey the message of Christianity to the Moslems and not the differentiating points in their sect. It matters not whether you are Episcopal, Baptist, Presbyterian or any other denomination, when you get down to rockbottom you will agree with me that you all have the same message to bear—you all believe in the same God, the same eternal home and the same cure for sin." The work of the Edinburgh Extension Committee took up a portion of the speaker's address. Next Wednesday Mrs. Montgomery will take up the second chapter of her book.

POOREST POLICE STATION HE EVER SLEPT IN, HE SAYS

It looks like Chief Kiely will be forced to put in feather beds. Some of his customers are kicking. One, his name was John McLean, protested so vigorously against the accommodations provided at the city's hostelry that his objections amounted to disorderly conduct. McLean was a volunteer boarder. Last night he got too drunk to go home, or was without a home anyway, so he went to the police station and asked for a bed. Sergt. Saffron obligingly gave him the best in the house. There was no bath in the room, but had plenty of running water, for it was in the rear near the sink.

A few minutes after McLean retired he came back to the desk. "This is the poorest jail I ever slept in," he declared. "The beds are rotten." After abusing Plainfield, the police station, and the bed for a few minutes McLean found himself locked in a cell, where no one objected to his talking because no one could hear. Judge DeMeza gave him a good lecture on the evils of drink this morning and upon his promise to quit drinking for a year he was released.

ANNUAL SPRING COUNCIL TO CONVENE AT CAMDEN

The annual spring council of State officers and presidents of the Mothers' Congress and Parent-Teacher Association of New Jersey will be held in the Camden High School, Saturday morning, March 18, at 10:30. At this gathering presidents will report the work of their associations, and have an opportunity to ask for suggestions from the experience of others, as open discussions are necessary for successful, united work.

The council will be under the supervision of the Parent-Teacher Associations of Camden. A box luncheon is requested, and tea and coffee will be provided for all congress members. The following Plainfield women are officers in the congress: Mrs. Stephen H. Voorhees, press representative on the board of managers; Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, chairman of the bureau of speakers and members of the standing committee; Mrs. William M. Sandford, third vice-president, and Mrs. A. B. Jones, chairman of public recreation work and member of the standing committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doeringer, of Vine street, are parents of a daughter, born to them yesterday

BIG LINER SUNK BY GERMAN MINE

Dutch Passenger Ship Turbania Goes Down in the North Sea.

PASSENGERS ESCAPE

One of Newest Ships Afloat—Had 300 in Crew—Berlin and Paris Report Positions Around Verdun Unchanged.

Believe She Struck Mine.

London, March 16.—The Tubantie went down in the North Sea, north of Hinder Sands. The vessel was one of the finest ships in the South American trade, and was practically a new boat. The vessel sailed from Amsterdam for Buenos Aires and other ports on Wednesday. In addition to passengers, the vessel carried a crew of 300. The destruction of the ship occurred in waters that are said to have been mined recently by German submarines. Wireless stations along the southeast coast ebgan picking up S. O. S. calls from the Tubantia about 3 o'clock this morning, and tugs were at once sent to her assistance from Dover. The wireless operator on the steamer reported that the vessel was badly damaged and sinking fast. A big hole was torn in the Tubantia amidships. The disaster occurred between 2 and 3 o'clock. Most of the survivors believed that the destruction of the vessel was caused by a mine. They based this opinion on the belief that it was too dark for a submarine to aim a torpedo. Although no definite information was received on the subject, it was believed that there were citizens of the United States on board.

Was Afloat Three Hours.

Amsterdam, March 16.—All the passengers and crew of the Dutch liner Tubantia are believed to have been saved. The vessel remained afloat for three hours after she had been struck by a mine or torpedo, giving the persons on board plenty of time to escape.

Roumania Breaks with Bulgaria.

Rome, March 16.—Bulgaria and Roumania have broken off all commercial relations, according to the Agenzia Nazionale.

& Verdun Positions Unchanged.

Berlin, March 16.—German war statement:

Western theatre: "nI Flanders, especially upon the coast, artillery actions were violent. There was heavy artillery fire at Roxe, Ville Aux Bois and in Champagne. South of St. Souplet and west of the Somme py Souain road, in Champagne, the French unsuccessfully attacked our positions. We captured two officers, 150 men and two machine guns. On the left bank of the Meuse, attempts by the enemy to dislodge us from our positions on Le Mort and in the woods to the north of the hill were frustrated at the very outset. Between the Meuse and Moselle rivers the positions are unchanged. South of Lower Aspach we penetrated a trench of the enemy, destroyed the position and returned to our own lines with a few prisoners. A French aeroplane was shot down at Beine; the occupents were burned to death. An enemy aeroplans on March 13 and 15 bombarded the Germon military hospital at Labry. No damage of military importance was done, but two women and two children were injured."

Napelle Succeeds Von Tirpitz.

Berlin, March 16.—Official announcement was made today that Admiral Alfred Von Tirpitz, German Minister of Marine, has resigned because of illness. Admiral Von Napelle, director of the Administration Department of the Admiralty, has been appointed successor to Admiral Von Tirpitz.

French Destroy Supply Trains.

Paris, March 16.—The official communique was issued by the French war office today:

"Our patrols have reported that a destructive fire from our artillery directed against the German organizations in the coastal region of Nieuport yesterday evening completely wrecked communicating trenches and killed a number of the enemy. In the region to the north of Verdun, no infantry actions were reported during the night. Our artillery has violently bombarded the region west of Douaumont, where the enemy was building earthworks. In the Woevre we have bombarded numerous supply trains east of Apremont forest. A surprise attack on a German trench enabled us to inflict some losses on the enemy and to capture some prisoners."

To Discuss U. S. Relations.

London, March 16.—A despatch from Berlin says that it is probable that Friday and Saturday next week will be devoted by the Reichstag to an open discussion of the international situation and political problems that have arisen from Germany's methods of submarine warfare. A special committee has found a general desire by all parties for frank talking on the motives underlying the attitude of the government toward neutral powers, particularly the United States.

DEATH CLAIMS AGED BOROUGH RESIDENT

Mrs. Kaspar Bolsterle Passes Away After An Illness of Many Years.

Following an illness which had extended over a period of eight years, death came shortly before noon today to Mrs. Kaspar Bolsterle, one of the oldest and best known residents of the borough. The end came at her home on Watchung avenue with all but two of her immediate relatives in attendance as it has been known for several days that her condition was hopeless. Her illness was the result of complications following paralysis, and though at times during her long invalidism when her sufferings were acute, she bore the ordeal with remarkable fortitude.

Mrs. Bolsterle was born at Mt. Bethel, seventy-two years ago, her maiden name being Providence Ann Bird. When she was a mere girl her parents removed to North Plainfield and she was married to Mr. Bolsterle at their residence on Somerset street, April 11, 1863. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Day, then pastor of the First M. E. church, of this city. Shortly after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Bolsterle went West for two years and on returning made their home in Lebanon, Hunterdon county, where they lived for fifteen years. In 1881 they moved to North Plainfield, where they have made their home ever since.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bolsterle made hosts of friends locally and they have always been held in the highest esteem, by their neighbors and closest acquaintances. On April 11, 1913, they were given a reception in honor of their golden wedding, which was attended by nearly one hundred persons and which proved to be one of the happiest events of their lives. Mrs. Bolsterle was an invalid at the time but was cheered up by the kind congratulations and scores of handsome gifts. Mr. Bolsterle is a thirty-second degree Mason, being one of the oldest members of Jerusalem Lodge, and the other local Masonic organizations. Both he and Mrs. Bolsterle have been members of Trinity Reformed church for many years and up to the time of her illness began the latter was one of the most active workers in the congregation. Even after she was detained at home, she kept in touch with all the doings of the church and one of her keenest regrets was that she could not continue to do her share in the various departments.

Beside her husband, Mrs. Bolsterle is survived by four daughters and three sons. Another son, Joseph Bolsterle, died in the West several years ago and his widow, Mrs. Mary Bolsterle, resides on Fairview avenue, the borough. The daughters are Mrs. Oscar Woolley, Mrs. P. Frank Stone, Mrs. Raymond Schenck and Miss Dollie Bolsterle, all residing here. The sons are John Bolsterle, of this city; Rev. George Bolsterle, pastor of the Anderson Memorial Reformed church, of New York; and Herbert Bolsterle, of Roselle. There is one sister surviving, Mrs. George S. McGinnis, of Somerset street. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

LARGE GATHERING AT MRS. PEDEFLOUS' FUNERAL

The funeral of Mrs. Barbara Pedeflous, wife of Henry Pedeflous, whose death occurred at her home on Mountain boulevard, Watchung, Tuesday morning, was held in St. Joseph's church, the borough, this morning.

The high mass of requiem said by Father P. J. Hart was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends, many of them coming from New York, Brooklyn and other places as well as from the city and borough. At the conclusion of the mass Father Hart gave a brief sermon on death and immortality and took occasion to extend words of consolation to the bereaved family. A great quantity of beautiful flowers were silent tribute to the memory of the deceased. The casket was covered with a blanket of roses, carnations and lilies, and many set pieces stood beside it. One of these was a large emblem from Plainfield Lodge of Elks, of which Mr. Pedeflous is a member. Two other handsome pieces were sent out from New York by friends.

Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, the following friends acting as pallbearers: William A. Coddington, George O. Stevens, George G. Andrews, Edward Brown, Fred Ivamy and Newton B. Smalley.

W. T. CAMPBELL INJURED.

William T. Campbell, of 108 Somerset street, is confined to his home by an ankle sprained at the plant of the Union Grain Company yesterday afternoon. Mr. Campbell, straddling two bales of hay at an elevation of ten feet from the floor, wa in the act of lifting a bale, when those on which he was standing commenced to move in opposite directions from under him. In order to save himself Mr. Campbell was obliged to jump.

TO SPEAK ON DEFENSE.

Sherman Chandler will represent the North Plainfield High School in a contest for extemporaneous speaking on "National Defense," at Plainfield High School, under the auspices of Colgate University on March 31. The object of the contest is to arouse the interest of students in extemporaneous speaking.

TOLD ME TO SHOOT HER, INSISTS BIBBS

Negro Faces Atrocious Assult Charge Seated in a Chair.

Pale and so weak he could not stand, Claude Bibbs, colored, this morning sat in police court and answered to a charge of atrocious assault. Bibbs is the negro who shot and seriously injured Iona Hunter on February 25. After shooting the woman he turned the gun on himself, inflicting a wound in the right side. For weeks both man and woman have been at Muhlenberg Hospital and it was only a few days ago that either was pronounced out of danger.

"I shot her because she wouldn't marry me," said Hunter weakly in answer to the questions of Chief Kiely. "She promised to marry me, and then wouldn't do it, and I shot her. She told me to do it. I guess she told me to kill her." Bibbs said that he did not buy his pistol in Plainfield, but brought it with him when he came from West Virginia. He had the cartridges, too, he said.

The man was held under $5,000 bond to appear before the grand jury by Judge De Meza. He waived a preliminary hearing. Capt. Flynn took him to Elizabeth this morning in an automobile and he will be kept in jail there until the grand jury acts on his case. The woman is improving rapidly at the hospital and will be released in a short time.

LINEN SHOWER GIVEN TO MRS. EDNA SHERWIN

A surprise in the form of a linen shower was given to Mrs. Edna Sherwin, last evening, at the home of the Misses Grace and Edna Beeching, of West Front street. About thirty of Mrs. Sherwin's friends gathered together and showered her with many handsome pieces of linen, which were hidden away in a large green basket decorated with green ribbons and small St. Patrick Day flags. The home was prettily decorated with roses and ferns and a very pleasant evening was spent. Mrs. Sherwin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Kennedy, of New street, and her engagement was recently announced to David D. Weiss, of the borough.

ERASTUS THAMES DIES IN MUHLENBERG HOSPITAL

Erastus Thames, a resident of Plainfield for many years, and regarded as one of the city's foremost landscape gardeners, died last night in Muhlenberg Hospital. He had been ailing for the past year, but had been at the institution only a short time. He was 54 years old, and beside his wife is survived by one son, Erastus Thames, Jr., and a daughter, Miss Catherine Thames, also his mother and two brothers.

Mr. Thames was a member of the Nonpariel Social Club, and was one of the organizers of the Episcopal mission on St. Mary's avenue. The funeral will be held at his late home, 322 East Fourth street, Saturday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, and will be in charge of Rev. Mr. Sedgwick, of the Episcopal Mission. Interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

RAZING PROBASCO HOUSE.

The work of teraing down the former Probasco residence on East Front street, was commenced yesterday to clear the site for the new one story business building which Dr. Albert Pittis is to erect. The latter structure will measure 59 by 75 feet and according to the plans filed with Inspector T. O. Doane, will cost about $9,000. The razing of the Probasco house leaves only one frame dwelling on East Front street between Park avenue and Watchung avenue. This is the MacDonald residence at the corner of Front and Watchung.

MISS JOHNSON ENTERS CONTEST.

Miss L. Dorothy Johnson, of Plainfield avenue, has entered the "Beauty and Brain" contest being conducted by the Photoplay Magazine and the World Film Corporation. The winners will be announced on June 1. Miss Johinson is one of approximately 15,000 young women from hundreds of cities who have entered the contest.

WANTED IN WESTFIELD.

Adam Laski, a young white man, was arrested here on direction of Chief Kiely last night. He is wanted in Westfield, where, it is charged, he violated a promise to marry a young woman. An officer from that town came for him this morning.

FIRE DOES $50 DAMAGE

A fire of unknown origin in a clothes closet in the home of Adelard Allard, 218 Pond place, called out the fire department at 3 o'clock this morning. The damage was not more than $50.

AMERICANS FEAR MEXICAN ATTACK

Strong Force of Carranza Cavalry on Border Opposite Texas Town.

TROOPERS FIRED ON

Small Guard on Bridge Target for Bullets of Bandits—Rangers Ordered to San Denito to Protect Citizens.

San Denito, March 16.—A considerable force of Mexican cavalry is apparently concentrating just across the border from this place with hostile intentions. Citizens of the town are fortifying their houses and stores and the Texas rangers have been notified. San Denito has suffered severely from previous marauding expeditions.

Brownsville, Texas, March 16.—The guard of sixteen United States soldiers at the Marreda bridge of the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico Railway, fourteen miles north of this city, was ordered increased today, following an attack last night by thirty Mexican bandits who fired on the Americans. The bandits fled after nearly 100 shots had been exchanged.

Torpedo Boats Sent.

Key West, Fla., March 16.—Six U. S. torpedo destroyers were ordered to proceed to Mexican waters today.

Reach Guzman Tonight.

El Paso, Tex., March 16.—The vanguard of the American forces, numbering about 3,500 men of all arms, in pursuit of Villa, was expected to reach Guzman tonight. This town is on the Mexican Northwestern Railway, about sixty miles from Columbus, N. M., as the crow flies. A base for Mexican operations will be established at Guzman.

Bigger Army Agreed On.

Washington, March 16.—An army of 250,000 war strength and about 178,000 peace strength was agreed on today by the Senate Military Affairs Committee.

Call Out National Guard.

San Antonio, Tex., March 16.—The National Guard of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico will soon be ordered to the border by the War Department, it was reliably stated at Fort Sam Houston today.

Wireless messages from General Pershing in Mexico are being decided at Fort Sam Houston. General Funston stated they contained no reports of engagements.

STOKES ENTERS THE RACE FOR SENATOR

Formal Announcement is Made at Republican Dinner at Toms River.

Former Governor Edward Casper Stokes has announced that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination as United States Senator at the fall election. He has not stated the platform on which he will make his campaign. The formal announcement was made at an address he made at a dinner given by the Ocean County Republican Club at Toms River on Tuesday night.

During the course of his address, Mr. Stokes attacked the Wilson administration for what he declared was its absolute lack of "intelligent plan." He expressed himself in favor of compulsory military training in the schools. Mr. Stokes said that the present Mexican difficulty could have been avoided if the administration had intervened at the first stirring of trouble and cited as a precedent for such action the Boxer uprising in China.

PROMINENT ELK COMING HERE.

It was announced at the regular meeting of Plainfield lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., last night that Past Grand Exalted Ruler Edward Leach, of New York lodge, No. 1, would install the recently elected officers of Plainfield lodge on April 5. Mr. Leach is one of the best known Elks in the country and has a very large acquaintance in this city. He will be accompanied to Plainfield by an assisting staff from New York.

"CAFETERIA SUPPER."

The Pastor's Aid Society of the First Baptist church will serve a St. Patrick's Day "cafeteria supper" in the church parlors tonight from 6 to 8 o'clock. A fine menu has been prepared with Irish delicacies. The idea of the Western cafeteria in serving has been adopted. The public is invited to patronize this supper.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETING.

The monthly meeting of the Missionary and Aid Society of Warren chapel will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The executive committee will meet at 2 o'clock.

HOLY CROSS PREACHER.

Rev. Franklin J. Clark, of New York, will be the special Lenten preacher at the Church of the Holy Cross tonight at 7:45 o'clock.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT ASSURED BY BOARD

Local Contractor's Bid Lowest Submitted to County Freeholders.

After fighting in the courts and with various people against the move for a period extending over the better part of two years, the Union County Board of Freeholders has at last been able to take definite action on the improving of Springfield road between Scotch Plains and Springfield. In several cases, where dangerous curves are now located, the road will be straightened and several grades will be eliminated. The Weldon Contracting Company, of which Frank Weldon, of Scotch Plains, is a member, put in the lowest bid among a number submitted, the amount being $87,034.12.

It is proposed to have a surface finish of concrete on top of a solid bed of stone and other material that will make the thoroughfare, when finished, one of the best in the State.

The doing away of the grades and turns will make it practically a straight stretch all the way to Springfield, and although it has not been announced when work will be started, it is said that plans call for it to be finished by fall.

Springfield road was one of the first thoroughfares to come under the supervision of the county, and has long been one of the most important in this section. In Revolutionary days it was used as a post road, and was one of the most direct lines of travel from New York across the State to Pennsylvania. At that time there were taverns all along the route, but about the only one now engaged in the business is what is known as Frowery's Hotel, the most important of local hostelries. It was there that Lafayette stopped on his tour of the State after the Revolution, and other distinguished visitors have been included among its guests. When the road is completed it will probably again increase the traffic that has fallen off in the last several years owing to its condition, and inns may again appear.

NATIVE OF SCOTCH PLAINS DEAD

News has reached here of the death in the Elizabeth Hospital on Saturday of Mrs. Sarah Halligan, who was born in Scotch Plains and spent the greater part of her early life here. For some years past she has been living with a daughter in Rahway and was removed from there to the hospital a short time ago following an attack of apoplexy. The deceased was in her seventy-sixth year, and is survived by two children in Rahway. Interment was made in that place.

CITIZENS INAUGURATE CAMPAIGN TO PUT SCOTCH PLAINS BACK ON THE MAP

Headed by the Township Committee and several progressive citizens, the residents of Scotch Plains are making a determined effort to regain some of the prestige that the town has been losing for the past decade, and so far, excellent results have been obtained, with indications of still more to follow.

As the first move, the officials of the C. R. R. of N. J. have been successfully approached in the matter of having Scotch Plains recognized by the railroad again. The Central has agreed to place signs reading "Scotch Plains" directly under the Fanwood signs at the Fanwood railroad station, so as to let people know that Scotch Plains could be reached from the local depot. The railroad is also going to put Scotch Plains on the timetable again under Fanwood, from where it was taken several years ago. W. C. Hope, general passenger agent of the road, has become interested in the efforts being made by the local town and has agreed to speak at a meeting of the Parish House Men's Forum, on Sundsy, April 2, on "Transportation."

The Public Service Corporation and the New Jersey Telephone Company are the next ones on the list to be seen. Some time ago the P. S. C. took the "Scotch Plains" sign from the front of its cars running through here, and an effort is to be made to get it to replace the sign again. The telephone company will have to put up some good reasons for not giving Scotch Plains a separate listing in the telephone directory, or there is due to be considerable action. About a year ago the company discontinued the separate listing, and now has it combined with Fanwood, under the Fanwood listing.

There has also been considerable talk of changing the name of Fanwood township, of which Scotch Plains forms a part, to Scotch Plains township. It is said that often Fanwood township and Fanwood borough, which occupies a square mile directly in the center of the township, are confused by people, to the detriment of the township. The agitation for setting Scotch Plains proper off as a separate borough, is also a part of the general scheme of booming one of the oldest towns in the state.

It is also said that if all the above-mentioned things are obtained it will serve to greatly increase realty values in the township, and will cause a building boom. With the name of the town no longer before the public and the means of access from the railroad a mile away and from neighboring towns so poor, new people hesitate about becoming residents and investing in property that does not increase in value, but on the contrary, even declines.

Everybody in Scotch Plains is interested in the move and is doing everything possible to help matters along, and with that sort of spirit prevailing, decisive changes in the present conditions can be looked for in the near future.

TOWN TOPICS

TRUST WELL PLACED.

Fanwood is fortunate in having such an efficient public servant as Charles Sheelen, who, for ten years, has held the office of recorder and has served seventeen years as borough collector. During his long regime in both offices he has established an enviable record that is above reproach, and on the several occasions he has pleaded for retirement, the borough voters have been unable to find a successor fit to fill his shoes, and hence his activity at the present time. He has an intimacy with his duties possessed by no other resident and in the discharge of the work assigned to his offices he has introduced a system of excellent merit. The borough could ill afford to grant his request for retirement, and it is to be hoped that he will consent to act in both capacities for many years to come. Everyone in either borough knows "Charlie" Sheelen, and everyone has a good word to say for him both as a business amn and public official.

ON THE "TABLE" AGAIN.

Announcement made by the Central Railroad officials during the past week that Scotch Plains would be replaced on the road's timetable, indicates that this town has once more returned to favor in the eyes of the railroad. Public-spirited citizens have long advocated the appearance of the words "Scotch Plains" beneath Fanwood on the timetable, and they were perfectly justified in their contentions. Timetable advertising is one form that a municipality needs, and the action of the Central Railroad is welcomed by those who have assumed the burden of boosting the borough.

USE "SCOTCH PLAINS."

Another line of public spirit has suggested discarding the word "Plains" as an abbreviation for Scotch Plains, and this is a matter that also is worthy of consideration. As one leading citizen has said: "There are hundreds of 'Plains' in the United States, but there is only one 'Scotch Plains.'" The Plainfield Daily Press has inaugurated the campaign for a "full name or nothing," by changing the caption at the head of its daily column, and individuals can do their share by forgetting the nick-name and using the handle originally selected for the municipality.

SEEDS FROM POLITICIANS.

Congressional Representatives from this district are sending out their usual packages of seeds to constituents, and many in this section have been remembered by either United States Senator James E. Martine or Congressman John H. Capstick. From time to time the Plainfield Daily Press will publish some interesting advice for the benefit of farmers on this page, and the information will be supplied largely by the government agricultural experimental stations. Those who have not been supplied with government seeds may secure their share by communicating with either Senator Martine or Congressman Capstick at Washington, by letter.

Considerable interest and a general wave of support has been accorded the weekly news sheet started by the Plainfield Daily Press for the benefit of Scotch Plains and Fanwood, and its reception leaves little doubt as to its future success. To-day's edition is the second, and we hope to make each succeeding issue bigger, better and more interesting than its predecessor. The edition is dedicated to the interests of the two places, and the Plainfield Daily Press invites suggestions from residents at all times. Articles written by prominent residents will be weekly features, and signed communications on any subject interesting to Fanwood or Scotch Plains people will be published. Through this medium we hope to put both municipalities "on the map," so to speak, and to do this we need the support of every individual.

The young people of Fanwood and Scotch Plains will welcome the reopening of the Saturday Night Club, which will convene weekly at the Fanwood fire house. Sixty enthusiastic reorganizers turned out at the initial meeting last week, and indications point to a program of social activity that will be enjoyable to all.

RATTLING THE SKELETON FOR THE OLD TIME NEWS

Many of the old-timers living hereabouts recall the big snowstorm that visited this section twenty years ago today, and this recollection was made more vivid by the reappearance of snow yesterday afternoon. Although no great amount of damage was done by the miniature blizzard of March 16, 1896, the snow fell heavily for a season's record. On that day, Billy Lee's well-known old trotting horse became frightened while standing in front of the owner's place in Scotch Plains and ran to Plainfield, being caught in front of the First Baptist church by John Goff. Plans were made for a big live bird shoot at Jack Banner's hotel in Fanwood twenty years ago today, but the program had to be called off because of weather conditions. One of the events was a match shoot between John Singer and Mr. Banner for a $25 side bet.

Fifteen years ago today, the Fanwood A. C. basketball team lost the last game of the season to the Hillcrest combine by a score of 11 to 10. Those who played for Fanwood were Bonney, Kieb, Moraller, Smith and Long. Thomas M. Paff, a real estate operator, announced a boom in the rental of $10 and $12 per month houses fifteen years ago today. On the same date, John G. Cook sold the stone-crusher on the mountain side to Hetfield and Weldon, and Stites M Parse passed away.

FROM NORTH PLAINFIELD.

Hermann Klinzmann, of North Plainfield, visits Scotch Plains and Fanwood every week as the representative of Doll Meat Packing Company, of Trenton. The North Plainfielder is well-known throughout these suburbs and his pro-German tendencies arouse many discussions in the course of his rounds of local business houses. He is well informed on war matters and not a few of the townspeople seek his advise and opinion on issues of the day.

PARISH HOUSE JUNS. TO PLAY.

The Parish House Junior basketball team has arranged a game with the Inner-Triangles, of Plainfield, after camping on their trail for many weeks. The tilt will be staged as a preliminary to the main go at the T. A. B. S. Hall, in Plainfield, tomorrow night. The local will be strengthened by the addition of Dealaman.

"SANITATION" AT MEN'S FORUM.

The meeting of the Parish House Men's Forum for Sunday is being arrangned by the Fanwood Township Committee, and will be for the discussion of "Sanitation." Dr. F. W. Wescott, president of the Township Board of Health, and probably some of the township officials will speak at the meeting, which will be held at 4 o'clock.

TO BE A GOOD CITIZEN YOU MUST BE A PRESS READER.

Send in your subscription tonight to the Plainfield Daily Press office in Plainfield or telephone to Walter VanHoesen, our representative in Fanwood, and have him start your paper tomorrow afternoon. To make this weekly feature edition a success we need the backing of every person in either community, and you can do your little part for the municipality you live in by subscribing to the Plainfield Daily Press. Our carrier boys pass your front door every night and they should be stopping at every home.

The Scotch Plains and Fanwood edition is still an infant, but with the support of the community we hope to see it grow from a single sheet to two or several. The infant is a healthy youngster, full of kick, and he has many treats in store for those who read the Press.

SCHOOL BANK PLAN FOR THE TOWNSHIP

Included in the course in the majority of the public schools of today, there is made provision for classes in manual training, home arts, industrial arts and other branches of work that teach the children how to make practical things with their hands. The Fanwood Township schools are not included in that number, but as the second best thing to do, when the circumstances are considered, S. Dana Townsend, principal of the local schools, is trying to create an interest among the pupils along other lines than just the ordinary school routine; and so far he has been succeeding pretty well.

Starting off with the opening of school last Fall, he started a school savings bank at School No. 1. Under the direction of Mrs. Anderson, a member of the teaching corps, the bank got its start modeled somewhat after those installed in several of the Westfield schools. A cashier and treasurer, bookkeeper and teller were elected by the school body and carried on the work of a modern bank under the direction of Mrs. Anderson. Tuesdays and Thursdays were designated as regular banking days and any amount from a penny up could be deposited. Since the starting of the bank, two elections of officers has taken place, and at present Kenneth Drake is cashier and treasurer, Richard Hatfield, bookkeeper, and William Galbraith, teller. The Westfield Trust Company has been selected at the institution to bank with, and already there is $70 credited to the local pupils. On graduation, the students can either draw out their money or start a separate account.

Other branches of work that have been introduced by Mr. Townsend are sewing and basket work for the girls and carpentry for the boys. The sewing and basket weaving is under the direct supervision of Mrs. Florence W. Dodd, another member of the faculty, and already excellent results are being obtained. Although the boys have to furnish their own tools and material, they are enthusiastic over learning how to make stools, bookcases and other small pieces of furniture. Mr. Townsend and other members of the faculty give what instruction they can. At present there is no regular room devoted to the work, and no regular school periods set aside; and so all that is done is after school hours. No one has to stay, but so willing are the youngsters to learn that they want to stay after the time set.

Gradually Mr. Townsend hopes to introduce other things possible along the same line. It is doing much to raise the pupils to the standards obtained by those in other neighboring schools that have adequate courses along those lines provided for them, and on the strength of the results already obtained it is to be hoped that the Board of Education will feel justified sometime in the near future in asking for an appropriation of a sufficient amount to carry on the work properly and with salaried instructors.

BUYS NEW WAGON.

Charles Michaels, proprietor of Central Market, this week added a new wagon to his delivery service. Since opening the market, Mr. Michaels has been unusually successful and the recent addition is only one of the marks indicating the prosperity of his business interests here.

SEND IN YOUR LETTERS TO THE DAILY PRESS FOR PUBLICATION.

Signed communications from residents of Fanwood and Scotch Plains on subjects of interest to either community will be published on this page each week. If you think the town you live in could be improved, tell us how to do it. There is always room for improvement, but the chances are mighty slim of getting it unless you start something. The Fanwood-Scotch Plains edition is for the two towns and the residents of the two places are at liberty to use its columns at any time.

WORK ON OIL PLANT WILL START AT ONCE

Main Tank Will Be Largest in This Section of New Jersey.

Active work on the supply plant of the Pure Oil Company, of Newark, to be built in the Graceland section of the township, will be started in another week or so. A large shed for the shelter of tools and other implements has been completed, and the location of the large tank, two smaller ones, stables, and a house have been staked out.

The main tank will be the largest in this part of the State, nearly doubling the size of the neighboring tank of the Cranford Gas Light Company. Besides the two smaller tanks, there will be a large building for the stabling of horses, motor trucks and other vehicles of the company. A dwelling for the superintendent will also form part of the plant, with other structures to follow as the business warrants them.

It is intended to supply all the northern part of the State from the plant, and for that purpose two sidings, at a cost said to be $2,000 apiece, will be built from the neighboring tracks of the C. R. R. of N. J. It is expected that the plant will be completed about the first of August.

WILL BE REPRESENTED AT ROSELLE SCHOOL BEE

Preparations are under way at School No. 1 to send a number of pupils to Roselle High School on May 12 to compete in the annual Union county spelling contest, and, if possible, in the speaking contest as well. For the past four years the local school has sent representatives to the contest with varying results, and this year the students are working hard to be able to put up a good argument for first honors.

One of the local entrants, at least, has always finished high in the spelling contest, but are handicapped in the speaking contest on account of the lack of experience. Most of the schools that enter have regular instructors in public speaking, but the locals have no such advantage. The pupil having seemingly the best natural ability is picked and coached for the few weeks prior to the contest by one of the teachers.

As in former years, there will be elimination contests at the local school sometime next month, with those making the best showing chosen as the ones to compete.

TAXI MEN MAY DEMAND HIGHER FARE SCHEDULE

The constantly increasing price of gasoline is beginning to tell on the local taxi cab men, and if it goes much higher it is probable that the Borough Council, which has jurisdiction over the hackmen at the local railroad station, will be appealed to. In fact, the local transportation men have already considered such a move as the solution to the increasing cost of operating their cars.

Ordinarily some twenty miles can be obtained from a gallon of gasoline, but with the present poor condition of the roads, the men claim they are lucky to get half that number now. The rates fixed by the Council for anywhere in the Borough is fifteen cents for one person, twenty-five for two, and thirty-five for three, while from the station to points in the township or neighboring towns the rates are not standardized.

BOTTLE YARN HAD NOTHING ON SCOTCH PLAINS TALE

After reading an article on another page of the Daily Press several days ago, regarding finding of a glass jar with records dating from 1880 in the walls of the Vanderbeek building at Plainfield, which was formerly occupied by the Daily Press, but is now being torn down, one of the older of the Scotch Plains residents advanced some interesting facts of a similar nature connected with the construction of School No. 1 on Park avenue.

At the time the school was built, twenty-six years ago, or in 1890, the workmen procured a can and filled it with quarters, dimes, nickels and pennies to the amount of five dollars, and imbedded it in the wall of the structure near the arch over the front doorway. Various scraps of writing were probably also included in the collection, and if it is left undisturbed for some time longer, should prove interesting to the finder. The fact is, nearly all those engaged in building the school have since passed away, and it is doubtful if anyone knows the exact location.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Montagna and family, of New York city, have leased one of George N. Basching's houses on Stirling road.

George Elvyn is confined to his home with the measles.

The Junior Christian Endeavorers will meet tomorrow afternoon in the Wilson chapel. Richard Cass will have charge of the meeting.

GERMAN DRIVE AT VERDUN CHECKED

Paris Reports Lost Trenches Have Been Retaken.

BERLIN CLAIMS VICTORY.

Reports That Silesian Regiments Have Advanced and Taken Over 1,000 Prisoners—Verdun Lines Hold Firm From Bethincourt to Cumieres, Is the Claim Made From Paris.

London, March 16.—According to official dispatches from Paris, French counter attacks have halted the new German offensive launched on the west bank of the Meuse, northwest of Verdun.

The French war office statement is apparently confirmed in the official statement from the German war office. Berlin claims further gains by Silesian regiments west of Corbeaux wood and the capture of 1,025 French prisoners and reports the repulse of four French counter attacks. These gains, it is apparent, are those admitted in the French official statement. The Germans did not return to the attack, the French war office asserts.

Paris dispatches confirm the report that the Germans attempted to encircle Bethincourt and Dead Man hill after thirty-six hours' artillery preparation. Both positions are firmly held by the French, the French war office announces, as well as the village of Cumieres, east of Dead Man hill.

In announcing that the French hold "the southern edges of Cumieres wood" the Paris war office, however, admits for the first time that the Germans have recaptured a portion of the forest.

French counter attacks, Paris reported, recaptured positions taken by the Germans on hill 265, the northeastern spur of Goose hill.

An English position near Neuve Chapelle, with its occupants, was blown up by a mine, the German war office reports.

Paris Statement.

The text of the statement follows:

"To the west of the River Meuse the enemy made no further endeavor to advance.

"Along our front between Bethincourt and Cumieres counter attacks with the bayonet and with hand grenades made it possible for us to reoccupy a portion of the trenches captured by the enemy in the direction of hill No. 265.

"We now hold Bethincourt, the heights of Mort Homme, the southern boundary of the wood of Cumieres and the village of Cumieres.

"The bombardment has continued with intensity in all this sector, and the fire of the enemy has been answered with energy by our artillery.

"There has been nothing of importance to report from the right bank of the Meuse nor in the Woevre district, where the artillery exchanges have been intermittent.

"The night passed quietly on the remainder of the front."

Berlin Statement.

The Berlin statement follows:

"On the western front, near Neuve Chapelle, we blew up an advanced British defense position, with the occupants. British artillery directed a heavy fire on Lens.

"French artillery is very active opposite our new positions near Ville aux Bois and opposite various sectors of the Champagne.

"On the left bank of the Meuse (Verdun front), Silesian troops, with a strong swinging onslaught, pushed forward west of Corbeaux forest to the heights of Le Mort Homme. Twenty five officers and more than 1,000 men were captured.

"Four French counter attacks against our lines were all unsuccessful.

"On the right bank of the Meuse there has been a bitter artillery duel on the eastern slope of the hills.

"From the Vosges southward French reconnoitring parties were repulsed."

That French experts are awake to the danger of such a blow is evident from Paris dispatches.

"Now I know where I stand. I am certain of final success," General Petain, the defender of Verdun, is reported to have said to two deputies who returned from the Verdun front.

WILL TAKE NO PASSENGERS.

Baltic, In From Liverpool, to Sail With Big War Cargo.

New York, March 16.—The White Star line steamship Baltic, which arrived from Liverpool, will sail again for England without passengers, bearing a cargo of 18,000 tons of war supplies.

With thirty-eight first cabin, sixty-eight second and eighty steerage passengers aboard, the Baltic left Liverpool in the afternoon of March 6. On account of the presence of U-boats she was recalled and held up for three days.

When finally permitted to sail she zigzagged from the mouth of the River Mersey until well out to sea. No U-boats were observed throughout her voyage.

DELAY OF A YEAR IN TRUNK SEWER

Bill For Continuation Has Passed House.

COMMISSION ASKS TIME.

Engineering Company Asks For More Money to Continue Its Tunnel Contract Under New York Bay—Claim Not Yet Settled—Stretch of 10,000 Feet Remains.

Newark, March 16.—Confirmation of statements that the Passaic valley trunk sewer would not be completed by Dec. 31 next, the time originally stipulated, was made following a meeting of the Passaic valley sewerage commission. The greater part of the work, it is expected, will be done by the middle of the summer of 1917, but probably it cannot be entirely cleaned up before the end of the year.

The commission has already asked the legislature for continuation for one year. The bill providing this, introduced by Assemblyman Schoen, has passed the house and has passed second reading in the senate. It automatically grants also to municipalities interested extensions made on exemption from river pollution claims.

No settlement has been made, commissioners announced, of the claim of the O'Rourke Engineering Construction company of New York, which asks for more money to continue its tunnel contract under New York bay. The work on section 2, as this three mile portion of the big sewer is known, has been about one-third completed. There remains a stretch of 10,000 feet. This, the company states, it will not continue to work on unless the commission makes added payment aggregating probably $200,000. The contract was let in February, 1914, for $1,796,900, which was about $300,000 less than the next nearest figure.

OSBORNE LAWYER TO MAKE A NEW FIGHT

Will Ask That Second Indictment Be Tried Immediately.

New York, March 16.—Thomas Mott Osborne, acquitted of perjury by Justice Tompkins' decision to dismiss the indictment in the supreme court at White Plains, issued a statement beginning, "This action proves what I have all along contended—that it was a persecution, not a prosecution, to which I was being subjected."

In regard to the remaining indictment impugning his morals through a general charge of mismanagement of Sing Sing prison—an indictment that District Attorney Weeks declares will be prosecuted in April—Mr. Osborne said, "So far as I am concerned and to the extent of my power this fight is only just begun."

Before the echoes of the perjury collapse have ceased to travel through Westchester county George Gordon Battle, chief of Mr. Osborne's counsel, will ask Justice Martin J. Keogh in White Plains for an order compelling District Attorney Weeks to show cause why the second indictment may not be tried immediately. Mr. Battle hopes to have the order returnable for argument late today.

In the intense jubilation of Mr. Osborne's friends over his victory a new note was struck by Dr. George W. Kirchwey, his successor at the prison.

"Do you think Mr. Osborne will return to Sing Sing as warden?" Dr. Kirchwey was asked.

"Well, I'll say this—I'm very much afraid of losing my job," he replied.

For five hours after he returned from White Plains with Howard Elliott, president of the New Haven railroad, and friends from Auburn who were ready to testify to his character Mr. Osborne remained in his rooms in the Hotel Belmont, receiving congratulations by telephone, telegraph and by handshake.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

Charles Cherry, long a noted star under the Frohman banner, was seen on a screen in this city for the first time yesterday at the U. S. Astor Theatre, when he made his initial appearance in the Famous Players photo-play drama, "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," in which he is supported by Miss Lillian Walker. Mr. Cherry has a host of admirers in Plainfield and many turned out last evening to see him in films. "The Mummy and the Humming Bird" is high class film drama. It teems with exciting action and splendid situations, the most thrilling of which is the one in which the husband (Mr. Cherry) goes in search of the man who has stolen his wife, intending to kill him. Pauline Frederick, who has more admirers among Plainfield folk than any other screen performer, will be the attraction at the Astor tomorrow and Saturday in the intensely dramatic drama, "Bella Donna," long famous as a stage production. Miss Frederick is again a vampire woman in this subject, having to poison her husband by dropping drugs in his coffee. It is a drama with a punch, splendidly done throughout. Among those in the cast are Julian L'Estrange and Thomas Holding, the former the villain and the latter the hero.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. When ever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if You Feel Backachy or Have Bladder Trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.—Adv.

DESERTS CHILDREN FOR "LOVE" HUSBAND

Pretty Young Mother is Held Here—Does Not Want to Go Home.

"I don't love my husband. I love this man," protested pretty Mrs. Mabel Redinger this morning when told at the police station, where she is under arrest, that her husband was willing to forgive her for eloping with another man, and take her home to mother their two children.

The young mother left husband and children in Phillipsburg last week and came to Plainfield with Earl Brady, who formerly lived at Easton, Pa. The two have been living here as man and wife and Mrs. Redinger does not want to give up her "love" husband. She will not talk of her children.

The couple was arrested by Lieut. Higgins about 5 o'clock last night at a boarding house here where they had been located after a short search. Chief Kiely received a letter from the chief of police at Phillipsburg recenlty telling of the elopement and asking that the couple be apprehended if they came here. Mrs. Redinger and Brady was brought to the police station and registered on charges of disorderly conduct, under which they are being held until the husband comes. When arraigned before Judge De Meza this morning they were remanded back for a hearing tomorrow.

Redinger is on his way here for his wife, according to a telegram received from the Phillipsburg chief. He is willing to forget the elopement and take her back, but the woman insists that she will not go. No attempt has been made to persuade her, Chief Kiely having ordered that she be left alone until after a talk with her husband. He is expected to reach here sometime this afternoon.

TOWNSEND COLLECTS MORE THAN $1,500 IN OLD TAXES

Collector William Townsend has secured $1,579.66 in delinquent personal taxes within the past few days as a result of the new law which permits him to advertise these delinquents. This amount represents money that was due before 1915. In addition a large part of the 1915 personal taxes have been paid.

MARKED INTEREST IN COTTAGE MEETINGS

List of Places for Tomorrow Night's Services and Leaders Are Announced.

The cottage prayer meetings still continue to hold the center of interest each week in the preparatory work of the coming Biederwolf campaign. Some remarkable instances of answered prayer have been given and the deep spiritual tone of these meetings have left and are leaving their impressions on large numbers of people in this city. This situation is also true of the adjacent towns about Plainfield, cottage meetings being held as far as Bound Brook and Westfield. Thus is the slogan, "Plainfield and Vicinity for Christ," being carried to the uttermost parts of the community.

Another direct result is the beginning of definite personal work on the part of a number of those attending the meetings and so, even before Biederwolf arrives, some things will have been accomplished as to make worth while this great movement, were it to go no further.

The following homes will be open for cottage meetings tomorrow night:

Mrs. Chas. Collins, 1257 East Second street; Frank Stewart, leader; Mrs. E. W. Hughes, 1218 Columbia avenue, Claude Gonod; Mrs. Elizabeth Patterson, 239 Netherwood avenue, Rev. E. S. ## PARENT-TEACHER ASS'N ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Mrs. Herbert Seaman was chosen president, Mrs. Boyd Fullerton, secretary, and Miss Florence Cooper, treasurer, of the Parent-Teacher Association of the city Grammar School at a meeting held in the High School on Tuesday. During the past year this association has been quite inactive and the meeting this week was the first held in many months. However, there was evidence of renewed interest and several new names were enrolled.

Mrs. William M. Sandford was present and gave an informal talk along the line of co-operation between the parents and teachers. She urged parents to become familiar with school work and thus be able to better judge the capacity of their children. Mrs. Sandford explained that the purpose of such an association is to not only help the parents and teachers but children as well. During a social hour there were readings by Miss Searle, piano selections by Mrs. Harry Johnson and vocal selections by Miss Helen MacMonies.

PROBATE WILL OF THOMAS WALLACE

Father of F. W. Wallace, of This City, Divides Personal Estate of Over $10,000.

New York, March 16.—The will of Thomas Wallace, father of Frederick W. Wallace, of Plainfield, which was offered for probate today in the surrogate's court, direct his estate of "over $10,000" in personal property to be distributed as follows:

All of the estate as a life estate for his wodiw, Ellen B. Wallace, of New York, who is empowered to will away all of the money she receives from his life insurance companies. After her death, out of the balance of the estate, $100 is to be given to five of his children, John B., of Mukwango, Wis.; Thomas, Jr., of New Haven, Conn.; Elizabeth W. Wallace and Harold S. Wallace, of Chicago, and Frederick W. Wallace, of Plainfield, "as a token of my love and remembrance."

The rest of the estate is to be divided equally among three other children, Eleanor B., Ruth M. and Lucy Porter, of New York. Mrs. Wallace, the widow and Thomas, Jr., and Frederick W. Wallace, sons, are named as executors to serve without bonds. Mr. Wallace, who was 89 years of age, died at his home in New York on January 1 last. His widow prior to marriage was Miss Ellen Bryant.

WAR NEWS

Disclaims Silius Sinking.

Washington, March 16.—Count Von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, this afternoon filed with the State Department an official disclaimer that a German submarine had sunk the Norwegian bark Silius in Havre roads. The disclaimer was made under instructions from the German Foreign Office, which stated that no German submarine was in that vicinity at the time the bark was sent to the bottom. It is understood that a similar disclaimer will shortly be made by the Austrian Government.

Albanian Advance Stopped.

Rome, March 16.—The Idea Nazonale publishes dispatches from Albania stating that the Austro-Hungarian troops have stopped their advances near El Eassan. In consequence, the Albanian rebels are threatening to abandon them as Allies if Bulgaria intervenes, as has been reported to be her intention.

Rotterdam, March 16.—A wireless dispatch fro mthe Dutch passenger steamship Tubantia received here states that she is sinking, after having struck a mine. All on board were rescued, it is said.

$43,538,131.11 CHECK IS NOT THE LARGEST

New York, March 16.—The largest check but one that has ever been paid in the United States passed through the New York Clearing House today, drawn on the Mechanics and Metals National Bank by Lee Higginson & Co. It called for payment of $43,538,131.11 to the order of the Guaranty Trust Co. This payment was for the issue of Midvale Steel Convertible 5 per cent. bonds recently sold by a syndicated headed by Lee Higginson & Co., the Guaranty Trust Co. and the National City Bank.

At the service in Warren chapel led by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, Grace Methodist and Wilson Memorial chapel united; while Hope chapel and Monroe Avenue Methodist united in the former church with Dr. D. B. F. Randolph as leader.

NEED $45,000 TO FINISH SEWERS

Special Election to Be Held on April 26 to Sanction Bond Issue.

ORDINANCE AMENDED

Engineer George W. Fuller in Lengthy Report to Council Sets Forth Reasons for Additional Amount to Finish Contract.

There will be a special election in Dunellen on April 26, when the voters will either approve or reject the proposition to raise an additional $45,000 through an issue of bonds to complete the borough's collecting sewage system. This was decided at an adjourned meeting of the council last night, and that section which specified that the cost of the system was not to exceed $110,000, was amended to read $155,000.

The above action followed the presentation of a report from George W. Fuller, the borough's consulting engineer, in which the present conditions were set forth. He said that the total estimated cost of construction under the contract was $128,619.86, as against the original apparent estimate of the amount of the contract of $82,604.20, an increase of about $46,000.

This increase, Mr. Fuller explained, was due to several reasons. He said that no estimate of the probable amount of extra work was included in the original form of comparison of bids, although the contract provides for carrying out numerous indefinite items of work not covered by unit prices as extra work at cost, plus fifteen per cent.

It is also set forth by Mr. Fuller that the crossing of the New Jersey Central tracks was unexpectedly costly, the total extra work allowance being over $5,500. Rights of way were also found to be costly. It is estimated that the total amount of extra work will be about $12,400.

The difficult trench work was also found to be a very heavy expense. The remaining part of Mr. Fuller's report is as follows:

"The surface conditions, however, at Dunellen, were very surprising in this respect. The amount of piling which will be necessary will exceed the nominal amount of the bidding sheet by fully $5,000. The amount of sheathing left in place will exceed the amount set down in the bidding sheet by fully $24,000. Lumber for foundations has been included as sheathing left in place, the unit prices being the same. The amount of additional concrete will be some $1,300 in excess of the original estimate. With reference to this additional concrete, it should be stated that a portion was used in raising the floors of the pumping stations so as to safeguard them against future floods of similar magnitude to that occurring last year.

"To sum up, it will be seen that the extra cost of the work is explained by the five items above cited, namely: Extra work on Jersey Central crossing, $5,500; Sanford avenue, $5,600; miscellaneous, $1,300; total, $12,400. Rock excavation, $6,200; piling, $5,000; sheathing left in place and lumber for foundations, $24,000; additional concrete, $1,300; total, $48,900.

"The estimated cost of building the remaining portions of the sewage collecting system, to which has been added the value of the work done to March 1, showing the total cost of construction under the H. K. Corbin contract is about $138,000, including an allowance for unforseen contingencies. The figures follow:

|---|---|
| Amount of total remaining work | $ 35,050.00 |
| Value of work to March 1 | 96,337.45 |
| | $131,387.45 |
| Less allowance for material on hand | 2,500.00 |
| | $128,887.45 |
| Plus contingent allowance | 8,500.00 |
| Total estimated contract cost of work | $137,387.45 |

"Taking the probable total amount of the H. K. Corbin contract for the completion of the work as $138,000, the following tabulation shows the amount of funds needed for the whole work as closely as we can estimate them:

|---|---|
| H. K. Corbin contract (estimated total) | $138,000 |
| Engineering (6½ per cent. on $138,000) | 8,970 |
| Inspection (to date about $2,350) | 2,700 |
| Land for pumping station | 600 |
| Adertising, legal and bond expenses | 1,030 |
| Jersey Central Railroad track protection | 1,400 |
| | $152,700 |
| Less allowance from Public Service Corporation | 2,500 |
| | $150,200 |

Among other business transacted at the meeting was an application from Isaac J. Stites for a permit to erect an addition of 8x15 feet to a shed in the rear of his blacksmith shop. This was referred to the fire and water committee.

TORPEDO MISSED ITALIAN STEAMER

Patria, With 900 Passengers Aboard, Shot at Without Warning.

New York, March 16.—With more than 900 passengers aboard, the Italian steamship Patria, which arrived here today, only escaped sinking by a submarine through the bad aiming of a torpedo fired without warning. There were twenty Americans among those on board the Patria. The attempt to sink the vessel occurred on March 11, near Tunis, the Patria having left Palermo the previous afternoon. Soon after 9 o'clock in the morning, the periscope of a submarine was seen, and immediately after a torpedo was seen passing the Patria's stern not twenty feet away. The passengers, panic-stricken, ran on deck, but were soon reassured. No second attack was made.

FARMS IN CANADA FOR ENGLISH SOLDIERS

Montreal, March 16.—An important proposal for the soldiers' settlement of the disbanded soldiers after the war in Europe was announced by Lord Shaughnessy today, who stated that 1,000 farms would be prepared in Western Canada by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company so as to be ready for occupation in the spring next year. These farms will be grouped in colonies with appropriate military names, and with a central instruction farm under a competent agriculturist.

GIRL KILLED WHILE ON WAY TO LUNCH

Somerville, March 16.—Florence Otell, a seventeen-year-old girl, was killed here at noon today, while walking on the railroad tracks. The girl was employed by the Somerville Stripping Company. She started to walk home along the railroad tracks today to save time, although in the habit of going another route. The fast Harrisburg express struck her, causing instant death.

WHITMAN NAMES CARTER AS N. Y. PRISON HEAD

Albany, March 16.—Gov. Whitman today sent to the Senate the nominations of James M. Carter, of Buffalo, to be State Superintendent of Prisons to succeed John B. Riley.

INJURED BY EXPLOSION.

Somerville, March 16.—Ira C. Huff, foreman of the cement department at the H. W. Johns-Manville plant, was painfully burned about the eyes, Tuesday night, when an electric fuse exploded while a test was being made nearby. The man making the test sustained serious burns to both hands. Foth are confined to their homes near here.

THE PLAINFIELD DAILY PRESS

is constantly seeking new features of local and general interest that will command the attention of its readers. It prints daily many exclusive articles and syndicate offerings which appear in no other paper in its territory. Included among these are

Saturday Contributed Editorial, a feature unique with this newspaper in the State of New Jersey. These editorials are from the pens of well known citizens of Plainfield, or persons identified with local interests, and cover a wide range of subjects, the writers being urged to express their own views, whether they agree with the policy of this newspaper or not.

Mothers' Column, prepared by a committee from the Plainfield Mothers' Association, containing valuable hints on matters which are of especial interest to the home.

Building Page on Saturdays, containing a review of all the activities of the week, and articles about proposed new work to be done in Plainfield and vicinity.

Scoop, The Cub Reporter, a strip comic which has been running continuously for over four years, and getting more amusing every day.

Daddy's Bedtime Story, a feature for the children which has no equal in its class.

Mrs. Leonard's Article, of particular interest to the women readers.

Cartoons by one of the best known artists in the country.

W. C. T. U. Column, conducted by the Plainfield branch of this work, and detailing activities of the fight being made by this and allied organizations throughout the country.

And last but not least

Advertisements of every up-to-date and progressive store in Plainfield, Newark and New York.

All of these and many other features are to be found each week in the various issues of the

PLAINFIELD DAILY PRESS.

THE PRESS' SPECIAL OFFER TO PLAINFIELD

THIS is one of our big achievements, of which we are justly proud. Every reader of this paper—yes, every family in the city and in its environments—can this year enjoy either of these two nationally famous magazines, or both of them, with this paper, for but little more than the price of the paper alone. These two great magazines with approximately 1,500,000 subscribers, are known and loved the whole country over. At 15 cents a copy, $1.80 a year—$3.60 for the two, purchased by the month—they are unquestioned leaders in their respective fields.

How We Did It

We went to the publishers of these magazines and told them about this city. How its population has increased! How its wealth has increased! How its trade has increased! How its bank clearings have increased! We showed them how desirable it was for them, and for their advertisers, that they should have a large circulation here! Then we showed them how this paper was the one paper in this city to make this offer, and how we knew that the citizens of this city would welcome this opportunity enthusiastically.

Woman's Home Companion

Splendid Serial Novels Woman's Home Companion is famous for the excellence of its fiction, particularly its full-length serial novels. There will be at least four novels this year, by Margaret Deland, Fannie Heaslip Lea, and others of equal power. Hundreds of thousands will later pay $1.50 each for them, when they are published in book form, but readers of Woman's Home Companion will have had them first.

Fifty Splendid Short Stories By distinguished authors whose work you are always eager to read, will fill the pages of the Companion. Mary E. Wilkins Freeman, William J. Burns (the great detective), Zona Gale, Mary Heaton Vorse, Juliet Wilbor Tompkins, Grace S. Richmond—these are only a few of the popular favorites whose stories will appear during the year.

The Finer Things of Life Inspiration, ideals, culture, the things that lift us above the commonplace and the monotony of living—these have an important place in the program for 1916. The Rev. Dr. Charles E. Jefferson has prepared a series of intimate sermons for the Companion family on the duties and privileges of family life and the real meaning of family ties.

Laura Spencer Porter will help those who love pictures and want to know the best. Anne Bryan McCall, in The Tower Room, will continue her popular department for girls.

The New Fashions Fashion's new ideas, the chic touches that distinguish the smartly dressed woman of Fifth Avenue will always be found first in the Companion. Grace Margaret Gould, the Companion Fashion Editor, keeps her readers in constant touch with the great creators of fashion in Paris and New York.

For the Little People The Cherubs are coming! The cunningest, funniest little people you ever saw—drawn and versified by Olive Rush. Also stories, puzzles and prizes, plays for school and nursery, plans for kites, aeroplanes and boats, doll dressmaking lessons—all kinds of things to interest and amuse the little Companion readers.

Helpful, Home Departments The Companion is famous for its practical departments. Every month it offers new ideas for cooking, for serving, for entertaining, for fancy work. Hundreds of ideas every month! Practical, really helpful ideas. Companion readers find these departments most valuable.

The American Magazine

aims to be, and is, a magazine for the whole family to share, each with the other—full of the new things, the interesting things, this month, next month, every month!

George Ade
William Allen White
Ellis Parker Butler
David Grayson
Ida Tarbell
John Sharp Williams
Ray Stannard Baker
Hough Pullerton
Stephen Leacock
John Taintor Foote
Walter Pritchard Eaton
James Montgomery Flagg

These, and scores of other favorites, will contribute the timely and interesting articles, the stories, the striking illustrations, the departments. You will find The American Magazine always full of the things you are interested in; the things you want to read about.

The Effect of the War on America The New industries have been created; old industries have been given new life; new cities have sprung up full sized in a month; men have become millionaires over night—these are some of the effects of the war on America. These articles tell a wonderful story of problems met, difficulties overcome, and successful achievement. They give a splendid, true picture of the war industries, the war fortunes, and the men that made them.

Being Better Business Men An intensely interesting series of practical, fact-bottom articles about the Retail Business, Real Estate, Advertising, Selling, and other important lines of business. Other articles for young men will take up the problems of young men—going into business in his own town; going into business with his father; going to the large city. It will be a very interesting and really valuable series.

Stories—Short and Long There is always a generous measure of stories in The American Magazine. Stories of city life; of country life; home stories; dog stories; love stories and adventure stories—a real feast of fiction. Important, too, no suggestive or unclean story has ever found its way into The American Magazine. Its stories are wholesome and cleverly told, that the whole family can, and does, enjoy.

The Big Saving

If you bought either of these magazines by the month you would pay fifteen cents for it. If you bought both of them you would pay thirty cents. One magazine purchased this way for the year would cost you $1.80. Both magazines $3.60. Our plan will give you the magazines each month by mail at your home, promptly on publication date for but a few cents more than this paper alone would cost. It is a big, big saving in convenience and in money.

A CITIZENS' CAMP FOR NEW JERSEY.

Everyone but those who are opposed to preparedness will agree with the Trenton Times in its assertion that the plan, suggested by Adjutant General Wilbur F. Sadler, Jr., for a musketry instruction camp at Sea Girt next summer looks good. That there is a popular demand for military instruction is indicated by the bills now before the Legislature, providing for special courses in the public schools. The discussions over these bills, which necessarily were hastily prepared, shows that a considerable portion of our citizens believe that immediate steps should be taken to organize an army for home protection.

If either of the bills becomes a law, it will be several years before any results can be obtained, as the high school boys range in age from twelve or thirteen to sixteen or seventeen years. General Sadler proposes a school in which citizens of military age shall be taught the rudiments of field service and the care and use of the service rifle, by marines and enlisted men from the regular army, detailed for that purpose. The citizens will get practically, for a few weeks in the year, the training that is given to National Guardsmen.

One result of the camp will undoubtedly be to attract the partially trained citizens to the Guard, the enlistments in which have greatly fallen off in recent years, from numerous causes, the most controlling of which is probably the attitude of organized labor toward the militia because of its too frequent employment for guard and riot duty during strikes. But the members of the labor organizations are patriotic and loyal citizens, who will not object to doing their part to forward a program of preparedness.

General Sadler thinks that the expense of a citizens' camp will not exceed 75 cents per day, to pay for the subsistence of the volunteers, who will occupy much the same position as the citizens of the New England States in the old-time "training days," when the men and boys of military age assembled on the town common on certain days in the year set apart for their instruction and drill. Even if the public school military instruction plan be favorably considered, the Sadler proposition ought to be adopted to provide material until the school boys are old enough and are prepared for duty.

F. W. Bird, in two recent communications to the Daily Press, has urged that the Council reconsider its action with regard to the new city hall, and dispose of the property purchased for that purpose. Mr. Bird argues that if another site is selected everyone will be satisfied, there being a number of residents who, in his opinion, are not at all pleased over the location that has been bought for the purpose. It seems to us that the City Council has done exactly right in the matter. No matter where a site might have been chosen, there would have been some people who objected. The fact that comparatively little discussion has been created about the matter is evidence that the mass of the people are content to have the city hall erected on Watchung avenue. What most people want to see is a municipal building that is a credit to Plainfield, and location, so long as it is within a few minutes of the business center, and on property that was not purchased at an exorbitant figure, makes but comparatively little difference. Incidentally, while there may be some ground upon which legal delays can be based, as was intimated might be done by Mr. Bird in his letter of last night, we fail to see what move by the Council thus far has been contrary to law in the matter.

• • • • • •

The Union County Board of Freeholders have decided to relay Mountain avenue from the Somerset county line to Mountainside, and plan to use solid concrete for the work. This will be the first road of the kind in this county, and will be in line with the policy being adopted in many parts of the country. In New England and Pennsylvania there are a umbner of concrete roads, and all are splendid highways. While they cost more at the start, the upkeep is reduced to a minimum indefinitely, and the roads are always smooth and easy to ride over. It is hoped that within a very few years all of the county roads will be permanent pavements.

• • • • • •

That the merchants of Plainfield are ready and willing to co-operate with any movement to educate the people, was shown by the way in which many of them participated in the Baby Week campaign, so successfully concluded last Saturday. The displays of useful things for the youngsters made in the windows, the advertising space used to call the attention of Plainfielders to the fact that the work was progressing, and the general co-operation with the committee from the District Nurse Association was but another demonstraiton that Plainfield store-keepers are up to date, and willing to help any good cause.

• • • • • •

Employers who have men working for them can aid the preparedness movement by offering to help all employes who wish to join the National Guard. Some of the largest manufacturing plants are stating that they will allow a vacation with pay of a week or longer for all men who enlist, and wish to attend summer camps. In these days the work of the National Guard organizations should be encouraged in every way, for they are the first men who would be called out in case this country went to war.

• • • • • •

Congressman Capstick must be given credit for having what he considered the best of intentions in voting against the President on the McLemore resolution, but he showed a mighty poor knowledge of the sentiment among his constituents in these parts. Elliott T. Barrows, in a letter which he sent to Mr. Capstick, and which was reprinted in the Daily Press last night, well summed up the feeling here.

• • • • • •

Despite the jokes at Missouri a correspondent urges the point that in 1912 she gave Taft almost twice as many votes as she gave to Roosevelt. How many a town and county would be proud today if it could say the same!—Camden Post-Telegram.

Mighty few, brother, mighty few! Now-a-days most of the men one meets who voted for Taft are kicking themselves because they did not vote for T. R.

• • • • • •

George L. Record a boss! That is what one of his opponents for the Republican nomination for Governor says. Well, George has tried a good many times to get in a position where he could be a boss, but up to date he has not succeeded very well.

• • • • • •

A blind boy has been given a pass for a moving picture theatre in a town out West. There is no disputing the fact that he will enjoy some of the shows more than do people with normal eyesight.

On the Spur of the Moment

by Roy K. Moulton

Time Soon.

The man must be Extremely narrow
Who won't agree
To swat the sparrow.

And he of brains
Must be quite shy
Who never deigns
To swat the fly.

And is he not
A worthy killer
Who tries to swat
The caterpillar?

'Twill soon be time,
For time is fleet,
To lie awake
And swat the skeet.

Uncle Abner

Many a feller is judged by the cigars that are named after him.

Hank Tumms and Hod Peters are such bitter enemies that they vote different tickets every four years just to knock each other out.

There are a lot of book critics in this country who couldn't get one of their own published on a bet.

There are some good ball players who don't chew terbacker, but I must confess that I've never seen one.

Job may have been some long on patience, but he never had to hook and eye his wife up the back five minutes before theatre time, or he would have lost his reputation.

It is estimated that nearly 1 per cent. of the genuine Havana cigars are made in Havana.

Everything has a mission in this world. Grandpop Bibbins has got a large wart on the end of his nose, but he says it is the most useful thing he has got. It keeps his spectacles from slipping off in the soup when he is eating.

You've Got to Take a Chance.

If you go across the ocean, your ship is liable to be sunk by a submarine.

True enough, but if you travel on land your train is liable to be wrecked.

If you just jimmy around the home town, your automobile is liable to blow up or throw off a tire and precipitate you quickly into a ravine on your elbows and shoulder blades.

If you go buggy riding your horse is apt to shy at a piece of paper in the road and kick you into the middle of the following week.

If you go out walking an automobile is liable to scramble you up or a footpad is liable to tap you suddenly yet firmly upon the dome of thought.

But if you sit still at home a hundred things are liable to happen to you. The gas stove is likely to blow up, you may have a fit, somebody may shoot through the window by accident, the house may catch fire, some weary wayfarer may come along and sell you a lot of Turkish rugs, lightning may strike the house, and then there is always the possibility of an earthquake.

At the very best you have got to take a chance, whether you want to or not.

Ten Years Ago.

The man who owned an auto was considered a fiend incarnate.

The waist line for women was close up under the arms.

People were just beginning to claim that wireless telegraphy was impossible.

Women were still wearing at least two petticoats.

Sarah Bernhardt was making her "farewell tour" of America.

Some darn fool was trying to invent a flying machine. Haw! Haw!

The preposterous suggestion was made that a tunnel could be built under the Detroit river.

All the dudes were wearing pegtop trousers.

People were getting their first good laught out of the suggestion of a fireless cooker.

The little Singer building was the tallest structure in New York.

Nat Goodwin had been married only three times.

An Unusual Lady.

We notice the following line:
LOST—Muff belonging to lady with black satin lining.

- Proctor's Theatre -

One of the most notable of photoplay productions ever released is the picturisation of Elinor Glyn's most famous novel, "Three Weeks," a story that has elicited the intense interest and enjoyed tremendous popularity among the millions of inhabitants throughout the civilized world. It will be presented at Proctor's, home of the world's best photoplay attractions, both this afternoon and evening. Today, also, Charlie Chaplin is seen in "The Bank," one of the greatest comedy productions which will tend to rock the large audiences with paroxysms of merriment. Tomorrow, the management have booked the sequel to "Three Weeks," also from the pen of Elinor Glyn, "One Day," a story not quite as old as its predecessor, but just as widely known. Tomorrow, in addition, the eleventh episode of "The Red Circle" will also be shown, a serial feature that has had one of the most successful runs of any of its kind. On Saturday, Bessie Barriscale, one of the most popular of Triangle stars, will be seen in her latest effort entitled "Honor's Altar," a story brimming over with realism, whose theme is so convincing that it will touch the deepest chords of the emotions of mankind. Saturday, in addition, Charlie will perform for the kiddies in a mammoth three-reel revue of some of his most laughable antics, entitled, "His First Vacation." The shows now being presented at Proctor's are the cream of photoplay masterpieces. Watch for Billie Burke's initial appearance upon the screen in Scene in "One Day," at Proctor's Theatre, tomorrow.

"Peggy," which will come to Proctor's soon. It is the last word in photoplay entertainment.

SEEK GOVERNORSHIP.

St. Louis, Mo., March 16.—Nine prominent Missouri Democrats have aspirations for the Governorship this year, and they have launched their campaigns for the Democratic nomination. The most recent aspirant to fling his cap into the ring is U. S. District Attorney Francis M. Wilson, of Kansas City, who is said to have the backing of Senators Stone and Reed. Another strong candidate is Fred D. Gardner, of this city, a member of the Board of Freeholders which framed the new charter of St. Louis, and the father of a land bank bill which provides a State bank from which farmers can borrow money at low rates. The other candidates are: Secretary of State Cornelius Roach, Attorney-General John T. Barker, Lieutenant-Governor William R. Painter, U. S. Subtreasurer Vandiver, James A. Houchin, of Jefferson City; Rev. Arthur Lindsay, of Clinton, and Chairman John M. Atkinson, of the State Public Service Commission.

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

Frank Finney, with the Bostonian Burlesquers, at the Plainfield Theatre, Monday, March 20, matinee and night.

Owing to popular request, Manager Atkinson has retained Mat Keefe and Dave Irwin for the new vaudeville program at the Plainfield theatre for the last half of the week commencing today. These clever performers who are known personally to scores of Plainfielders, made a big hit with their comedy singing and dancing number Tuesday and Wednesday, and the audiences wanted more of them. They will introduce a new budget of songs, while Mr. Keefe will give his favorite yodling success, "Roll on Silvery Moon." Mr. Keefe was for many years with the leading minstrel companies in the country, and Mr. Irwin became widely acquainted in Plainfield when he rehearsed here for two weeks with the George Primrose show in 1907.

Other numbers on the promising bill are "Sensational Celest," on the wire; a novelty skit, "Both Sides of Vaudeville," presented by Hathaway and Davis; La Petite Elva and Company, in a vaudeville novelty; McGrath and Yeoman, comedians; "The Girls from Nowhere," a tabloid musical comedy with the ten people, special scenery and beautiful costumes.

The picture portion of the program this afternoon and tonight will include the third episode of the serial film, "The Iron Claw," while tomorrow's will include the fourth episode of "The Strange Case of Many Page." The big photoplay specialty for Saturday will be the ever-popular Charlie Chaplin in one of his latest and best comedies.

The management of the Plainfield theatre will present as the attraction Monday (matinee and night) "The Bostonians" extravaganza company, and patrons of the house may look forward to an entertainment bustling with novel and entertaining features. This company, which for the past five years has established record high tide marks, and has toured the country with gratifying success, is peculiarly fitted to present the best and brightest in burlesque and vaudeville. It has been equipped at a great expense with a complete new scenic outfit and with costumes that will delight the eye and that will make the stage pictures gorgeous and fascinating. The company is one of the strongest ever sent on the road to present burlesque and vaudeville at popular prices. The comedians are all artists of recognized merit, while the girls, with their sylph-like forms, will be seen in dainty gavottes. They are all young, with well-moulded figures—and in addition to their natural attractiveness, they can all sing and dance well—a combination that remains a powerful factor in the amusement world.

HUGHES' NAME ON BALLOT.

Will Be on Oregon Primary Ticket Unless He Formally Protests.

Portland, Ore., March 16.—If Justice Hughes does not formally object in writing by April 20 to having his name on the primary ballot for president Secretary of State Olcott will certify his name to the county clerks, according to an announcement made by him.

The Roseburg Hughes-club intends to have Justice Hughes' name put on the ballot, and it was this that prompted the secretary to make the announcement.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — The Tale of Four Kittens That Lived In a Haymow.

"ONCE upon a time there was a mother cat who had a family of four kittens," daddy began for Jack and Evelyn. "It would take me all night to tell you all the interesting things that"—

"Oh, daddy, please tell us all night!" cried the children.

"That they did and that happened to them. Mother Cat herself was so busy prowling around meadows for birds and barns for mice, getting her kittens enough nourishing food to grow into nice, strong, healthy grownups, that she had to hire a young puppy, Bill, to take care of them and teach them their kindergarten work. And you can't imagine prettier little gingham aprons and white linen sunbonnets than she managed to make for them.

"There was Rusty, who had red rust in the fur down his frisky little back. He was about three minutes older than his twin brother, Malty, who looked just like his father, a beautiful Maltese cat that lived next door. The other two were girls—Sympherosa, called Rosie for short, and Phryne. Phryne was the youngest and littlest and used to cry so much that she got nicknamed Whiney. So all you'll care to remember is just Rusty and Malty and Rosie and Whiney. The boys, even in very cold, wintry weather, wore blue gingham rompers. Their own fur was so warm, you see, that they needed nothing but rompers to keep themselves clean when they played hide and seek in the haymow, for Mother Cat kept house up in a pile of hay stored under the roof of a big red barn.

"While the boy kittens were having the greatest fun chasing each other up and down the slippery, sweet smelling hay, Rosie and Whiney used to play riding horseback on two little white flannel rocking horses that their mother gave them for Christmas. Once Whiney fell off and tumbled fifteen feet out of the haymow, but she landed safely on the soft, warm back of a real old bay horse, and had she not taken a pin out of her left foot and stuck it in his back she probably would have caught a nice ride with him when he went out to get a drink of water at the trough in the barnyard. But the old bay horse hated to be scratched and stamped like anything till Whiney tumbled off on the floor. Here the young puppy, Bill, found her crying some more. So he took her in his teeth by the nape of her neck and carried her back to the haymow. Then he bound up her poor head in a nice soft cloth and some witch-hazel. When Mother Cat came home from mousing she gave all four of her kittens nice sticks of peppermint candy," daddy ended.

"Oh, daddy," cried Evelyn, "couldn't we, please, have a family of kittens, too? I can make their rompers, and Jack can make them rocking horses."

But daddy smiled and gave them each a good night kiss.

Household Hints

HONEY RECIPES.

Honey Jumble—Two quarts flour, three tablespoons melted lard, one pint honey, one-fourth pint molasses, one and one-half tablespoons soda, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth pint water, vanilla to suit taste. Mix together and bake in moderate oven.

Honey Eggless Cake—One cup sugar, one-half cup honey, one cup sour milk, two tablespoons butter, one cup chopped raisins, one cup chopped dates, teaspoon soda, two and one-half cups flour, spices to taste. Mix and bake thirty minutes.

Honey Crabapple Jelly—Boil apple with as little water as possible; squeeze. Then add one-half cup honey, one-half cup sugar to one cup juice. Boil twenty minutes. Pour into glasses. Delicious.

Baked Honey Custard—Beat five eggs, add one-half cup honey, four cups scalded milk, one-eighth teaspoon powdered cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon salt. Bake in cups in water, in moderate oven.

SANDWICHES.

Lemon Sandwiches—Trim crust from a loaf of fresh bread. Put in the cooky jar, covered lightly with lemon peel. Sprinkle half pound butter with grated lemon, wrap in waxed paper and lay in jar with bread. Cover until next day. Rub the butter till soft; add juice of one lemon with four tablespoons chopped parsley. Spread on bread and cut in desired shape.

THE TABLE.

Potato-Lamb Dish—Slice raw potatoes, put in baking dish that has been buttered, sprinkle with salt, pepper, add small pieces of butter and some water. Set in oven till it turns light brown on top. Take three or more nice thick lamb chops, salt them lightly and lay on top of potatoes. When brown on top, turn over and brown on other side and keep enough water on potatoes to keep moist. The juice from the [illegible] makes them a fine flavor. Serve in dish in which they are baked.

Tomato Con-Con—Five medium tomatoes, one-half cup water, one onion, two ears corn, one-fourth box spaghetti, one-fourth pound round steak, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, one teaspoon olive oil, two teaspoons grated cheese. Cook tomatoes and onion fifteen minutes, then add steak and spaghetti; cook fifteen minutes longer. About ten minutes before serving add corn and rest of ingredients. Just before serving add lump of butter size of walnut.

Snowball Biscuit—Four teacups flour, two tablespoons butter or lard, a little salt. Mix together, then add four teaspoons baking powder; stir lightly through the flour, add one and one-half teacups sweet milk. Mix and roll out as quickly as possible. Bake in hot oven. If a good baking powder is used this recipe never fails.

Eggless Cake—One cup sugar, one cup sour milk, four and one-half cup chopped raisins, nutmeg and cinnamon to taste, one tablespoon soad, two cups flour. Bake in loaf in moderate oven.

FOR THE BABY

Get a store box about three feet square and eighteen inches deep. See that inside and edge are made very smooth. Cut squares to fit, from better parts of old comforts, cover with washable material and knot closely; these make easily laundered pads for bottom.

Place baby and his playthings inside. If he is inclined to throw them out, fasten by strings or ribbons to edge of box so that he may haul them in again if he likes.

By holding to edge of box he will learn to walk and will be protected meantime from cold and drafts to which a creeping baby on the floor is always exposed; also from fire, hot liquids and many things of which the little child who has the range of the house is always in danger.

If the baby has not previously been spoiled he will be happy and contented in his little pen.

Marrying for Money

BY MRS EVA LEONARD

The Law Apparently is On Ortrude Townsend's Side.

"George, I have been thinking we ought to have a talk with father and see if something cannot be done to safeguard our interests a little. It is clear that Ortrude will never sign that paper, acknowledging that she has had her third of the property and agreeing to claim no further share. As long as that is so, steps should be taken to keep her from fleecing us entirely." Dudley and George were up in the den, the center of all the intimate life of the Townsends.

"I for one am not anxious for the job of asking him to turn over everything that he owns to his children after the manner of old Lear. It is a delicate subject, you must admit." George stuck his feet on the window sill and puffed at his cigar with enthusiasm.

"I guess there is no danger of dear old Daddy's misunderstanding us and imagining that we are after anything we could want or use. Even his patience is worn out, and I guess he has given up all hope of her doing the fair thing by him or us."

There was silence for a while after Dudley stopped speaking. George took his feet from the sill to flick the ashes from his cigar through the open window.

"The whole thing is certainly a mess. I am not enough of a lawyer to know what could be done. I suppose he could give each of us a farm and Marian the block of stores and we would not have anything more to do with them than we do now, only we could be sure that money-grabber would not get her claws on them." George looked at Dudley, who sat leaning forward with his elbows on his knees, gazing at the floor. Just then the door opened and the father walked in.

"Here, Daddy, take your easy chair." Dudley rose and drew a rocker near enough to be in the group.

"What are you fellows discussing so earnestly?" asked Jacob, for the conversation was at a standstill.

"I'm afraid the subject is a hard one to discuss, but if you would not mind—" began Dudley, but his sentence trailed off into silence.

"What's this?" asked Jacob, looking keenly at the boys. "Speak out."

"The truth is, father, we were talking about what Ortrude would probably do if it came to a division of your estate," blurted out George, then fell to puffing vigorously at his cigar.

"Well?" encouraged Jacob, dropping his head on his hand.

"You will not understand." Dudley's voice was troubled. "Our relations are such that there is no chance for you to think for a minute that we—"

"There, there, say no more about that. What do you suggest?" Jacob's tone was dreary. His thoughts were traveling a road which was so familiar that there seemed no chance of a new outlook.

"If you could deed us children the property and have it remain exactly the same as it is today as far as management and income are concerned——"

"If it were only as simple as that," interrupted Jacob with a groan.

The boys did not answer, and he continued after a pause:

"Don't you know that I cannot sell, mortgage or deed away any real property of mine without my wife's signature?" There was silence in the room. "She knows that, I think, and that no will that left her out would hold in court. I am carrying a very heavy load, my children."

Dudley reached out and grasped his hand. "Don't you care, dear Daddy. All the plunder is not worth being unhappy over." Jacob answered the frank boyish smile with a grateful look.

CASTLES IN THE CITY.
(By Eunice Tietjens.)

I am a builder of castles, tho' I dwell in the city street,
Where only a ribbon of heaven gleams blue where the sky-lines meet,
And the song of the stars is swallowed in the tramp of marching feet.

Yet I am a builder of castles, with spire and turret gay,
And wondrous tower chambers where
dear dream-children play,
While the sun through mullioned windows weaves the changeless hours away.

The myriad cries of the city blare up from its brazen throats,
Its cares and its sins beslege me, entrenched by my tear-filled moats, Yet high on the sun-kissed towers the flag of faith still floats.

For oh! I believe in the dreaming, in the faith that can build anew,
And I buttress my walls with courage
when the city lights shine through,
For I am a builder of castles, and I know that my dreams are true.

TO KEEP BABY WELL.

1. Never put anything dirty in the cellar.
2. Keep your yard clean.
3. Cover the garbage can, unless you want to draw flies that will make your baby sick.
4. Keep the toilet seat clean and covered.
5. Cats and dogs are dangerous to a baby.
6. Clear away food and unwashed dishes after a meal so flies won't come in.
7. Buy mosquito netting for the baby's crib and windows.
8. Don't let people handle and kiss your baby.
9. Put the baby in another room when you sweep. Dust is just dry dirt.

It is easier to keep a well baby from getting sick than it is to make a sick baby well, so:

1. Don't take the baby to funerals or into sick rooms.
2. Don't take him into stuffy picture shows.
3. Don't let him play in ash heaps or dumps, or any kind of dirt.

If your roof leaks, or your cellar gets full of water, or your toilet is out of order, ask your landlord to make it right. If he does not do it soon, write a postal to your Board of Health.

WATCH YOUR MOTIVES AND DEEDS.

Few mothers realize as they should the priceless value of the early years of childhood. The habits formed then, the lessons instilled form the woof and worp of character, duly as mothers come into the child's life and get his point of view is it possible to really understand a child, to appreciate the motive of his acts. Many a child is punished for doing wrong who is utterly unconscious and guiltless of any other reason than that he has seen others do it and imitates what he has seen.

EXTENSION WORK.

Doyle, Texas,
January 23, 1916.

To the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations, Greeting!

In behalf of the Congress of Mothers for Colored Women we thank you for the interest manifested in the extension of child-welfare work among us, and desire your continued help.

With your influence we hope to organize each State this year. The next national meeting will be held in Dallas, date given later.

We who are interested in the work are struggling amid untold difficulties, we therefore request the good-will, cooperation and encouragement of the large-hearted people of your race in this world-wide movement. Please help us advertise. Yours for service to humanity,

A REVIEW.

Being Well-Born. By Michael F. Guyer. Childhood and Youth Series. Bobbs Merrill & Co. $1.00.

The study of pre-natal influence, or heredity, and of the science of race development is one that has received much consideration from students. The author of "Being Well-Born" reviews the progress of this study up to the present time. The statement is frankly made that many of the theories advanced have not been proved, that wide difference of opinion exists on many of the points discussed.

The relative importance of heredity and environment are presented. The value of both cannot be overestimated, yet as one looks over the men and women who have risen from what the world regards as poor heredity and poor environment, who by overcoming obstacles have gained strength of character, one must be led back to the divine heredity which exists in the poorest and lowliest. Infinite wisdom of the Creator of the Universe is so far beyond the ken of finite man that only on the surface can he touch those great questions of the origin of life, of its development of man.—Child-Welfare Magazine.

"TIZ" GLADDENS SORE, TIRED FEET

No puffed-up, burning, tender, aching feet—no corns or callouses.

"Tiz" makes sore, burning, tired feet fairly dance with delight. Away go the aches and pains, the corns, callouses, blisters, bunions and chilblains "Tiz" draws out the acids and poisons that puff up your feet. No matter how hard you work, how long you dance, how far you walk, or how long you remain on your feet, "Tiz" brings restful foot comfort. "Tiz" is magical, grand, wonderful for tired, aching, swollen, smarting feet. Ah! how comfortable, how happy you feel. Your feet just tingle for joy; shoes never hurt or seem tight.

Get a 25-cent box of "Tiz" now from any druggist or department store. End foot torture forever—wear smaller shoes, keep your feet fresh, sweet and happy. Just think! a whole year's foot comfort for only 25 cents.—Adv.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

Bookkeeper's Tangled Accounts Are Said to Be Short $1,000.

Nutley, March 16.—The desire for better clothing than he could afford to buy on his small salary is said to have led to the trouble in which George Williamson, thirty-three years old, of Nutley finds himself. A charge of forgery has been made against him by his employer, S. G. Wellburn, manager of the Western Electric company of 463 West street, of which Williamson was a trusted accountant and bookkeeper. He is locked up at police headquarters in New York.

The complaint charges Williamson with forging a check for $100 on the Chase National bank. Williamson's accounts are said to be so tangled that it will take accountants some time to straighten them out. It is feared by the company his suspected peculations may amount to $1,000 for the year.

AUTO SHOW A SUCCESS.

Half a Million Dollars Worth of Cars on Exhibit.

Red Bank, March 16.—The first annual show of the Monmouth County Automobile Dealers' Show association opened in the armory. All styles and types of cars, from the small runabout to the big commercial truck, are on exhibition, the value of the exhibits being estimated at $500,000.

The color scheme, blue and yellow, used at the Newark show, has been adopted, while thousands of yards of "blue sky" cover the girders. The transformation has been complete.

For Preparedness Mass Meeting.

Westfield, March 16.—Arrangements are being completed for a preparedness mass meeting to be held March 22 in the high school auditorium by Westfield council, K. of C. The chief speaker of the evening will be W. L. Saunders of the naval consulting board. On the stage will be mayors and former mayors of Union county municipalities, members of the G. A. R., presiding officers of the civic and social organizations of the town, state officers of the K. of C. and members of the board of health and officials of the Westfield fire and police departments.

Freed on Child's Bank Theft Charge.

Dover, March 16.—Accusations of having stolen a child's bank containing about $8, on which Hugo Kose and Oscar Papp were arrested, fell through when Mrs. Charles Scher of Ledgewood, with whom they boarded, confessed that she could produce no evidence against the men other than that their departure and the disappearance of the bank were simultaneous. The men were released. Mrs. Scher admitted that there were other boarders at the house when the men left.

Boastful, but Goes to Lockup.

Elizabeth, March 16.—James Locke, a small man, from Providence, R. I., remarked to Patrolman John P. Kelly when Kelly arrested him for drunkenness that "there wasn't a man in Providence who could lock me up." Kelly, who is a giant in stature, proceeded to take Locke to the lockup. Locke knocked Kelly's hat off, but that was as far as he got with his Willard stunts. He was calm in the morning, and the police decided to keep him in a cell until he had sobered up.

SURE OF A. K. C. SHOW IN AUTUMN

Local Kennel Club Plans Big Affair—Nine More New Members Taken In.

OFFER NOVEL AWARD

Club to Give Trophy to Member Making Best Yearly Record in A. K. C. Shows—Smoker Committee Appointed.

An American Kennel Club dog show to be held here in the early fall was assured at the meeting of the Plainfield Kennel Club in the Queen City Hotel last night, when a motion to have a show was passed. The bench show committee will be appointed by President A. Clinton Wilmerding.

Nine new members were accepted last night, bringing the total membership up to one hundred and twenty-five. The names added to the roster were C. A. F. Pfizenmayer, of Hempstead, L. I.; Harry C. England, of Martinsville; Mrs. W. P. Jenks, of Morristown; Charles H. Maddien, of West New York, N. J.; Mrs. S. Williams, of Kearny; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Ferguson, of Cranford; David Mahany, of New York, and Mrs. Edmund L. Mackenzie, of this city.

It was decided to offer a season trophy, to go to the Plainfield Kennel Club exhibitor winning the largest number of points at A. K. C. shows during the fiscal year ending with each Westminster show held in New York. The details of the point system upon which the merits will be credited the competitors will be worked out by the committee appointed to purchase the award.

A committee to arrange a club smoker to be held soon was appointed, comprising William B. Nash, chairman; A. G. Hooley and J. Hartley Mellick. The reports of the members in charge of the indoor show held March 4 were especially encouraging, the venture being an exceptional success financially, a net profit of $187 being realized. Resolutions were passed thanking all those whose efforts contributed to the success of the show, special commendation being voiced for President Wilmerding, Secretary O'Donohue, Treasurer Conway, and Richard J. Harrigan, who were particularly active. Handsome club medals, suitably engraved, were presented [redacted] local newspapermen who covered the show.

Although the inclement weather prevented a larger turnout, there were more than a dozen at the meeting. The memoers present were A. Clinton Wilmerding, John J. O'Donohue, John A. Conway, Richard J. Harrigan, Sol M. Rosenthal, Lawrence B. Smith, Harry Ungerer, Edmund L. Mackenzie, R. N. Anderson, Norman Kieb, H. B. Venn, Jr., and John F. Zerega.

LOCAL DOG SHOW WINNERS SCORE AT WOODMERE SHOW

Bobby Boy, Mrs. H. Grasser's dog, which won the Louis E. Waring cup for best Pomeranian in the recent open match show of the Plainfield Kennel Club, won second in the open of the ninth Woodmere Kennel Club match show held last night in New York. The show was one of the largest indoor exhibitions of the winter, more than three hundred dogs being entered. Caledonia Pansy, judged the best Boston terrier in the Plainfield show, won in the class for bitches under 17 pounds, and took the reserve for winners.

The special for the best dog in the show went to Mrs. McClure Haley's Ouena of Llenrud, a wonderful little Pekingese, which the owner has been exhibiting with marked success in the metropolitan circuit.

KNIGHTS' BASKETEERS TO MEET TABS TOMORROW NIGHT

Three new players are expected to be with the Tabs when they meet the Knights of Columbus basketballers in a two-round fight on the Tabs' court tomorrow night. The meeting will be a lively one from the word "go." A preliminary between two junior teams will precede the big attraction, and dancing will follow it.

OVERTON OUTRUNS CALDWELL.

John W. Overton, Yale's intercollegiate crosscountry champion, defeated a choice field in the Jasper threequartermile special race, which was the feature of the annual games of Manhattan College, in New York, last night. In winning by more than fifteen yards from Dave S. Caldwell, the Boston A. A. runner, whose performances have been a feature in athletic circles this winter. Overton was clocked in 3 7 3-5, only three-fifths of a second behind the world's indoor record made by Jim Driscoll, of Buffalo, in 1913.

HOPE FIVE WINS ON THE Y. M. C. A. COURT

Game Gets Rough Because of Referee's Liberality—Final Score 34-28.

In a rough but exciting game of basketball lat night, the Hope Chapel quintet defeated the Alerts, a team composed of Y. M. C. A. members, in the Y. M. C. A. gym, 34 to 28. Only three fouls were called during the whole game. In front at the end of the first half by four points, the Alerts could not hold the lead, and at the beginning of the second half Hope Chapel wasc leading by a scant point until the last few minutes of play, when a short rally netted them a six-point lead.

There was clever passing on both sides. The two midgets of the Hope Chapel forwards would bring the ball down the floor in short passes. For the losers Eddie Brandt was high man, securing five baskets, while R. Manley, playing a guard position, tallied four. This is the escond game played by these two teams, and Hope Chapel has won both.

PLAINFIELDERS BOWLERS LOSE AT BOUND BROOK Y. M. A.

The Unos, a team of local bowlers composed of the three Luthmans, Hansen and Menzenbach, lost the odd game on the new alleys of the Y. M. A. at South Bound Brook, last night, the home pinners rolling 929. The locals won the first game, but lost the second by one pin.

Hodge rolled 219 and Symdis 218, A. Luthman hit 232, E. Luthman 201 and N. Luthman 199.

P. H. S. SIX DOUBLES TOTAL OF CRANFORD

Miss C. Bremble's Shots From Center of Floor Feature Girls' Court Game.

Playing on the Cranford High School court yesterday afternoon, the girls' basketball team of Plainfield High School handed the maidens from that school the second trimming of the season by a 20 to 10 score. Not satisfied with leaving the scoring to the forwards, Clementine Bremble, who takes care of center for the locals, shot two baskets from the middle of the floor on her own account.

In other games this season Plainfield has been bothered on foreign courts by the floor being smaller than the one in the local High School, but yesterday was the first time she had caged any, and both coming close together in the first half, they helped put the game on ice early.

In the second half Miss Good made two baskets and two fouls also, while Miss Simons also registered twice. The two Cranford forwards each made the same number of points.

BASEBALL CHALLENGE.

Joseph Timko, manager of the Raritan Whitesocks, is looking for games with ball teams of Plainfield and nearby towns. This is the Raritan players' second season. Last year they won twelve out of thirteen games. Address J. Timko, Raritan, N. J.

NEW JOB FOR GOURLAY.

Tom Gourlay, one of the oldest professionals in the country, has been engaged to take charge of the new Rockaway River Country Club course at Denville. Gourlay was with the New Brunswick Country Club last season.

LAYTON BEATS CONCANNON.

Chicago, March 16.—John Layton, of Sedalia, Mo., won from Joe Concannon, 100 to 69, in the pocket billiard tournament yesterday. Layton scored the high run, 17, and went out in forty-one innings.

ELKS AT COUNTY SEAT.

The Plainfield team of the Elks' Junior Leagueu will roll at Elizabeth tonight.

N. P. H. S. NINE HAS SEVEN VETS

Opening Game Less Than Three Weeks Off—Good Battery Needed.

SQUAD IS PRACTICING

Tentative Lineup Has Dunning on First, Dawe at Midway, Dilts in Short, Townley on Third, and Kirch, Conroy and McDonough.

With the first contest less than three weeks off, prospects of the coming baseball season are being discussed in North Plainfield High School. The boroughites are optimistic about the season's prospects. With a nucleus of seven regulars to build around, a fairly strong nine should be formed.

Three vacancies will have to be filled, including two in the diamond and possibly one in the outfield. A sad blow was received when Ralph Smalley was graduated, leaving the important backstop position vacant. However, Captain Dilts has a large number of candidates who have signified their intention of striving for this position.

The most difficult problem to be solved is that of finding a pitcher who can alternate with Stahl. Captain Dilts acted in this capacity last season, but will not do so again, unless as a last resort, preferring to play his regular position at shortstop, which will make his batting more efficient. A few practices have already been held for this position, and a likely number of candidates were present. Force and Chandler, two southpaws, had plenty of stuff but were a little wild. Daly, with a little more coaching, would make a handy man in this department, and will be a strong contender for the position.

On paper the infield of the local school should be strong. Sid Dunning has the advantage of height for the initial bag and appears to be the logical candidate for that job if his arm which he broke this winter holds out. Dawe, the utility infielder of last year, will in all probability be stationed on the keystone position. Dilts will be picking the hot ones up around the short field, as he did two years ago. Townley will complete the circuit, being stationed at the far corner, where he has played the past four years.

A fast and reliable outfield will represent the borough institution. Harry Kirch will be stationed behind third base, and a more reliable fielder never graced a N. P. H. S. uniform. Kirch is a demon at the bat, being a long, natural hitter. Conroy will probably be able to fill a position in the outfield, his operation during the winter making him unable to play his accustomed position at second base. McDonough, who was a utility outfielder last season, is slated for the other outfield pasture.

WANT TO HOLD BOXING BOUTS IN PLAINFIELD

Local Men Who Want a Club Here Encouraged by the Bill Passing Senate.

Trenton, March 16.—The Senate yesterday passed the bill introduced in the Assembly to legalize boxing in this State. The measure will permit four-round bouts with eight-ounce gloves, the contests to be conducted under the A. A. U. rules and regulations. The bill is now ready for the Governor's consideration.

Agitation for a club in this city for boxing bouts has been revided recently. Talk of such a club has come up before, but the discussion will probably become stronger now since the action of the Senate yesterday passing the bill permitting four-round matches.

The local supporters of a boxing club here were for the most part borough men before, but the ones doing the talking now are younger men from this side of the brook. Among those interested are young Bob Fitzsimmons, Seymour Van Blake, Charlie Shelden, Jack Dineen and Alfred Widoson.

GIANTS ENJOY IDEAL WEATHER.

Marlin, Texas, March 16.—Up to the present time the Giants have not lost a minute's practice on account of rain. The weather has been the best for training purposes that John J. McGraw has ever experienced in his long baseball career.

Benny Kauff featured yesterday's practice, making three long drives.

DAUBERT MAKES FOUR HITS.

Daytona, Fla., March 16.—Captain "Jake" Daubert, who arrived late Tuesday night, jumped into his uniform yesterday afternoon, and it was mostly due to his four hits that the regulars trounced the Colts by 8 to 2.

MANAGERS APPOINTED FOR P. H. S. SPORTS

Crone for Football, Seal for Track, and Eggie Tennis—Letters Awarded.

A meeting of the officers of the Plainfield High School Boys' Athletic Association was held yesterday afternoon, at which time three members were appointed. Edward Crone, who was last year's football manager, was again appointed to that position, and the vacancy as manager of the track team was filled by the appointment of Harold Seal. Eustice Eggie was made manager of the tennis team. By reason of the High School joining the New Jersey High Schools' Athletic League, Crone will not have much of a schedule to work out, but the tennis and track managers will have to arrange their dates for this season.

All members of this season's basketball squad that were eligible to receive their letter handed in their names at the meeting and eight were awarded their P. H. S. Those who will get their letters are Wheelan, Peacock, Linke, McDowell, Dunham, Coudray, Kyle and Snyder.

NEW TRACK COACH FOR HIGH SCHOOL

William Knowl Will Handle Squad—To Enter Team in Penn Relays.

At a meeting of track team supporters held in the Plainfield High School yesterday afternoon, preliminary steps were taken to organize a relay team to enter the annual relay carnival of the University of Pennsylvania to be held on Franklin Field, Philadelphia, on Friday and Saturday, April 28 and 29. Prospects for another successful track season were considerably brightened yesterday by Captain Trowbridge's announcement that William Knowl, a new member of the faculty of the High School, will act as coach.

Indoor practice will start in the school gymnasium tomorrow afternoon, and at first will include only running. There is but six weeks for the members of the team to get in shape, but with Daniels, who last year did the quarter mile in 53 seconds, Trowbridge, Miller, McAneny, VanHoesen, Wagner and O'Donnell on deck, a relay team that will give all the teams that will be represented from all over the country a hard rub for first honors should be developed by Mr. Knowl, who before coming here was an instructor and coach at Reading Academy, in New England

DISFAVORS BIDDING UP SELLING RACE WINNERS

Convinced that the conditions governing selling races have been a source of ill feeling and unifair tactics among certain owners of race horses, August Belmont has taken action to correct the abuses that prevailed under the old order of things. The first step in the reform movement was taken by Mr. Belmont yesterday when he instructed the secretary of the Westchester Racing Association, which conducts its races at Belmont Park, to put on the program of events for the May meeting selling races so framed as to prohibit the bidding up of the winner. The top value to be placed on any horse entered in the innovation contests will be $2,500. The conditions to govern these races provide that every horse starting in the race, including the winner, may be claimed for the entered selling price plus the value to the winner. This is one of the most radical corrective measures ever encouraged by the chairman of the Jockey Club to stamp out practices held to be inimical to the best interests of the turf.

BAYLEY PINNERS' DATES.

Wednesday, March 22, is the date awarded the Bayley Council bowlers for their initial matches in the Knights of Columbus Eastern bowling championships being staged in New York. Bayley Council is also planning to enter ten teams in the headpin tourney in Newark. Arrangements are being made for a clash between the Bayley and Elizabeth Council teams.

REFUSES TO GRANT INSIGNIA.

In awarding varsity insignia yesterday Columbia rebuked its basket ball team for its poor showing in the intercollegiate championship series by failing to award the "letter" to a single player on the five. The only letter was given to K. A. Kilbourne, manager of the team.

EQUALS TANK RECORD.

Russell Dean, of Yale and the New York Athletic Club, swam 100 yards with the back stroke last night in 1 minute 8 2-5 seconds, equaling the world's record set by Harry Hebner, of the Illinois Athletic Club, of Chicago in St. Louis in February, 1911.

ROLL MONDAY NIGHT.

The postponed Senior Elks' Bowling league series between the Elizabeth and New Brunswick Antlers will be rolled at Elizabeth next Monday night.

HEAVYWEIGHT IDOL, JIM COFFEY, HERE TONIGHT.

Jim Coffey will be in town tonight. The heavyweight campaigner will arrive on the 9:47 train from New York, and will be met by a delegation which will escort him to Saengerbund Hall, where he will be the guest of honor at the A. O. H. ball.

Coffey, as fine a specimen of the perfect athlete as can be found in the boxing game, is perhaps the best known and best liked fighter in the ring, from a local point of view, on account of his visits to this city, where some of his relatives reside. Any one who wants to know why the Roscommon giant is so popular should visit Saengerbund Hall tonight and meet him.

Satisfaction gained by the success of work well done must make every member of the Plainfield Kennel Club proud of his organization. In its previous outdoor shows, held at the Horse Show grounds, the club generally lost money, largely because of bad weather, and to have made such a tidy sum as $187 at the little indoor exhibition held recently, despite the fact that the prize list was exceedingly liberal, is extremely creditable. That the A. K. C. show to be held here next fall will be the most successful outdoor show the club has ever had is certain. In numbers, it may not surpass the present record (the largest entry ever obtained for a local show was 1,740), but it will be the biggest success, financially and materially, of any of the P. K. C. fixtures. By having done so well at the indoor show, where there were only 174 dogs benched, the club has set a high standard; but it is a bogey that will be stormed at all the future undertakings of a body of live wires whose untiring endeavors are too zealous to be denied.

Confidence is a necessary element in the make-up of a ball player, but it will take more than conviction of his own ability for Benny Kauff to withstand the panning he will get when he gets in the throes of his first slump. And the competitor who never has a slump has yet to make his appearance.

AMERICAN TROOPS POUR INTO MEXICO

Secrecy Veils Movements of Invading Force.

ORDERS TO WIPE OUT VILLA

Code Message Informs Secretary of War That Soldiers Are on Move. American Border Towns Fearful That Carranza's Soldiers Will Side With Rebel Leader.

San Antonio, Tex., March 16.—The pursuit in Mexico of Francisco Villa, whose raid across the border last week caused President Wilson and his cabinet to decide to use the United States army to run him down, began when Brigadier General John J. Pershing, with more than 4,000 troops, crossed into Mexico.

General Pershing's report that he and his command had crossed the international boundary line just south of Columbus reached General Frederick Funston, in charge here of general operations. A smaller force under Colonel George A. Dodd crossed the boundary into Mexico west of Columbus.

The report of General Pershing served to dispel to a great extent fears that had been entertained in some quarters that resistance would be offered by the troops of the Carranza de facto government. Colonel Bertani, the commanding officer of the Carranza garrison at Palomas, on the south side of the dividing line, promptly joined General Pershing. His force was only some 400 men, but they were reported to have displayed willingness and even eagerness to join in the chase. As a body the Mexican troops will remain under their own commander, but a number of them are being employed as scouts by General Pershing.

Meager Reports Expected.

Reports of progress in the country where the search has been begun will be made by General Pershing to General Funston, but it is not expected that these will be frequent or will deal with any but the more important developments.

How far into Mexico the column had reached was unknown here, nor did General Funston appear greatly concerned. General Pershing's course for the next two days is known at headquarters, and not until after that are sharp developments expected.

Colonel Dodd's column, which was at Hachita, N. M., entered Mexico some distance west of Columbus, also moving in a southerly direction. The two forces should be within touch of each other before the end of the week. By that time it is expected an infantry support will hold the lines of communication along which motor trucks for the transportation of ammunition and supplies will be operated. Although the censorship imposed by General Funston was relaxed, efforts still were made to keep secret the details of the plan of campaign, the exact number of men engaged and their actual locations.

General Pershing has gone into Mexico with orders to overtake and wipe out Villa and his organization. Unless orders to the contrary are received from those higher in authority than General Funston, the campaign that was begun will continue until Villa is captured or killed. This, it is said at General Funston's headquarters, is the idea of General Pershing which he carried with him across the line. No limits have been placed on the field of operations. After the campaign is well under way, it was pointed out, circumstances may cause restrictions, but just now the troops are prepared to go anywhere to carry out the president's orders.

Washington Is Gratified.

Washington, March 16.—Newton D. Baker, secretary of war, made formal announcement that American troops had crossed the border into Mexico. After making it many questions were put to him regarding the expedition, but he begged to be excused from going into details. He would not say where the crossing was made nor whether all three of the projected cavalry columns had entered Mexico or only one of them. He declined also to disclose any information regarding the composition of the expeditionary force. The announcement made by Secretary Baker showed that Major General Funston was communicating with the war department in its secret cipher code to prevent the possibility of military information reaching the public.

Secretary Baker indicated that information reaching the war department was to the effect that Carranzista military authorities generally in Chihuahua were apparently prepared to cooperate and were not putting obstacles in the path of the expedition.

Secretary Baker remained at the war department until a late hour awaiting news from the border and attending to routine business connected with the dispatch of re-enforcements, the shipment of equipment, ammunition and supplies and arrangments generally for putting the army in position to meet any contingency. Several officers of the general staff were on duty at the department.

General Bliss on Duty.

Brigadier General Enoch H. Crowder, Judge advocate general of the army; Colonel Richmond P. Davis, Lieutenant Colonel George B. Duncan and Captain Stanley B. Embick of the coast artillery, and Captain Harry N. Cotes of the Thirteenth cavalry, now attached to the general staff, but recently on duty at Columbus, N. M., were among those at the department. When Secretary Baker left the war department Major General Tasker H. Bliss, assistant chief of the general staff, remained on duty in charge of the situation. Adjutant General Henry P. McKay, who was also on duty at the department [illegible] off some orders, the nature of [illegible] was not disclosed.

While the character of the expeditionary force is not being officially disclosed in Washington, it is understood here that it was to consist of not fewer than three regiments of cavalry, with mountain artillery, light artillery with howitzers, engineers, the aero squadron and other auxiliaries and that it would move into Mexico in at least three expeditionary columns, one from the vicinity of Columbus, the other from Ojo del Perro, a point in the "lower square" of New Mexico, near Culberson's ranch, and the third crossing the border at a point west of El Paso, near Norio, N. M.

From all of these points there are roads or desert trails which converge at Ascension, the first important crossroads point about fifty-five miles south of Columbus. The force being sent from Hachita south through Ojo del Perro is believed to include most of the Seventh and Tenth regiments of cavalry, while the Thirteenth cavalry and other units are thought to have crossed from Columbus. With the column are batteries of the Sixth field artillery, which has mountain guns.

Reassuring advices from Mexico continued to reach the state and war departments, all indicating that the de facto government was satisfied with the reciprocal arrangement under which American troops were permitted to cross the border in pursuit of Villa's band.

Carranza Troops Rebel.

Douglas, Ariz., March 16.—Numerous reports have reached the military authorities here that open rebellion has broken out among the Carranza troops at Cabullona, eighteen miles south of here.

Americans here are seriously disturbed, and precautions have been taken to guard the town.

Ives G. Lelevier, Carranza consul here, demanded that the local express agent turn over to him 300,000 cartridges consigned to General P. Elias Calles and ordered held by the American military authorities. The request was refused.

Consul Lelevier then telegraphed to Eleso Arredondo, representative of the de facto government at Washington, asking him to obtain President Wilson's permission for delivery of the cartridges.

Arrivals from Sonora said that several hundred de facto troops had intrenched at Las Juntas de las Ambudas and Cajon Bonita, near Cuchuverachi, Sonora, twenty-five miles southwest of here. Their positions are on a plateau overlooking nearby roads.

General Calles has been officially notified of the number and disposition of American troops to cross the border into western Chihuahua, according to Consul Lelevier. Calles told Lelevier he did not expect any American forces to enter Sonora, as he said he has ample forces to keep Villa from entering the state.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also is the most effective way to break a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Adv.

If the United States is forced to intervene in Mexico to establish a stable government it will mean a job that will take at least five years to accomplish, and the minimum army that must be called into service will be from 400,000 to 500,000 trained men. That was the statement made by Colonel Edwin F. Glenn, U. S. A., the chief of staff of the eastern department, at Governors Island.

MEAT PRICE INQUIRY.

House May Order Federal Trade Commission to Investigate.

Washington, March 16.—Hearings will be held on April 3 on Representative Borland's resolution for an investigation by the federal trade commission of an alleged price conspiracy of western meat packers, the house judiciary subcommittee decided. Representatives of live stock associations will support the resolution.

Held For Avoiding Guard Drill.

Washington, March 16.—Charles J. Perry, twenty-two years old, was arrested here on the charge of violating sections 33 and 62, articles of war, bearing on the failure of militiamen to attend drills. Perry is a member of the Third infantry, district national guard. Recently the war department started a campaign to increase the attendance of militiamen. The arrest of Perry is said to be the first step in a policy of preparedness.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The High School debating team has a chance to reach the finals in the Rutgers College Debating league when they meet the team of the East Orange High School in the local auditorium tomorrow night. The question will be on national prohibition, as against state prohibition and local option. This time Plainfield will have the affirmative and East Orange the negative. The winner of the coming debate will meet the winner of the Barringer-Passaic debate for the first honors in the league, and, with so much depending on the outcome, an even larger crowd than the five hundred at the South Side debate is expected. Richard Borden, William Backer and Dickerman Williams, with Olive Lawrence as alternate, will compose the team that the locals will rely on.

The elections held at the High School this week to choose members of the Oracle Board, were only partially successful, and another one will be held in the near future. The office of business manager is still undecided, as are the sophomore officers. Kenneth Larabee was elected as freshman representative by a large majority, and Everett Case and Horace Bunker were two out of the three successful juniors.

The second annual swimming tests for High School pupils to qualify as experts will be held in the High School pool on Monday afternoon. Included among the things that will have to be done by candidates is disrobing in water and swimming twenty yards, and diving.

The recent tryouts for positions on the two debating teams that will represent the High School in the coming tri-school debate with Trenton and Pattin High School were so unsatisfactory to Harold Biddle, the faculty literary director, that he has announced that they will be held over again next week. Plainfield is in a fair way to capture first honors in the Rutgers Debating League, and it is hoped that they can do the same in the tri-league.

The members of the sophomore cast that is to present two sketches, "Miss Civilization" and "The Mouse Trap, in the high school auditorium on March 25, are putting the finishing touches on and are nearly ready for the presentation. The effort of the second-year pupils in the theatrical line is of more than passing interest, as it is the first time in many a year that a sophomore class has attempted to produce a play. Miss Cornelia Lounsberry, who was a member of the high school cast that gave these plays in 1909, is coaching, and indications point to a successful production.

Most Young Men Will Wear Plain Colors This Spring

Checks, stripes, plaids and what not will give way to plain colors. The tendency among well-dressed men is to look for plain greens, browns, blues and grays. These dressy, soft tones seem to make the average man stand out in relief. They whisper their style, but do not shout it. Then, again, they permit a man to blend the colors of his shirt, scarf and socks harmoniously.

At BAMBERGER'S You Will See Greens, Blues, Browns and Grays

We have made ample provision for what we believe will be the prevailing colors this spring. Never fear, though, that we have not all the rest. For if any man will not have a plain color suit, we will give him anything his fancy chooses. It is surprising how moderate the prices are.

Prices Begin at $15.00 and Rise Step by Step to $25

No matter what price you pay the full quota of style is there. If you pay a little more the cloth and tailoring are better in proportion. But, as far as the style is concerned, that admits of no improvement.

We're Tailoring Suits to Measure At $18.50 Each

This offer comes under the head of our Annual Merchant Tailoring Sale, which is now in progress. In this we make a special bid to the seemingly hard-to-fit individual, and stand ready to show him how splendid a garment we can tailor to his measurements, from high-grade woolens, for $18.50.

Little Petticoats Must Flare To Be In Fashion—The New Lanvin Sash Made of Velvet Ribbon—White and Colored Linen for Mornings—Fashions for the Small Lad.

MOTHERS are busy, these early spring days, planning and supplying juvenile wardrobes for all summer long. When this arduous task is out of the way, grown-up Easter fashions will have consideration; but most mothers like to get the small girl or small boy outfit satisfactorily and completely off the mind early in the season—before serious dressmaking problems come up. And it is easy to select children's clothes now for almost everything will be bought ready-made and all the new fashions for children are out by the middle of March.

The first requirement is of course to have a plenty of everything; plenty of tub frocks for a spic-span appearance morning, afternoon and evening; plenty of little undergarments for frequent changes; several hats for play, school and "best"; at least two coats, one of rough-and-ready type and the other a dress-up affair of impressive character; boots galore and stockings and socks to correspond; and last but far from least jolly rompers and play frocks with a sturdiness to resist wear and tear and many washings.

Shepherd Checks Have Favor in Small Coats.

Checks of all sizes, in black and white, brown and white and blue and white, have the favor in children's coats, both for the small girl and her small brother. Black and white checks have special favor for they are particularly crisp and smart along with little hats that supply the childish note of color. And always the black and white checked coat is made youthful and gay by the addition of white trimmings and buttons, or collar and facings of taffeta silk—Dutch blue or old rose with the black and white check seem to be best liked. Occasionally an exclusive little garment will show some other shade in its trimming; for example a block checked coat in black and white has collar and cuffs of corn-colored satin, with buttons of ivory tinted bone. A lining of the pale corn-colored satin adds a rich note. A dainty coat of brown and white check has collar and cuffs of olive green taffeta, a ripple cape to the waist showing a lining of the same olive green. In the picture showing two small maids together is a modish little coat of black and white shepherd check which by its cut suggests quaintly a jacket and skirt combination, the broad belt of white kid threading in and out through slashes in the jacket portion. Collar and cuffs are of spotless white pique—detachable, of course, for laundering. This wee girl, obviously dressed for an afternoon call, wears a captivating hat of pink faille with pleated frills of pink chiffon and a trimming of small pink roses and leaves. Her strap slippers are black and the short socks white with black and pink striping.

The dainty little hostess has picked up a pink flowered parasol for a stroll through the garden with her visitor. She wears a simple but beautiful afternoon dress bearing the hall mark of Paris in its fine hand needlework. Of sheer, soft French batiste, this frock is pintucked in groups from shoulder to hip, a ribbon threaded through slashes under the tucks, defining the very low waistline which Paris favors for little girls of this age. The frock is edged with an ungathered flounce of point d'esprit and on this flounce are several tiny double frills of white footing. The sleeves are finished in the same way and a frill of the footing outlines a round neck. Bronze dancing slippers with sandal straps of ribbon are laced over pale-colored silk socks in the tint of the sash.

For a slightly older girl is a coat of fawn serge, smartly trimmed with black buttons and a three-tier belt of varnished leather which passes under flat panels at back and front of the garment. These panels form deep pleats at the bottom of the coat and give it the required fullness. At the shoulder they are mere tucks pinched in the material, so it will be seen that this coat has a decidedly circular cut though the effect is flat at back and front.

Small Skirts Must Flare.

The silhouette of the wee maid has undergone a change like that of her mamma, her nurse, her kindergarten teacher—and all other feminine folk in her world. Her small petticoats are frilled and starched now, to make them stand out crisply, and if she is past babyhood's age she may have a bit of stiffening at the hem of her coat or her spring frock of worsted or silk material. Many of the serge frocks for schoolgirls of ten to sixteen years are faced with a very flexible interlining which may be sat upon slid upon and romped upon without becoming crushed, so elastic is its fiber. A frock for a girl of eleven is of navy blue henrietta cloth with smocking all around a rounded yoke which dips down at the front into a deep U. A belt of white kid passes through slashes just below the waistline, drawing the full frock in to the slender figure and the skirt flares out smartly. Collar and cuffs of this engaging frock are of white handkerchief linen with the tiniest of tiny plisse frills at the edge.

Pin Tucks Even On School Frocks.

Everything is pintucked except wiry materials like serge which do not take to hand-tucking nicely. An olive green crepe de chine frock for a little girl has groups of pintucks between box pleats from shoulder to a low waistline. Down the center front is a row of closely placed buttons covered with the material. The sash is also of the olive green crepe de chine with knotted ends and dull gold tassels at the front. Collar and cuffs are of cream colored mousseline.

There is no lovelier way to make an organdie frock for a little girl than with pintucks and other tucks in graduated width. Tucks are so easily made, requiring only time and patience, that they are an admirable trimming for the frock made at home. Little dresses with many ruffles of organdie, each ruffle corded at the edge, are charming on tall, slender girls of ten years or over. So many ruffles are apt to make a smaller tot look roly-poly and dumpy.

Sport Skirts? To Be Sure!

Of course the little girl has her natty sport skirt, this year, made of bright colored Scotch plaid preferably, and of course the skirt has pockets in which hands may be boyishly tucked. Very correct is a sport skirt of Mackenzie tartan—one of the handsomest of the clan plaids—with box pleats depending from a wide belt, buttoned toward one side. The belt is worn low, buttoning underneath to a long-waisted skirt much like a small boys, with starched, tucked fronts, coat sleeves, breast pocket and turnover Eton collar with Windsor tie—an excellent play costume for summer mornings at mountain or shore!

Pique is fashionable this season and many new weaves have been brought out. It is really wonderful how so many variations can be accomplished on the simple pique stripe. The frock of pique pictured shows a new idea in the rounded tab dropped over the sash. There is another tab at the back, and the two tabs keep the loose black velvet sash in position. Collar and cuffs are of handkerchief linen and both collar and belt-tab are held down by white crochet buttons embroidered over in black. This model would reproduce well in pink or green linen, with white collar and cuffs, or in yellow linen.

Rompers Ready for Summer Play.

Two new styles of rompers are pictured, one for beach wear, made of corduroy with strappings and belt of linen. This romper is a bit warmer than a linen or cotton garment and may be worn like a bathing suit, with no other clothing underneath. Then if a small somebody goes paddling too far, the home-going raiment will not become hopelessly wet. The shady beach hat of washable fabric is to be commended also.

Prettier than the ordinary shapeless romper is a new play garment for babyhood—babyhood that is, big enough to scramble and romp in the garden or on the sands. The picture of this romper shows how it is fastened with buttons underneath the leg so that it may be slipped on easily over ordinary garments and removed as easily. It is made of pink linen, pintucked across the top at back and front. Its upper fastenings comes at the back. By unbuttoning this fastening and also the buttons under the leg the romper may be ironed as easily as a spread-out towel.

Fashions For The Boy.

Styles for little boyhood are just as decided and just as attractive as styles for tiny girlhood, and only the mother of a little lad knows how these juvenile fashions change from season to season. This year, again, the quaint Oliver Twist, or Dicken's suit, will be worn by little boys of the chubby age, but the moment a boy begins to grow out of babyhood and to take on the slim lines of bigger boyhood he should be put into something more manly than a Dickens' suit which is, after all, babyish, in character. The Oliver Twist model pictured has breeches of tan linen, with collar to match and waist of white cambric, laced down the front with white cord. Another suit of white galatea, with collar and cuffs of blue galatea, is practical and freshly charming for morning or afternoon wear.

Most engaging is the wee person in a lapelled frock which suggests the famous coat worn by "Trilby." This frock is really intended for a little girl—as evidence, the bracelet—but it would be quite suitable for a very small boy, with its strapped belt and its boyish collar and lapels. As shown here, it is made of white galatea with belt and collar of rose pink linen. The fastening is at the front and the frock may be laundered very easily.

The Lanvin Sash of Ribbon Loops.

Little girls are wearing sashes of velvet ribbon with overlapping loops depending from a band of the ribbon that goes around the waist. Two danglers fall at the front and two at the back and the velvet ribbon should be an inch wide, three or more loops one above the other, to each pendant. This sash was brought out by Lanvin.

Memory Link Bracelets — Girlhood's New Fad

ABOUT a quarter of a century ago every girl coveted a bangle bracelet jingling with ten-cent pieces, each dime polished on one side and engraved with somebody's monogram or initials. This trinket was highly valued, and the more dangling, monogrammed dimes it boasted, the greater its value to the possessor and her friends—just as the Indian's proudest possession once upon a time was his belt hung with scalps! For of course, every dime on the bracelet represented, by its engraved monogram, an adorer.

The bangle went out and its owner forgot all about it. Now she looks whimsically at her young daughter, all enthusiasm over the "new and original" idea of a monogrammed Memory Bracelet which is the very latest twentieth century school girl fad. Instead of dimes, however, the new bracelet has narrow little slabs of silver or gold plate which are strung on the tiniest black velvet ribbon and tied around the wrist. The bracelet begins with one slab, or "link"—and the length of black velvet. Link by link will it grow, and each link will bear the initials of some devoted admirer or friend.

A SPACE SAVER FOR THE DRESSER.

KEEPING handkerchiefs under the pincushion is an idea for the woman whose dresser is not generously large. The lower part of the pincushion is a square box covered with flowered ribbon and lined with silk and sachet. The cover of the box is padded to serve as a pincushion and a frill of ribbon goes all around the edge.

All is not Gold that Glitters.... in her Hair

SITTING at the rear of a fashionable audience at theatre or opera, this winter, one is impressed by the number of sparkling ornaments in the women's coiffures—and also at the dainty, neat and carefully groomed aspect of the coiffures themselves. Fluffy hair is no longer good style; neither is baggy hair or frizzy hair; and a frowsy, half informal hairdressing has no merit of artistic value these days. All that is permitted in the way of artificial curling is a long, loose marcel wave conforming to the lines of the head, rather than standing out from it; and the tresses seem to be burnished in some manner so that there are no straggling wisps or fluttering locks. All is neat, compact and exquisitely well groomed—as has been said.

In these dainty hairdressings are thrust splendid combs glittering with brilliants and colored stones; the color of course carefully selected to harmonize with the costume. Some of the combs one notes at the opera are set with real diamonds and genuine rubies and emeralds; but these expensive coiffure ornaments are in the minority. Most of the modern hair combs sparkle with rhinestones and jewels of colored glass, but the effect is none the less brilliant for all that; and imitation gems have a very decided style value, quite apart from any question of intrinsic value, which makes them superlatively correct.

Several stage influences have made glittering hair ornaments the fashion. For one, the gorgeous spectacle of the Ballet Russè in which wondrous ornaments for head and hair form an important part of the costumes, designed by that past master of color, Leon Bakst. "Bakst's" hair ornaments of various sorts are already displayed in the larger shops and splendor and weird design are their special features. Four Bakst combs for the hair are pictured in the larger illustration; and the most impressive of the combs is shown adjusted in the hair, in another illustration.

comb which has a peculiar shape of no particular meaning as far as the uneducated eye is concerned, is a combination of amber and crystal, set with rhinestones and imitation rubies and sapphires. The big comb is thrust into the hair in smart effect, standing out only slightly from the head and forming a graceful part of the coiffure rather than a sharp note of contrast. Of the three other Bakst combs pictured, the one to the right of the comb just described is of amber and tortoise-shell with sunken rhinestones, cut steel beads and imitation emeralds. The fan-shaped comb at the lower left is of tortoise shell set with seed pearls, jet and imitation topaz—an excellent comb for a gray-haired woman. At the lower right is a comb in wing design, the spread pinions outlined with feathers made of tiny garnets and rhinestones. All around the edge of the wings is a border of garnets, and within this a second border of rhinestones.

High Spanish combs are becoming more and more fashionable. They demand a piled-up hairdressing, the tall comb making a background for a towering mass of curls of soft puffs. The Spanish comb worn with a low hairdressing loses much of its artistic value and gives an old-maidish suggestion to the head. Sometimes the Spanish comb is thrust obliquely into the hair at one side of the coiffure but its best effect is high at the back, behind a mass of piled-up puffs.

The peacock comb is another fashion of the winter. This comb, worn high on the head, has a fan-shaped top set with imitation sapphires and emeralds and from the jeweled mounting sprout feathery fronds of goura. The peacock comb takes its name from the headdress worn by Miss Ruth St. Denis in her dance of "Nur Jehan, Indian Princess of the House of Akbar." This princess was supposed to be so vain that she was condemned to be a peacock for life, and the gorgeous costume of the dancer, portraying the peacock princess, is all in tones of shimmering blue and green; the odd head-dress topping a veil of latticed pearls.

There are scores of attractive combs in the straight or curved bar effect, set with rhinestones and colored stones, and mounted on two to six prongs of amber or tortoise shell. These are thrust into the hair in various ways, the glittering line of the comb's top snuggling into the hair with just the right emphasis of brilliance. One of these combs has a crescent shaped top of dark shell set with rhinestones on a slender line of silver, the crescent fitting against the side of the coiffure just back of the ear.

Whatever the manner of arranging the back hair now, the front hair is drawn closely against the head, revealing its shape and giving the effect of a small, dainty head crowned with a wealth of tresses—the wealth revealed by an enormous knot at the back or crown, or by many little curls or puffs piled high. Some women can stand the very fashionable drawn-back pompadour, revealing all of the forehead; but the style is too trying for the average face; so fashion permits a becoming little fringe, or softly framing waves emanating from a side-parting and drawn low over the forehead. But these locks and waves must be exquisitely neat; every hair must lie just so, without a hint of frizziness.

If the hair has just been marcelled it is best to wear a net over it to restrain the dry, fluffy effect. After a day or two of brushing the marcel wave will be smoother and the net may be dispensed with.

A Bakst Comb of weird shape with Persian figures in enamel and inset jewels of colored glass.

Splendid with color are these new combs adapted from design by Bakst.

THOMAS TAGGART.

Will Be Appointed to Succeed Senator Shively in Indiana.

Dispatches from Washington say that Thomas Taggart will be appointed by Governor Ralston of Indiana to succeed Senator Shively. This matter was settled some time ago, with the certain knowledge then that Senator Shively was hopelessly ill. Mr. Taggart will later be nominated by the Democratic state convention for the unexpired term, to make the race before the people in November next. Mr. Taggart will accept this as a vote of confidence from his party and will then decline, and the Democratic state committee will name Governor Ralston as the candidate for senator for the unexpired term. Taggart does not want continuous service in the senate. He simply seeks the compliment to round out his political career.

SLIDES OF PANAMA CANAL DISAPPEAR

Great Waterway Will Open In Month, Col. Harding Says.

Washington, March 16.—Official prediction was made that the Panama canal would probably be reopened for the passage of ships of thirty feet draft on April 15, one month hence. This prediction was in the form of a statement by the Washington office of the Panama canal that the following announcement was made by Colonel Chester Harding, acting governor of the canal:

Conditions in Gaillard cut justify the prediction that the Panama canal will be available for ships of thirty feet draft on April 15, subject to probable temporary delays thereafter, to meet the exigencies of the dredging fleet in completing the canal to its full width and depth and in removing shoals that may possibly develop.

The canal has been closed to navigation since last September on account of the slides at Gold Hill and in Gaillard cut. While several vessels of light draft have passed through during the last month, it was not until now that canal officials ventured any prediction as to when they thought the canal again would be ready for use by the world's merchant shipping. During January reports were spread that the canal would be ready for traffic by Feb. 15.

At that time an official announcement was made that these reports were unfounded and that conditions then were still too uncertain for the authorities to make any predictions as to the probable date when the canal would be opened.

The announcement now made is intended as an invitation to the shipping of the world to route its ships again via Panama. The closing of the canal on account of slides has been a source of considerable loss of revenue through inability to collect canal tolls while the waterway was blocked for shipping.

FRENCH HOLDING DEAD MAN'S HILL

German Assaults Receive Bloody Check and Are Abandoned.

ACTIVITY IN BELGIUM

Officers of Dutch Liner Tubantia Say Ship Was Torpedoed Without Warning—Economy is Urged for German Nation.

Paris, March 17.—French war statement:

"West of the Meuse the bombardment slackened during the night in the region of Bethincourt and Cumieres. After the bloody check which his attack received yesterday, the enemy did not renew his assaults on the height of Dead Man's Hill. East of the Meuse an increase in the bombardment was followed, beginning by a series of offensive actions of a very violent character against our positions in the village and fort of Vaux. Five successive attacks with large forces were launched by the Germans in this region without a single success—two on the village, two others on the slopes of the ridge on which the fort is located, and finally a last one by which the enemy attempted to debouch a cross road to the southeast of the village of Vaux. All these attacks were broken by our curtains of fire and our machine guns cost the enemy severe losses. In the Woevre region, no development is reported, with the exception of a reciprocal cannonade in the entire sector. West of Pont-a-Mousson a surprise attack against a salient of the enemy's lines at the forest of Mort Mare enabled us to bring back some prisoners and to inflict some losses on the enemy."

Say Liner was Torpedoed.

The Hague, March 17.—Evidence given by officers of the Dutch liner Tubantia to representatives of the Dutch Ministry of Marine, is to the effect that the ship was attacked by a submarine and torpedoed without warning. It was announced today that 377 survivors from the Tubantia had been landed at various Dutch ports. This would indicate that at least ten are still missing, as it was stated yesterday that the Tubantia carried 87 passengers and a crew of 300 or more.

Urges German Economy.

Berlin, March 17 (Wireless).—National economy of the strictest kind was demanded by Dr. Helfferich, Secretary of Finance, when he introduced in the Reichstag the new budget and bills for providing for increased war taxes.

"We shall put the brakes on whatever we can," said Dr. Helfferich. "This is not red tape, but a national duty; it is foresight against the needs of the coming day."

Austrian Artillery Busy.

Vienna, March 17 (via Berlin, Wireless).—Violent artillery duels are in progress in both the Russian and Italian theatres of war, it was announced today by the Austrian War Office.

Germans Attack Russians.

Petrograd, March 17.—German troops are again attacking the Russian positions northwest of Dvinsk, it was officially announced today by the Russian War Office.

Five New Cunarders Added.

New York, March 17.—Announcement is made by the Cunard Line that it has added five steamers with a total tonnage of 31,087 to its fleet, which will be known as the "V" fleet. Half of their outward cargoes will be foodstuffs, and most of the remainder will be munitions. According to an understanding between the line and the British government. The fleet will be in service between New York and English ports.

Turks Seek Separate Peace.

London, March 17.—A despatch to a news agency from Berne says that Naby Bey, Turkish Ambassador to Italy, who negotiated the Turko-Italian peace, has been appointed to arrange a separate peace between Turkey and the Allies.

American Aids Great Britain.

London, March 17.—Adolph Lewisohn, of New York, has organized and is the head of an American syndicate which is to assist in the financing of developments in the Eastern Rand district, according to an announcement made here today.

Asquith Still Improving.

London, March 17.—Still further improvement was shown today by Premier Asquith, who is suffering from bronchial cattarrh.

Germans Swarm in Belgium.

Amsterdam, March 17.—There is a renewal of formidable German activity in Belgium. Endless trains of artillery and numerous cavalry divisions are proceeding to the front.

Bulgars are in Revolt.

Rome, March 17.—The internal situation in Bulgaria is said to be getting critical. A military revolt, supported by the civil population, is feared in some quarters. Despatches from Athens say that Czar Ferdinand lives in daily fear of assassination.

METHODIST MEN ENJOY A BANQUET

Frank Horne and Rev. Dr. Chenoweth Deliver Interesting Addresses.

For the purpose of promoting fellowship and getting better acquainted, the men of the First M. E. church gave a dinner in the basement of the church last night, the affair being largely attended. The fine menu was prepared and served by the members of the Ladies' Aid Society and was greatly enjoyed.

Following the dinner the men adjourned to Vincent chapel, where they first listened to an able and interesting talk by Frank Horne, president of the Merchants' Refrigerating Company, of New York, who spoke on the subject of "The Relation of Men to the Church." Mr. Horne is very active in church work in Brooklyn, where he resides, and he spoke from a wide experience.

Following the talk by Mr. Horne, Rev. Dr. Chenoweth, a Methodist missionary in Manila, gaxe a most interesting illustrated lecture on Manila, in which he exhibited a large number of views of the island which he explained in detail. He told of the marked progress being made by the missionaries in carrying the gospel to the natives. His talk was most instructive. L. D. Albin was the toastmaster for the evening, introducing the two speakers.

WARREN CHAPEL NOW INDEPENDENT BODY

Formal Action Taken by Crescent Avenue Church Approving Separation.

Members of the congregation of Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church last night unanimously accepted the proposition to make Warren chapel an independent church. A business session of the congregation of the parent church, with W. A. Garrigues, chairman of the board of trustees, presiding, received the proposal from the chapel and without discussion voted that it be accepted. This proposition was that the Crescent Avenue church should contribute stated amounts for thirteen years, as was told exclusively in the Daily Press some time ago, after which all property should be turned over to Warren chapel, and it should be operated as an independent body.

Since Warren chapel was established many years ago it has had a continued growth and today it has a substantial membership of earnest workers. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, who has been the only pastor of the congregation, has been an indefatigable worker and both he and his people now feel as though they are able to carry on the work as an independent church body. According to the agreement of the separation the chapel property will eventually be turned over to the members and Crescent Avenue church will relinquish all supervision over that body of worshippers.

LORD HEIRS HELPED BY LOCAL WOMAN

Mrs. McNeal Hopcroft Testifies Against Claims of Mrs. Ferrar.

Claims of Eugenie Ferrar that she is the widow of Theodore A. Lord, a lawyer of Yonkers, who left a $500,000 estate, were not strengthened by the testimony of Mrs. Mary McNeil Hopcroft, of Plainfield, taken by M. B. Stusman, of this city this week. Mr. Stutsman was appointed Commissioner to take this evidence by Surrogate Sawyer, of Westchester county.

Eugenie Ferrar asserts that she was married to Lord in the San Francisco city hall in 1888. The marriage certificate is missing and the marriage records were burned in the fire which followed the earthquake. In the testimony given to Special Commissioner Stutsman, Mrs. Hopcroft denies that she ever heard Lord say he was married to Mrs. Ferrar. She asserts that she heard Lord say to Mrs. Ferrar, who boarded at the Hopcroft house in Manhattan:

"Why have you followed me down here? I will never marry you, and you are very ungrateful to me for favors you received in California."

Mrs. Hopcroft testified that Mrs. Ferrar replied, "You shall marry me!" She said she would not leave New York until Lord married her, according to the testimony of the witness.

Mrs. Hopcroft is a resident of Plainfield, having a musical studio in the Babcock building.

FINE ADDRESSES FEATURE BANQUET

Rev. Dr. Reisner, Judge Carey and Livingston Barbour Address Dutch Arms.

LAVISH DECORATIONS

Miss S. Etta Raybert and Dutch Arms Orchestra Give Pleasing Musical Program—Fred E. Smith is Toastmaster.

"Church Efficiency" was the keynote of the excellent speeches at the seventh annual dinner of the Dutch Arms Men's Association, of Trinity Reformed church, last night. This was the subject of Rev. Dr. Christian F. Reisner, pastor of Grace M. E. church, New York, who was the principal speaker of the evening, and those who followed him caught the inspiration and developed it in a way that proved profitable and interesting to the 250 guests present.

Arthur B. Cole, president of the Dutch Arms, introduced F. E. Smith as the toastmaster, following the excellent dinner prepared and served by the Loyal Band Class of the Bible School. During his introductory remarks Mr. Smith took occasion to comment on the steadfastness of the Dutch, adding that this trait was written deep in history. He referred to the great part they have played in the advancement of religion and education and of their present-day attitude of neutrality, their country being a place of refuge for the oppressed.

Mr. Smith also complimented the Dutch Arms Band and orchestra for its steadfastness, efficiency and loyalty to the church, adding that during the year it had filled more than thirty engagements. He expressed the appreciation of all for the work of the Loyal Band, as well as all of the women of the church, who have given steadfast support, and in conclusion referred to the approaching Biederwolf revival, which he hoped all would support. He then introduced Dr. Reisner, who said, in part:

"Active must be the adjective which can always be applied to us. If we were in a grocery store and had goods on the shelves, with customers in the neighborhood, and could not sell them, we would go bankrupt. When a church has people in a community and cannot draw them in, something is wrong. Of course, we will have criticism. The man who is afraid of criticism is like one who will not travel in summer because the flies bother him. Elbert Hubbard gave a good motto when he said 'to avoid criticism do nothing, be nothing, say nothing.'

"Preach is a vital word in a church that carries the gospel. The minister must preach the simplest language to the people. No better training can come to a preacher than to work on a daily newspaper, where he can get plenty of experience of meeting people of all classes.

"The church must employ sociality or it is not a church. Spirituality and sociality are Siamese twins. Love must be incarnated. Efficiency is to make converts. We are not working for degrees, which is illustrated by the story of the three little girls. One said that her father had an M. D. after his name, another that her father had a D. D., while the third said that all packages came to her house C. O. D.

"The church lines of work do not count. The institutional church is a failure unless its institutions contribute to the goal of bringing people into the Kingdom. It is better to have people feel the need of taking care of their own home folk and of taking children to raise them to send

WM. P. SMITH QUIETLY WEDS

Takes Miss Mary J. Ingham, of South Norwalk, Conn., For His Bride.

SEQUEL OF A ROMANCE

Ceremony is Performed in Chapel of St. Barthlomew's Church, New York, by Rev. Dr. J. K. Atkinson—Couple to Live in New York.

Announcement was made today of the marriage of William Palmer Smith, of Belvidere avenue, this city, and Miss Mary Jane Ingham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Ingham, of South Norwalk, Conn. The ceremony was performed last night in the chapel of St. Bartholomew's Episcopal church, New York city, Rev. Dr. J. R. Atkinson, assistant rector, performing the ceremony. The wedding was attended by only a few guests. The couple left today on an extended tour, and upon their return will make their home at the Biltmore Hotel, New York.

It was on January 27 last that Mr. and Mrs. Ingham announced the engagement of their daughter to Mr. Smith, much to the surprise of Mr. Smith's many friends both here and in New York. It came as the sequel of a romance of a pretty nurse and wealthy patient. Several months ago when Mr. Smith was seriously ill in Muhlenberg Hospital the woman who is now his wife nursed him back to health and strength.

Mr. Smith has resided in Plainfield for many years. He is a member of the New Yorn Stock Exchange, being of the firm of Breese & Smith, 96 Broadway, New York. He is a member of the Union, Players and St. Nicholas Clubs, of New York; Baltusrol Golf Club and the Plainfield Country Club. He is also a director in the City National Bank, this city. His residence on Belvidere avenue is one of the show places of the city.

Mr. Smith was a widower for several years. He has two sons, W. P. Smith, Jr., and Lawrence Smith; two daughters, Mrs. E. Yarde Breese, of Trenton, and Miss Alice Smith, of this city; also two step-children, Miss Edith Smalley, of this city, and Bradford Smalley, of Tarrytown, N. Y.

UNION BARBERS FAVOR EARLY CLOSING DAY OF BIG PARADE

At the monthly meeting of local union, No. 315, Union Barbers, last night, it was decided to make an effort to have all shops close at 10 a. m. Labor Day, so the members can take part in the big Labor Day parade to be held here.

After last night's meeting, thirty members sat down to a turkey supper, served in the Moose Hall by Chef Egel. Piano music by "Ed" Watson, and singing by Joe Vitto constituted the evening's entertainment.

CLASS GIVES A SOCIAL.

The members of Sunday-school class No. 2, of Trinity Reformed church, of which P. A. Vroom is the teacher, held a St. Patrick's Day social last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Weaver, 39 Lincoln place, the borough. The evening was spent playing games and enjoying vocal and instrumental music, after which refreshments were served. Mrs. Charles Mehlenbeck was chairman of the social committee.

MARCH A COLD MONTH.

The average temperature for the first sixteen days of March for the past thirty years was 36.5, while for the first sixteen days of this month it was 27.7, leaving a deficiency of 8.8.

WATCHUNG TROOP AWARDED MEDALS

Seventeen Men Receive Honors at Annual Inspection for Range Work.

CAVALRYMEN PRAISED

Major Bryant Tells Troop that He is Proud of Organization and Record Made during its Short Existence—Short Drill Held.

Medals for high rank in range shooting were awarded to seventeen men in the Watchung Troop last night at the annual inspection by Major Bryant, of the First Squadron Cavalry. The Major also took occasion to say that he was proud of the troop and considered its future as assured.

The inspecting officers were Major Garvin, Inspecting General of Cavalry for New Jersey, and Captain Rockwell, of the regular army, inspecting instructor. Under the guidance of Quartermaster-Sergeant Charles, the lockers and equipment of the troop were inspected at the troop headquarters, Putnam and Kensington avenues, in the afternoon. The troopers fell in at 7:15 in the evening in the snow of Joseph Grandt's riding ring. The officers first passed down the long line, which the roll call had shown to be complete but for one man, inspecting the rifles, and then again to inspect the revolvers. The winners of medals were then called to the front and centre and awarded their medals by Major Bryant.

The highest possible rank—that of expert—was attained by First Sergeant Brown Rolston; the next, that of sharpshooter, by Captain Borden, Sergeants Arthur W. Ransome and Sherman B. Joost, Troopers Clinton Ivins and Corporal Walter L. Righter. Those to win medals as marksmen were Second Lieutenant Daniel Runkle, Sergeants Donald A. McGee and James M. Charles, and Troopers Douglas C. Anderson, Seymour Perkins, Mellick Tweedy and Joseph Vanderventer, and Corporals Jacob Vanderventer, Marsom I. Buttfield and James H. Brewster.

Major Bryant then addressed the troop as it stood at attention.

"A year ago," he said, "Troop D was a question. But it is a question no longer; and I want to say the squadron is proud of it, and proud of its record. The inspecting officers have found it especially excellent in the case of lockers and equipment. I want to see this record kept up, and I hope that by next inspection it will be larger by a third. It deserves to be, and I am proud of it."

A short drill followed. The troop ran through various evolutions in excellent form, by platoons. The next drill will take place a week from Saturday night at the Rosevilie armory in Newark. It will be mounted and the troopers will have their first chance at jumping.

TO CELEBRATE PURIM FEAST.

Under the direction of H. Walder, the superintendent of the Plainfield Hebrew school, which is being conducted under the auspices of the local Zionist organization, an interesting program has been arranged for next Sunday at 10 a. m., in the synagogue on New street. Teh pupils will give recitations and essays on the significance of the day. This being an exceptional day for the Jews to be merry, it will be interesting to all who attend.

TEMPERATURE REPORT.

The temperature report at The State Trust company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 24 degrees; 11 a. m., 26 degrees; 1 p. m., 30 degrees.

ELECT DELEGATE TO JEWISH CONGRESS

Committee Called for Monday Night to Select Local Representative.

The local Jewish Congress Committee which is made up of delegates of all Jewish local organizations will hold an important meeting Monday evening in the Y. M. H. A. rooms, where a delegate at large will be elected to represent Plainfield at the congress which will convene in Philadelphia on March 26.

The conference in Philadelphia will make final arrangements as to where and when the proposed congress shall convene and also elect a permanent executive committee. While this congress movement has been started and assisted by the Zionists it has received the sympathy and whole hearted support of all elements in American Jewery.

The following organizations in this city have elected delegates at their regular meeting to vote for a delegate at large.

Congregation Children of Israel, S. Rosenbaum and K. Rothberg.

I. O. B. A. Lodge, No. 627, J. Sklarew and A. Rothstein.

Jehuda-Halevi Camp, No. 57, B. M. Bernstein and S. Saidel.

Young Men's Hebrew Association, Morris Block and Gus Lang.

Work Men's Circle will elect at their meeting on Sunday next.

HIBERNIANS HONOR THE PATRON SAINT

Division No. 4 Gives Its Annual St. Patrick's Day Dance and Reception.

More than five hundred persons were assembled in Saengerbund Hall last night, on the occasion of the forty-first annual St. Patrick's Eve ball, of local Division No. 4, Ancient Order of Hibernians. The affair in every way was the most successful the division has ever conducted. Much credit has been given the committee responsible.

Decorations in the big auditorium allowed no one to forget that St. Patrick's Day was here. Irish flags and shamrock effects were intertwined with American flags and bunting, and green flowers were banked on the stage. Halbfoerster's orchestra furnished music on the main floor for the attendants who preferred modern dancing, and the card of twenty numbers was an excellent one. A prize waltz was one of the big features of the evening, the judges deciding in favor of James Kiely and Miss Mabel Deady, who are experts in both the old-fashioned and up-to-date steps. Below stairs Messrs. McDonough and Hennessy, the famous pipers from Celtic Park, played Irish jigs and reels. The lively steps, such as only sons and daughters of the "Ould Sod" know how to execute, were given as never before, and the exhibitions furnished entertainment for a big crowd. Ten contestants competed for a prize of five dollars to be given the person showing the greatest skill in a County Down jig. Miss Catherine McNulty was declared the winner. Refreshments were served during the evening, and practically everybody present wore a green carnation as a symbol.

The committee which arranged and conducted the dance was composed of J. J. Hurley, chairman; James P. Casey, secretary; J. J. Galagher, treasurer; Daniel Nugent, James Kyle, John Geraghty, James Golden, William Lafferty, Michael Regan, James Caserly and Henry Roche. The officers of Division No. 4 are as follows: President, John F. Casey; vice-president, P. S. Flatley; financial secretary, John Driscoll; recording secretary, Timothy Cullinan; treasurer, John J. Gallagher; chairman, standing committee, J. J. Hurley; sentinel, Patrick Diskin; sergeant-at-arms, James Golden.

OSBORNE TRIAL MUST BE STARTED MARCH 30

White Plains, N. Y., March 17.—Despite the protests of District Attorney Frederick E. Weeks that he was not ready to go to trial now, Justice Martin J. Keogh in the Supreme Court here today fixed March 30 as the date of the trial of former Warden Thomas Mott Osborne on an indictment charging him with mismanagement and immorality.

STEEL CASE GOES OVER.

Washington, March 17.—An order has been handed down by the Supreme Court extending until July 15 the time in which the Government may digest and bring up the record of the case against the United States Steel Corporation, which has been appealed by the Government from the decree of the Federal Court in New Jersey.

SCHOONER IS IN TOW.

Chatham, Mass., March 17.—The coal laden schooner William Bisbee, which was reported in distress off Cape Cod yesterday, has been taken in tow by the coast guard cutter Acoushnet.

TROOPS REPORT VILLA LOCATED

Bandit Chief is at Casas Grandes, Say Carranza Soldiers.

COL. DODD NEAR THERE

American Invaders May be Giving Battle to Bandit Before Night—"Snipers" Shoot at Invading Forces, Say Despatches.

Quertearo, Mex., via Laredo, Tex., March 17.—Official announcement was made here today that the Carranza troops seeking Francisco Villa had located the rebel leader near Casas Grandes, and that the Constitutionalist troops had been ordered to cooperate with the American forces in effecting Villa's capture.

Colonel George A. Dodd, in command of the Seventh and Tenth Cavalry and one battery of field artillery, is in the Casas Grandes section, after forced marches. This is the picked band of American soldiers that was detailed to go into Villa territory and get the bandit, and from reports received this morning, Colonel Dodd will be exchanging bullets with the Mexican outlaws before another day has passed.

The Mormon colonies are located between Hachita, New Mexico, and Casas Grandes, which are about eightyfive miles apart, and it was for the purpose of protecting the 500 or more American citizens there that Colonel Dodd was ordered to proceed toward Casas Grandes. Villa had been reported moving in that direction,, and it was believed that he would attack the Mormon colony before retreating to his accustomed hiding places in the mountains of Southern Chihuahua county.

El Paso, March 17.—Reports that six American troopers in the Dodd command were wounded on the first day's march into Mexico by "snipers" have not been confirmed here, but are believed, as this is the kind of fightign in which Mexicans are trained. If these reports are proven true, it is believed that the "snipers" will be shown to be Mexican peons, fighting independently, and not members of Villa's band or Carranza's army.

Marines Held in Readiness.

Washington, March 17.—The Navy Department announced that the transport Hancock, which will sail from Philadelphia tomorrow for Pensacola, Fla., would carry 500 marines. The marines will be held at Pensacola, it was stated, for further orders. It was admitted that the government desires to have them in Southern waters, where they can be rushed to any Mexican port where they might be needed.

Senate Assures Mexico.

Washington, March 17.—Official assurance was given the people of Mexico by the Senate today that the invasion of Mexican soil by American troops will not encroach upon the sovereignty of Mexico. By unanimous vote the Senate adopted a resolution introduced by Senator La Follette. It authorizes the President to use armed troops in making a punitive expedition into Mexico to capture Villa and his followers, and gives assurances to the people of Mexico that the expedition is not for purpose

War Bill in Senate.

The army reorganization bill was started on its course in the Senate today, when Senator Chamberlair, chairman of the Military Affairs Committee, reported the measure to the Senate. It was placed immediately on the calendar. Senator Chamberlain's bill provides for a war strength of the regular army of 250,000 men and a peace strength of 178,000.

COUSINS CONTEST THE BENNET WILL

Bound Brook Woman Left Her Money to Institution.

Somerville, March 17.—Hearing on the contest of the will if Miss Dina Bennett, of South Bound Brook, who left an estate of $15,000 to the Middlesex Reformed church and other institutions of Bound Brook, was begun in court here today. Caviats to the will of Miss Bennett were filed by LeNewton Bennett, a first cousin, and Mrs. Amelia Matthews and Maggie V. Conner, second cousins. They charge that the will was improperly drawn, that Miss Bennett was mentally incompetent at the time it was made and that undue influence was exercised. The will was drawn by Gavetson Haegerman, who is now dead, and was witnessed by George H. Fisher and C. Nelson Staats, of Bound Brook. H. G. Herbert, cashier of the First National Bank of Bound Brook, appeared in court today to testify that the signature on the will was that of Miss Bennett. The case was continued until March 27.

PUZZLED THE POET

The Societies Formed to Study Browning's Works.

HE DIDN'T FEEL FLATTERED.

Thought It Peculiar That It Required Organized Effort to Understand His Genius—An Afternoon Tea and a Story About Tennyson.

In her book "Pleasures and Palaces" Princess Lazarovich-Hrebelianovich, formerly Eleanor Calhoun of California, who as a young woman won fame as an actress abroad, gives this story of her meeting with the poet Browning:

The revealing charm of London lay not alone in making acquaintance with those who "dwell in marble halls" (in England, be it said, they are not marble, but sculptured wood or sculptured stone and ancient tapestry), but in that vast universe of houses, big and small, whose lights glimmer softly through hazy atmosphere or blink morosely in the fog, where the aristocrats of genius also rove. On certain days, from gray and dull, the place suddenly brightened into a new enchantment, as into my picture there came along some poet or painter, some writer of novels or other great one whose name since childhood had made my heart flutter like the yellow poppies on the California hills.

In response to the invitation, "Won't you come in for a cup of tea with us on Wednesday afternoon?" I had gone to the house of a new acquaintance, finding in reality a crush of fashionables in her drawing room. She put me into a seat and introduced me to an old lady on my right and an old gentleman on my left, both of whom looked very bright and alive.

"Mrs. Bryan Waller Procter (Barry Cornwall), mother of Adelaide Procter; Mr. Browning—the poet, you know."

At the names my heart thumped. I was wedged in between them.

"I surely have a lucky star," I said, "to think of my good fortune in being placed just here!"

"Yes," piped the old lady merrily; "it's nice to like one's fellow sardines."

Browning said:

"I am always glad to meet Americans; they are so appreciative, only in one way they're worse even than our people here. I think I may say that the thing that puzzles me most in the world is the Browning society, and America seems full of Browning societies."

"That shows how much you mean to America," I ventured.

"H-m, yes," he answered dryly, "it isn't very flattering to think you can't be understood without the aid of organized effort." He was very sweet and laughed at himself.

I mentioned Tennyson. Old Mrs. Procter said: "Look sharp. He does not love Americans. I simply adore Lowell, and Tennyson is one of my dearest. I've tried in a hundred ways to have him meet Lowell, but he answers like a brute. I'll not give up, though. Lowell wrote me a poem on my birthday. I thought that would fetch Alfred, so I took it down to Haslemere, flirted it before his face.

"'You shan't read it,' I said. He grunted. I folded it up and stuffed it into my pocket and said, 'I'm back to town.' He pouted like a naughty child, seized my hand and growled:

"'You may read it.'

"'Oh, no, never,' I said. He finally insisted. 'Well, since you beg me to, it begins like this: "I know a girl, they say she is eighty"'— I paused. '—— familiar!' snorted Alfred, never cracking a smile." The old lady chuckled. "But he's an angel all the same, they're both angels."

In the midst of our talk somebody began to play a long classical piece on the piano. Everybody said, "'Sh!" Browning, who was in great vein, whispered, "I abominate piano players—murderers of conversation." It was cruel; the piano ran the whole gamut of its possibilities for half an hour. Mrs. Procter and Browning rolled their eyes at each other and at me as if in agony. At last it stopped. Browning applauded frantically, holding out his hands and looking back over his shoulder at us, while he began to say, "Thank God, it's over! I must tell you about the strangest experience I ever had. It was in France"— Just then the pianist began an encore. Browning almost groaned: "What's she doing? You don't think she is going to"—

"Yes," I said, "you applauded so hard she had to begin again."

"God forgive me!" he wailed. "Never again will I commit that error."

The old lady choked with laughter, and Browning bolted for the door.

MUSIC LOVING BURGLAR CARRIES OFF RECORDS

A burglar with a taste for music operated in Plainfield last night. He entered the Ideal Music Company store on West Front street and went through the place. All that was found to be missing this morning was a number of records. It is believed that more than $100 worth were stolen. The police are now looking for a burglar with a record.

ROB VEYSEY'S AUTO IN FRONT OF TRINITY CHURCH

William H. P. Veysey reported to the police this morning that someone had stolen a sidelight off his automobile. It was left standing in front of the Trinity Reformed church last night during the Dutch Arms banquet and when Mr. Veysey came out the light was gone. The police are looking for the thief.

ADMIRAL VON CAPELLE.

Will Succeed Von Tirpitz as Head of the German Navy.

An official statement issued in Berlin confirmed reports that Grand Admiral von Tirpitz has resigned. The statement said that Admiral von Capelle will succeed Von Tirpitz and that the change will involve no alteration of existing naval policies. Berlin dispatches said that the change in the ministry of marine was entirely unexpected. It came on the eve of the opening of a reichstag session at which the Von Tirpitz supporters planned to wage open war on Bethmann-Hollweg's program.

GEN. GALLIENI RESIGNS AS FRENCH WAR HEAD

Minister Retires "on Account of Ill Health."

Paris, March 17.—General Joseph Simeon Gallieni, minister of war, has resigned because of ill health, and General Charles Roque has been appointed to succeed him.

When the present cabinet was formed in October last under Aristide Briand, General Gallieni succeeded Alexander Millerand as minister of war. He had previously held the important post of commander of the camp and military governor of Paris.

General Gallieni enforced many reforms in the administration of the war office and laid down the rule that the various officials must be dependent on their own judgment.

General Gallieni failed to attend the meeting of the army committee of the chamber of deputies on March 9 and the meeting of the council of national defense on March 10. An official note explained that the war minister had been "prevented" from receiving members of parliament on Friday last, which was his regular receiving day. Later it was announced officially that Rear Admiral Lecaze, minister of marine, would take charge of the ministry of war during the illness of General Gallieni.

General Gallieni, who is sixty-six years old, saw service as lieutenant in the Franco-German war of 1870. For nine years, ending in 1905, he was governor general of Madagascar, placing the colony on a prosperous footing and proving himself one of the ablest executives in the service of the third republic.

CITIZEN, 73, CANNOT VOTE.

New Oregon Election Law Bars a Civil War Veteran.

Eugene, Ore., March 17.—"Do you realize, young man, that I have voted in every presidential election since Lincoln was a candidate for office? Do you realize that I served as a soldier through the civil war and that it will be almost impossible for me to find my father's naturalization papers?"

With this statement William Dorward, aged seventy-three and a veteran of the civil war, replied to the county clerk when informed that he could not register because he was born in England, coming to this country as a boy and claiming naturalization under his father's papers, which have long been lost. The statute enacted by the last legislature requiring proof of citizenship bars him from voting.

SHOULD SHUN DEBT.

Better to Go Underclothed and Underfed, Bishop Tells Young Ministers.

Asbury Park, March 17.—"Don't go into debt. Better that you go underclothed and underfed than you go into debt."

This was one of the charges delivered by Methodist Bishop Willard A. Quayle to a new class of ministers who will be ordained before the close of the New Jersey conference now in session.

The candidates for the ministry gave their pledges to abstain from the use of tobacco in all forms. Bishop Quayle told them that because they had promised not to use tobacco they must not think that the act made them pious. Giving it up only made them ordinarily decent. He warned them against making crusades against anything. It made few friends to do so, the bishop explained.

Verona to Sail Armed.

Washington, March 17.—The Italian liner Verona, at New York, has been ordered cleared by the treasury department, upon instructions of the state department, which has been assured by the Italian ambassador that the guns mounted at her stern will be used for defensive purposes only.

VAUDEVILLE SHOW FOR BALL CLUB A SUCCESS

"Tommy" Apgar's big show was presented in the local theatre last evening. Following the show the floor was cleared for dancing, music being furnished by the Plainfield High School orchestra. The affair was for the benefit of the Clinton Avenue Baseball Club, and a large crowd turned out to help the organization along. The show, which included eight acts of vaudeville, was unsually good.

Jesse L. Rogers, a sleight-of-hand artist, presented his famous act, "The Mystery of the Silk Stocking." The program follows: Acrobatic stunts by the "Queen City Trio," solo by G. S. Dufford, entitled, "Don't Bite the Hand That Is Feeding You." Impersonation of Charlie Chaplin by Michael Conesky. "My Mother's Rosary," by Theodore Glazer. As an encore he sang "The Same Sweet Girl." He was accompanied by Gustav Meisner. The presentation by G. S. Dufford, the black-faced comedian, of his original comedy act, "Lazy Sam." And in conclusion Mr. Dufford sang, "Things Will Happen—Bound to Happen."

The orchestra of the First Baptist church held a rehearsal at the home of its leader, Mrs. Charles S. Day, last evening.

Miss Mildred Barrett will attend a St. Patrick's dance at Watchung this evening.

Adelbert Tappen left on a trip through the South yesterday. He will be gone two weeks.

The New Market Card Club held a dance last evening in the vacant apartments of the house owned by C. M. Haight, opposite the home of Dr. M. J. Whitford, the Dunellen physician.

KLEVER KLOVER KLUB.

The third dance of the season conducted by the Klever Klover Klub in Debele's Hall, North Plainfield, last night, was well attended despite another large dance held nearby. There were 175 present. The members of the committee in charge wore green crepe carnations in honor of St. Patrick. Berrell's orchestra, of Bernardsville, furnished the music. Refreshments were served during the evening.

MARION WILSON.

Marion Wilson, the thirteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Alfred Wilson, of Washington avenue, died last evening, after a lingering illness. Besides her parents, the little girl leaves a brother, Austin, aged 11. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Ernest Peters, of Dunellen avenue, is ill.

Mrs. Albert N. Randolph has returned from a visit of three days with friends in Jersey City.

Irving Benerd, who has been ill, is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. David Griscom, of Piscataway, are residing for a time with Mrs. Griscom's mother, Mrs. Harriet Hillier.

Mrs. Earle M. Jones, who is at the Muhlenberg Hospital convalescing from an operation, is improving.

RESUMES POSITION.

Frank R. Wynkoop has resumed his duties as engineer for the Jersey Central, after an illness of three weeks with the grip, which at one time threatened to develop into pneumonia.

Scotch Plains, Fanwood

TO ELIMINATE TURN.

It is now known that included in the plans recently approved by the Union County Board of Freeholders for improving Springfield road from Scotch Plains to Springfield is the elimination of the dangerous turn at the white bridge, where the road crosses Greenbrook and becomes Mountain avenue. That turn has been the scene of numerous accidents, some with fatal results, and a tract of land has been given by David Kenny, of Plainfield, in order that the curve can be done away with. Starting at that point, the road will be rebuilt, with concrete as a top surface, all the way to Springfield.

SEW FOR BELGIANS.

Some twenty women of Fanwood and Scotch Plains gathered at the meeting of the local Belgian Relief Workers that was held at the home of the Misses Kyte, of Martine avenue, yesterday afternoon. The women are now sewing for the babies of Belgium.

POSTPONE MEETING.

The weekly meeting of the Bible Training class of Scotch Plains and Fanwood was postponed yesterday, but will be held next Thursday as usual at the home of the Misses Kyte, on Martine avenue.

PURCHASES PROPERTY.

William Pangborn, of Dunellen, has purchased the property on Bartle avenue, formerly occupied by Miss Louise Barr, and after extensive alterations to be made during the coming month, will take possession.

"ROOTERS" WITH TEAM.

A large number of rooters will accompany the Parish House Junior basketball team tonight when it leaves the Park avenue trolley corner about 7 o'clock for Plainfield to play the Inner-Triangles in the T. A. B. S. hall.

PREDICTS BUSY SEASON.

The recent cold spell and fall of snow has delayed Tony Albert, the local contractor, in starting the building of a two and a half story dwelling on Paterson road, but he will do so within the week. Mr. Albert reports that he is unusually busy and takes it as an indication of coming prosperity in the realty world. He has just been awarded the contract for the carpentry work on the new school in the East End section of Plainfield, and has several contracts for dwellings already started in Westfield and Cranford, besides several more that are pending in Fanwood and Scotch Plains.

Mrs. R. Newell and son Ralph, who have been spending the winter in Plainfield, expect to return home about April 1.

M. E. CHURCH SOCIAL.

It has been announced that the coming social to be conducted under the auspices of the women of the Methodist church will be held at the home of Mrs. Wilson, of Westfield, on the night of April 10.

FORM BASKETBALL TEAM.

The Sub-Rosa Club, a social organization that was formed among the young women of Scotch Plains last fall has decided to take up various forms of athletics, and has started off by organizing a basketball team. Although it is rather late in the season to begin, the girls are holding regular practices and will play several games before warm weather.

COMMUNITY PICNIC PLANS.

It was just about a year ago that the first move for the Community Picnic was started and it will not now be long before the first call for the various committees to get together will be announced.

SELLS HIS PROPERTY.

Jesse Sargent, a resident of the Graceland section of the township for many years, has sold his property and removed to a house located on the Westfield side of Jerusalem road.

The second special Scotch Plains and Fanwood edition of The Daily Press out yesterday was received with even more pleasure by local residents than the first. Several new advertisers were added to the rapidly-growing list of enterprising merchants, and there were timely and breezy articles of local interest. A number of men prominent in local affairs, including S. Dana Townsend, superintendent of schools, and Chas. Sheelen, borough recorder and collector, commented favorably on the page and wished it success. Next week, as a special feature, The Daily Press will have a contributed editorial of public interest written by a local citizen.

2,189 CASES OF DISEASES REPORTED DURING FEBRUARY

Trenton, March 17.—Tabulations just completed show that a total of 2,189 cases of communicable diseases were reported to the State Department of Health during the month of February:

Typhoid fever.—Deaths from typhoid fever show a decrease of 24 from the previous month, and eight counties of the twenty-one reported no typhoid fever.

Diphtheria.—The Department received reports of 535 cases of diphtheria, which is 164 less than were reported in the previous month. The reports show that this disease existed in every county in the State except Ocean and Sussex.

Scarlet fever.—A decided decrease is shown in the reports of scarlet fever throughout the state. The Department received reports of 406 cases, which is 98 less than the previous month. No reports of scarlet fever were received from Cape May, Cumberland or Sussex counties.

Tuberculosis.—A decrease of 99 cases of tuberculosis is shown from the previous month, the total for January being 865, and for February, 766.

TIN CANS ARE A MENACE TO THE PUBLIC HEALTH

Who would have thought that the tin can is a menace to the public health? The expert malaria investigators of the United States Public Health Service have found, however, that discarded tin cans containing rain water are breeding places for the mosquito which is the sole agent in spreading malaria. A hole in the bottom of the empty can might have resulted in the saving of a human life. Certainly it would have assisted in preventing a debilitating illness. Empty tin cans have no business about the premises anyway, but if we must so decorate our back yards, let's see to it that the can has a hole in the bottom.

"BARNYARD AND DINGLING CIRCUS" AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Arrangements for the "Barnyard and the Dingling circus" to be given on March 30 and 31, under the auspices of the physical department of the Y. M. C. A. are rapidly assuming shape. The program will include some exhibitions of daring and skill on flying rings, trapee and other aerial apparatus. Feats of strength and unusual gymnastic exhibitions will be features of interest.

For weeks the management has been collecting rare animals, and the menagerie will therefore contain many specimens not often seen in civilized countries. Between seventy-five and one hundred members of the association will take part in different acts, and it can be authoratatively stated that Maximus, the heavyweight juggler, will give those who attend an unusual opportunity to see his exhibitions of strength.

ELKS AND THEIR FRIENDS ENJOY A NOVEL DANCE

Members of Plainfield Lodge of Elks and their friends to the number of two hundred, enjoyed a St. Patrick's Eve dance in the Watchung avenue clubhouse last night. Wetton's orchestra furnished the music and a St. Patrick's Day tone was given the affair by the distribution of various kinds of favors, including shamrocks, Tom'o'shanters, dudeens and flags. Confetti dances were included on the card and a novel scene was created in one of them when vari-colored strips of paper were thrown over the dancers.

The regular entertainment committee of the lodge, composed of William C. Mulvey, Everett Maplesden, S. J. Taverner and Harry G. DeMeza, arranged and conducted the affair.

MRS. BANKS DELEGATE TO U. S. NAVY LEAGUE

Credentials have been issued to Mrs. Charles R. Banks, of Plainfield, as a regular delegate to the eleventh annual convention of the Navy League of the United States, according to announcement just made at national headquarters in Washington. The convention to be held April 10 to 13, will be attended by about two hundred representative women from all parts of the country, members of the Women's Section of the Navy League. This is the first time in the history of the Navy League that women have been named as delegates. While many women who have taken a leading part in the League work attended previous conventions, it always as spectators and not in any official capacity.

NEED 200,000 MEN TO PACIFY MEXICO

Guerrilla Warfare Might Go on Indefinitely, Say Experts.

TOMPKINS' NARROW ESCAPE

Trapped With Thirty-five Troopers on Mexican Soil, He Gave Orders For Retreat as Horse Was Shot From Under Him—Returning, They Announced, "We Took No Prisoners."

It would require 200,000 men to control all of Mexico, according to an estimate of officers of the general staff, which was published on Jan. 15. In arriving at this figure the military experts took into consideration all possible contingencies and proceeded on the assumption that it would be necessary to sweep the country from the Rio Grande to the southern border.

Experts agreed that the Mexicans who have been engaged in revolutionary activity are veterans in their own peculiar kind of warfare. They are thoroughly acquainted with the country in which the fighting would be done and have adapted themselves to the rigors of the field. Army officers believe that there would be no clash of opposing armies, but guerrilla fighting carried on by scattered bands. As for ammunition, it is believed that there would be a scarcity on the part of the Mexicans. It has been observed, however, that in fighting along the border they have had considerable artillery, including French guns of modern type. The Mexicans also have been quite successful in making weapons of their own.

Three Plans Considered.

Military experts of the present general staff during the past few months have had three plans for intervention under consideration. The first provided for the capture of Mexican towns along the border. The second called for the subjugation of Mexican territory lying to the north of a line extending from Tampico to Guaymas, which includes the region in which are located most of the so called foreign interests, American, British and German. The third plan covered a general Mexican campaign. They have never ventured a guess as to how long it would be necessary to keep up guerrilla warfare in Mexico.

Only by the barest chance did Major Frank Tompkins and thirty-five American troopers of the Thirteenth United States cavalry escape with their lives from Mexico when a band of Mexicans, estimated from 500 to 1,000 men, turned in their flight and gave battle to the pursuing Americans.

The fight took place twenty-five miles over the Mexican line, to which point the American troops had chased the invaders following the attack, under the personal leadership of Francisco Villa, upon the little New Mexico border town of Columbus.

All day the American soldiers had followed the Mexicans, who had not stopped in their flight to give battle. However, as the day wore on Major Tompkins, who commanded the American expeditionary force of four troops of cavalry, got so far in the lead of the rest of his command with only thirty-five men that the Villistas dismounted and, taking shelter behind sand dunes, opened fire.

Major Tompkins had a hole shot through his hat, and his horse was shot from under him. Taking the horse of a trooper, he mounted, with the soldier behind him, and gave orders for a retreat. As the Americans retreated the horses of two other troopers were shot down, but the men were rescued by comrades and carried back to safety.

The little band before reaching the border was joined by other American froops that had been bringing up the rear. Joining in the fight, they saved their lives and drove the Villistas back, though outnumbered by the Mexicans.

Led Pistol Battle.

In the battle Captain Jens Stedje led a pistol charge of his troop that is described as brilliant. At the head of his troopers, with drawn revolvers, every man yelling like a Comanche Indian, the returning soldiers say the captain rode directly at the oncoming Villistas and actually mowed them down with his fire.

Many tumbled from their horses and rolled for many yards toward the Americans, so rapidly had the Villistas been advancing on the major and his thirty-five men when Captain Stedje and his men came to the rescue.

In mad flight the Villistas put back to the south and soon disappeared in the foothills, arroyos and canyons so numerous in that region. With a smile the troopers returning to El Paso announced that "we took no prisoners."

Colonel Herbert Jermain Slocum, commander of the American forces at Columbus, N. M., is about fifty years old and the son of Colonel J. J. Slocum of New York.

He is a nephew of Mrs. Russell Sage and brother of Major Stephen l'Hommedieu Slocum, U. S. A., who was military attache from the United States at the court of St. James in 1911. Colonel Slocum, the father, is a veteran of the civil war.

No More Turkish Cigarettes.

The Turkish government is now considering the advisability of prohibiting all exports of tobacco.

FINE ADDRESSES AT BANQUET

them to asylums and old people's homes. Religion will bring this about.

"A church must operate. That can only be made effective by personal work. Think of the fact that last year it took fifty people to get one church member. Only an average of three members joined every church in the country, and yet some people were delighted over the increase. We must be as personal in our efforts as politicians. A minister must go after the individual. The membership must be taught to win one. Everyone is welcome at our church door.

"We should advertise, for it pays. The British use advertising to get soldiers, to sell bonds, to teach people how to be economical, and why shouldn't the church advertise. Put on something at your service Sunday night that will draw the people. That is the time to go after new business. We must not be afraid of egotism. We must pray and expect guidance in our judgment.

"The real thing in any community should be the church. We have been too smug in our satisfaction and must wake up. The church is not doing the work today it should do. If it was we would have prohibition. The church of the future is going to have something to say about politics and running the government. It won't be a question of Republican or Democrats, but Christians.

"A religion that don't make you laugh won't keep you awake. We must employ human fellowship as a means of getting converts. The church must transform lives. It must lay on, hold fast and hump. It must have faith and religion.

"I am in business to beat the motion picture show if I can, and I propose to use all legitimate means to attract the people to my church and hold their interest and win them to Christ. We must have the goods and the very best if we would meet competition—in other words the church must 'get into the game.' In my church we have pool tables, a gymnasium, where my people gather and enjoy themselves. We find that these things not only attract, but hold the people for even better things."

At the conclusion of Dr. Reisner's remarks, Miss S. Etta Raybert, soprano soloist of the church, gave two delightful solos. The next speaker was Livingston Barbour, professor of elocution and oratory at Rutgers College. After entertaining the audience with several amusing stories, Mr. Barbour became more serious, and briefly told of his experience in visiting several State institutions for boys and girls, where, to his astonishment, he found that about 85 per cent. of the inmates were there because their parents were drinkers. He predicted that New Jersey was "going dry," and he welcomed the day.

Judge Robert Carey, of Jersey City, who arrived late, was the last speaker. He took up Dr. Reisner's subject and told of many ways in which church efficiency can be increased. He urged copartnership, co-operation and the spirit of the good Samaritan, who proved himself to be a true friend, on the road to Jericho. In his opinion today is better than yesterday and tomorrow will be better than today, because the world is getting better.

Judge Carey spoke words of praise concerning William N. Runyon, and said that he would now be the Speaker of the House if his character had been the kind that certain people could use. "But you should be proud of Mr. Runyon," said the speaker. "I have seen him stand up and fight when it meant something to him. He is renderig real service. We in Hudson county have watched him and predict greater things for him."

Others who assisted in the program of the evening was Rev. Dr. E. C. Read, chaplain of the New Jersey Senate, who offered the opening prayer, and Rev. Harold Green, pastor of the Reformed church, at South Bound Brook, who pronounced the benediction. During the evening the diners enjoyed a popular program by the Dutch Arms Orchestra, and a cornet solo by Edmund D. Young. Among the guests was Mrs. Sarah E. Cole, grandmother of the President, who, though 81 years old, thoroughly enjoyed the program.

The Sundayschool room was lavishly decorated with Japanese lanterns and crepe paper, the work of the members of the Dutch Arms, while the waitresses wore Japanese costumes. The officers of the organization are: President, Arthur P. Cole; first vice-president, Fred S. Cutter; second vice-president, L. M. Leek; financial secretary, Charles Beiter; corresponding secretary, Ralph P. Gay; treasurer, George E. Volk. The menu cards, in the shape of a cup, were specially designed for the occasion.

RECEPTION GIVEN AT GRACE M. E. CHURCH

Forty New Members Are Cordially Welcomed at Pleasing Affair.

A reception was tendered to the forty new members recently received into the Grace M. E. church, last night. There were about 150 present at the affair, which was held in the church. The program commenced with the members of the church choir, seated in the choir loft, singing five hymns. Solos were then rendered by Robert Boyd, the singing evangelist, and Mrs. E. D. Young. Next on the program was a recitation by Mrs. Boland, of Westervelt avenue. This was so well received that Mrs. Boland recited a poem of her own composition in regard to different people of the congregation. Hearty applause greeted Mrs. Boland's effort and in response to the encore she gave another recitation.

Following Mrs. Boland, the women's quartet, composed of Mrs. E. D. Young, Miss Jennie DeMott and the Misses Marion and Edith Mauger, rendered several selections. The selection, "Shubert's Serenade," was particularly well received.

After the program Robert Boyd made a short speech in which he spoke of the work of Miss Alice Carroll, the church organist, and as a token of appreciation Miss Carroll was presented with a potted fern.

Dr. F. J. Hubach, the district superintendent, then read off the names of the new members who were all assigned front seats. Dr. Hubach then delivered a talk for their benefit. At the conclusion of his remarks, Dr. Hubach presented each of the new members with a spray of daffodils. Refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

Firing This Week the Opening Shots in Our # Spring Preparedness Campaign

Our fellow Jerseyite, Thomas A. Edison of West Orange, "had for himself a full committee and an interested audience of bystanders, including Secretary of the Navy Daniels," said the Newark Evening News Wednesday of this week.

The occasion was the appearance of the great inventor before the naval affairs committee of the House of Representatives. Mr. Edison made a plea for a Naval Laboratory appropriation. He would have the government in "Preparedness" on the subject of submarines. The present United States submarines are not good enough for Mr. Edison. He would make vast improvement.

In the new laboratory he would first take up the work of experiments to secure better, more efficient engines for submarines and also aeroplanes.

This is one phase of "Preparedness" from the army and navy point of view and from that of many others outside the army and navy circles.

"Preparedness"—you hear it and feel its call on every side. It is the business of this store to be prepared to meet many of the needs of thousands of men, women and children. In the school of experience it has learned what thousands of people need and want.

This Spring, NOW, the store is prepared with fresh, clean, dependable, desirable, fairly-priced merchandise as never before.

We mean just that. That statement will hold up under a rigid test.

Welcome to come and see the interesting new fashions. No need to buy. We are glad to show the new things.

CHRISTENING OF NORMAN ABRAMS

Ceremony Performed at Home of Grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Abrams.

In the presence of a gathering of one hundred relatives and friends, from Plainfield and vicinity, the Brisa Mila, or christening of Norman Abrams, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Abrams, took place last evening at the home of the child's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Abrams, of Grove street. Rev. Cantor Wolfe, of the Seventh-second Street Temple, New York, was the officiating rabbi and former Judge and Mrs. William Newcorn acted as godfather and godmother. The name conferred upon the infant is in honor of a deceased uncle.

Following the regulation ceremonies, a reception was held during which supper was served and amusements of various kinds enjoyed. A feature of an informal program of music was a number of operatic selections given by Rev. Cantor Wolfe, who is an artist of pronounced ability. The home was tastefully decorated for the occasion with cut flowers, palms and plants, and numerous beautiful bouquets were brought to the little guest of honor. Mr. and Mrs. Morris Abrams were numbered among the happiest couples at the gathering, as this is their first grandchild and they planned to make the affair an auspicious event.

The guests present were from New York, Brooklyn, Somerville, New Brunswick, Bayonne, Plainfield and North Plainfield. Among those in the gathering were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Cohen, parents of Mrs. Jacob Abrams, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Becker, of Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. S. Block, of Orchard place, this city, the grandparents of the child on the paternal side; J. Lipinski, Mrs. Fanny Cooperman, Mr. and Mrs. Cohen Berlow, Mr. and Mrs. I. Rosenbaum, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cowen, all of New York; Mr. and Mrs. B. Woldin and J. Liechtentritt, of Somerville; S. Hyman and Mrs. Z. Block, of Bayonne; Mr. and Mrs. H. "The general sentiment of the country is opposed to the militarism of President Wilson's program," he said.

INFORMAL DANCE.

There will be an informal dance at the Park Club tomorrow night under the auspices of the entertainment committee. Good music will be furnished and there will be other pleasing features.

UNIQUE ST. PATRICK'S DAY ENTERTAINMENT

Woman's Society of Seventh Day Baptist Church Give a Pleasing Program.

One of the most unique entertainments yet given in the Seventh-Day Baptist church was conducted last night under the auspices of the Woman's Society for Christian Work. It was entitled "Glimpses of Ireland," and by means of tableaux, songs, recitations and descriptions, the people and costumes of Old Erin were pictured to the audience. The program was a most delightful one, and because of the talent secured, every number was cleverly executed.

Frank J. Hubbard acted as descriptionist as the program proceeded, and the following numbers were given: Irish songs, "Wearing of the Green," "St. Patrick's Day," "Tipperary" and "The Last Rose of Summer," by a quartet composed of Dr. O. B. Whitford, Ernest Whitford, Charles and Roy Titsworth; descriptive songs to picture Ireland as a country, described by Miss Charlotte Norris, with the following songs, "A Little Bit of Heaven," by Mrs. Theodore G. Davis; "The River Shannon," Chas. Titsworth; "Shamrock," Miss Miriam West; tableaux, "Frolic of the Fairies," Misses F. A. Dunham posing as an old woman asleep with the following fairies playing pranks about her, Frances Wells, Ruth Hunting, Constance Shaw and Dorothy Worden; Irish wedding procession described by Mrs. Nathan Lewis and the following in tableaux: Fiddlers, Paul and Ernest Whitford; old women calling attention to the procession, Mrs. Charles Titsworth and Mrs. E. F. Champlain; bride and groom, Marion Williams, and Charles Titsworth; followed by four couples; tableaux, "Mother Machree," Mis Evaloise St. John, assisted by Helen Rogers and Theodore G. Davis; prominent Irish people described by Mrs. James E. Kimball; final tableaux, "Come Back to Erin," Miss Miriam West and Roy Titsworth, assisted by the male quartet. Everyone taking part wore typical costume. Refreshments were served at the close of the program under the direction of Mrs. M. L. Clawson. The committee in charge for the society was Mrs. Nathan Lewis and Mrs. F. J. Hubbard.

CIVIC ASSOCIATION HOLDS "LADIES' NIGHT" AFFAIR

The West End Civic Association gave its annual "Ladies' Night" reception in the Washington School auditorium last night. Seventy-five of the members and their friends were present and thoroughly enjoyed the program provided. Prof. J. Mezzo, of New York, kept the audience interested for nearly two hours with recitations, songs, impersonations and instrumental numbers. At the conclusion of this part of the program refreshments of ice cream and cake were served and a dance was held for about an hour. Mr. Doig and his sister, Miss Doig, favored with a Highland Schottische cleverly executed.

The reception was conducted by the standing entertainment committee of the association composed of R. S. Louis, chairman, assisted by Joseph Edgar and Thomas Power.

HOPE CHAPEL SOCIETY ELECT.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society, of Hope chapel, was held yesterday afternoon, during which the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Aaron Snyder; vice president, Mrs. Thomas Hendry; secretary, Mrs. Thomas Brown; treasurer, Mrs. Neal Head. Reports presented by the various committees showed that the society has enjoyed a busy and successful year. Arrangements were made to give a reception on April 6 to the retiring officers, and a suitable program will be made up in the meantime.

GERMANS CLAIM SUCCESSES.

Berlin, March 17 (by Wireless).—The following statement was given out at German headquarters today:

"Western theatre.—Six mines were exploded by the English south of Loos without any success for the enemy. Artillery activity of a very tenacious character has taken place in Champagne and beaween the Meuse and Moselle Rivers and the Woevre district. The French again attacked the heights of Dead Man's Hill. A few companies succeeded in reaching our lines, where the few remaining unwounded soldiers were made prisoners. A second attack was stopped by our curtains of fire. In his latest attacks the enemy used fresh troops a division strong. This is the twenty-seventh division used by the French since the beginning of the engagement in this comparatively small section of the front. The first attack was made without any artillery preparation in hope of taking us by surprise."

"Eastern theatre.—There is nothing to report."

"Balkan theatre.—"The positions are unchanged."

MRS. BOLSTERLE'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mrs. Kaspar Bolsterle, whose death occurred shortly before noon yesterday, will be held at the late residence, 113 Watchung avenue, the borough, Sunday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. John Y. Broek, will be the officiating clergyman, and he will be assisted by Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First Methodist church, and Rev. J. O. McKelvy, of Warren chapel. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

FASHION SHOP OPENS.

Announcement is made elsewhere in this issue of the opening of The Fashion Shop, a store to be conducted at 176 East Front street, for the sale of women's wearing apparel. A. Weintraub, of New York, is the proprietor, and before coming to Plainfield he spent a number of years in the metropolis, handling this line of merchandise. The shop has been stocked with a choice variety of new goods, and Mr. Weintraub is offering an attractive assortment of specials to introduce his store to the Plainfield public.

It Pays to Secure a Tenant Who Pays.

The uncertain sort of tenant is easy to find. He is always answering the call of the window sign of "To Let." He is easy to please. Even a rather high rental does not frighten him away.

But the Stay-and-Pay tenant is not so easy to secure. He is surer of what he wants. He does not take the first house, or apartment, or store that he finds. He watches and answers "To Let" Ads.

And to secure him for your tenant is a good day's work—a good week's work.

Property that is advertised adequately in the Plainfield Daily Press is rarely rented injudiciously.

HARRIS & EWING, WASH.

Admiral Cameron McR. Winslow, Commander of the U. S. Pacific fleet, told the House Naval Committee, in the hearings on preparedness a couple of days ago, that one good warship could sink his entire fleet without being materially harmed. He said that even with all the reserves called out the fleet would be wholly inadequate to mee any probable enemy in the Pacific.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, MARCH 17, 1916.

It is seldom that we hear of a man ninety-five years old in full possession of his faculties, and taking an active part in the work of the world. But there is a fine old citizen down at Ocean Grove, who passed his ninety-fifth birthday last Christmas, who is little short of marvelous. Last Sunday he occupied the pulpit of a church in Asbury Park, and as the Asbury Park Press says editorially, "discoursed with a sound reasoning. His argument was clear, his diction smooth, he was eloquent, appealing, he stirred his congregation and moved it to characteristic Methodist outcry. He never departed from the line of his text save to illustrate, from his large experience, with some story he had heard or in which he had participated. It was a wonderful sermon; wonderful for its convincing truth, so convincingly presented by the sturdy patriarch who, these 72 years has preached it, lived it, and who, he said, was ready to die with it." There are very few of us who do not hope that even at the age of seventy we will be able to do as Dr. Ballard did on Sunday, each in our chosen profession. He is truly a remarkable man.

* * * * * *

Evangelist Biederwolf is stirring up things so at Norristown, Pa., that he is making the Daily Press staff enthusiastic about him, just from reading of his work in the Norristown papers. On Wednesday night, in spite of a bad storm, 4,000 turned out to hear the man for whom Plainfielders are beginning to look. Just before Billy Sunday went to Trenton one of the newspapers in that city wrote to Syracuse and asked about the handling of the stories on the Sunday campaign. They were promptly advised in reply that the two most important things to do were to "get on the band wagon at the start, because you will have to by popular demand," and "hit the trail yourself." So following the same reasoning for the Biederwolf campaign Plainfielders might as well make up their minds that they are going to be mighty busy after the first of next month, and prepare to boost along the services. This old town is going to learn things about religion that have long been forgotten by many.

* * * * * *

Evidently "Uncle Henry" Buchanan, formerly State librarian and editorial writer on the Trenton Times, does not think much of Walt Whitman's work. Here is what he says about a movement started in Camden: "Having been successful in inducing the State to purchase the Old Red Tavern, several years ago, Camden now wants it to buy the house that was for years occupied by Walt Whitman, who wrote what some authorities declared to be a fair brand of poetry. If the State intends to invest in real estate, there are hundreds of homes of Jerseymen it should first buy; and if Camden desires to perpetuate the memory of Whitman, let the city put up a monument over his grave, or buy the house that the alleged poet lived in after he left the government service in Washington."

Go up in the attic and see if you have a straw "katy" left from last year. That is if you want a white one for this summer. Make sure your wife or the hired girl, in the spring house-cleaning does not throw the old one away, for the "worst is yet to come." A fire destroyed a chemical plant at Niagara Falls, which was the only one in the country making peroxide of sodium, from which the bleaching powder is made, and none is being imported from Germany now. So the dealers tell us that white or Panama colored hats are going to be scarce, and everyone will have to wear colored straw lids. But even at that, we can imagine worse things we might have to do. Certainly no one is going to give up the comfortable and light head coverings because they are of a dark color.

* * * * * *

Chief Doane has urged that the conduct of the fire department be investigated fully, following the filing of a letter with the City Council by J. Irving Lyle, in which his men were criticised. In view of the publicity given the matter, it seems to us that there is no other course open, in justice to the Chief, and the earlier the date upon which the job is tackled the better will it be for the city. Chief Doane says that he is not ashamed of his record, and his thirty years or more as head of the department certainly entitles him to the investigation he has asked. A lot of people have been trying to belittle him, and it is time to either prove that the criticism is justified, or put an effective stop to it.

Now that Edward Casper Stokes has declared his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, the entries are, in all probability, closed. Besides Mr. Stokes, Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, Charles N. Fowler and Franklin Murphy seek the honor. Because of the fact that all but Stokes come from the northern end of the State, the prospects of Stokes securing the nomination, through a divided vote for the other three, seem good. As yet the Democrats have not trotted anyone out against Senator Martine, and it looks at this time as if the Plainfielder would be the Democratic standard bearer.

* * * * * *

Governor Fielder promptly signed the bill which abolishes the State census every ten years, following its speedy passage by both houses of the Legislature. About the only people who will be sorry are those who had the jobs as enumerators. The work cost the State $100,000 and while the people were pleased to know how the population has grown, it was not worth the price.

Over in Jersey City a milkman has just been convicted under the child welfare law for making his sixteen-year-old son work on a milk wagon from midnight until 7 o'clock in the morning. The boy attended school from 9 to 3 and studied from 3 to 6, and then slept until midnight. At that rate it is about time union hours were provided for the milk business.

In spite of the Governor's veto, the primaries to select delegates to the Presidential conventions will be held on April 11, instead of late in May. The Legislature has passed the act over the veto, thus advancing the spring election.

On the Spur of the Moment

by Roy K. Moulton

The Annual Massacre.

Just about this time, each year,
The weather does the same old thing;
It rises in its frigid might
And kills the peaches over night.
The pessimists arise to howl,
And curse the climate good and growl.
The outlook's always mighty bad,
And each fall is the worst we've had.
There's not a pear tree or a plum
That has not been put on the bum.
If this thing don't happen, it
Would not seem like old times a bit.
The grape crop's toted to its bier
Fifteen or sixteen times a year.
But still enough of it escapes
To keep us well supplied with grapes.
The oldest man cannot recall
A single gladsome spring when all
The fruit trees were not somehow chilled
And all next summer's prospects killed.
But, following this sad refrain,
The fruit crop's always born again.
For, after the last rites are said,
The stubborn thing just wont's stay dead.

Oh! Those Women!

A young man in the country had a tender passion and took his girl some flowers. "How kind of you," said the girl, "to bring me these lovely flowers. They are so beautiful and fresh. I think there is some dew on them yet." "Yes," said the young man in great embarrassment, "there is, but I'm going to pay it off tomorrow."

Mrs. Newlywed called at the meat market the other morning and asked the butcher if he had any nice slumps. "Slumps? What are they?" asked the butcher. "Indeed, I don't know; but my husband is always talking about a slump in the market, so I thought I'd take one."

Watchful Waiting.

On a certain street in this good old town dwells a perfectly lovely young lady, says the Rich Hill (Mo.) Enterprise. On another street lives an industrious young man of excellent character, while in still another section there abides a consecrated minister of the gospel, who is every ready to do all the good he can and make happy all the people he can. Let us watch, wait and listen and see if something happens soon in which all three take part. None of our business.

Prosperity.

It sometimes seems a feller's got de very meanest sort of life and it is really not what it's cracked up to be;
But when he comes to figger out what he has been a-kickin' bout he finds dat many fellers mout be much wuss off dan he.
It sometimes seems dat things break bad and den a feller, he gits mad, when he ought to be downright glad dat dey ain't any wuss.
When everything am said an' done, Ah has a quite a bit of fun in life an' dat's no idle pun. Ah mus' remember dat.
By usin' quite a bit of stealth, Ah've managed to retain my health, though one small purse kin hold my wealth an' not be very fat.
Prosperity may come some day, an' if she don' all dat Ah say, is dat she kin jes' stay way; Ah'll get along somehow.
It always pays to smile an' strive. It's mighty good to be alive, e'en though yo' bank book does not thrive. Dt much you mus' allow.

Here's a Cheerful Old Party.

A Sunfield citizen, who remembers what happened 100 years ago as well as though it was yesterday, says in 1816 the winter was much the same as this season, and that the summer in May the ice formed a half-inch thick on ponds; frost and ice were common in June. All summer long the wind blew steadily from the north and the warm days did not come. Mothers knit socks double thickness for their children and made thick mittens, and the folks at buckwheat cakes for breakfast the whole year through. There is enough optimism in our make-up to prevent us from getting downhearted over the outlook. The only inclination is to shed a sympathetic tear for what happened to the folks who lived in 1816.

HE MAY PROVE A DANGEROUS TORCH

- Proctor's Theatre -

Scene from "The Salamander," at Proctor's Theatre, today.

That the management of Proctor's Theatre knew what they were about when they booked "Three Weeks" was plainly attested yesterday, when crowds flocked to the popular playhouse. Today Ruth Findlay will be seen in "The Salamander." In addition the eleventh epi- will stir the heart to the depths. In addition tomorrow Charlie Chaplin sode of "The Red Circle" is shown. Tomorrow will see Bessie Barriscale in her latest Triangle offering entitled "Honor's Altar," a story that will stir the heart to the depths. In addition tomorrow Charlie Chaplin will be seen in a treat for the kiddies and the older folks as well, entitled "His First Vacation," and showing this famous funmaker up to his old tricks and comic capers. On Manday the management have made arrangements whereby Alice Brady, one of the daintiest of stage and screen heroines, will co-star with Holbrook Blinn, the eminent dramatic actor, in the Ballet Girl," an adaptation from the novel, "Carnival," by Compton Mackenzie, and showing life's cross-currents, with their treacherouss undertow, which are strikingly and fearlessly portrayed in this ultra-modern photo-drama. Charlie Chaplin will also be seen in another cloudburst of laughter, "Shanghaied," one of the latest of his screamingly funny creations that have set the whole world agog with humor. The show throughout the rest of the week is in keeping with Proctor's high standard and among other features includes Billie Burke in "Peggy" and "Defense or Tribute," the latest of patriotic spectacles, which will appeal to all true Americans.

SCHOOL TEACHERS MEET.

Lawrence, Kan., March 17.—Four hundred high school teachers from cities and towns in Kansas are meeting here today at the University of Kansas. The educational conference will continue tomorrow, and there are many prominent educators on the program for addresses.

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

Friends and admirers of Mat Keefe and Dave Irwin continue to flock to the Plainfield Theatre to hear these two former minstrel stars, who were featured for many years with George Primrose and Lew Dockstader. Neither has lost the power to attract or to hold an audience, and although the bill at the Plainfield for the last half of the week is one of the best that has been offered there for some time, Keefe and Irwin are easily the most popular performers.

Mr. Keefe has been repeatedly asked to sing "When You and I Were Young Maggie," a song to which his golden tenor is peculiarly suited, and he will favor Plainfielders with this immortal Irish ballad before his engagement is finished. Other acts at the Plainfield this week include "The Girls from Nowhere," with ten pretty and clever singers and dancers, a girl act that is different. There are five other big-time acts.

Through a special New York engagement Manager Shannon, of the Plainfield Theatre, has secured Sylvester Shaffer for a three-night engagement in this city. He will appear at the head of his own company, April 6, 7 and 8. Two performances will be given daily, matinee at 2:30 and evening at 8:15. Shaffer is easily the most versatile man in all of stagedom. He was declared by all New York critics to be the most marvelous performer that ever appeared in that city, and made a record-breaking run of four consecutive weeks at the Palace Theatre, where he received the highest salary ever paid a vaudville performer, it is said. He drew $5,000 for each of the four weeks he played on Broadway. Shaffer, with the aid of his carefully selected company, presents eight separate acts. He is a marksman, a singer, a dancer, a violinist and an entertainer that surpasses specialty performers in their own distinct lines. He carries the London company that was brought to this country with him by the management of the Palace Theatre, and the show will be offered to Plainfielders exactly as it was offered to those who frolic on Broadway.

"The Bostonians" are to be at the Plainfield Theatre, Monday, matinee and night. In the bid for popularity in the burlesque field this season there will be many aspirants for public favor, but it is doubtful if any of the light extravaganza companies on the road this season will surpass "The Bostonians" Company, either in equipment or in the personnel of their organization. 'The Bostonians" have been on the road for a number of season and have toured the country with great success and have always pleased large audiences in every city in which they have appeared.

The enterprising management has spent thousands of dollars in scenery and costumes alone, and the salary list is said to be greater tha that of any other company in its class touring the country this season.

The full strength of the company, which consists of a number of versatile comedians and a score of handsome show girls, will be presented in two new and lively burlesques, which have been especially written for the company, and which will be full of laughable situations, good comedy, sweet and catchy music and excellent specialties. The girls will contribute several big musical numbers, which will be most artistically costumed, and during the action of the burlesques, marches, dances and specialties will follow in bewildering succession.

Victor Herbert's new operatic triumph, "The Princess Pat," is underlined for Wednesday, March 29, at Plainfield Theatre. Henry Blossom is the author of the book and lyrics. Together they have proven a thoroughly delightful and unusually happy combination. Victor Herbert, consummate musician and master of light opera that he is, has collaborated with Henry Blossom before. One still remembers with pleasure their many joint successes. Henry Blossom is one of the cleverest writers of lyrics in America. The songs in "The Princess Pat" are devoid of the customary banality, the glutinous mixture of slush and balderdash that affronts the ear in most librettos, and Victor Herbert has written one of his most skillful and richly orchestrated scores. One can hardly emphasize too heavily the part that Mr. Herbert played in making "The Princess Pat" a success. His wonderful command of his craft is evident in every number. The finale of the second act, in particular, is irresistible, with its piquant, contagious spirit of youth and joy. Mr. Cort has furnished a beautiful setting for the opera and an excellent cast, comprising, among others, Ruth Welch, Georgio Sregario, Philip H. Ryley, Paul Nicholson, Earl Benham, Ben Hendricks, Effie Toye, Francis Bryan, Henry Vincent and Tote Marks, together with an efficient chorus and an augmented Herbert orchestra.

Drops Dead In Shoveling Snow.

Paterson, March 17.—The exertion of shoveling snow brought on an attack of heart disease which proved fatal to William H. Fox, fifty-one years old, a butcher, of 25 Belmont avenue, Haledon, who moved there from Rockaway twelve years ago. He dropped dead while at work. Arrangements for the funeral at Rockaway will be made by a brother, Charles J. Fox of that place, who was immediately notified of the death.

Four Overcome by Coal Gas.

Elizabeth, March 17.—John J. Cook, thirty-eight years old, of 311 Trinity place reported to Health Inspector Louis J. Richards that he and three members of his family were overcome by coal gas during the night. The gas escaped from a defective furnace, and Mr. Richards said he would make an investigation.

N. P. H. S. NOTES

Acting upon the request of Principal Albert Earley, Penn State, Swarthmore, New York University and Princeton University are now sending their literary publications to the high school.

The two classes in violin and piano instruction are making excellent progress, rehearsals being held twice a week.

Miss Margaret Smith and Ernest Pruden gave recitations at the morning exercises.

The boys in both sections of the physics laboratory are making some interesting experiments at present. The ventilating system was given as an experiment to test the efficiency of the system used in the school.

Mr. Earley is planning to give the trigonometry class both the practical and theoretical side of the subject as soon as the weather permits.

Rehearsals are underway for the junior play, "The Deacon's Entanglement," the first one being held yesterday.

William Seidel is rapidly completing this season's baseball schedule. There are now twenty games on the list and five more are needed.

A new society known as the "Early Morning Frolickers" has been formed, the members being John Dawe, Harvey Kirch, Andrew McDonough, Oscar Dilts, Alfred Seidel, Kenneth Lawrie and Warren Townley.

Miss Loetzer, head of the bookkeeping department, is ill with tonsilitis.

Ernest Prudent and Walter Debele are planning to give a dance in Debele's Auditorium, April 7.

The girls' basketball team is still undecided as to what kind of sweaters to purchase, but it is likely that ones similar to the ones worn by the boys in 1912 will be secured.

Mr. Aungst will address the pupils of the high school Monday morning on "How to Choose a Vacation."

The economics class will soon visit the various industrial plants in this vicinity.

AN ENIGMA FOR POSTERITY.

The Secret Dynamite Chamber of the Catskill Aqueduct.

The Catskill aqueduct system is remarkable as an engineering feat. One of the most curious expedients that the engineers contrived was the chamber for storing dynamite. They had to have a large supply of explosive at hand, yet the law sternly prohibited any such accumulation within the city limits of New York, where it might endanger life or property.

Finally in the dip between the One Hundred and Tenth street and the One Hundred and Twenty-second street shafts, 450 feet below the surface, a chamber was blasted out of the solid rock. You entered this chamber from the tunnel by a door that was always left swinging half open and then followed a zigzag passage that turned more than once at right angles. From that passage you stepped into a huge vaulted cavern.

A single electric bulb was suspended over the threshold. A capacious iron bound chest, not unlike a sarcophagus, contained the dynamite. There was nothing else in the silent and gloomy chamber. If the dynamite had at any time exploded the immense volume of released gas would have rushed first against the unyielding walls of rock and then, seeking an outlet, it would have broken with diminishing force against those of the zigzag passage.

So carefully had the engineers calculated the force of the explosion that they believed that what remained of it on reaching the tunnel entrance would automatically close the half open door. No explosion took place to test the theory, and experimental proof would have cost the city $5,000 worth of dynamite.

The passage from the tunnel has been closed with solid concrete, but the huge cavern is still there, hidden deep in the rock on which the great city is built. Slowly, very slowly, it will fill up with a silent, motionless pool of water, never to reflect the faintest gleam of light. In time, no doubt, the existence of the cavern will be forgotten. A thousand or two years hence it may be rediscovered. Clearly it will be seen to be the work of man, but as to its purpose scientific brains may puzzle themselves fruitlessly, for that will have become a secret held inviolate by the unspeaking rock.—Youth's Companion.

An Example of Turkish.

Everybody who has tackled German knows the strain of waiting for the verb at the end of the sentence which will explain what it is all about. Turkish goes several worse than that, giving the words in almost exactly reverse order to our own. Sir Charles Eliot cites as a typical Turkish sentence, "Capital and Varna between running Lloyd of company of Vulcan steamer on Stamboul to coming are we." Read that backward and its meaning becomes clear. Obviously such a language should avoid long sentences. Popular Turkish does, but Turkish writers indulge in mighty mazes that should be quite congenial to German professors.—London Chronicle.

Good Guess.

A musical director tells a story of the embarrassment evinced by a young woman at a reception given Mme. Schumann-Heink. The young woman was an enthusiastic admirer of the songstress, and she had often expressed to the hostess her intense desire to meet the celebrity. When, however, her turn came to be introduced to the famous woman she was so overcome that she lost her self possession completely.

Blushing deeply and twisting about the rings on her fingers, she managed to emit, "You—er—er—you sing. I be-believe."—Everybody's.

SLIVERS WAS THE FUNNIEST CLOWN

Ended His Life Because Love For Girl Was Unrequited.

KNOWN ALL OVER COUNTRY

All the Old and Young Patrons of Circus Forgot Other Performers When the Long Clown Began His Stunts. Outside of Tent He Was a Serious Person.

Slivers, the best known and most laughable circus clown of this generation—in the opinion of many a white haired boy who used to crawl under the canvas back in dim days the most whimsically imaginative clown of all time—had grown so weary of life during recent days that the other night Slivers turned on the gas and killed himself. He was in a New York boarding house.

The underlying reason for Slivers' act was his love for a girl now serving a three year term in Bedford reformatory for stealing his jewels. The girl last week had refused to become his wife upon her release.

The girl's name is Viola Stoll. The clown had loved her before she stole his gems. They had belonged to his dead wife, and she had access to them because she was "housekeeper" of his apartment. He caused Viola's arrest and conviction, and then his love for her returned. She was sentenced to the reformatory in August, 1913.

The regiments of clowns who bawl and tumble out on to the Garden tanbark every few minutes at performances of "the greatest show" are invariably unknown even by name to circus audiences, except when perhaps once in a generation a George Fox, a Tony Denier, a Dan Luby or, master of them all, a Slivers Oakley comes forth with a genius for pantomime that lifts him from the ruck of individuality.

Where He Got His Nickname.

Even circus patrons who may not remember by name the Frank Oakley who was nicknamed Slivers because of his lanky height, will recall him if they ever saw him, a bird cage "catching mask" and a padded catching glove as his sole baseball "props" to create illusion, go through his artlessly artful pantomime of impersonating an entire baseball team by himself.

Dazzling circus queens or aerial "artists" might be swinging on high while high salaried ring performers were tumbling about below, but once Slivers of the elongated feet began his "game" by taking an imaginary drink of water at an imaginary bench and sauntering out to argue with an imaginary umpire until he was ordered off the field the thousands in the Garden or under the canvas big top across the country saw only him. Again, when he came forth as a duck hunter, a foolish little canvas boat extending fore and aft from his waist, and crept up upon imaginary canvasbacks.

His Early Life.

He did not spring from generations of circus stock, as so many performers do. His mother, who was a concert singer in Chicago, wanted him to study one of the professions and sent him to the University of Michigan with this ambition in mind. But Slivers would be a circus clown, and after two years of college work at Ann Arbor he slipped away from lecture and laboratory and "joined out" with the Andrew McDonald circus.

A few years earlier, or fourteen years after his birth in Sweden, he had run away from his mother's home in Chicago and had traveled with an old time wagon circus until his mother had located him and brought him back to home and preparatory school again.

Outside of the tent he was a serious minded man. One day he said to a friend:

"I never see the lights go on and hear the band strike up for the grand procession but I think of Dan Luby—a great clown and a good friend of mine—my side partner. A good many years ago, in some place in Indiana, we marched together into the big tent behind the elephants. Dan was feeling low spirited and had been talking all day about a hunch that something was going to happen. But I cheered him up, and we frolicked along till the grand entry was over.

"Then they brought out the elephants, and Dan and I began to jump over their backs. At least Dan did—he was a good jumper, and I was the faker, the fellow who tries to jump and makes all sorts of funny tumbles. Of course Dan had to 'horse' his act, too, but just the same he had to put over his thriller.

Laughed In Presence of Death.

"Well, the time came for him to jump from a springboard over four elephants. He got away in good shape, but in clearing the last beast he didn't right himself and hit the tanbark flat on his back. The crowd yelled with laughter—funny stuff to see. I knew what had happened; we all knew. But it was the first night of a three day stay, and we couldn't afford to do anything to make that bunch unhappy. I flipflopped up to the best friend I had on earth, and he lay there dead with his back broken. Up came the other clowns. We picked him up and carried poor Dan off, doing funny stuff while the crowd roared with laughter. When we got Dan behind the scenes we cried over him."

A Fizzle.

"My speech fell flat."

"You told me you had rehearsed it until you could say it either backward or forward."

"I had. But I started it backward and couldn't switch."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Life is a campaign, not a battle, and has its defeats as well as its victories. —Platt.

Tomorrow night—Rutherford at New Brunswick.

Newark last night won the B. P. O. Elks bowling championship, the leaders settling the race by winning two games in their final series of the season against Paterson. The match was the last for Paterson, the Silk City tribe finishing the season in fifth place, with a record of twenty-seven victories and the same number of defeats. Newark won thirty-seven and lost seventeen games. Elizabeth pinners, who are in second place, may win all their remaining three games and they will still be one game behind the new champions, while the Brunswicks will be two games behind the Newarks even if they capture all their remaining six games.

Besides winning the Perlmutter trophy for the championship, the Newarks will also get the Radel trophy for high team average. The only team that can beat them out for the latter prize is Elizabeth, and the Betsytowners will have to average 990 for the last three games in order to beat the new champions out for average honors.

Two members of the Newark team finish among the first three individual average prize winners. Jack Speary gets the Markowitz plaque for leading the league, and Frank Gilland is sure of third prize.

There was much excitement around the Newark club's alleys, the home team having a great crowd of rooters present. The title seekers made short work of the work before them, taking the first two games, 946 to 871 and 991 to 908. They then rested on their newly-won laurels and watched the Patersons pile up 1014 in the last game.

Captain Weingarth averaged 207, his biggest marks being 235 and 206. Wagner averaged 210.1, with 211 and 228; Van Ness 200, his top mark being 234; Anderson averaged 201.2, rolling 232. Other big marks were Speary's 202, Armitage's 214 and Taylor's 206.

Sophomores Finish Single Point Ahead of Seniors, Who Make Strong Finish—Miss Alpaugh Potent Factor in Junior Victory.

The girls' annual Interclass League basketball race at Plainfield High School started yesterday, when the Sophomores nosed out a 14 to 13 victory over the Seniors, and the Juniors handed the Freshmen a 12 to 7 defeat. The first game seemed an easy win for the Sophomores until the last five minutes, when Irma Good took her place in the Senior lineup and ran up enough points to nearly tie the score. Mary Simons, while she was in part of the first half, landed three baskets for the Sophomores. Florence Alpaugh made all but one basket for the Juniors in their games, while Ethel Harris did the same for the Freshmen. Thirty-eight girls took part in the two games.

He lost only three games last year, and in one game obtained a strikeout record of nineteen. He pitched two no-hit games last year, the Marines, of Perth Amboy, being his victims. With Spencer on the mound, Apgar expects to cop the pennant.

BRUNSWICK WIND UP THEIR SEASON

Champions Drop Odd to Newark—Harding Loses in Average Fight.

The New Brunswick bowlers, champions of the Elks' Junior League, closed their campaign last night, the Newark club winning two games on Greenewald's alleys. Newark shooters need all three games of their final match against Paterson in order to tie Elizabeth for third place.

Newark took the opener with 853, Brunswick getting the second with 930, and the visitors finishing seventeen pins ahead in the odd, 932 to 915.

Hogarity hit 233, Gillard 216 and 202, Jackson 202, and Carberry 200.

Tonight—Newark at New Brunswick.

Plainfield Elks' Junior League pinners lost three games at Elizabeth last night by margins of 19, 228 and 101 pins. It was the final match of the league season for Elizabeth, the champions winding up with twenty-one victories and fifteen defeats.

Lorenzo D. Townley, captain of the Plainfield team, did the feature work last night. The Queen City anchor had nine perfect hits in the first game. He started with six strikes, his seventh hit being a strike split that checked his string. He spared in the eighth and finished with two more strikes for a score of 241.

Plainfield led most of the way in the opening tilt. The locals set the pace up to the eighth, being ten pins ahead in the fifth and twenty to the good i nthe seventh. The tide turned in favor of Elizabeth in the last three rounds, Gathman and Epstein ending with strikes, while Firstbrook and Hetfield missed spares.

Elizabeth led all the way in the last two games. Three members of the local team had three misses each in the second game, and two shared eight in the third. Strong finishes again characterized the homesters' work. Gathman ended with a triple for a tally of 202 in the second game, and wound up with five wallops for a mark of 235 in the last tilt. Bill Simpson began the second game with three hits and posted 213.

Henry Gathman, the league leader, averaged 208.2.

Probably less is heard of the bowling done on the private alleys of Benjamin Kline, of West Front street, than of any other chutes in the city, but it isn't because Mr. Kline's lanes are not used. The acquisition of an experienced coach to take charge of the Plainfield High School track team should boom athletics at the Ninth street institution. William Knox, the new coach, has fair material on hand. In Bill Daniels he has a consistent winner in the middle distance events.

Baseball prospects at the two high schools are much the same at the present writing. Both squads want a pitcher or two, more than anything else. N. P. H. ## MOTORCYCLE CLUB BANQUET SUCCESS

More Than Two Dozen Attend Affair Held at New Market Last Evening.

More than two doze diners sat down to the fourth annual banquet of the Plainfield Motorcycle Club, at the Elseman Heights Inn, New Market, last evening.

The occasion was a gala one, and lasted until the wee hours of the morning. The trip was made in an auto bus. Among the contributing features to the evening's enjoyment were songs rendered by a quartet composed of A. C. Reinschmidt, Miss M. Siggins, H. Alberts and J. Dickhudt, phonograph selections and dancing.

Paul Meyers, president of the club, addressed his fellow members on "Preparedness," among other things, warning them never to attempt to run their machines without gas, no matter how much it costs.

The menu cards were of unusual shape, being in the outline of a motorcycle. The Plainfield Motorcycle Club was organized March 3, 1912, the charter members being: Jack Horner, Nicolos Thulc, Benjamin Howell, Alonzo Herrlich, Julius Dickhudt, Edward Koechlein, Chester Bond, Ralph Auerbach, J. J. Moore, Gustave Johnson, Edward Honeyman, Rosco Van Doren, Leslie Mampson, Percy Haberle and W. D. W. Hiller.

The present officers of the club are: Paul Meyers, president; Julius Dickhudt, vice-president; Herman Alberts, recording and financial secretary; Gustav Johnson, treasurer; Herman Alberts, road captain.

SECOND ROUND OF MATCHES IN PINOCHLE TOURNAMENT

In the second matches of the borough pinochle tournament last evening, the fire department team defeated the Domino club, taking two games out of three, and Gaub's barber shop players defeated the Republican club by the same score. The standing of the teams is as follows:

| | W. | L. | P.C. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Gaub's Barber Shop | 5 | 1 | .833 |
| Republican Club | 3 | 3 | .500 |
| Fire Department | 3 | 3 | .500 |
| Domino Club | 1 | 5 | .166 |

BOB FITZSIMMONS' FORMER TRAINER DIES IN PHILLY

Philadelphia, March 17.—Paul Hunt Grisell, widely known thirty years ago as an amateur boxer and athlete, died here yesterday of pneumonia. He was fifty-five years old and had lived at a boarding house here for several months in virtual isolation from his friends.

Grisell was one of the trainers of Robert Fitzsimmons when the latter defeated James J. Corbett for the world's heavyweight championship.

BAPTIST BALL PLAYERS HOLD FANNING SESSION

Members of the Probasco Bible Class had a baseball fanning bee at their monthly gathering in the First Baptist church last night. The class constitution, drawn up by Earl Pierson, Benjamin Harris and Cedric Ostrom, was read and adopted. Dr. Norman B. Probasco and J. Henry Crane addressed the members, after which the usual refreshments were served.

The class baseball team will again represent the First Baptist church in the City Baseball League, and will again play its home games on the field at the corner of Myrtle and West End avenues. Duncan Patterson is manager of the team.

MISS BJURSTEDT PUTS OUT MISS MARIE WAGNER

Miss Molla Bjurstedt dispelled all doubt as to whether or not her rating of No. 1 on the national list was within the merits of the case, yesterday.

The girl from Norway who hits harder and foots faster than any American of her sex on the lawn tennis courts, simply smothered Miss Marie Wagner in the semi-final round of the national indoor championship singles on the courts of the Seventh Regiment Armory, New York, while a gallery of more than 1,000 spectators applauded and marvelled. The score was 6—0, 6—3. Miss Wagner received a rating of No. 6 last season.

Mrs. Frederick Schmitz won a place in the final round opposite to Miss Bjurstedt. In her semi-final the former holder of the national laurels defeated Mrs. David C. Mills, of the Orange Lawn Tennis Club at 6—2, 6—1.

TWO GAMES IN TABS' HALL.

Two games will be played on the Tabs' basketball court tonight. The Abstainers will take on the Knights of Columbus quintet, and the Inner-Triangles will play the Netherwood Juniors.

POSTPONE ELKS' MEETING AND BEEFSTEAK DINNER

It was announced yesterday that the beefsteak dinner of the Elks' Bowling Leagues had been postponed from next Wednesday night to Thursday night, March 30, because there was not enough time left to finish the schedules and procure the prizes.

The meeting of the Elks' Junior League, planned for last night, was not held, only three delegates being present. They were Alexander P. Hinton, of Newark; Walter Burton, of New Brunswick, and V. W. Nash, Jr., of this city, president, treasurer and secretary, respectively. The meeting will be held in Elizabeth next Tuesday night.

TROOPERS SEEK TO FLANK VILLA

Cavalry Reported Nearing Lair of Bandit Chief.

SNIPERS FIRE ON SOLDIERS

Threatened Opposition to Expedition Causes Uneasiness in Washington. Additional Troops Arrive at Columbus to Follow Pershing—Carranza Secret Service Men Balked Seeking Exact Location of Villa.

Columbus, N. M. (By Courier to El Paso, Tex.), March 17.—The Seventh and Tenth cavalry, dispatched to flank Villa, were reported to be nearing the Villa territory in the Casas Grandes region. If Villa intends to offer any organized resistance to his pursuers it might be possible for United States soldiers to come in contact with his outposts very soon.

The two cavalry regiments started from Culberson's ranch, near Hachita, N. M., only eighty-five miles from Casas Grandes. The start was made with a minimum of equipment and orders to make forced marches, and the troops moved rapidly. They are led by scouts from the Mormon colonies at Colonia, Dublan and Colonia Morales.

General Pershing's command, which left Columbus, is reported to be encamped at Guzman, on the El Paso railroad, and forty miles south of the border.

Most of the reports received here indicated that the American troops were unmolested in their advance. There also were reports that a few snipers had been encountered. There was nothing to show which of the American columns might have encountered them.

Soldiers Reported Wounded.

According to these reports, six or seven soldiers of the American expedition had been hit by snipers.

Villa is being kept informed concerning the American pursuit of him and his band through a host of spies on the border and swift riding couriers in Mexico, according to belief here. This belief is shared by the officials in other border cities, who are arresting every suspected Mexican they find.

Carranza officials along the border are powerless to prevent Villista sympathizers from taking word to the bandit chief of American activities, for two-thirds of the people in northern Mexico, especially the peon classes, are Villistas and eager to aid him in escaping from the "gringoes." It was asserted here that regular relays of couriers are keeping Villa in touch with events and are carrying to him in small quantities, but by frequent trips, abundant ammunition for his men.

As much secrecy is being maintained by Villistas on the border concerning Villa's movements as the American military authorities are observing concerning the army sent into Mexico.

Carranza Scouts Baffled.

Carranza secret service men and scouts throughout the interior and along the border are unable to discover just where the bandit leader is, except that he is believed to have reached the Galeana district and is resting there before taking his men up into the barren mountain hiding places, where he hopes to defy American pursuit.

Villa since the pursuit of the American army started apparently has passed beyond the American Mormon colony at Casas Grandes. Reliable dispatches indicated that the 500 Americans there are safe. These dispatches gave credit to Carranza forces about Casas Grandes for putting up a front which stopped Villa from making his proposed raid on the Americans.

Troop trains came in here during the night, and Columbus awoke to find the camp had grown considerably in population. A new lot of cavalry horses was noticed. Great piles of supplies had sprung up near the railway station. Quartermaster wagons left constantly over the road to the south during the day.

In a sagebrush plain off to the side of the camp a number of aeroplanes were tried out. They had been set up since their arrival and were tested. One or two at a time were in the air most of the day.

The strict military censorship of all news on troop movements out of Columbus has not yet been relaxed.

Washington Is Uneasy.

Washington, March 17.—The fact was disclosed in a high official quarter that the state and war departments had been receiving some disquieting news from the Mexican border despite the fact that the American punitive expedition into Mexico had the co-operation and assurances of support from the higher Carranza military authorities in the state of Chihuahua. It was learned from the same quarter that news from the border was not reassuring and that there appeared to be elements of danger in the situation.

Details were not obtainable regarding the basis for the apprehension, but it was intimated that some of the reports showed that not all of the rank and file of the Carranza soldiery were satisfied with the American crossing into Mexico and that other reports indicated that there was danger of raids across the border at various points. The United States border patrol is being shifted at some places to meet possible contingencies.

Unofficial reports that "snipers" had fired at scouts in the vanguard of the American expedition could not be confirmed at the war department, where it was asserted that General Funston had reported only "routine information." But it was realized before the expedition started that "sniping" would have to be contended with by the army in its advance into Mexico. The chief element of danger in this phase of the movement is not regarded as the "sniping" itself, but the events it may precipitate. The situation is being looked upon as one which, while auspicious in the beginning, contains elements of danger.

A Policy of Alertness.

Officials prefer to discount these reports and to continue to hope that the expedition will continue to have the approval and aid of the Carranza authorities. Full assurances have been given by the Washington government to the Carranza government that the whole purpose of the expedition is to capture Villa and his band; that the United States has no ulterior motives. General Pershing is under instructions to make this fact unmistakably clear wherever he comes into contact with Mexicans, regardless of faction.

While the American military authorities are pleased with the assurances and actual co-operation thus far given by the Carranzistas and are accepting them in good faith, it is known that General Funston and the higher military authorities in Washington are so shaping their plans and the disposition of the army as to be ready to meet any combination of elements and circumstances in Mexico.

Danger points in the situation have been the Sonora border, where Carranza troops have shown unrest and excitement over the crossing of the American force into Chihuahua, and that portion of the Sierra Grande region of Chihuahua southeast of El Paso, especially in the neighborhood of Ojinaga, opposite the Texan town of Presidio. On account of the reported mutiny of the Carranza garrison under Colonel Riojas at Ojinaga and the reported assassination of that officer, accompanied by rumors of a threatened invasion of Texas in that region, a troop of the Thirteenth cavalry was rushed from Marfa, Tex., to Presidio.

PRINCE OF WALES A SPARTAN

Sleeps on Cottage Floor at Front, Says Chaplain Kendall.

London, March 17.—Chaplain Kendall, who has recently returned from the front, told an audience in London that the Prince of Wales often slept on the floor of a miner's cottage in France, refusing available accommodations in a neighboring mansion.

The chaplain added that the prince was often in danger, going wherever others went.

Successor to Breckenridge.

Washington, March 17.—President Wilson practically promised the executive committee of the National Guard association he would appoint as assistant secretary of war a man who was familiar with national guard affairs. The committee suggested former Representative Connolly of Iowa. No selection was made.

Army Lieutenant a Suicide.

San Antonio, Tex., March 17.—Word was received of the suicide of First Lieutenant Edward M. Zell, Eleventh cavalry, at Columbus, N. M. Melancholia is given as the cause.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and above all, keep it up! As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast, act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.—Adv.

WIFE GOES HOME TO HER CHILDREN

Husband Pays Board Bill of Elopers and All is Forgiven.

Mabel Redinger, who eloped from Phillipsburg last week with Earl Brady, of Easton, Pa., this morning left her "love" husband at the police station and permitted her legal mate to escort her back to her home and two children. Brady is under promise to Judge De Meza to leave the city at once. Redinger came for his wife. He forgave all, received her with open arms, and gave Brady $2.50 with which to pay their room rent.

Brady and the woman were arraigned in police court this morning on charges of disorderly conduct. The woman had already agreed to return home with her legal husband and the charge against her was dismissed. Brady was fined $100. Judge De Meza agreed to suspend the fine because he felt that the youth had been led into the affair by the woman, but he insisted that young Brady leave Plainfield.

RECREATION ACTIVITIES AT WASHINGTON SCHOOL

The following activities will take place in the Washington School tonight: The Dunbar dance, in the auditorium; the Dramatic Club rehearsal and the pool tables will be in use. Especial attention is directed to the afternoon work conducted under the auspices of the Public Recreation Committee in the city schools. Included in the large number of activities are the piano lessons which were started this year and which have grown to be one of the most popular features undertaken by the committee. At present about thirty lessons are given a week by the Misses Mabel Maxson and Hazel Lockwood, respectively, teaching in the Washington and Whittier Schools. Lessons are given at a nominal fee, thus affording many youthful musicians an opportunity to grasp the first rudiments at an early age.

Another large feature of the afternoon work are the guilds of play which are conducted in the Irving, the Franklin, the Bryant, the Grammar and High School. Here the children are taught folk dancing and social ethics by competent instructors. Each guild is absolutely self supporting, the children helping in keeping the work by paying a slight assessment.

"DIRECTORS SOCIAL."

A "Directors' Social" will be tendered members of the Y. M. C. A. and their woman friends at the association building on Thursday evening, March 23, at 8 o'clock. In addition to a social time which has been arranged, an unusually good entertainment will be provided and light refreshments served.

CAETERIA SUPPER AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The St. Patrick's Day Cafeteria supper, given last night by the Pastor's Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church, was a success from every point of view, and as a result the society realized a goodly sum to add to its fund. Over one hundred persons were served between 6 and 8 o'clock, the menu proving to be a tempting one, with Irish dainties predominating.

The decorations were carried out appropriately to the day, green being the color scheme. These were in charge of Mrs. H. F. Bebee, while the chairman of the committee of arrangements was Miss Ruth D. Sadler. The latter was assisted by the following chairmen: Mrs. C. E. Herring, Mrs. A. E. Hoagland, Mrs. H. F. Satterfield, Miss Linda Cave, Mrs. A. V. Searing, Jr., Mrs. William Dell, and Mrs. Freeman Shotwell. Other members of the society also assisted.

837 Women's Suits, In 49 New Models,

Very Particularly Prepared by 12 of Our Best Manufacturers---$15 to $37.50

There are 47 models for women of average size; prices are $15, $19.50, $25, $32.50, $35, $37.50.

There are 2 models in sizes 40½ to 48½, priced $37.50; these will be found in the SALONS AMPLE. Fourth Avenue end of the Gallery.

This is an event. Twelve of our best manufacturers have helped us. Some adapted Paris models preferred by us. From others we took our pick; out of 1,700 suits submitted from one house, we took 350—out of 100 models. Materials are excellent. Most of the serges and gabardines were bought months ago, looking ahead, making sure of good colors. A very high order of tailoring. Cleverness of linings, and the little details of fashion and finish that mark the more expensive suits. You will find them in these suits.

Pretty French Collars $1 to $2

Not only hand-embroidered but all hand-made. Some show a scalloped edge, others have a fine hand-sewn hem. Charming for dress or coat. In organdie or handkerchief linen, $1 to $2.

Copies of French chemisettes in sheer organdie, 75c.

French collar with banding of soldat blue or black, 75c.

Sailor collars of very sheer white organdie with hemstitched hem, 50c; sets, 75c.

MEN'S NEWS

Store Open Saturday Evenings Until 10

Vol. 1, No. 22 NEWARK, N. J., MARCH 17, 1916 Priceless

Editorial

When the boy comes to put on his first long trousers he may be proud enough, but he also feels a certain embarassment in making his first appearance.

We minimize this embarrassment by providing Suits that fit in nicely between the short and long trouser periods.

Our "Student" Suits are so youthful in style as to not make a boy look too much like a man. They keep him still boyish looking and yet give him his first long trousers—and the change is scarcely noticeable and the boy needn't feel "fussed" up about it.

These "Student" Suits are made in the new Norflok and regular models; in handsome fabrics of various sorts—15 to 18 year sizes; priced $10 to $18.

Your New Hat

ought to be easily picked from the large collection we present for choice—no less than 28 different shades in our stock in the new Flat Brim Soft Hats.

Light Pearl and Covert Soft Hats and Brown Hats with dark green bands here at $2 and $3.

Famous Stetson Alpines, including their great style leader for Young Men—the "Pacemaker"—here at $3.50.

Derbies, also, in goodly variety.

Shoes for Men

Men will like the "Fenway," built as it is on the new flat English last, in a variety of styles with wing tip.

Mahogany Russia Calf—splendid shoes, in all sizes, at $5.

Shoes for Growing Girls

We conduct a special department in our Shoe Store for Growing Girls. Those that wear Shoes from 2½ to 6.

Here we pay special attention to the proper fitting of developing feet, taking extreme care to provide just the right shoe for every foot.

Priced $3 to $5.

Brief Talks About Clothing

We'd like you to see the Hand-Tailored Overcoats in medium weight for Springtime wear which we are showing in the always dressy Black and Oxford Vicunas.

These O'Coats are in styles that will appeal to the average man and particularly to Young Men who like to appear well dressed.

They are in handsome models and are beautifully lined and trimmed and give every evidence of careful hand-tailoring—and see how modestly priced they are—$16.50 & $20.

Most men know the satisfaction that comes with wearing a Silk-Lined Suit—that feeling of elegance—of being well dressed—and usually one feels that it is an extravagance to pay for a Silk-Lined Suit. Not so with these, for we ask you only $25 for them—and they are fully silk-lined, even to the vest back.

These Suits are made of Imported Oxford Vicunas; are full of style and the best of workmanship is evident throughout; made in attractive 3-button sack models; 33 to 46-inch chest measure; at only $25.

Wonderful value, indeed, are these Hand-Tailored Suits for Men and Young Men; of handsome Worsteds, Cheviots aand Homespuns; in stripes, checks and mixtures; 33 to 50 chest measure.

You would hardly expect to get such Suits for so little—$16.50. We urge you not to miss seeing them before selecting a Spring Suit.

Young Men will be delighted with our Blue Flannel Suits, which duplicate in every way the smartest Custom Tailored Clothes. There is plenty of individuality in these Blue Flannel Suits. The Coats are made with patch pockets. They are quarter silk lined. Sleeves and vest are also of silk and they are in sizes 33 to 46.

To get such perfect fitting Suits, Suits that are as beautifully made aas these, at $22, is, indeed, a treat.

News for Boys

Our famous "Rough It" Suits for Boys, with two pairs of knickers, all wool; the best of this Spring models; in sizes 7 to 18; are certainly surprising value at $5.95.

Boys' High Class Suits, with two pairs of knickers; 100 per cent. wool; coats with plaited or pinch backs; 1916 Spring models; stitched or three-piece belts; nicest of the season's shades, grays, browns, tans and greens; sizes 7 to 18; great value, indeed, at $7.50.

DEAD MAN HILL HELD BY GERMANS

That Is Claim Made In Official Berlin Report.

FRENCH ATTACK CHECKED

Another Lull at Verdun—Infantry Quiet, but Paris Reports That Artillery Duel With Big Guns Has Continued—French Bombard Provision Trains of Enemy.

London, March 17.—The Germans claim possession of Dead Man's hill, an important height south of Bethincourt and about two miles west of the Meuse. Berlin asserts that a French attack on this position and the woods north of it was checked at the outset.

Berlin, March 17.—The official war bulletin reports the failure of two important French attacks—one against the German positions on Le Mort Homme, northwest of Verdun, and the other on the German trenches south of St. Souplet, in Champagne. In the latter engagement, it is asserted, the French not only failed to win a footing in the German lines, but left 152 prisoners and two machine guns in the hands of the defenders.

Official German Report.

The statement issued at military headquarters follows:

In Flanders, especially in proximity to the coast, artillery duels have appreciably increased in violence. They have become more violent in the regions of Roxe and Ville-aux-Bois.

In Champagne the French, after persistent artillery preparation, made a number of attacks, all without success, on our position south of St. Souplet and west of the Somme-Py-Souain road. This caused us few losses, whereas theirs were numerous. We took there two officers and 150 unwounded prisoners and captured two machine guns.

On the left bank of the Meuse further attempts made by the enemy to dispute our possession of Le Mort Homme and other positions in the wood to the north of it were frustrated at the outset. Between the Meuse and the Moselle the position is unchanged.

South of Lower Aspach (Alsace) our patrols, after an effective bombardment of enemy trenches, penetrated the latter, destroyed the defensive positions and returned with a few prisoners and some booty.

In an aerial encounter a French aeroplane was shot down southeast of Beine, in Champagne. The occupants were incinerated.

Enemy airmen again attacked the German hospital at Labry, east of Conflans. The first attack was made during the night of the 13th. No military damage was done. Of civilians, one woman was seriously injured and one woman and two children slightly injured.

In the eastern theater there have been patrol engagements at various places on the front. Otherwise there have been no events.

In the Balkan theater there is nothing to report.

Official French Report.

Paris, March 17.—The French war office issued the following communique:

In Belgium French patrols have been able to ascertain that the destructive fire directed by our artillery against the German forces at La Plage, in the region of Nieuport, resulted in the complete destruction of the German communicating trenches and killed a number of the enemy.

In the region to the north of Verdun there has been reported no infantry engagements. The bombardment has continued, but not very strongly, on the left bank of the River Meuse. It has been more intense on the right bank.

In the regions of Haudremont and of Bamlop our artillery has cannonaded violently the country to the west of Douaumont, where the enemy was engaged in perfecting defense works.

In the Woevre we have bombarded several provision trains of the enemy.

To the east of the forest of Apremont a surprise attack against a German trench resulted in our inflicting some losses on the enemy and of bringing in some prisoners.

In the Vosges to the south of the Thur the Germans delivered an attack against our positions near Burnhaupt. Checked by our curtain of fire, the enemy found it impossible to set foot in our trenches.

SENATE ARMY BILL READY.

Military Affairs Committee Orders Chamberlain Measure Reported.

Washington, March 17.—National defense legislation took another stride forward when the senate military affairs committee completed consideration of the Chamberlain army reorganization bill and ordered it to be reported to the senate.

The senate bill, in its fundamentals, would add to the army fourteen regiments of field artillery, bringing it up to twenty regiments; increase the infantry regiments to sixty-four, cavalry regiments to fifteen; increase the coast artillery to 20,000 men and make generous increases in engineer corps and signal and aviation corps.

Weather Forecast.

Fair, slightly warmer today; tomorrow warmer in south portion; diminishing northwest winds, becoming variable.

WEATHER EVERYWHERE.

Observations of the United States weather bureau taken at 8 p. m. yesterday follow:

| | Temp. | Weather. |
|---|---|---|
| Albany | 16 | Clear |
| Atlantic City | 24 | Clear |
| Boston | 22 | Clear |
| Buffalo | 18 | Cloudy |
| Chicago | 30 | Clear |
| New Orleans | 56 | Clear |
| New York | 21 | Clear |

IMPROVEMENT NOTED IN CHARITY WORK

Decreasing Number of "Cases Under Care" Reported for Month of February.

Industrial prosperity, with opportunities for employment, are reflected in the February report of the Charity Organization Society. Last month 151 "cases under care" were listed, as compared with 165 in January and 168 in December. In February, 1915, the cases under care numbered 186, so that the present winter shows a progressive betterment, as well as a decided improvement over conditions a year ago. "Cases under care" are usually families whose supporting member has died, become incapacitated through illness or accident, has lost his employment or refuses to exert himself to support his family.

In the Charity Organization Society, Plainfield has a scientifically effective force which is constantly studying, and, as it finds remedies, applies them to the great social disease of poverty. From the bare tabular report of the society's operations last month it is interesting to review the practical results achieved by trained workers dealing with those made helpless by various causes. The element of personal interest, the report makes plain, is fully as important in helping folks who are down and out as is financial aid. The report shows that while seventy-seven families received $468.92 to put them, or most of them, where they could help themselves in a normal way, seventy-four families received advice or counsel or were aided through the personal interest of those better off. Not all of the people who come under the Charity Organization Society's observation need financial help; they need the attention and encouragement of those sympathetically disposed to get them back on the normal social plane from which they have fallen.

Of the 151 "cases under care" in February 110 were carried over from the preceding month, with the balance made up of new and recurrent applicants for aid. While February received some trying problems from January, it remedied forty-nine of them,some form of definite relief being provided for that number of families. The unsolved problems of the month passed in the trials of March. It is an unending battle with the frailties of heredity, the weaknesses that are too great handicaps in the industrial struggle, plain bad luck and seemingly pure laziness, although the hook-worm may be to blame there. The Charity Organization Society acts as a sort of unofficial health board to treat these community sore spots, through the chances of germ infection, endanger the well-being of every Plainfielder.

In its seeking for funds to carry on this expensive work of visitation and examination, and in extending financial help, the Charity Organization Society, through its board of trustees, has made arrangements with the Musurgia Sixteen for a concert to be given on the evening of March 21 at the High School Auditorium. Miss Paula Crosby, soprano, will also take part that evening.

STATEN ISLAND CLEANERS LOCATED IN NEW QUARTERS

The New Staten Island Cleaning and Dyeing Company has taken possession of its new quarters at 10 Watchung avenue, next to Marchant's creamery, and the business is now being conducted on a scale even better than that which has earned the concern an enviable reputation in this section. The new quarters are modernly equipped with the most approved machinery for cleaning and dyeing, and the company is prepared to handle all orders in a prompt and efficient manner.

The old telephone number, 1913, will be retained in the new headquarters, and the same store manager will be in charge. For some time past the concern has put up with a store too small to take care of its work, and the move was made primarily to give the management a chance to better serve its patrons.

PASTORS TO EXCHANGE.

Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, and Rev. Edward S. Ralston, pastor of the Netherwood Reformed church, will exchange Sunday morning. In the evening, Mr. Broek will occupy his own pulpit and preach on the subject of "Sunday as a Day of Cessation of Daily Work."

OPEN NOSTRILS! END A COLD OR CATARRH

How To Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty! Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffing, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache; no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the sowllen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.—Adv.

C. E. "CAMPAIGN FOR MILLIONS" UNDERWAY

Great Activity Being Shown by Various Societies Throughout the State.

There is great activity being exhibited by the various Christian Endeavor forces of New Jersey, due particularly to the taking up of the "Campaign for Millions." State President John T. Sproull, of Arlington, has the plan of the campaign carefully worked up and is using every effort to influence and encourage the Endeavorers to get into this great advance movement. It is impossible to tabulate the results thus far attained in the "Campaign for Millions." Numerous societies have made creditable gains, but have failed to report these results to the state secretary, Miss Nellie K. Foote, 131 Elm street, Elizabeth, to whom a report should be sent monthly. The societies should realize the importance of sending these reports to Miss Foote in order that some idea of the progress of the campaign may thereby be ascertained.

The State Christian Endeavor officers have been kept extremely busy promoting the work of their respective districts and responding to the many calls for addressing rallies. Much credit is due the state vice-president for the southern district, J. William Weiss, of Woodbury Heights, for the Christian Endeavor Congress and rally arranged for the societies of that district, which was held in the First Presbyterian church of Woodbury Heights. W. Egbert Thomas, of Milford, the vice-president for the central district, has been in great demand during the past month, having made addresses in connection with many of the recent rallies, including those of Little Falls, Paterson and Trenton.

Interesting letters of introduction have gone forward from the two new state department superintendents, the Rev. David B. Tomkins, Ph. D., pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, of Princeton, who heads the State Evangelistic department; and the new State Intermediate Superintendent, Miss Nina Rowland, of Clinton. Dr. Tomkins, in his letter, gives many interesting suggestions as to the best methods of promoting the evangelistic work. Miss Rowland is seeking to familiarize herself with the intermediate work of the State, and solicits suggestions and inquiries relative to this important phase of Christian Endeavor work.

The members of the State executive committee are urged to reserve the date of Monday, April 10, at which time the committee will have an important session in the Y. M. C. A., of Newark. Further particulars later.

SEN. WEEKS OPPOSES ARMOR PLATE FACTORY

Washington, March 17.—For the government to attempt to destroy the business of its citizens and put itself into competition with them is without precedent abroad and without excuse anywhere. Senator Weeks, Republican member of the Naval Affairs Committee, said yesterday, in protesting against the proposal under the Tillman bill that the government manufacture its own armor plate for the navy. The bill is being considered by the Senate.

"Such a policy will bring about nothing but disaster," said Senator Weeks. "It will in the end lose us our home market and destroy at one blow the possibility of involving foreign markets."

BELGIAN WOMEN ALMOST DESTITUTE

Governors and Mayors Join in An Urgent Appeal for Relief.

The Commission for Relief in Belgium announces that more than fifty governors and mayors throughout the country last week issued official proclamations urging the public to co-operate with the different state committees of the Commission to obtain clothing and shoes for the three million destitute in Belgium and Northern France.

The officials in their appeal call attention to the dire need of clothing existing among the women and children and set aside different days, to be known as "Buy a Yard of Cloth" days, in order that the merchants and public may concentrate on sales of cloth and shoes for those wholly dependent on the Commission.

Although the public's response to the Commission's winter appeal for $4,000,000 in cloth or money to purchase cloth was generous, the results fell far short of the supply necessary to clothe the three million destitute in the war-stricken countries. The Commission announces that it has purchased and shipped cloth from which, the Commission's textile experts estimate, the Belgians will be able to fashion about 777,850 garments. This number, it is stated, is entirely inadequate to meet the needs.

The Commission is continuing its efforts to awaken the business men and women of the country to a firmer realization of their duties as Americans to ease thees innocent victims of the world's tragedy abroad. In Belgium and Northern France, thousands of women accustomed to the refinements of the well-to-do, have now reached a point where they are without the decencies in linen.

The Camp Fire Girls of America, 70,000 strong, last Saturday started a week's campaign to obtain new clothes for the children. The girls have undertaken a movement, which is nation-wide in its scope and includes other war reliefs, in honor of the fourth birthday of their national organization. "C. R. B." literature for propaganda purposes has been sent from the girls' New York headquarters to the 6,000 guardians in their organization. By their own efforts, the girls purpose to collect or buy individual bundles of new clothing.

ALL IN READINESS FOR TONIGHT'S SCHOOL DEBATE

Plainfield High School's debating team is all ready for its debate with East Orange in the High School auditorium tonight, and an even larger crowd than gathered at the South Side debate is expected to be present and cheer the local speakers in the finals in the Rutgers College Debating League.

The same members as before, including Richard Borden, William Backer, Dickerman Williams, and Olive Lawrence as alternate, will alhold the affirmative side of the national prohibition question of P. H. S., while the East Orange team, composed of W. Irving Harris, Dorothy Baldwin, Harry McBratney and Emma Quackhammer as alternate, will have the negative. The judges will be Henry W. Moore, principal of High Bridge High School; Judge Vosseler, of Bound Brook, and Judge Freeman, of New Brunswick.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Bibbley Wah Used to Carry Around a Pocketful of Seashells.

Listened to What Mermaids Were Saying.

"TELL us the seashells Bibbley Wah used to play with, please, daddy!" cried Evelyn when daddy took her on his knee.

"When her friend, the sea captain, used to visit Uncle Ben's farm every year when he came back from his long voyages over the world he used to give all his big, finest shells to a great museum so that thousands of little boys and girls could see them every Saturday afternoon when they went to visit the wonderful things there. But the tiniest, the loveliest colors and the oddest shapes he used to keep in a little jeweled box for the niece of his best friend, little Bibbley Wah."

"Oh, daddy, please tell us the kinds of shells!" cried Jack.

"First of all, there were two huge conch shells—you remember the Tritons used to blow conch shells for trumpets—that Anne used to keep on the top steps by her kitchen door. She always claimed that she could hear the waves roaring in them when she shut her eyes and put one up to her ear. One of the things Bibbley Wah liked to do best of all was to sit on Anne's doorstep in the sunshine and, with a huge conch held to her ear, listen to what the mermaids were saying."

"Oh, daddy, please, we want a conch shell!" cried the children.

"But the shells Bibbley Wah carried in her pocket were like little bits of enchanted lands. There were tiny purple and white ones bent over like breakfast buns, small yellow and gray ones like snails' shells, green and white twists, smooth as satin; mottled cones that stood up on one end, spiny ones that looked like bristling baby oysters and delicious pink pendants fit for a queen's earrings. Some were shaped like a razor blade, and some were long and pointed as a knife. These punched holes in Bibbley Wah's pocket and took lots of Anne's time to mend it. Then there were dozens of different kinds of snail shells—browns and reds and yellows and purples. Every little while Bibbley Wah used to come upon a charming bit of red coral, branches and twigs that the waves had worn off from the reefs that bordered the strange lands her friend, the captain, used to visit. And rainy days Hank Fritz would bore little holes through shells of the same kind so that Bibbley Wah might string yards of them on a waxed silk cord."

"What good times Bibbley Wah always had! I wish she lived near us, daddy," said Evelyn.

"You can hold a conch shell to your ear and hear the tropical sea murmur, the way she used to," daddy comforted her.

So she ran off to bed, happy.

Household Hints..

FOR THE CHILDREN.

To make for the children "Brownies and Fairies" use oyster crackers or tiny square, unsalted soup crackers. Run them in the oven a moment to make fresh, then decorate with daube of different colored and flavored frostings made from melted fondant, or the French kind made of powdered sugar, and a little hot water. Fruit juices may be used to moisten the sugar, and it gives a delightful flavor. The chocolate ones are Brownies and all the others are Fairies. Bonbon boxes of these candies may be acceptable gifts to the children's playmates.

GRAPEFRUIT SEEDS.

The prettiest kind of a "greenery" for the dining room table is made by planting the seeds of grapefruit, sowing them very thickly. In about a fortnight, if the earth has been watrede daily and kept in a warm place, the tiny shoots appear; in another fortnight the leaves begin to unfold and soon there is a mass of rich, glossy green, which is affected by gas or furnace heat, as so many of the delicate ferns are. This will outlast a dozen ordinary ferneries, and it has the added virtue of being inexpensive.

MAGIC POLISHING CLOTH.

This is a fine, handy thing for brightening up silver and does away with the muss and dust of powder. Dissolve half cup shaved white soap into a cup of hot water, and when this is cold stir in three heaping tablespoonfuls powdered whiting and a few drops of ammonia. Stir into a smooth jelly. Lay this jelly on clean pieces of flannel, let the cloth absorb all that is possible, and dry. A quick rub with one of these cloths will remove all tarnish.

LEFT-OVER MEATS.

An excellent and novel way to use up left over meat is to make a meat roll. Sift two cups of flour twice with three teaspoons baking powder and one of salt and chop into this two tablespoons lard and one of butter; moisten with milk (about half a cup) and roll out about half an inch thick into oblong shape; spread with chopped cooked meat well seasoned and moisten with stock. Roll up like a jelly roll, brush over with milk and bake in moderate oven (shape like a fish). Serve with a thickened brown gravy or tomato sauce.

THE TABLE.

Panned Oysters—Pick over oysters to remove bits of shell. Wash quickly in cold water, drain on sieve; put into saucepan with tablespoon butter for each twenty-five and a dash of salt and pepper. Cover pan and shake over hot fire until edges ruffle and oysters are plump. They may be served on toast.

Southern Sweet Potato Pie—Sweet potato pie is very good and a fine way to use up some of the left-overs. Mash four good-sized sweet potatoes, adding a small piece of butter, one egg, and half a teacup sugar. Add small half teaspoon each of following spices: cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves, and one tablespoon molasses with one-fourth teaspoon soda. Mix ingredients together and use sweet milk to form a rather thick batter. Bake with one crust only. This amount will make two pies of good size. Salt to taste.

Nettie's Brown Bread—Two cups buttermilk, one heaping teaspoon soda, one teaspoon salt, one cup sugar, one-half cup baking molasses, two cups graham flour, two cups white flour. Makes two small loaves. Fine for lunch sandwiches.

Oatmeal Cookies are practical for children's school luncheon. One cup sugar, one cup shortening (half butter and half lard), two eggs, ten teaspoons sweet milk, half teaspoon soda dissolved in milk, pinch salt, one nutmeg grated, two cups flour, two cups rolled oats, one cup raisins cut in halves, half cup nut meats. Roll thin, cut moderately large and bake slowly. Perfectly delicious; will keep for weeks.

Hamburg Steak With Dressing (new)—To four good slices of bread moistened with a little boiling water, add one egg; stir together, after which add one pound Hamburg steak; season (to taste) with salt, pepper and sage or one small onion chopped fine, just as you prefer. Make into cakes and fry. You will find this an improvement over the old way of preparing Hamburg steak.

To Renew Velvet—Brush thoroughly, sponge on wrong side. Place hot iron, handle down, in small grape basket, and hold velvet tightly with both hands while drawing it back and forth across iron until dry. Velvet will be like new.

Marrying for Money

BY MRS EVA LEONARD

Marian and Dudley Spend an Evening at Home.

"You have not been at home a single evening since I came, except the night of the party and one Sunday for an hour or two. Must you go to the store this evening?" Adelaide Blakely stood in the hall where Dudley had come for his hat—after supper. Marian was on her way to her room, where she spent the evening supposedly at her studies. She leaned over the banister and listened for Dudley's answer.

"We are busier in the evening than any other time. Father works at the books, you see——"

"I'm off, Dudley. Going now?" said Jacob Townsend, opening the outside door. He had been sitting on the porch for his breath of fresh air, and as the evening had a tang of frost in the air the door had been closed.

"Can't Dudley have an evening off, J. C.?" asked Ortrude, coming into the hall. "He has not been at home since Adelaide has been here. It is a shame to work young people so hard. Besides we need him here. We are boring each other to death. Aren't we, Adelaide?" Ortrude looked archly at her young cousin.

"Oh, I never could truthfully say you every bored anybody, but we would like an addition to our little society."

"Oh, we can get along for an evening if something special is going on," said Jacob kindly. Dudley was too much in the limelight to signal to him his desire to get away. Marian clenched her fist and rushed up to her room. She did not stay there long, however, but came to the parlor with black brows to witness all that passed.

"I believe I will ask Tupper to build a little blaze on the hearth. It would be cheerful and it is cold enough so we would not suffer with the heat," Ortrude was saying as she entered.

"I'll get the wood. Tupper is busy with the dishes." Dudley rose and left the room, followed by Marian.

"Don't look so black, Puss. We must make the best of this and try to have a good time this evening," said the boy, trying to dispel the gloom from the girl's face.

"Why did you stay?" flamed the girl.

"Oh, come, Marian, one can't be a bore. Join the group and try and forget your grouch." Dudley's tone was irritated.

"You wanted to stay and be with that—— Blakely girl," finished the girl lamely, turning on her heel and going to the kitchen.

Dudley collected some light pine and returned to the parlor without another word.

When Marian sauntered in a little later Ortrude said: "Oh, are you going to favor us with your company this evening, Marian? We do not often have that pleasure." The words were polite, but the tone said unmistakably that the increase in numbers was anything but welcome. Marian pretended not to hear and dropped into a seat by the fireplace where Dudley was working, happy in the thought that she was putting a spoke in the wheel of their plan at least. Dudley felt ashamed of her uncivil gloom and exerted himself to make the evening go off pleasantly. But the gayety was forced and all were glad when the evening was over. Ortrude said to Adelaide when they were alone:

"If that hateful little minx, Marian, had stayed away we should have had a good time. I wanted to box her ears."

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure and Eat Less Meat.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water, and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twings of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

GUARDED BY HER DOG, WOMAN FOUND DEAD

Her Home Plundered, and Foul Play Is Suspected.

Jersey City, N. J., March 17.—Guarded only by her pet fox terrier, the dead body of Mrs. Emilie Kurtz, a widow, seventy-five years old, who lived alone in a two story cottage at 325 New York avenue, was found lying on her back in the kitchen by her pastor, the Rev. Frederick Brekinski, a Lutheran clergyman. It is suspected that she may have been murdered by burglars. He was passing the house and saw a newspaper under the door knob and, knowing that Mrs. Kurtz always took it in early, thought she might be ill. He questioned a neighbor next door, who said that Mrs. Kurtz had not been seen since Wednesday.

Finding the front door of the cottage locked, the clergyman went to the rear of the house. The door there was closed, but unlocked. As he opened it he saw the woman's body on the floor fully dressed, except that she wore no shoes. One stocking had been pulled down to the foot, as though some one might have been searching for money. The dog lay near the body.

The police were notified, and Captain Albert Cummings and his men began an investigation. They found all the bureau drawers on both floors of the cottage had been opened and ransacked. They learned that Mrs. Kurtz possessed a good deal of property, real and personal, but kept no large amount of money in the house.

Dr. Edward Matthei of 102 Bowers street, Jersey City, was summoned. After an examination he said there were indications of a stroke, but that death might have come from another cause. A discoloration was found over her right temple. County Physician King ordered an autopsy performed.

So far as known Mrs. Kurtz had no children, but nephews, nieces and a brother-in-law live in Jersey City.

FARMS FOR EX-SOLDIERS.

Canadian Pacific Railway to Set Aside 1,000 Western Tracts.

Montreal, March 17.—One thousand farms will be set aside in western Canada by the Canadian Pacific railway for the use of soldiers disbanded after the European war, according to an announcement made by Lord Shaughnessy.

The farms will be ready for occupation in the spring of next year. They will be grouped in colonies, with appropriate military names. A general instruction farm, under a competent agriculturist, is part of the scheme.

Picturesque Franciscan Missions Which Are To Be Restored In Time for the Celebration of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the City of San Antonio.

WHEN one speaks of the old Missions of the United States, those of California are supposed to be meant, yet wherever the Spanish explorer went and left settlements there you will find these monuments established through the heroism and self-sacrifice of the Spanish padres who founded and maintained these Missions for the spread of the Christian religion.

Texas was first under Spanish control and later passed under the dominion of Mexico. In the southern or southwestern part of that great State may be found still existing evidences of the old Spanish rule and customs and not the least interesting of those are the Missions located a short distance from the delightful little city of San Antonio. Because of the climate in this section the place of the Missions was known in the early days as the Valley of the Heart's Delight, and here the Franciscan Fathers came two hundred years ago with a Bible in one hand and a sword in the other, battling against heavy odds to establish the Christian religion in this wilderness. The climate was not unlike that of Mexico and the good padres decided to establish their headquarters at San Antonio.

The Alamo.

Their first Mission was the Alamo, now known in history because of its being bathed in the blood of patriotic Texans during their struggle against Santa Anna in 1836. The horrors of the besieging of this handful of Texans who were in the Alamo by an army of from three to four thousand Mexicans and the brutal killing of Colonel James Bowie, who was at the time ill with typhoid fever, and one hundred and eighty-two others, is too well known to need repetition here, suffice to say that the Alamo is one of America's most venerated shrines, for the heroism of these men ranks with that shown at Thermopylae and in the charge of Balkalava. This building stands in the heart of the city and is fairly well preserved. Visitors are shown the room in which Bowie was lying ill at the time of the fight and told how the Mexican soldiers raised him on their bayonets and carried him around the room while his life blood ran in streams over their shoulders; the great pillars behind which the Texans took refuge and fired at the Mexicans; the old doors with the marks of the sandbag barricades used and many other interesting things.

In the early days the building was known as the Mission San Antonio de Valero, and its erection is said to date back to 1716. It was not regarded by the Franciscans as their most successful Mission nor is its architecture as graceful and picturesque as many of the others. It was the siege of March 6, 1836, which makes it famous. The other Missions are different in many ways—they are larger and have finer carvings, but at present, with the exception of one, they are massive ruins.

Now comes the news that these sacred churches are to be restored as a complete rehabilitation of the edifices is a part of the program of the committee who is in charge of the celebration of San Antonio's two hundredth anniversary. Cardinal Gibbons has already expressed himself as in favor of the restoration, and recently in speaking of the Texas movement to this end, the eminent divine declared: "They honor themselves in honoring the memory of these men." These old ruined churches, while not as well known as those of "The King's Highway" of California, are quite as large and in one or two instances more beautiful than those of the Golden State.

Vandalism.

Like the Missions of California, they were built for protection, for scholastic purposes and for worship. There the good priests gathered together the Indians and in addition to teaching them the religion of Jesus Christ, the arts of husbandry and useful trades; they sheltered the traveler and helped those who were beset by the savage tribes. During the eighteenth century the Texas Missions were busy places and, according to the records, were visited by many Spanish officials, but today they are silent and deserted, falling to decay and suffering from the vandalism of thoughtless tourists who have in some instances carried away whole statues and wrecked splendid old carved cedar doors by chipping off pieces of the wood. Besides this, hundreds of names have been scribbled on the walls, adding to the shameful desecration of some of the most magnificent and sacred relics of our land.

Mission Concepcion.

The Mission Concepcion is the best preserved of all with the exception of the Alamo. The Concepcion was commenced in 1716 and completed in 1731. At first it was a simple structure of wood for the Indians knew nothing even of wood structure at that time, and when the priests assisted by the soldiers started to erect the log Mission the Indians crept up and gazed in wonder at the work. Finally they asked permission to help and this was encouraged by the priests. The padres had little to offer as a wage, but the Indian was easily satisfied—a piece of red cloth, a few beads or a colored picture was eagerly accepted as a day's wage. Finally, when the big shack was finished and mass was said before the altar, the Indians listened in wonderment. Then they were eager to learn more of the Christ, so it came to pass that the good fathers taught them trades as well as religion as the great stone edifice will attest. Even in this present day the building of structures like the Concepcion would be no easy task without the aid of skilled labor and machinery. There everything had to be done by hand and without the assistance of machinery except of the most primitive kind. The Mission is built in the shape of a cross, with the towers forming two wings at the foot of the cross. In the rear is a big Moorish dome entirely different from the usual architecture of Missions. Over the doorway are words which translated into English read—"With these arms be mindful to the Mission's Patroness and Princess, and defend (or vindicate) the state of her purity." Above this there is a knotted scourge of St. Francis carved into the stone. Each of the towers have belfries and at their bases are rooms about eleven feet square, the one on the right being used as a baptistry and one on the left as a vestry. The upper stories of the towers each have four lookout windows of plain Roman arches. The walls of the church are about four feet thick and in the early days were frescoed with red and blue with bits of yellow. This has nearly disappeared, yet the whole outer aspect of the church, rising as it does out of a wilderness of brush, fills one with a sense of delight. Inside, the stone roof of the Chapel with its series of arches and central dome is massive but plain. In each wing of the cross are altar places, and in the west end is the choir loft. The east Chapel has been partially restored and there is a figure of Our Lady of Lourdes back of the altar. After its restoration in 1887 the Chapel was rededicated to this particular saint. There are cells, cloisters, and many chambers in the Mission proper, but these have fallen to decay and are the home of bats and owls. About the middle of the eighteenth century the Mission Square enclosed about four acres, while the brothers of the Mission owned about one hundred acres outside.

During the fight for the independence of Texas the Mission was used for the quartering of troops. This was in 1835, and again in 1849 after the Mexican war.

San Jose.

The Mission of San Jose, familiarly known as the Second Mission, was founded in 1718. It is the most beautiful of all on account of the exquisite carvings on the facade, its Moorish outlines and its classic windows. The draperies of the figures of the Virgin and Saints chiselled in stone are done with such skill as to resemble the filmy lace of a bridal veil. There are Sacred Hearts, cherub heads, couch-like canopies and wonderful cornices. The greater part of the carving is the work of the Spanish artist Huicar, who devoted many of the best years of his life to the work. The lines of the Mission are a joy forever to the lover of art and its windows with their graceful curves and beautiful carvings are in exquisite taste. The south window of the baptistry is considered by art connoisseurs as "the finest gem of architectural ornamentation existing in America today." Unfortunately even this has not escaped the vandals. A part of the Chapel still stands and has been decorated in gaudy style by the Mexican women who live nearby. Two or three old dust-covered pictures said to be scenes from the life of St. Joseph hang on the wall.

In 1859 several Benedictine Fathers from Pittsburgh came to the Mission for the purpose of restoring it, but before much had been accomplished the Civil War came on and the project was abandoned.

Capistrano.

The Mission San Juan Capistrano is named in honor of Santa Giovanni di Capistrano, a friar of the Franciscan order. It is now a moss-covered ruin. Typically Spanish in construction, it stands out like some ancient ruin of sunny Spain. Even the roof of the Chapel is gone and the frescoes have been ruined by the rain. At the south end there is a small sacristy where a few of the statues and bric-a-brac of the old days are preserved. The pillars and columns show a decidedly Moorish caste in both shape and coloring. Curious figures of boys playing on musical instruments are carved over the doors—one, a violin player, is the best preserved, being frescoed in color. The Mission has a tower, and in the middle arch there was a bell. The structure dates back to 1731.

Espada.

The Mission San Francisco de la Espada was commenced in 1716 and completed in 1730, and dedicated to St. Francis, the founder of the Franciscans, called Espada or sword. Tradition tells us that the old tower of the Chapel was built in the form of a hilt of a sword and that the imagination of the founders supplied length to the blade to complete the similarity to the whole weapon. This Mission is the least attractive of them all and seems to have been a sort of fortress as there are holes for both cannon and muskets in the walls. The parts which have been restored show Moorish shapes and lines, although it in no way compares with the San Jose Mission. Mexican families live in dilapidated huts near the Mission Square—a place made historic from the fact that this spot was the first camping ground of the Texan Army of Independence, and it was here that Stephen F. Austin joined the troops as commander-in-chief upon his escape from Mexico. All the Missions had large granaries and other food storehouses. The walls of these buildings were several feet in thickness and so well constructed that it is almost impossible to pull them down.

Experts All, Aboard Our Warships, Instead of the Jacks-of-All-Trades of Former Years -- Tars That Know One Thing and Know It Well -- Uncle Sam's School for Specialists.

Copyright, 1916, by The International Syndicate.

GONE, gone for all time is your jolly naval tar who was in literal truth a jack-of-all-trades, who could do carpentering as well as he could splice a rope and who could solder a pan as readily as he could furl a sail. The versatile sailor man of yore has been succeeded—at least upon our warships—by the naval specialist. It is a most important phase of preparedness, although, withal, a phase that was inaugurated without waiting for the present European war to disclose its need.

Seamen—able seamen they always are in stories—are about as scarce these days on a highly organized floating fortress as unskilled laborers are in an automobile plant. The modern warship has no sails and there are ingenious burden bearers for doing the heavy work such as hoisting aboard ammunition and lowering away boats, so that you see there is really small need for the old-time handy man who sailed before the mast. But in her new status of a gigantic machine shop, the modern battleship has need of no end of men who know how to manipulate metals; who can quickly repair any mechanical device and who know as much about the magic current and liquid fuel and compressed air and internal combustion engines as the old-time tar did about wind and wave and the swaying topmast. Hence, exit the hero of the clipper ship; enter the skilled artisan who has his work bench below the water-line.

Opportunities of This Era.

But don't get the idea that because Uncle Sam requires all these canny craftsmen to keep the wheels turning in his new dreadnaughts he is in the habit of going into the open field of industry and saying to the butcher, the baker and the candlestick-maker: "You must give me your best men, because I need them in my business of preparing for war." Not a bit of it. On the contrary, Uncle Sam is training his naval specialists. And just here is found the explanation of why this new era of naval specialization is an era of opportunity for America's young men.

Turning the United States navy into a great free technical school is the principal reason why desertions are few in number in the Navy these days and why it is that the Navy is now recruited up to its full strength with a "waiting list" that will make a rush to get in if Congress gives the expected word to enroll ten thousand more men.

Free technical school, did we say, too? Well I should say so, and then some. "Pretty soft" many a young man is tempted to say when a young man finds that he can not only be taught an electrical or engineering profession free of charge, but that a kindly somebody is actually going to pay him for his time while he is learning. That is precisely the situation though, in our Navy. Uncle Sam not only provides his apprentices with board, lodging, clothing, medical attendance and a certain amount of free amusement, but he goes a step farther and pays them a comfortable wage.

Uncle Sam, Technical Schoolmaster.

It is one of the really big things of the age, the work Uncle Sam is doing in coaching the mechanical and electrical specialists of our new navy. It should perhaps, however, be emphasized just here that the Government has no enthusiasm for the idea of attempting to make experts out of absolutely green material.

The officials realize that most of the young men who are sawing and hammering and soldering and installing electrical conduits aboard a "peacemaker" flying the Stars and Stripes have not taken up the naval vocation as a life work. They expect them to return to civil life after a time, and they are well content to proceed on that basis, but perhaps for that very reason the naval authorities do not undertake to make a specialist out of a recruit unless he has had some little experience in the trade he inclines to take up, or at least displays exceptional aptitude in that direction.

If a newcomer in the navy does qualify he is detailed for a course of instruction at one or another of the technical schools which have been established by the Navy Department—a system of schools which proves how thoroughly Uncle Sam has gone into this very important sort of preparedness. Any electrician by trade who can pass the examination for entrance to the Navy as a "general electrician" can have a course of instruction at one or the other of the Navy electrical schools, located at Brooklyn, N. Y., and Mare Island, Cal., and if he knows the Morse code and has a smattering of knowledge of telegraphy there is no reason why the new recruit should not, if he choose, specialize in radio work—work that is mighty profitable in this wireless age.

Or, if a young man expects to make his livelihood in the building trades or as a building contractor and has the good sense to know that his best start is under the guidance of Uncle Sam he can attend the Navy Artificer School at Norfolk, Virginia, where he will spend from three to six months learning to be a carpenter, a blacksmith, a painter or a plumber. Of course, Uncle Sam teaches the respective trades with an eye, always to the work to be performed on shipboard. The young carpenter doesn't spend any time learning how to build picket fences, but he does spend time learning how to calk seams in wooden decks and how to repair boats, spars and oars. The naval blacksmiths in the making give much attention to shackling and unshackling chain; the painters learn how to paint ships, etc.

Homely Pursuits of Some Naval Specialists.

Here we have been chatting as though the specialists that now make up the majority of the 1,000 men on a modern battleship were all mechanics and electricians and the like, when, as a matter of fact, there are others who are worth of their hire for all that they have nothing to do, directly, with keeping the ship and its intricate mechanism in fighting trim. A ship might be compared to a big manufactory; the machine shop is important but so is the office. Following that train of thought, we might go down into the bowels of the armorclad and find at work over books and typewriters a group of men that the average citizen never associates with warship routine. These naval specialists are known as men of the Yeoman Branch, but in civil life we would speak of them as clerks and stenographers, correspondents, accountants and paymasters. Alike to the other naval specialists they qualify for their duties at special schools located at Newport, Rhode Island, and San Francisco, Cal.

Then there are the men of the Hospital Corps who are specialists if there ever was a specialist, and to show how complete is this network of specialists aboard a warship it may be mentioned in passing that each ship has its Pharmacist or Chief Pharmacist. We tap our feet when the ship's band plays on deck or on shore, but we do not stop to think that every man, from the bandmaster to the drummer, is a specialist and must be recognized as such or he would not have his position.

Even the homely household pursuits are glorified by specialization on the up-to-date warship. No wonder, for it is no slight task to satisfy hundreds of star boarders, their appetites whetted by the sea air. A Naval chef has a numerous corps of assistants, each of whom specializes in one line just as do the members of the culinary corps of a big hotel and paralleling the cooks in importance are the bakers—bakers that are not only proficient in ovening bread and pies, but can, upon provocation, produce confectionery that would make a hit in a fashionable girls' boarding school.

Gun Play By Specialists.

Specialization is universal in the U. S. Navy, these days, but in this brief summary concentrated effort in many different directions we have, I fear, been putting the cart before the horse if such a simile can be employed in connection with a maritime topic. Presumably the chief business of a fighting ship is to fight and yet we have been neglecting that phase of the subject. But never fear, the theory of specialization holds good here, too. If there ever were specialists worthy the name they are the mighty gunmen who point and fire the big barkers of the battleship fleet. For nerve and skill and precision, your diamond-cutter nor your steeple-jack nor yet your military aeroplanist has anything on the men who stand behind the guns in the battleship turrets and whose trigger fingers must be trained to make due allowance for the rolling and pitching of the ship that serves as a portable gun platform.

In gunnery of all pursuits it would appear that the way to learn to do a thing is to do it. Well, Uncle Sam subscribes to that theory, as witness the time and ammunition expended every year in naval target practice. But on top of that the Government maintains a technical school for gunners just as there are provided, as has been explained, technical schools for the grooming of naval electricians and machinists and artisans. The School for Seamen Gunners is located at Washington, D. C., in order that our marksmen in the making may have an opportunity to pursue their practical studies in the great Naval Gun Factory where the shooting irons for our warships are manufactured.

Learning From the Inside Out.

It is not the mere theory of gunnery that our premier naval specialists learn during this six months in the gun shops. They learn the construction of the guns that they are later to clean and repair and fire and they learn it from the inside out not from the outside in, as do so many modern repair men in all lines. To appreciate the force of the logic that applies in this matter of gunnery just ask a dozen motorists who they prefer to have tinker around their cars when adjustments are necessary. Eleven out of the twelve will express a strong preference for the factory-trained mechanic who "knows the car" as no one can but a man who has had experience in building and assembling its various parts.

Precisely the same thing holds good of gunners in the U. S. Navy. The worth of a $10,000,000 dreadnaught depends on the efficiency of her gun crews. To make sure of that efficiency and to make that efficiency well grounded the picked men chosen to handle the big guns are not allowed to take posts of responsibility until they have spent half a year on probation "in the factory." Here they take a hand in the making of guns of all calibres; they grow accustomed to taking down and reassembling the most delicately adjusted pieces of naval ordnance; and they gain an intimate knowledge of ammunition, rounding out their schooling with a post-graduate course at the nation's big smokeless powder factory at Indian Head, Maryland.

When a gunnery specialist has been "through the mill"—nothing about a big gun, not even the intricate breech mechanism has any terrors for him. He has the whole subject at his finger tips, and he needs it, for upon him and his fellows devolves the task of keeping the guns aboard ship in repair. If, during target practice, a spring or a bit of mechanism breaks, these factory-trained specialists must be able to go into the ship's shops and forge, finish and install a new piece. Other naval specialists might be enumerated, but these are the principal ones. In conclusion, however, a passing word of recognition should be given to the torpedo specialists of the Navy—like the gunners, factory trained. Torpedoes will play an important part in the next war, as they have in the present, and it is comforting to know that the Navy has men who specialize with respect to these cigar-shaped messengers of destruction, even as other men specialize on submarines.

GIRL INSTANTLY KILLED BY TRAIN

Had Taken Short Cut Down Central Tracks.

HAD LETTER FOR FRIEND

Was Advised to Take Longer Route by Way of Main Street, but She Turned Off at Railroad, Saying She Could Look Out For Herself.

Somerville, March 17.—Laughing at the warnings of girl friends, Florence Hotell, fifteen years old, took a short cut to deliver a message by walking down the tracks of the Central railroad. She had proceeded about 100 feet when she stepped out of the way of a westbound coal train into the path of the Harrisburg express. She was killed instantly.

For the past three months Florence had been employed in the tobacco factory of the Somerville Stripping company. She had been given a letter to deliver to a friend, Mrs. John Henderson, on First street. Several of her girl friends advised her to take the longer route by way of Main street, but she turned off at the railroad, saying she could look out for herself.

The express was stopped, and the crew carried the girl's body to a tool house, where it remained unidentified for about thirty minutes. Then friends of the girl returning to work learned of the fatality.

Girls in Guatemala.

None of the maidens in Guatemala are allowed to go abroad from their homes without the company of a chaperon, and a lover is only allowed to come and court his sweetheart through the heavily barred windows of her father's home. After they are married they pass along the streets in Indian file, the woman marching ahead, so that the husband can be in a position to prevent any flirtations.

WANTS TO LIVE IN PLAINFIELD

One New Citizen Attracted Here by Reading Daily Story.

ASKS REALTY PRICES

Offer of New Jersey Central for Publicity Campaign Already Bringing Results—Meeting to Consider it Tuesday Night.

Already one citizen of another State has been "almost persuaded" to come to Plainfield through the advertising offer made by the New Jersey Central Railroad to local commercial organizations, and all that is necessary to secure the new taxpayer is a little follow up work on the part of local real estate men.

The circulation of The Daily Press is directly responsible for his having been attracted to this city, and a letter was received in The Press office this morning asking for prices on real estate here and other information concerning this city and section. His name is Edwin A. Carkin and he lives on R. F. D. No. 1 out of Manchester, New Hampshire.

Mr. Carkin read in the Vineland Evening Journal, of Manchester, an editorial reprinted from the pages of the Daily Press calling attention to the offer of the New Jersey Central to give one dollar for each one spent by local commercial organizations in advertising the city, and urging that it be immediately accepted by the Board of Trade, the Chamber of Commerce, the Business Men's Association and all other organizations, the ostensible purpose of which is to make Plainfield a bigger and better city. His letter follows:

"The Plainfield Press:

"Dear Sirs: I am intending to make a change from here to a milder climate. I have become quite interested in Southern New Jersey and any advertising matter or information in regard to this part of the State would be greatly appreciated by me. I am sending you a clipping from the Vineland Evening Journal. I intend to purchase about five acres of good land and build a bungalow. What are the prices on land in or near Plainfield suitable for the poultry business and gardening, and will you please send me by return mail, if possible, a sample copy of the Plainfield Press and advertising rates? Thanking you in advance for the favor.

"EDWIN A. CARKIN,
"R. F. D. No. 1,
"Manchester, N. H.

"I have become interested in Plainfield through reading this editorial in reprinted in the Evening Journal."

The proposition of the New Jersey Central has not yet been accepted by local organizations. President Newcorn, of the Board of Trade, has issued a call for a mass meeting of business men to be held in the Council Chamber in the City Hall on Tuesday evening of next week. All who are interested in the development of the city are invited to attend and take part, irrespective of their affiliation with any of the local organizations. The purpose of this meeting is to decide whether or not the railroad offer will be accepted and if favorable action is taken to form plans for a publicity campaign for Plainfield. The letter of this morning indicates tha a little publicity properly directed would bear fruit.

ASKS BOROUGH POLICE TO FIND HER HUSBAND

Mrs. Edith Dauber, of 77 Chatham street, has asked the borough police to assist her in looking for her husband who has been missing for over a week. The missing man has been an inmate of the State Hospital at Trenton. For a week or so prior to his disappearance he had been acting queerly and at one time he made the unusual request that his wife take him back to the hospital at Trenton. On Friday night, March 10, Mrs. Dauber and her daughter had occasion to go out. They left Mr. Dauber in the house alone and when they came back he was gone. The missing man left the house with a cap but no overcoat. Fears are entertained that he may have drowned himself. The Daubers have resided in the borough for about two years.

SEND BOYS BACK TO JAMESBURG REFORMATORY

John and F. Sweeney, both boys, were this morning sentenced by Judge De Meza to go back to Jamesburg Reformatory. The boys have been on probation there for some time, and their mother here has admitted that she cannot control them. Police Chief Kiely will take them to Jamesburg this afternoon.

DR. ANDERSON'S THEME.

The one hundredth anniversary of the death of Bishop Francis Asbury will occur tomorrow, and Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, will devote his sermon to this topic. Dr. Asbury was the first bishop in the Methodist church. Rev. Dr. Charles Mitchell, former pastor, now in Cleveland, will occupy the local pulpit Sunday, March 26.

VON BETHMANN-HOLLWEG.

Reported That Imperial Chancellor Will Follow Von Tirpitz.

Retirement of Imperial Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg may follow the resignation of Admiral von Tirpitz, whose submarine policy of "frightfulness" he opposed so vigorously. This information comes from Geneva in a dispatch to the London Daily Express based on Berlin reports. Prince Bernard von Buelow, former chancellor, is scheduled to leave Lucerne soon and return to Berlin. There is a likelihood of his taking a high place among the kaiser's advisers.

ATTRACTIVE PROGRAM FOR CHARITY CONCERT

Popular Numbers Will Be Given by Musurgia Sixteen at High School.

The program of the concert to be given by the Musurgia Sixteen for the benefit of the Charity Organization Society on the evening of Tuesday next, March 21, at the High School auditorium, has been received by the society and proves to be a most interesting one. It is the same program which was given by the Musurgia Sixteen recently before the Brooklyn Institute and at Columbia University. It is popular in its nature and includes, as will be seen, a number of very familiar glees. The program follows:

Part I.—Hymn before Action, Walford Davies (words by Rudyard Kipling); The Comrades' Song of Hope, Adolfe Adam; Carry Me Back to Old Virginny (incidental solo by Mr. Rose); Lullaby, Brahms; At Dawn, Cadman; Sweet Miss Mary, Neidlinger (Mr. J. McKinley Rose); O World! Thou Art Wondrous Fair (Miss Crosby and the Musurgia Sixteen); On the Sea, Dudley Buck. Part II.—Winter Song, Bullard; Stars of the Summer Night (first performance), John Erskine; Oft in the Stilly Night; Laddie, Thayer; In the Time of Roses, Reichardt; Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes, Old English; Like the Woodland Roses, Mair; Interrupted Serenade, Haydn (Mr. White, Mr. Trench and Mr. Thomas); Hie thee, Shallop! Kucken (Miss Crosby and the Musurgia Sixteen).

SUDDEN DEATH OF WILLIAM BAGLIN

Grandson of Capt. W. C. Smith passed Away at Noon in Hospital at Portsmouth.

William Conover Smith Baglin, son of Mrs. F. U. Wagner, of Rahway, and grandson of Captain and Mrs. William C. Smith, of Grandview avenue, the borough, died at noon today, in the Naval Hospital at Portsmouth, Va. Word of his death was conveyed by telegrams reaching this city this afternoon. The body is to be brought north and the funeral will be held in Rahway, although the details have not been arranged at this time.

The death of the young man came as a great surprise to his local relatives as he had been sick only about two weeks with kidney trouble. He was in his nineteenth year and was in the United States Naval Service as a hospital apprentice in the institution where he died. He was to have been graduated the coming June. Mr. Baglin was born in the borough and resided there until he was twelve years old, at which time his mother removed to Rahway. He had a wide circle of friends here and news of his death will be received with deep regret, especially the young folks who were his classmates in the North Plainfield schools. Beside his mother and grandparents, he is survived by his wife, his marriage having taken place at Newport News, Va., last September. Mrs. Baglin was a southern girl but resided a part of the time at the summer home of her parents in Bar Harbor, Maine.

BORO COUNCIL RECEIVES BIDS

Offers for Fire Engine and Remodeling of Headquarters Come in.

WORK NOT AWARDED

Chairman Stahl Will Make Recommendations next Monday Night—Local Plants are in Competition for Fire Apparatus.

Bids for a new combination chemical and hose wagon for the Borough Fire department and for the remodeling of fire headquarters so as to make of it a central building for all borough offices, were received by the Council of North Plainfield at the meeting last night. The bids were not gone over by members of the Council, but were referred to the fire committee, of which Councilman Julius J. Stahl is chairman. Mr. Stahl announced that he would be ready to report at the special meeting of the Council to be held next Monday night, at which time both contracts will probably be awarded.

Local bidders were prominent in the competition for the new fire engine. In addition to bids from local agents of cars, there were offers from the Mack Motor Car Company and the International Motor Company. Edward Craig, of the Reo agency, was ready to submit a bid for his company, but entered the Council chamber a few minutes past 8 o'clock, and after two bids had been opened, so he was refused. Mr. Craig's bid was approximately $2,400, or lower than any of those submitted.

The bids were:

Kissel Car Company—fifty horsepower wagon, $5,500; sixty horsepower wagon, $5,750. An allowance of $750 on either bid for the wagon and horses now in use was proposed.

American-La France Fire Engine Company—$4,500. Allowance of $1,000 for old wagon and horses.

Mack Car Company—$3,250. Allowance of $750 for old wagon and horses.

International Motor Company—$4,200. Allowance of $1,200 for wagon and horses.

The bids of the Seagraves and Aaron-Fox companies were rejected because they were not accompanied by certified checks to assure good faith, as stipulated in the advertisements.

Bids on the remodeling of the building were as follows:

Charles Shook, $1,111; William Krausse and Son for plumbing, $350; Tallamy Brothers, $1,080; William H. Kirsch, $1,132; Allen B. Laing, electrical work, $107; George Hubbard, $1,059; Walter C. Chandler, plumbing and heating, $398; Henry H. Apgar, electrical work, $147; George J. Furgeson, $999.90; Van Zandt and Dorenger, plumbing and heating, $407; Arthur E. Smith, iron work, $772; W. C. Smith, $1,081; Luthman and Hansen, painting, $280; Woolston and Buckle, painting, $215.

EVANGELISTIC WORKERS FORM A CORPORATION

Articles of incorporation were filed this morning at the office of the county clerk in Elizabeth by the Plainfield Evangelistic Association. According to the papers, the purposes of the organization are "Charitable, educational and carrying on a campaign for the moral and spiritual benefit of the people of Plainfield and vicinity." The incorporators named are William D. Murray, George H. Ritenhouse, Richard Stevens, George H. Hall, Charles M. Anderson, Augustus V. Heely, John H. Manning and Joseph W. Gavett.

PYTHIANS PLAN FOR THEIR ANNUAL BANQUET

Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, Knights of Pythias, at its regular meeting last night completed all plans for the annual Pythian banquet to be held in the Kandy Shope on East Front street next Friday night, March 24. The committee announced that Assistant Corporation Counsel Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., who has been a member of Perseverance Lodge for many years, had accepted an invitation to act as toastmaster. The speakers' list will include DeWitt C. Cobb, of Trenton, one of the most prominent Pythians in the State; Supreme Representative William D. Quick, of Somerville; former Prosecutor Frederick A. Pope, of Somerville, and possibly Past Grand Chancellor Commander Harry Keeler, of East Orange. Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring will offer the invocation and an orchestra will furnish music.

Past Grand Chancellor Commander John Ulrich, of New York, for many years a Plainfield resident and one of the earliest members of Perseverance Lodge, was present at last night's meeting. He is at present the editor of the Pythian Record, the official K. of P. paper.

COLDEST MARCH 18.

Weather Prophet John Neagle reports today to be the coldest March 18 since the same date of 1900. At that time it was 2 above. Today is is 5 above.

ALL IS QUIET ON MEXICAN BORDER

Trouble at Tampico is Only Temporary—Villa Sets Fire.

Villa Burns a Bridge.

El Paso, March 18.—Villa's followers have burned a railroad bridge 250 feet long on the Mexico Northwestern Railroad between Summit and San Pedro, Chihuahua.

The bridge was directly in the line of advance of General Pershing's main expeditionary force, which started from Columbus and would strike the railroad at Guzman, forty miles north of Corralitos. It was close to Corralitos that Villista troops murdered five Mexican ranchers on Sunday and drove off their horses.

Washington, March 18.—Conditions along the border were quiet with the exception of some temporary trouble at Tampico. Reports from all sections of Mexico show that no anti-American feeling has been aroused.

Washington, March 18.—A report that the United States Navy will take part in the Mexican campaign shortly was circulated in official circles this afternoon. Secretary of War Baker and Secretary of the Navy Daniels held a long conference. Neither would discuss it afterwards. It was believed that plans for the navy aiding in putting down the disorder at Tampico were taken up. Five hundred marines left Philadelphia today on the transport Hancock for Pensacola, Fla.

MORMON COLONY SAFE.

El Paso, Texas, March 18.—American soldiers reached Colonia Dublan today according to a dispatch received here. Villa passed this point several days ago on his way southwawrd. Another dispatch received here today stated that the Mormon colony at casas Grandes which was threatened by Villa bandits was safe.

LARGE ATTENDANCES AT PRAYER SERVICES

Thirty-seven Meetings Held Throughout City and Borough Last Night.

Amid all that is being done to prepare for the tabernacle meetings to be held in the city by Rev. William E. Biederwolf, begining Sunday, April 9, the most important place is held by the prayer meetings now being conducted in so many homes on each Tuesday and Friday evening.

Last night was no exception, for in thirty-seven different houses scattered over the city and borough groups of people were spending the half hour from 8:15 to 8:45 in prayer. The attendance varied from ten to over fifty depending somewhat upon the location of the meeting place.

Among pastorswho led meetingsere were the following: Revs. E. S. Ralston, J. M. Hare, C. W. F. Attlee, Lewis Bond, C. M. Anderson, B. S. Hudson, C. E. Herring and J. Y. Broek.

The meetings last evening report a splendid interest on the part of those present. More and more the time is being found too short for the prayers that are waiting to be spoken. In some singing was a feature, the songs that are prayers being used. It has been suggested that as the number of meetings increase, the telephone be used to invite attendance. Next week the number of meetings will be increased and it is hoped that before Dr. Biederwolf comes one hundred meetings a week will be held.

HUGH FOX REMANDED TO JAIL BY PITTSBURGH JUDGE

Pittsburgh, March 18.—Federal Judge Thompson yesterday dismissed the writ of habeas corpus on which Hugh F. Fox, of Plainfield, secretary of the United States Brewers' Association, was recently released from prison and remanded him to the Allegheny county jail for contempt of court.

Fox had refused to answer questions put to him by the grand jury investigating the alleged political activity of the United States and other brewery associations.

MAUDE ADAMS' MOTHER DIES IN SALT LAKE CITY

Salt Lake City, March 18.—Mrs. Annie Adams Kiskadden, mother of Maude Adams, the actress, died here last night. Miss Adams was at her bedside.

ARRESTED IN BRUNSWICK FOR LEAVING WIFE HERE

Max Shapiro, formerly of Plainfield, has been arrested in New Brunswick on request of Chief Kiely. He is wanted here for deserting his wife and children. The local police will send for him today.

P. H. S. DEBATERS OUT OF CONTEST

Eliminated From State Meet When They Lost to East Orange.

ODDS AGAINST THEM

Federal Prohibition Question Again Subject—McBretney Wins for Visitors After Other Speakers Have Broken Even.

The odds were against the Plainfield High School team last night in its debate with the East Orange High School on the question: "Resolved, That a Federal law prohibiting the importation, manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors should be enacted, constitutionality conceded," and after a very closely contested meet, the decision of the judges granted the visitors the right to compete in the finals of the Rutgers College Debating League, and at the same time eliminated the local High School from the race. An even larger audience than heard the South Side debate gathered in the High School auditorium, and it was not until the decision of the judges was announced that Plainfield's supporters gave up hope of seeing the locals win.

Taken speaker for speaker, the two teams seemed to compare about evenly, but in the rebuttal speeches the earnest, convincing and clear manner in which Harry McBretney summed up his team's arguments and refuted those of his opponents turned the tide of victory slightly toward the visitors.

Speaking on the affirmative, William Backer, in making the opening speech of the debate, followed a brief outline of the points to be brought out by Plainfield by mentioning specific instances where local option and state prohibition had failed. He showed, after each of these cases, wherein they could be successful under national control. W. Irving Harris was the first to speak in the negative, and in so doing made it known that the main argument to be used by East Orange in presenting their views would be that the passing of a law making national prohibition legal would be the taking away of another pillar of democracy and making a more centralized government. Going back to the time of colonial days, he spoke of the rebellion of the American people at the laws made by Britain when they concerned the people individually. And so, he said, was the liquor question one for each individual, and therefore to be handled by local option.

Charles D. Williams, the second speaker for the affirmative, enlarged upon the theories and arguments advanced by his colleague and in so doing attempted to disprove the opinion that Kansas and other "dry" states were better by being dry than before being so, and gave as one reason for this that in all cases the state was bordered by a "wet" state and so it was an easy matter to trans-

K. OF C. ARRANGE BIG "PREPAREDNESS" MEETING

Under the auspices of Westfield Council, Knights of Columbus, a "preparedness" meeting will be held in the Westfield High School on Wednesday night, March 22, at which time a number of well-known speakers will address the gathering. Among them will be William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, who is a member of the Naval Advisory Board. Knights of Columbus councils and civic bodies from all nearby towns and cities have been invited and are expected to attend.

Among the specially invited guests will be Paul H. Burns, State Warden H. P. Greenwood, of Plainfield, and Andrew E. Kenney, of North Plainfield, all members of Watchung Council, K. of C., of this city. Mr. Saunders will be introduced by Mr. Kenney and there will be remarks by State Deputy John F. O'Neil and other members of the Knights of Columbus.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY HELD ENJOYABLE CARD PARTY

The women's auxiliary of the Plainfield Elks' Atlantic City Reunion Committee held a very enjoyable card party at the home of Mrs. P. E. Wisch, of Myrtle avenue, last night. Sixty persons in all were present, most of them members of the Elks and their wives. "500" was enjoyed in progressive form and at the conclusion of play twenty prizes were awarded the best players. Dancing and refreshments were enjoyed in conclusion.

The house was attractively decorated for the occasion with the Elks' colors, purple and white, and large and small playing cards strung about in fantastic fashion. Mrs. Wisch was assisted in arranging and conducting the affair by Mrs. W. R. Causbrook, Mrs. Robert Gow, Mrs. A. E. Force and Mrs. George Westcott.

PARENTS OF A DAUGHTER.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert J. Johnson, of Clinton avenue, are the parents of a baby daughter who arrived at their home yesterday afternoon.

RECRUITING THE ARMY.

Lags in East, but Chicago Reports 1,000 Applicants Within Two Days.

Eastern army recruiting, to bring the army up to the limit of 140,000 authorized by the house of representatives, is slow, but the west and middle west report many applicants. In Chicago more than 1,000 men applied for enlistment in two days.

URGE IMPROVEMENT OF GREEN BROOK

Plainfield and Boro Councils Co-operate in Petition to Freeholders.

Committees from the Plainfield and North Plainfield Councils are to take up with the Freeholders of Union and Somerset counties, the matter of widening, cleaning and straightening Green brook, in an effort to have this work done at once. At last night's meeting of the Borough Council, Messrs. Smink and Graves appeared as a committee from the Plainfield body to urge co-operation in the movement.

Councilman Smink explained to Mayor Smalley and members of the Council that the brook was now a nuisance to citizens of both town and borough, and that the matter was one that should be handled by the Freeholders. The brook is clogged by obstructions brought down from the mountains, he said, and if proper influence is brought to bear it can be cleaned and straightened so as to help make the two communities beautiful.

Streets in both town and borough are damaged by the overflow of water at regular intervals, declared Councilman Graves, and the nuisance has existed long enough.

Mayor Smalley pledged the hearty co-operation of the borough in the movement and will appoint a committee to work with that from the Plainfield Council at an early date.

MRS. ROBERT M'MASTER LAID TO REST AT LEBANON

The body of Mrs. Mary MacMaster, wife of Robert MacMaster, of 612 Meadow street, Elizabeth, was buried in the cemetery at Lebanon, Hunterdon county, yesterday afternoon, in the presence of a gathering which included a number of relatives and friends from Plainfield. Mrs. MacMaster died in the Elizabeth General Hospital, Tuesday afternoon, shortly after she was stricken with apoplexy on the street. She was on her way to attend the funeral of Robert C. Maurer, which was being held in Turn Hall, on High street. She was seen to reel, and passers-by sprang to her assistance, afterward calling an ambulance and having her removed to the hospital.

Mrs. MacMaster was a native of Lebanon, but resided in Plainfield for many years previous to her removal to Elizabeth. She was twice married, her first husband being the late Isaac Shepherd, of the borough. Beside her present husband, she is survived by one daughter, Miss Catherine Shepherd, of Elizabeth, and three sons, John A. Shepherd, and Fred MacMaster, of Elizabeth, and Robert MacMaster, of East Fifth street, this city. There are also three sisters and two brothers living in this vicinity. They are Mrs. Margaret Ziegler, Mrs. C. S. Fritz, Mrs. Herbert Oyer, Marcus and Peter Allen Fred Shepherd, of 212 East Fifth street, was a stepson. The body was conveyed from Elizabeth to Lebanon by automobile yesterday, and the funeral party was joined here by the local relatives and friends. The funeral service was held at the late home on Meadow street, Thursday night.

ENDS 52 YEARS IN PULPIT.

Five ministers were placed on the retired list at yesterday's session of the New Jersey Conference of the Methodist church held at Asbury Park. One of these was the venerable Rev. J. F. Heilmann, who is 75 years old, and who has given fifty-two years of his life to the ministry. In all that time there were only twenty Sundays when he did not preach.

SEE PEACE, SAYS FRENCH MINISTER

End of Horrible War Not Far Off—Decisive Hour Has Been Reached.

ALL QUIET AT VERDUN

No Infantry Attacks Last Night—Germans and Bulgarians Fortify Danube in Readiness for War With Roumania.

New York, March 18.—A despatch from Paris quotes Minister of Finance Ribot as saying:

"We have reached the decisive hour. We can say without exaggeration, without illusion and without vain optimism that we now see the end of this horrible war."

M. Ribot made the statement in the Chamber of Deputies Friday night, while discussing the financial and military situation.

Peace Conference Talked Of.

London, March 18.—A news agency announced today that Premier Asquith will be asked in the House of Commons next Thursday whether the government will participate in a conference of all the powers to discuss peace terms.

Few Died on Tubantia.

London, March 18.—According to latest reports there undoubtedly were some casualties as a result of the disaster to the Holland Lloyd passenger steamship Tubantia early Thursday morning, says a Reuter dispatch from Flushing. Men from the crew who have been landed by Dutch torpedo boats say that the vessel was struck amidships in dense darkness. The explosion was so terrific that some of the lifeboats on deck were shattered.

Contrary to the testimony given by most of the passengers, Mr. Schilling, one of the passengers, stated that it was his impression that the vessel was sunk by a mine.

Brigantine is Sunk.

London, March 18.—The British brigantine Willie has been sunk in the Atlantic near Valentia Island, off the west coast of Ireland. Its crew of seven men was saved.

Cannon Roar at Verdun.

Paris, March 18.—The War Office announced today that no infantry attacks were made last night in the Verdun region. There was intermittent cannonading.

Steamer Sinking off Holland.

Amsterdam, March 18 (Wireless).—S. O. S. calls coming from a steamer near North Hinder lightship were picked up today by the station at the Hook of Holland. This is almost the identical spot where the Turbantia was sunk. Boats have gone to the assistance of the disabled vessel.

Moewe Gold is Deposited.

Berlin, March 18.—One million marks ($250,000) in gold, brought back to Germany by the Moewe, has been deposited in the Reichbank pending decision by a prize court as to its disposition.

Fortifying the Danube.

Athens, March 18.—An army of 100,000 Bulgarians and an army corps of 40,000 Germans are now concentrated on the Roumanian frontier. The work of fortifying along the Danube continues feverishly.

France Signs With Denmark.

Copenhagen, March 18.—A commercial agreement has been signed between France and Denmark similar to that signed last November between Denmark and England.

ARRESTED FOR HERE BUT ESSEX WANTS HIM FIRST

Richard Dunbar, who is wanted in Plainfield on a charge of deserting his wife and children, cannot be brought back for trial until Essex county authorities have tried him on a more serious charge. Police Chief Kiely learned recently that Dunbar was in Irvington, and asked the police there to arrest him. They did but after the man was in their custody it was found that he was wanted there on a charge of seduction. He is now being held on a $5,000 bond. Chief Kiely has lodged a complaint against the man and will get him when Essex county authorities have finished.

SECRETARY BAKER OFF FOR VACATION ALREADY

Washington, March 18.—Secretary of War Baker will leave for his home at Cleveland late today on the first vacation he has taken since he became a member of President Wilson's cabinet. He will remain away until Tuesday.

Automobiles Sold On Time.

A little cash, mostly monthly payments, regular rate of interest no extra charge, immediate delivery. Come and see us or telephone 1731 and our representative will call. Stryker's Garage, next to station.—Adv. 1 27 tf eod

COMMITTEE OF FIFTY TO TAKE A RELIGIOUS CENSUS

Plans for taking the religious census of Dunellen and New Market on the afternoon of Sunday, March 26, are being perfected by the committee. It is proposed to include in the canvass all of the families on Green brook road on the north to Landing bridge road on the south, Rock avenue on the east to Conover corners on the west. This territory will be divided into sections for the convenience of the canvassers. The canvassers will work in companies of two, two canvassers taking a street or as many homes as they can canvass in the time allowed. It is estimated that it will require about fifty people to make the canvass.

The Methodist and Presbyterian churches will make the canvass of the territory north of the Central Railroad track and the Episcopal First Baptist and Seventh-Day Baptist churches will take the territory south of the Central railroad. Any one who is willing to assist in this work by furnishing an automobile for use in the outlying district will be a great help to the work, and if such, we will notify the superintendents of their respective sabbath schools. Their kindness will be greatly appreciated by the committee having the matter in charge.

LOCAL BUILDING COMPANY PREDICTS A BIG BOOM

The National Land and Building Company, which is developing the Equator tract, has had the cellar of a house to be erected on Dunellen near Schwartz place excavated. Walter Clawson has been awarded the contract for the mason work. The contract for the carpentery work has yet to be given out. The houses will contain seven rooms and will have all improvements. It is the thirty-ninth house to be erected on the Equator tract since the company purchased the tract three years ago.

Samuel Schwartz, the president of the company, is highly pleased with the success met by the concern in this borough. Speaking of the outlook for the future as concerns the local realty market, Mr. Schwartz said yesterday that with the completion of the borough's sanitary sewerage system within the next few month, the town should grow faster than ever, for it will then have all modern improvements. "Right now," Mr. Schwartz said, "my company has more demands for homes in Dunellen than it can fill, and we plan to erect fifteen houses this year."

The company made two sales within the past week. A house on Dunellen avenue, near Sanford avenue, has been sold to the receiving teller of the Chelsea Exchange Bank, of New York city, who will move here on April 1, and a house on the corner of Front street and Sanford avenue has been sold to John Stevens, of Plainfield, who will take possession around the first of the month.

FUNERAL SERVICE OF MRS. A. H. RIKEMAN HELD

The funeral of Mrs. Annie H. Rikeman was held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Rene P. F. von Minden, yesterday afternoon. The service was in charge of the Rev. T. E. Vassar, pastor of the First Baptist church. Numerous floral tributes evidenced the esteem in which the deceased was held. Two hymns, "Jesus, Savious, Pilot Me," and "Then We Shall Know," were sung by the Misses Edith Giles and Bertha Nelson, accompanied by Miss Hazel Piddington at the piano. Burial was at the Middlesex Hillside cemetery. The bearers were Harry Piddington, C. M. Haight, Stanley Day, Foster Sofield, W. F. Mets and William L. Coriell.

Mrs. John Biggs has the grip.

Willard Tomlinson, son of Harry Tomlinson, has taken a position in the Union Pacific Tea store.

Miss Ethel Conover is spending the week-end at Whitehouse visiting her parents.

Mrs. William F. Mets is on the sick list.

Ellis Dunn has been laid up with eye trouble.

Benjamin Williams has given up his position at the Gabrielle and Schall plant.

RETURNS FROM HOSPITAL.

Frank Stillwaggon, who broke his leg five weeks ago yesterday at the Harris, Silver & Baker plant, was brought home from the Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday in one of H. E. Nelson's taxis.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold a dime conundrum tea at the home of Mrs. Ella Kennedy at 2 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Edward Maurer is visiting relatives in Canada.

Mrs. Clarence Vliet has returned from a visit of a week with her sister at Swedesboro. Her daughter, Miss Margery, who went there about a month ago, following a protracted illness, has been greatly benefitted.

A letter received by Miss May Kelly from her sister at Newport News, Va., contains the information that there is a movement on foot in that place to open the schools on Saturday.

William Mitchell has secured a position at Scott's Press Works.

Clifford Clark, of Trenton, has secured a position at Hall's and is boarding in the borough.

Fred Doyle moves April 1 from the house on North aveune which George F. Giles recently sold to Louis Boudis, to the Dr. Platt house at 37 Front street.

SUBSTITUTE TEACHER.

Miss Helen Disbrow, who has been substituting as teacher in the Lincoln School for Miss Edna Hardcastle, of Somerville, during the past month, returned to her home at Matawan yesterday afternoon. Miss Hardcastle, who has been ill, will resume her duties Monday.

Mrs. William H. Clum is ill again.

Adolphus Hoffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoffman, has the grip.

John P. Faber, who underwent an operation three months ago, has returned to work in New York city.

Former Postmaster Peter Staats will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Robinson, of Newark, tomorrow.

MISS CAMERON TO LEAD.

Miss Beatrice Cameron will lead the Presbyterian Y. P. S. C. E. meeting tomorrow evening. Her topic will be "Getting Power from Our Pledge." This is honorary members' meeting, and all former as well as present members are urged to be present.

FUNERAL OF INFANT.

The funeral of William G. Mackey, Jr., the month old son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Mackey, who died Thursday morning after an illness of three weeks, was held last evening at the home, the Rev. E. R. Brown, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial was at Paterson.

Miss Mildred Barrett has taken a position as stenographer in the office of E. E. Waller's garage in Dunellen.

ILL WITH MEASLES.

William H. Cater and family have the measles. Mrs. Harry Olmstead and four children are ill with the same malady.

O. Z. T. FRATERNITY DANCE.

The only dance held in the borough last evening in honor of St. Patrick was that of the O Z. T. Fraternity, which was held in W. G. Holton Hall. The hall was appropriately decorated with green crepe paper. A dozen couples were present. All were in full dress. Dancing lasted until midnight, when refreshments were served. The Criterion Orchestra, of Elizabeth, furnished the music.

Scotch Plains, Fanwood

William Traynor, the South avenue blacksmith, ahs been detained from his business for the past two weeks by illness.

Miss Evelyn Clark, of Bath Beach, N. Y., is visiting Miss Dorothy Hoar, of Martine avenue.

Eugene Lidgate is spending the week-end at his home in the borough from business in Philadelphia.

ST. PATRICK'S SOCIAL.

A St. Patrick's Day social has been arranged by the members of the Willow Grove church for Monday night in the chapel. A program to entertain all has been arranged and a good time is expected.

"PREPAREDNESS" HIS SUBJECT.

The Rev. J. Madison Hare, pastor of the Baptist church, will speak Monday night before the Men's Club of Florham Park, a Newark suburb, on "Preparedness." Mr. Hare is well qualified to speak on the subject as he served as chaplain through the Spanish War and Philippine insurrections, and is past chief chaplain of the United Spanish War Veterans.

TO GIVE A PLAY.

A meeting of the All Saints' Guild of the Episcopal church was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. P. Robinson, of North avenue, to work for the church building fund. The society may possibly give a dramatic playlet in the Fanwood firehouse in the near future and help swell the fund.

REALTY TRANSFERS.

The most recent local realty transfers are as follows: J. Ackerman Coles to William Hoagland, lots 12, 14, 15, 16, part of 13, block E on map of Baptist church; Zana A. Lockwood et al to Emilie Albert, lot 15, map of section 6, Fanwood; H. C. Lockwood Company to Fanwood Realty Company, plots 4-5, block 39½, block 42, map of section 4, Fanwood; Alexander McCauley et eux. to William F. Ward, et al., lot 3, block E, map belonging to Baptist church, Scotch Plains.

GOES TO NOVA SCOTIA.

Guy Saunders, of the Valley road, has left for Halifax, Nova Scotia, where he has taken a position on the drydocks. The shipping of war materials to England has boomed that city's foreign trade to such an extent that men to handle the goods on the docks are at a premium.

MISS LEE ENTERTAINS.

Miss Sadie Lee entertained a party of friends from Plainfield and other neighboring places at her home on Front street last night. Cards, music and dancing were enjoyed and at a late hour refreshments were served.

OUR CITIZENS DEMAND

Fully Complied With—A Plainfield Resident Furnished It.

There are few items which appear in this paper more important to Plainfield people than the statement published below. In the first place, it is from a citizen of Plainfield and can be thoroughly relied upon. In the second place, it indisputably proves that Doan's Kidney Pills do their work thoroughly and not temporarily. Read this carefully:

Mrs. S. Driscoll, 540 West Front street, Plainfield, says: "I had a dull pain across the small of my back and in my sides that clung to me constantly, and any hard work made me worse. I was subject to headaches and dizzy spells, especially when stooping or lifting, and I felt weak and run down. I tried plasters and other medicines, but nothing helped me until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's Drug Store. They made a lasting cure."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Driscoll had. Foster-Milburn Co, Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

JUNIORS ARE DEFEATED.

The Parish House junior basketball team went to Plainfield last night and were trounced on the T. A. B. S. court by the Inner-Triangles of that place, after a close and fast game, by a score of 11 to 19. As the locals were without the services of Dearman and Saunders, Manager Southard thinks another tilt with the regular lineup in action would result differently and so is trying to arrange another game for the Parish House court.

The Mt. Pleasant basketball team is scheduled to appear on the Parish House court tonight to play the first team.

Fred Saunders, of the Valley road, is enjoying a trip to the West Indies.

PARISH HOUSE FORUM.

Another interesting meeting of the Parish House Forum that will be of interest to all local taxpayers will be held in the Parish House tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. It is under the direction of the Township Committee, and the subject under discussion will be "Sanitation." Dr. F. W. Wescott, president of the Township Board of Health, and also a member of the Borough Board of Health, will be one of the speakers, and it is probable that some of the Township officers will also have a few words to say.

BAPTIST SERVICES.

Services will be held at the usual hours at the Baptist church tomorrow, and the church stage will leave the Borough postoffice corner a quarter of an hour before the Bible School session at 9:30 and the morning service at 10:45. The Rev. J. Madison Hare will preach at the morning service on "God's Possibilities and Our Impossibilities," a vital subject for the times. The Junior Society will meet with Mrs. E. Johnston in the afternoon, and at the Young People's service at 7:45 in the evening. Mrs. T. C. Bodine, of Plainfield, will be in charge, with "Getting Power out of a Pledge" as her topic.

The Rev. Oscar S. Michael conducted the usual Lenten service in the Episcopal church yesterday afternoon.

Captain S. B. Saunders, of the Valley road, is on a business trip to Canada.

MISS SPRIGGS ENGAGED.

S. Dana Townsend, superintendent of the local schools, has engaged Miss Mildred Spriggs, of West Orange, to fill the vacancy as teacher of the B sections of the second and third grades in School No. 1, caused by the resignation of Miss Mildred Stiles.

Watchung.

There will be a special service at the Wilson Memorial church tomorrow morning, in connection with the communion service. Mr. Ramsay, the pastor, will have charge, and will preach. In the evening, Richard L. Kortkamp, of Hillsboro, Ill., will preach in the stead of Mr. Davis, as was announced. Mr. Ramsay will conduct the young men's Bible class.

An interesting Christian Endeavor meeting was led last evening by Miss Marie Hahn, secretary of the Plainfield Christian Endeavor Union. Her topic was "The Causes of Failures In Life." A solo was rendered by Douglas W. Demler. At the conclusion of the Campaign Prayer Circle all enjoyed a social hour. The committee served refreshments.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the North Plainfield Improvement Society held a St. Patrick's dance in the Improvement Hall last evening. The hall was decorated in green. Music was furnished by Squire's orchestra. The committee in charge were the Mesdames Margaret Griffiths, Otto Steffens, Harry B. MacDonald and Miss Marietta Cass.

Miss Dorothy Neal, of Fairview avenue, who has been very ill with typhoid pneumonia, is improving.

Mrs. George Stites has been removed to the Muhlenberg Hospital.

William Gorgon, who has been ill for several months, is improving.

Maxwell Underhill, who has been confined to his home with the measles, is improving.

P. H. S. OUT OF CONTEST

port liquor into the State just the same. Miss Dorothy Baldwin, the only girl speaker of the debate, went back, as did McBretney, to the time of the colonies, in her effort to show that the liquor question was local and not national. Things as great in consequence as the liquor question should, she said, be started from the bottom and worked gradually toward the top. She maintained that it was only by thoroughly educating and familiarizing each individual concerning the evil that it would ever be eradicated. No matter whether national or local, she continued, the question would have to be submitted to the vote of the people before it could become either; and as a result, it was imperative that the start, at least, should be made individually.

Richard Borden, the last Plainfield speaker, summed up the arguments of the two speakers for the affirmative that preceded him and wove them together by additional views and theories. He suggested arguments that might be advanced by the negative and refuted them, in the course of which he laid special stress on the fact that as an evil effecting the whole country it should b dealt with nationally. Russia, Ireland and Finland he mentioned as cases where national prohibition had proven successful and he also made note of such questions as diseases and other matters that had become controlled successfully by national law. Harry McBretney, too, in closing the negative side of the question for his team, drew the arguments solidly together and touched lightly on several new ones. Taking the main East Orange argument—that national prohibition would mean lessening the democracy of the people, he concluded the East Orange side of the negative by attempting to show where states' rights would be infringed on by such an amendment to the constitution.

In the rebuttal speeches, Harry McBretney took the platform for the visitors. Touching only lightly on the arguments advanced by the affirmative, he said that the bringing of Russia, Finland and Iceland into the questions as examples of national prohibition was out of the question, as besides being entirely different in form of government, Russia's move was solely taken as a war measure. Richard Borden made an excellent address in presenting Plainfield's rebuttal by appearing to knock the props from nearly all the East Orange arguments, and when he finished the two teams, as well as the crowded audience, waited in a silence that was tense with pent-up excitement for the judges' decisions to be read.

The judges in the debate were Harry W. Moore, principal of High Bridge High School; Judge William F. Vosseller, of Bound Brook, and Judge Freeman Woodbridge, of New Brunswick. The debate was conducted by Harold F. Biddle, a member of the High School faculty.

RECREATION NOTES

The West End Community Center will hold a business meeting in Washington School, Monday evening next at 8:15 o'clock, after which Henry Crofut White will give an address on Honolulu, for which all members are expected to be present.

The dancing class under the direction of Miss Marion Snyder will be held in the Auditorium.

The Glee Club is requested to assemble at 7:45 p. m. for a rehearsal, prior to singing at the regular meeting.

The game room as usual will be open, for pool and other games.

All of the above activities are under the supervision of chairmen of the Community Center, assisted by Miss Lillian Lamson, the never tiring supervisor, who will be pleased to meet new members desiring to avail themselves of the pleasures to be had at Washington School.

DR. HUDSON TO PREACH.

"Confession and Experience" will be Rev. Dr. B. S. Hudson's theme at the morning service in the Park Avenue Baptist church, tomorrow. In the evening he will preach on "Turning the World Upside Down." The Volunteer Bible Class appointed by the superintendent will make a special effort for a 100 per cent. attendance.

At All Soul's church tomorrow morning the Rev. John Baltzly will speak on the second of the subjects announced for the Sundays in Lent on "The Things That Are Gracious."

FORTY FRIENDS GIVE MISS WALSH A SURPRISE

Miss Helen Walsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Walsh, of Madison avenue, was given a surprise party by forty of her friends last night, the affair being in the nature of a farewell previous to her entering the training school for nurses at the McKinley Hospital, Trenton. The young woman had no previous intimation of the gathering but after the first "shock" had passed over, she entered into the spirit of the evening and helped in conducting an informal program. Vocal and instrumental music were features and supper was served in conclusion.

Miss Walsh received a second surprise after everybody had expressed individual goodbys when Joseph Sullivan, of Elizabeth, presented her with a beautiful gold watch. He explained that it was the gift of all her friendns and well wishers who believed that it might be useful to her in her training course. Miss Walsh made an appropriate response. She will leave for Trenton, Monday, to enter upon her duties.

The surprise was arranged by Jeremiah Walsh, Jeremiah Callahan, Miss Catherine Leahy, of this city; Miss Helen Sullivan and Joseph Sullivan, of Elizabeth. The friends gathered at Miss Walsh's home while she was out and it was not until she had returned she realized how she had been "victimized."

BOROUGH POLICE GIVE ITALIAN "THIRD DEGREE"

August Puski, arrested by Chief Weiss this morning, is being put through the "third degree" by the borough police, who desire to ascertain the identity of three Italian, who, with Puski, pounced on another Italian in front of Feaster's Hotel, at 5:30 last evening. The man who was assaulted managed somehow or other to escape from his assailants. His identity is not known. The assailants also made themselves scarce when they saw somebody enter police headquarters to apprise the police what had happened. Puski was arrested by Chief Weiss on information which he obtained late last night.

TO BUILD BRIDGES.

The Freeholders of Union and Somerset counties met at the Westervelt avenue and Terrell road bridges this morning and decided to replace these bridges with new plate girder structures with concrete floors. The engineers of the two counties have been instructed to prepare the plans for the new structures, which will cost in the neighborhood of $7,000.

At noon the Freeholders sat down to a sumptuous dinner at Feaster's hotel. On Monday, the Somerset county Freeholders will hold a joint meeting with their Middlesex county colleagues at Kingston to decide on some county road work.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

Burton Mulford, son of M. T. Mulford of 48 Duer street, is quietly celebrating his thirty-fourth birthday today. Burton was born in the city of New York, but ever since he was one year old he has lived in Plainfield, and during this eriod he has never paid a visit to the city of his birth. When told of the elevated, the subway and the buildings which appears to touch the sky, Burt's eyes open wide with incredulity. For the past eight years Burt has been a faithful employe of the Lincoln market, and today he is performing his duties as usual.

HOLY CROSS PREACHERS.

Rev. E. O. Ferris, of St. Michael's church, New York, will preach at the Church of the Holy Cross, North Plainfield, tomorrow, at 11 and 7:45 o'clock. Rev. Herbert Shipman, of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, will be the special Lenten preacher on Thursday night, March 23, at 7:45 o'clock.

DANCE IN BOROUGH.

Owing to the fact that two dances were given in the borough the night before, the dance conducted by "The Three Pals" in Saengerbund Hall last evening was not well attended. The music for the dancing, which was in progress until a late hour, was furnished by Halfoerster's orchestra of Elizabeth. "The Three Pals" are Jacob Schlick, Herman Theis, Jr., and Lawrence Schlick.

PASTORS WILL EXCHANGE.

Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, and Rev. Edward S. Raltson, pastor of the Netherwood Reformed church, will exchange at the 11 o'clock service tomorrow morning. Each pastor will occupy his own pulpit in the evening.

MARIA TUOZZO.

Maria Tuozzo, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Tuozzo, of 963 West Third street, died yesterday. The funeral will be held at the parents' home this afternoon, and burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

BIBLE LANGUAGE.

A Revelation of Perfection and Terseness in Speech.

A correspondent called attention the other day to the language of the Bible in describing a windstorm, as an example of concise speech, as follows: "And the winds came from the four corners of the earth and fell upon the house, and it was not." He mentioned it as an evidence of the simplicity and directness of Bible language. And it is well to call attenton to the words and sentences of this grand old book from time to time, for in all literature there is none other more beautiful of diction, more direct or even more poetical than these ancient writings found in the Bible.

Take the opening sentence of the Bible as an illustration, "In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth." That is the whole story told in ten words. You cannot go farther back in time—"in the beginning"—that is all there is to be said upon the subject. A modern writer would probably consume a dozen pages trying to tell when the creation took place and then fail. But in this wonderful old book we have it stated so any one can understand it, and in the only way it could be properly stated—"in the beginning."

But one need not pick out isolated sentences or chapters. The whole book is a revelation of perfection in speech. The writings of Paul, for instance, can be taken as examples of perfect diction. The description of the shipwreck when he was making his way to Rome will stand for all time as the most thrilling narrative of a storm at sea. His appeals to the members of the various congregations with whom he corresponded may be accepted as the best writings we have upon teachings of the Nazarene. The poems or psalms of David, written hundreds of years prior to the time the New Testament was written, are still the choicest bits of sentiment and imagination that can be found, inspiring in their faith and beauty and enchanting in their eloquence.—Dayton News.

BULWER-LYTTON.

His Dandified Dress, Mobile Face and Piercing Eyes.

In his book, "Forty Years of 'Spy,'" Leslie Ward, the artist, recalls that Bulwer-Lytton "had a remarkably narrow face with a high forehead. His nose was piercingly aquiline and seemed to swoop down between his closely set blue eyes, which changed in expression as his interest waxed and waned. When he was interestedly questioning his neighbor he became almost satanic looking, and his glance grew so keenly inquisitive as to give the appearance of a 'cast' in his eyes.

"Carefully curled hair crowned his forehead, and his bushy eyebrows, beard and mustache gave a curious expression to his face, which was rather pale, except in the evening, when he slightly 'touched up,' as the dandies of his day were in the habit of doing. His beau ideal was D'Orsay, and he showed the nicest care in the choice of his clothes. His trousers were baggy as they tapered downward and rather suggested a sailor's in the way they widened toward the feet.

"I can see him now standing on the hearth rug awaiting the announcement of dinner dressed 'up to the eyes' and listening with bent, attentive head to his guests. It was typical of Lord Lytton that he listened to the most insignificant of his guests with all the deference that he would have shown to the greatest. Replacing his hookah (for he smoked opium), he would be silent for a considerable time, watching us out of his odd eyes, and when he spoke it was in a soft voice, which he never raised above a low tone. He told many stories of 'Disra-eel-i,' whose name he pronounced with a slow deliberation."

Orders of British Knighthood.

The titles of the different orders of knighthood are all of a most high and mighty description. The Garter is "most noble," the Thistle "most ancient and most noble" and St. Patrick "most illustrious." The Knights of the Bath are officially "most honorable," the Star of India is "the most exalted," St. Michael and St. George is "the most distinguished," the Order of the Indian Empire is "the most eminent."—London Globe.

National Anthem.

By law there is no such thing as a "national anthem" in this country. Congress has never voted upon that subject. But by popular acceptation the "Star Spangled Banner" has become to all intents and purposes the national anthem. "America" is also very close to the hearts of all real Americans and may well be called the national hymn.—New York American.

Not the Right Brand.

"I must request the congregation to contribute generously this morning," said the Rev. Mr. Smallfee sadly. "My stipend is eight months in arrears, and my creditors are pressing. I, of course, work largely for love, and love, equally of course, is tender, but it isn't legal tender."—London Telegraph.

NOW SWEAR U-BOAT SANK THE TUBANTIA

Officers Declare That They Saw Wake of Torpedo.

London, March 18.—Four persons are now believed to have lost their lives in the sinking of the Dutch liner Tubantia off the Holland coast. They are thought to have been killed either in the explosion which caused the sinking or in an accident which attended the launching of a lifeboat.

With the affidavits made by the Tubantia's officers at Amsterdam it is generally believed the steamer was torpedoed by a German submarine. The men declare they saw the wake of a torpedo just before the explosion occurred amidships.

From details of the sinking of the steamship Tubantia, Lord Robert Cecil, minister of war trade, also expressed the belief that the vessel was torpedoed.

"We recently detained the Tubantia a day or two for the purpose of taking actual contraband from her mails," Lord Cecil said, "but we never sent several hundred sacks of mail to the bottom of the ocean."

Lord Cecil said that he was in receipt of no definite or official reports on which to base his opinion that the Tubantia was torpedoed. He added that he was inclined to believe that the Germans were so determined upon the destruction of tonnage that they will not forego attacking neutral ships to serve this purpose.

WEAVERS' ULTIMATUM.

Hatband Makers Have a Week to Consider Demands.

Paterson, N. J., March 18.—The hatband weavers, who were refused a nine hour day by their employers, went on the warpath and gave the manufacturers one week to consider the demand. At the end of that time they will strike unless favorable action is taken.

At the same time they will start an agitation among all other branches of the silk industry for a joint movement for the nine hour day, which was one of the main objects of the twenty-two weeks' strike in 1913.

GREATER THAN A KING.

The Old Mississippi River Pilot Was a Law Unto Himself.

In that early day to be a pilot was to be "greater than a king." The Mississippi river pilot was a law unto himself—there was none above him. His direction of the boat was absolute; he could start or lay up when he chose; he could pass a landing regardless of business there, consulting nobody, not even the captain; he could take the boat into what seemed certain destruction, if he had that mind, and the captain was obliged to stand by, helpless and silent, for the law was with the pilot in everything.

Furthermore, the pilot was a gentleman. His work was clean and physically light. It ended the instant the boat was tied to the landing and did not begin again until it was ready to back into the stream; also for those days his salary was princely—the vice president of the United States did not receive more. As for prestige, the Mississippi pilot, perched high in his glass inclosure, fashionably dressed and commanding all below him, was the most conspicuous and showy, the most observed and envied creature in the world.

No wonder Sam Clemens, with his love of the river and his boyish fondness for honors, should aspire to that stately rank. Even at twenty-one he was still just a boy—as indeed he was till his death—and we may imagine how elated he was, starting up the great river as a real apprentice pilot who in a year or two would stand at the wheel, as his chief was now standing, a monarch with a splendid income and all the great river packed away in his head.—Albert Bigelow Paine in St. Nicholas.

HUNGRY ALL THE TIME.

In Other Ways, Too, the Earthworm Is a Curious Creature.

Midnight is the favorite play hour for earthworms. To catch a glimpse of them in the daytime you'll have to dig in the earth, which is their home, or watch for them after a heavy rain, when they can be found on top of the ground. But go out any warm night with a lantern, lie close to the ground on a lawn or terrace, and you'll probably see them in abundance.

Probably you've regarded the earthworm merely as a good fish bait and have never taken the trouble to learn his habits. When he's prowling around at night he's usually enjoying a feast on decaying leaves, grasses or animal matter. Before daylight he's back in the ground, burrowing his way in search of more food. His alimentary canal extends from one tip of his body to the other, so it's little wonder he's always hungry.

He has neither ears nor eyes, yet he's sensitive to light, and he knows when night comes just as other creatures with eyes. Another interesting fact is his method of laying eggs. He grows a band around his body like a belt, in which he deposits the eggs. Then he gradually works his way through this belt until he slips it off, when it closes up and forms a capsule to protect the eggs until they are hatched.

Vegetable growers sometimes regard the earthworm as a nuisance. They should be thankful, however, that those of North America are not so large as those in South Africa, where there are earthworms four and five feet long and as thick as a man's finger.—Philadelphia North American.

GERMANS AGAIN BEATEN AT VAUX

Five Infantry Attacks Smothered by French Fire.

TEUTON LOSSES ARE HEAVY

Both Sides Claim Dead Man Hill—German Report Says That Two French Attacks Were Repulsed and That English Mine Blasting Attempts Were Without Success.

Paris, March 18.—The war office announces that, transferring their activities to the east bank of the Meuse, the Germans launched a series of very violent attacks against Fort Vaux and the village of Vaux.

The German infantry dashed forward five times in this region, but each time the French artillery and machine guns drove them back with heavy losses.

The official statement follows:

"West of the Meuse the bombardment diminished near Bethincourt and Cumnieres. After the bloody check to the previous attack the enemy has not resumed his movement on Le Mort Homme."

[Both the French and Germans claim possession of Le Mort Homme, or Dead Man's hill.]

"East of the Meuse a recrudescence of the bombardment was followed by a series of very violent offensive actions directed against our positions at the village and the fort of Vaux.

The German Defeat at Vaux.

"Five successive attacks in large numbers were delivered by the Germans in this region, but without success. Two of them were against the village of Vaux, two others against the slopes leading up to the fort, and the fifth was in an effort to emerge from a protected roadway southeast of the village of Vaux.

"Every one of these attacks was broken by our curtains of fire, and the fire of our machine guns cost the enemy heavily.

"In the Woevre district there is nothing to report further than artillery exchanges in all of the sectors west of Pont-a-Mousson. A surprise attack against a salient of the enemy lines at the wood of Mortmare made it possible for us to bring back some prisoners and to inflict some losses on the enemy.

"The night was calm on the remainder of the front."

Hold Hill, Say Germans.

Berlin, March 18.—The repulse of two French attacks against Dead Man's hill was claimed in an official statement from the war office. The first attack reached the German lines, it was stated, but French troops surviving the German fire were taken prisoners. The second attack was stopped by German artillery.

The official statement follows:

"Six English mine blasting attempts south of Loos were without success.

"Violent artillery duels have occurred in several sections of Champagne and between the Meuse and the Moselle. In the Meuse district the enemy repeatedly pushed a fresh division against the German positions on Dead Man hill. This division is the twenty-seventh used since the beginning of the engagements on this narrow front.

"The first attack was made without artillery preparation as a sudden raid. Only a few companies reached the German lines, where the few survivors were captured. The second advance was stifled by a German curtain of fire."

Germans Losing Heart.

London, March 18.—Cabling from Paris the Daily Mail's correspondent states that since their reverse of Tuesday afternoon at Goose hill, the German forces have shown no desire to resume the terrific infantry attacks which marked the fighting around that point.

This may possibly mean that the battle of Verdun is over and that the Germans have abandoned the task that has proved too costly of trying to capture the famous citadel.

For the first time since the great struggle commenced the French staff is beginning to wonder whether the enemy has arrived at a definite decision to relinquish the Verdun campaign.

General Petain was never more confident of French victory than he is at the present time. Knowing the strength of his own preparations and being aware that the German infantry is much inferior to his own, he is quite willing to give battle whenever the Germans show a disposition to fight. In fact he desires nothing more than that the enemy should continue the tactics pursued at the Douaumont Vaux grapple.

General Castelnau, Joffre's right hand man, whose experience and advice are always at the disposal of General Petain, has no illusions of the fate awaiting the Germans, whatever may be the tactics they adopt.

"We have them fixed," he said the other day, and the latest official bulletins seem to justify his optimism.

Wilson Wears Shamrocks.

Washington, March 18.—President Wilson observed St. Patrick's day by wearing a green necktie and a sprig of Shamrock sent him by John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader. Sprigs of green were worn generally by members of the cabinet and other government officials.

'THE GIRL IN THE MAGAZINE'

Mrs. Morris J. Dumont Will Be a Feature of "Gems" for Exchange Benefit.

ATTRACTIVE COSTUMES

Musical Panorama to Be Given at High School Will Present Many Novelties—Tickets Are Now on Sale.

The second part of the "Gems," which is to be given at the Plainfield High School, Friday evening, March 24, under the auspices of and for the benefit of the Woman's Exchange, has many features. It is a musical panorama and will be given under the direction of Miss Edna E. Colladay, experienced in amateur theatricals.

The second part of the program opens with an ensemble harmony number which displays to excellent advantage the vocal work of the choruses. It also exhibits the effective and picturesque costumes used in the Oriental songs which follow.

Twelve dainty Japanese girls and their dozen sturdy admirers waft one over the seas to "Sail on to Ceylon" with them. One can almost smell the fragrance of the pink almond and cherry blossoms, and see the soft glow of the lanterns as the tiny feet patter through the rythmic and tuneful songs. In this chorus are the Misses Margaret Russell, Esther Brownlee, Lorraine Dunn, Carolyn Slawson, Claire Britton, Ada Woodworth, Elizabeth Greenleaf, Irene Dunham, Elizabeth Swan, Anna Sherwin Mrs. Clyde Doane and Messrs. John Britton, Burnett Doane, John Causebrook, Arthur VanZandt, Harold Williams, James Buckle, Arthur Perrin, Walter Weber, Sewall Ulrica, Philip Schuyler and Clyde Doane.

Then follows a most picturesque and realistic Japanese song, "Geisha Gay," which Miss Helen Besler sings artistically. Miss Marian Marsh and Robert Bellows then execute the "Gems" fox trot with unusual and inimitable grace and skill. Miss Elsie Goddard and Walter L. Righter lead in a most attractive number, "In the Eden of My Heart," one of the director's own compositions, and is worked out with especial care as to harmonic and artistic detail, the chorus throwing out to the audience the flowers they name in the melodious patter chorus of the song. In this chorus are Mr. and Mrs. J. Hartley Mellick, Mr. and Mrs. John Hussey, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Runkle and Mrs. Walter L. Righter.

A tripping little Irish number in waltz time follows, the green-and-white costumes harmonizing with the title of the song, "Katie Rooney." It will bring back a little of other days, when Katie's "mither," "Annie Rooney," was popular. Miss Besler proves in her next appearance that she is quite as artistic, and incidentally can sing just as well and looks equally as attractive as a "shepherdess" in "The Little Damozel," as she did as a Geisha girl. John Britton is her "Lord High Admiral," Burnett Doane her "shepherd boy," and Clyde Doane her lucky "page."

Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" is used in an aesthetic dance number which is one of the most magical scenic effects in the production. Pale pink "flower maids," azure blue "cloud sprites," cool green "water nymphs," calm yellow "moon maidens" and modest violet "rainbow girls" mingle in a harmonious blending of beautiful costumes that delight the eye, while the grace of the dancers charm the mind.

Mrs. Walter L. Righter's beautiful contralto voice is new to Plainfielders, but her excellent rendition of "Honey Babe," a little dialect song, and "June Love," both compositions of Miss Colladay's, will make all hope to near her often. One of the pictorial triumphs of the evening will be Mrs. Morris J. Dumont as "The Girl in the Magazine," and her appropriately and attractively clad chorus, composed of the Misses Ruth Timpson, Monica Sharretts, Helen Shoemaker, Elizabeth Browne, Katherine Bomann, Dorothy Lyon, and Messrs. Warren Butler, Lewis Kniffin, Warren Ackerman, Edward Stevenson, Augustus VanDeventer, Jr., and Brown Rolston.

The director and Mr. Mellick do a quaint old-fashioned minuet and the production closes with an ensemble chorus, "The Triple Alliance of Love." Tickets may be obtained at Miller's drug store at Fourth street and Park avenue.

FRED BARDON OPERATED ON.

Candidate For Madison Postmastership In Critical Condition.

Summit, March 18.—Fred B. Bardon, secretary of the Morris county board of taxation, is in a critical condition in Overlook hospital, following an operation performed at the hospital for intestinal trouble. At the hospital it was said that his condition was low.

Mr. Bardon, who is a prominent candidate for postmaster at Madison and has the backing of United States Senator James E. Martine, has not been well for several days. His condition became so grave that he was rushed to the hospital in an automobile.

Divorce Advised For Newark Woman.

Jersey City, March 18.—Vice Chancellor Stevenson recommended an absolute divorce to Mrs. Grace Martin of 20 Gould avenue, Newark, from Joseph Martin of 42 West Fifty-third street, Bayonne, after deciding that the husband's cruelty caused their separation in November, 1912. Martin was ordered to pay $35 a month permanent alimony.

WM. RUNKLE WILL CASE ON APPEAL

John W. Griggs Argues for Harry G. Runkle in Fight for $2,000,000 Estate.

Trenton, March 18.—In the Court of Errors and Appeals yesterday counsel argued on the four appeals from the decree of the Prerogative Court, construing the will of William Runkle, of Orange, who died on January 31, 1914, leaving an estate of more than $2,000,000, exclusive of his home. The appellants were Harry G. Runkle, George McM. Godley, William R. Smith and Charles P. and Carrie R. Scholfield.

The Prerogative Court, Chancellor Walker sitting, affirmed the construction placed upon the will by Judge William P. Martin in the Essex Orphans' Court. Judge Martin admitted to probate the will and codicil, with the words "William E. R. Smith" omitted and the words "Randolph Rodman" inserted, thereby making Mr. Rodman executor instead of Mr. Smith. The lower court excepted from probate the ninth paragraph of the second half sheet of the will, under which Mr. Scholfield and Carrie R. Scholfield were beneficiaries.

The appeal of Mr. Godley involved particularly the decision of the Orphans' Court in denying permission to submit proof of a copy of a former will of Mr. Runkle, dated April 26, 1911.

Ex-Governor John W. Griggs, representing Harry G. Runkle, who asserted he was the legal executor named in the will, argued that the decedent had removed the first half sheet of the will and substituted another half sheet. The effect of the mutilation of the will, Mr. Griggs said, was to destroy the efficiency of the entire document and operate as annulment, and the cancellation of paragraph nine was done with the specific intention of canceling the Scholfield bequest.

WIVES ARE LUXURIES.

Double Berths Ruled Out In Government Expenses.

Washington, March 18.—Wives are regarded as "luxuries" by the United States government.

A decision rendered by the treasury comptroller to the secretary of agriculture says government employees on public business are allowed only half the expense when they occupy sections in sleeping cars or double hotel rooms. The treasury holds that double berths are not "actual necessities."

"WE DIDN'T DRIVE THE HACK"

A colored gentlemen has just been found in the South who says he is so old that he remembers when George Washington was a boy.

"Do you remember when George hacked the cherry tree?" he was asked.

"Yes sar," was the reply. "Ah was de man what drove de hack."

This old fellow, like many another, lets his imagination run away with his judgment, and the result is, Over-statement.

And Over-statement is high-toned English for a lie.

If Clothiers at times overstate it is a matter of HEAD and not of HEART. They mean well, and in their enthusiasm they really believe "they drove the hack."

But when we say that our new Spring "Things Men Wear" haven't a counterpart in all Plainfield, it is a statement we invite you to look into to see for yourself who is REALLY "driving the hack."

TROOPS NEARER TO VILLA'S BAND

American Soldiers Now Forty Miles Into Mexico.

AIRSHIPS SCOUR COUNTRY

Bandit Chief Reported Between Galeana and San Buena Ventura—Advance Finds Traces of Rebel's Haste In Spent Horses—Oil District Fears Clash With Mexicans.

El Paso, Tex., March 18.—Marching along the Janos river, General Pershing and his invading army were reported between Janos and Ascencion, north of Casas Grandes, a little more than halfway to Casas Grandes from the American border line at Columbus, N. M., where entry was made.

The report came to the office of General Gavira, commander of the Juarez military garrison. General Gavira also reported that Villa and his men were believed to be between Galeana and San Buena Ventura. The latter place is forty-eight miles southeast of Casas Grandes.

Gavira's report of the whereabouts of Pershing's column is generally credited because an American who left Columbus with the Pershing command and returned later to the border was in El Paso and said when he left the American invaders they expected to make the Boco Grande river for encampment. Leaving there they could have made Janos or Ascension, the total distance being about forty miles from Columbus.

The distance between the location of the American column and the location of Villa as given by General Gavira is said to be about a forty-eight hour march for the American troops if they continue at the same rate they have marched since leaving Columbus.

Scouts returning to Columbus told passengers passing through there on the train and arriving in El Paso that part of the American force was but ten miles over the Mexican line "playing pinochle." It is supposed they referred to a command left by General Pershing to keep open his line of communication.

More Troops Sent In.

At Columbus the passengers learned that additional re-enforcements of American troops had arrived there and had been sent south to join General Pershing. Nothing had been heard from the cavalry and artillery of the column taken into Mexico south of Hachita by Colonel G. A. Dodd. The Eleventh cavalry was among the regiments that left Columbus for the "front."

It was generally credited in Columbus, the passengers said, that Colonel H. J. Slocum, Thirteenth cavalry, who was in command in Columbus the night Villa raided the town, has offered a cash reward of $50,000 for the capture of Villa, "dead or alive," by Mexicans or Americans. Colonel Slocum is said to be a nephew of Mrs. Russell Sage. Mrs. Slocum returned to Columbus after spending a week in El Paso following the raid on the place.

Passengers said as many troops are now in Columbus as before the departure of the Pershing expedition and that these are expected to follow him south rapidly. Cavalry, artillery and aviation corps men are at work at Columbus drilling and preparing for active duty.

Work is in progress on the erection of a big temporary hospital and other frame buildings to serve the base as a storehouse, headquarters, machine shops, etc.

Seven aeroplanes are said to be operating now with Pershing's forces. The aviators are observing the country in the foothills around Ascension.

The aviators have accurate maps and information as to the various routes Villa must take to reach his haunts in the mountains of Chihuahua and Sonora. It is presumed that they are aided by wireless apparatus by which they may communicate their information at once to the forces in the field.

The aeroplane scouts are not provided with any weapons of offense. They have revolvers and rifles for use in case they should be forced to descend and are attacked.

The body of Lieutenant E. M. Zell, Eleventh cavalry, who ended his life at Columbus, was shipped from there through El Paso to Baltimore, his home.

The passengers learned that the American army had overtaken some of Villa's ill fed, starving abandoned horses and had mercifully shot them on the advance. The Americans discovered in the first day of the march a number of dead Villistas, killed by American cavalry during the retreat from Columbus, according to returning couriers.

Fear Clash In Oil District.

Washington, March 18.—With the war department claiming to have no information concerning movements of the Pershing expedition in Mexico, the senate passed a concurrent resolution approving the purpose of the expedition and assuring the Carranza government that the expedition will be carried out with scrupulous respect for the sovereignty of the Mexican people.

The resolution was introduced by Senator La Follette after it had received the approval of President Wilson. Few senators were on the floor at the time, and it was acted on without debate and without reference to a committee. Unanimous consent for its immediate consideration was asked for and obtained. Chairman Stone of the foreign relations committee expressed the hope that it would pass.

Later, when some of the absentees appeared after the vote was taken and learned what had happened, there were suggestions for a reconsideration. Senator Fall of New Mexico, who had been one of the severest critics of the president's Mexican policy, expressed the opinion that the action had been too hasty. He declared that had he been on the floor at the time he would have insisted on a full discussion. As the resolution is concurrent, the house is expected to act on it.

Tampico Situation Uncertain.

Although the state department issued a statement containing reports from various parts of Mexico to show that there was little apparent hostility on the part of the Mexican people toward the American hunt for Villa the situation at Tampico, on the east coast, was sufficiently uncertain to cause Secretary Daniels to order a detachment of 500 marines from the Philadelphia navy yard to Pensacola for possible use in Mexico.

He also let it be known that the Atlantic fleet is at Guantanamo, within striking distance of the Mexican coast, that the battleship Kentucky is on her way from New Orleans to Vera Cruz, that the 1,000 marines in Haiti are available if needed and that Admiral Winslow, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, is keeping watch on conditions along the west coast.

At Tampico there are about 1,000 Americans and 150 British in the Tampico oil district. The American consul has reported that while there have been no overt acts there is considerable anti-American feeling among the soldiers of the Carranza garrison, which dates back to the flag incident in April, 1914, when Rear Admiral Mayo threatened to blow up the town if the American flag which had been insulted was not saluted. Although the salute never has been given, the resentment on the part of Mexicans still exists.

The Carranza commander at Tampico is General Hafarette, who commanded a year ago at Matamoras, on the border, opposite Brownsville, and exhibited strong anti-American feeling. South of Tampico a force of Villistas commanded by General Palaz, is menacing the oil well districts in the vicinity of Tuxpam. The British government is said to have manifested concern over the safety of British interests at both Tampico and Tuxpam.

Similar anti-American feeling is evident at Torreon. American Consular Agent Williams, who turned his post there over to the British consul, reported to the state department that he had arrived at Laredo, Tex., with forty American refugees. No more Americans, he said, were at Torreon.

VILLA CHASE EXPENSIVE.

Already Costing $72,000 a Day, Army Officer Estimates.

El Paso, Tex., March 18.—Uncle Sam will have to dig deep into his pockets to land Francisco Villa where he will raid no more. It is already costing $50 a minute, or $72,000 a day, to pursue the bandit leader. The estimate is made by Major William Elliott, quartermaster. When the fighting starts the cost will go up at a tremendous rate, army men say.

HALF MILLION DOLLAR FIRE.

Four Buildings of Barber Asphalt Paving Company Destroyed.

Perth Amboy, March 18.—Because several workmen in the roofing plant of the Barber Asphalt Paving company here tried to clean an oil lamp by the light of a torch and then after a fire started thought they could extinguish it themselves damage of $500,000 was caused. Four buildings and their contents were destroyed, paralyzing the roofing department of the plant.

Great difficulty was experienced in fighting the fire, a spectacular one. After the workmen finally realized they could not control the blaze themselves four fire companies were called. Inability to drive their engines into the plant hampered the firemen, who finally used flat cars to get nearer the flames. Seven tugs from the Lehigh Valley, Pennsylvania, Standard Oil and Androvette lines fought the flames from the docks in Staten Island sound for hours.

PROPOSALS FOR FOUR-CYLINDER TRIPLE COMBINATION MOTOR PUMPING FIRE ENGINE AND HOSE CARRIER.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the City of Plainfield at a regular meeting thereof held March 6, 1916. Notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet on Tuesday, the twenty-eighth day of March, 1916, at 8 o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, No. 149-151 North avenue, at which time and place said Common Council will receive sealed proposals for furnishing the following, that is to say:

ONE, not less than Four-Cylinder Triple Combination Motor Pumping Fire Engine and Hose Carrier, with a pumping capacity of not less than 750 gallons per minute against 120 pounds net water pressure and at least fifty per cent. of the rated capacity at 200 pounds net water pressure; engine not less than 100 horse power; to have a divided hose body with a capacity of at least one thousand feet of hose when carrying equal amounts of 2½ inch and 3 inch hose; also to be equipped with one 40-gallon chemical tank and at least 200 feet of ¾ inch chemical hose with a ⅝ inch brass nozzle; to be capable of obtaining a speed of at least thirty miles an hour and of covering twenty miles an hour over paved or macadam streets having such grades as the apparatus is likely to encounter in service.

All tests to be made under the supervision of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, and to the satisfaction of the Committee on Fire and Buildings.

Equipment to be specified by the Chief of the Fire Department in specifications to be obtained from him.

The right to reject any and all bids to be reserved by the Common Council.

Proposals should be endorsed "Proposals for Four-Cylinder Triple Combination Motor Pumping Fire Engine and Hose Carrier."

By order of the Common Council.

AN ORDINANCE

To provide for the construction of a further addition to the system of sewerage already constructed in the City of Plainfield, No. 17—

WHEREAS, There has been constructed in said city a system of sewerage and such action in relation thereto has from time to time been taken as is set forth in the preamble to the ordinance of said city, entitled "An Ordinance to provide for the construction of an addition to the system of sewerage already constructed in the City of Plainfield," approved November 6, 1897, to which preamble reference is hereby made for greater certainty and

WHEREAS, In the opinion of the Common Council the public good requires that a further addition, as herein described, to the system of sewerage already constructed, should be now constructed in and for said city under the provisions of the Act in said preamble referred to, and the Common Council has so determined and does hereby so determine; therefore,

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the Common Council doth hereby direct and order that a further addition to the system of sewerage already constructed under said Act and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, be constructed in and for said city under the provisions of the Act of the Legislature above referred to, with all the appurtenances necessary to complete the same, and of such dimensions and material and according to such plans as the said Common Council may hereafter direct, in and through the following described streets, avenues, property, lands and rights of way described, mentioned and referred to in this ordinance to wit:

Ravine road, from the present sewer to Dixie Lane;
Williver street;
Lafayette place;
Clinton place;
Johannis place;
Stelle avenue, from Hobert avenue to Grant avenue;
Hobert avenue, from Sherman avenue to Stelle avenue.

Section 2. That house connections shall be constructed from the above-named sewers to the curb lines.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

To Rose Judson, Trustee for Plainfield Plumbing, Hardware and Paint Supply Company:

By virtue of an Order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein Ernst Kubler is complainant, and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant on or before the 8th day of May next, or the said bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said Bill is filed for the purpose of foreclosing a mortgage given by Daniel J. Devoe to Jersey State Realty Company, and now held by the complainant, dated April 1, 1912, covering premises in the City of Plainfield, County of Union and State of New Jersey, and you are made defendant, because it is alleged in said Bill that in the conveyance which you made to the Plainfield Plumbing, Hardware and Paint Supply Company, your trusteeship was erroneously described, and that the said deed is not sealed by you, and thereby you may claim to have some interest in the mortgaged premises, a sale of which is prayed for in said bill.

NEWS OF INTEREST IN THE PLAINFIELD BUILDING WORLD

BRICK DROP TO $8.50 PER 1,000

Sayre and Fisher Interests Quote a Reduction of 50 Cents in the Market.

BUILDING PROSPECTS

National Fireproofing Co. Report a Heavy Movement on Future Deliveries for Material Outside of New York City.

New York, March 18.—For the first time since the early part of the winter the Raritan brick interests came into the market for new business this week. Where Raritan prices had been quoted by the Sayre & Fisher interests at $9 a thousand, nominal, the quotation was lowered to $8.50. Hudson common brick, in the wholesale market had practically no call, but $8.50 was the ruling price a thousand. As the week closed there was only 700,000 Hudson brick for sale to dealers and the latter were riding brick from their stacks.

The National Fireproofing Company reported a heavy movement on future deliveries for fireproofing material outside of New York. Two large hotel operations came out this week. One will be owned and operated by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company on the large vacant area in back of Gimbel Brothers' store on 32d and 33d streets at Seventh avenue, the general contract for which was let to the George A. Fuller Co. About 15,000 tons of steel will be required for this operation. The architects, McKim, Mead & White, have not finally decided upon the height of the building, but it will contain more than a thousand rooms, each one of which will require bathroom fixtures, such as tile floors and sidewalls, tub, lavatories and other accommodations.

The other hotel is to be erected from plans by Beverly S. King and Starrett & Van Vleck, associated architects, and will be erected in the Fifth avenue shopping district in the neighborhood of 34th street. This hotel will be twenty-six stories high and will cost in excess of $7,000,000. It will have 2,000 rooms about 1,700 of which will have baths. This operation will require about 40,000 tons of steel and almost several million feet of hollow tile fireproofing.

These two operations have quickened the building material market considerably. In the suburbs are found many other instances of building projects and improvement. Brooklyn builders are breaking all records in filing plans for new buildings. The Bureau of Buildings is swamped with applications. There were more than 200 plans filed last week in that borough alone. This week the total was in excess of 260. The contract for the big extension to the Johnson Leather Company's plant in Frelinghuysen avenue, Newark, was awarded this week to the Thomas J. Steen Company, Levering & Garrigues, of Dunellen, taking the steel contract for $27,500. The Company tract in Plainfield is to be developed by J. E. Manning and Miss Mary Compton with a large number of private dwellings. The development here is in anticipation of the action by the Union County Board of Freeholders erecting a bridge, making Myrtle avenue continuous from the center of Elizabeth to Bound Brook so as to give a roadway similar to the Lincoln Highway from Perth Amboy to New Brunswick for auto traffic without interference from trolleys.

In the Perth Amboy district there is considerable factory extension under projection. The repairs to the Matawan Tile Company's plant recently damaged by fire are nearing completion. The J. B. Owens plant at Metuchen, for the manufacture of tile, is almost equipped to turn out tile.

Actual delivery of building materials in the metropolitan district was curtailed in the latter part of the week owing to the storm, but there is developing a market for materials that is keeping quotations abnormally high. Changes in prices this week place the index figure for the ten basic materials at .00337 as against .00334 a week ago. Most of this gain is chargeable to steel. Portland cement, glass of all kinds, lime, plaster, hardwoods and all electrical supplies, especially those having porcelain are expected to show advances in the next ten days. The factory price on glass has already oeen advanced from ten to fifteen per cent.

All the western Portland cement companies have advanced their mill prices. In the Far West the mill price is now $1.30. Pittsburgh district mill prices are $1.20 and Lehigh district mill prices are $1.05. Hudson mill prices are $1.10. There has been no change in either the Lehigh or Hudson mill base, but there are conditions existent that make a higher price imperative according to manufacturers of cement.

The demand for new building construction is so great that the higher cost of materials is not expected to hold operations back. The cost of building money is such as to permit work to go ahead and this year's building movement will, in all probability, be equal to that of 1913 at least. Architects are urged to make early specifications and to make plenty of allowance for slow deliveries.

PERMITS DROP TO VERY LOW FIGURE

Five Granted During the Past Week Will Represent an Expenditure of $2,409.

In direct contrast to the unusually large figures of last week, the aggregate of building permits for the week ending today fell to the low amount of $2,409. The permits granted were for four garages and one alteration job. According to the permits granted heretofore, the total expenditures represented for the month of March so far is $118,694, and for the entire time, since January 1, $185,964.

In the past week's permits, Frank Seidler was given one for the erection of a 16x48 hollow terra cotta tile block addition to the building at 1212 West Front street, at a cost of $1,200. George H. Fisher, Jr., of Manson place, is the architect, and Joseph Brandt, the general contractor. The garage permits were as follows:

Harry Perlman, at 626 West Front street. Hollow tile structure, 11 by 17 feet. Cost, $250. Contractors, Cohen & Israelsky.

The C. R. Maltby Estate, at 809 Kensington avenue. Frame structure, 12 by 18 feet. Cost, $225. Contractor, John S. Dahl.

Albert Beers, at 420 Stelle avenue. Frame structure, 20 by 22 feet. Cost, $584. Contractor, George D. Wilson.

George V. Disborough, at 119 Crescent avenue. Frame structure, 12 by 18 feet. Cost, $150. Contractor, William Wood, of Roselle.

A. J. SPICER AWARDS CONTRACT FOR BUNGALOW

Arthur J. Spicer, of West Fifth street, has awarded the Apgar Construction Company, of Dunellen, a contract to erect a fine bungalow on Sterling road at Watchung. The building will be of the modern type embodying several of Mr. Spicer's own ideas as to what should aid in the comfort of a country dwelling. The cost price will be about $3,000. The site of the bungalow is one of the prettiest of the many pretty ones along the Sterling road, overlooking the Watchung lake and backed up by the gentle rise of the mountain land to the north of the valley. Mr. Spicer intends the bungalow for his own occupancy.

REALTY TRANSFERS

The following local real estate transfers were recorded at the office of the county clerk at Elizabeth during the past week:

James W. Jackson et ux. to First Methodist Episcopal church, center of Central avenue, 235 feet northwesterly Seventh street, Plainfield, $1.

William H. Talmadge et al. to the Standard Investment and Real Estate Company, southerly side Dunellen avenue, northerly W. H. Coryell, Plainfield, $1.

Charles W. Oakley et ux. to Voorhees D. Lewis, southeasterly side West Front street, 539 feet northeasterly Rock avenue, Plainfield, $1.

J. Ackerman Coles to William Hoag, lots 12, 14, 15, 16, part of 13, block E, map belonging to Baptist church, Fanwood, $1.

Irma M. Wikoff et al. to John Winzenried, southwesterly side Lee place, 140 feet southeasterly South Second street, Plainfield, $1.

Lizie C. Budlong et al. to Sadie H. Drayton, northerly side Second place, 214 feet westerly East Ninth street, Plainfield, $1.

The George E. Hall Corp. to George E. Hadd, easterly side Madison avenue, 150 feet southerly Randolph road, Plainfield, $1.

Voorhees D. Lewis et ux. to Edgar D. Stimson, southerly side West Front street, 539 feet notheasterly Rock avenue, Plainfield, $1.

FINE GARAGE FOR STELLE AVE. RESIDENCE

Included in the permits granted by Building Inspector T. O. Doane during the past week was one for a handsome garage to be erected for A. B. Beers in the rear of his home at 424 Stelle avenue. It will be of a colonial design, two stories in height, the upper portion being intended for storage purposes. It will be heated by gas and have all the latest water connection appliances for automobile needs.

George G. Wilson has been awarded the contract for the work at a figure of $584.

NEW CHURCH FOR BRUNSWICK.

Plans are to be drawn within the course of a week for a $25,000 house of worship for the German Reformed congregation of New Brunswick, who recently sold their building at the corner of George and Albany streets, that place. The new edifice will be erected on the plot of ground recently purchased by the congregation at the corner of Livingston avenue and Suydam, known as the Fick property.

ACTIVITIES OF LOCAL REAL ESTATE MAN

U. B. Crane Reports Many Rentals and Sales During the Month.

U. B. Crane, who recently moved his real estate office to Fourth street and Watchung avenue, has reported the following spring rentals: 110 West Second street, for Albert I. Coddington; 207 Rushmore avenue, for Mr. Derris; 602 East Third street, for Mr. Krone; 70 Jackson avenue, for Mr. Taylor; 14 Regent street, for Mr. Spencer; 20 Elm place, for Mr. Van Winkle; 320 East Fourth street, for Mr. Cole; 211 Rushmore avenue, for Mr. Derris; 214 Washington street, for Mr. Thompson; 304 East Front street, for Mrs. Dacey; 16 Regent street, for Mr. Finger; 450 Orchard place, for Mr. Darling; 445 Orchard place, for Mrs. Lacey; 23 Lincoln place, for Mr. Spencer; 303 Filmore avenue, for Mr. Krone; 14 Regent street, for Mr. Levingc; and sales as follows: 779 Clinton avenue, for Mr. Haynes; 81 Laramie road, for Mr. Finger; 666 Essex street, for Mr. Wheeler; 115 acre farm at North Branch for Mr. Cooper.

Mr. Crane says that the conditions are such that there are not sufficient moderate priced houses to meet the rental demand, even this early in the season, and looks for difficulty in supplying the demand that will naturally increase during the next thirty days.

MAKING WAY FOR FRONT ST. BUILDING

Former Probasco Residence Now Being Razed, Removes Old Landmark.

Rapid progress is being made in the demolition of the old Probasco residence on East Front street, which is being torn down to make room for the new one-story business building which Dr. Albert Pittis is to erect. The frame dwelling was the last of its kind on the north side of the block between Somerset street and Watchung avenue and its going removes a landmark that has been familiar to Plainfielders for many years. It was occupied for many years by the late Dr. John B. Probasco and his family, but shortly after his death was sold to Woodhull & Martin, whose department store property adjoins to the west. Many of the timbers taken out of the house are still in good condition and can be used elsewhere.

Work on the new building for which Dr. Pittis has been granted a permit will be started within a few days. Captain William C. Smith has been awarded the contract for the masonry work and Ambrose Smalley the carpentering. The plans were drawn by Architect E. V. French. According to the permit figures, the building will be of brick, one story high and measuring 59 by 75 feet. The estimated cost is $9,000.

During the past week, the brick taken from the old Vanderbeek building at Park and North avenues, which is at present being razed, have been taken to the rear of the East Front street property, and it is expected they will be utilized in the construction of the new Pittis building.

CONTRACTORS' FILES

SPICER PLANT TO BE STILL LARGER

One Addition Completed and Other Planned for South Plainfield's Big Industry.

EMPLOYS 800 MEN

Number Will Be Increased to 1,000 When New Parts Are Occupied—Renewed Efforts Now Being Made to Secure Trolley Connection.

With one big addition already completed and another one now under way, the Spicer Manufacturing company has decided to build still another addition to its large plant at South Plainfield. The work is to commence as soon as weather conditions permit of excavating for the foundations, and when finished will give the concern one of the largest factories in this section. The original main machine department measured 260 by 90 feet, and, with the addition recently completed and those to come, these figures will be increased to 180 by 460 feet.

In an address before the recent Business Men's Association banquet gathering in Columbus Hall, Charles A. Dana, president of the Spicer Company, made the statement that the presence of the concern here meant the spending of $1,000,000 in Plainfield during the coming year. His words were misinterpreted by a number of listeners, who spread the report that the Spicer people would spend $1,000,000 in plant improvements during 1916. Mr. Dana's intention was to convey to the business men that the construction work his concern had in mind and the money its employes would spend in Plainfield would reach the million mark. Although the new buildings will aggregate a good many thousands of dollars, the actual cost of these improvements has not been given out.

Alexander Milne, of this city, has been given the contract for all the new work. The addition he completed recently measured 60 by 140, and his men are now engaged upon a front addition to the machine shop and offices measuring 60 by 30. One part of this is two stories in height, and when completed the upper floor will give increased room for the office staff. The part to be taken up as soon as the weather permits will be added to the main machine building and measure 200 by 90 feet. Concrete, steel and brick are the materials to be used in the construction, portions of the contract being sublet.

When the Spicer Company first removed its plant from Madison avenue and Third street, this city, to South Plainfield, it employed about 500 hands. During the past winter this number has bzeen increased to 800., 500 working on the day shift and 300 at night. When all the new construction work is completed and machinery installed, the total number of hands will reach about 1,000. The industry has already made a great boom in South Plainfield, and it will be still better in the year to come. Many of the employes are from Plainfield and go each day to the plant, and others will move over as new residences are provided.

An important matter in connection with the locating of the Spicer plant at South Plainfield is trolley connection with Plainfield. At present there is none, although efforts have been made repeatedly in the last few years to get an extension of one of the local lines. The West End Civic Association has taken the matter up in earnest, and if the other civic associations in Plainfield do a proportionate share, it is believed that the desired object can be attained. All the Plainfielders employed at the plant have to get to their work by autobus or other conveyances of their own selection. It would not only help South Plainfield, but Plainfield as well, to have the trolley link built, and the Spicer Company has always stood ready to do everything in its power to get the connection. The plant will be running day and night for at least another year, as orders now on hand, without seeking any more, will keep the full force busy for eight months.

INTERIOR CHANGES AT THE WEST END FIRE HOUSE

The introduction of motor apparatus at the West End firehouse and the resultant discarding of horses has resulted in noticeable changes being made to the West Fourth street building. The wooden partition heretofore separating the main floor from the stable room has been entirely removed, and in place of the latter a modern garage is being installed. All the work so far has been done by Captain George Mehl and the men of his company, William Jaeger, Raymond Randolph and Edward Vail. A workbench has been placed in one corner of the old stable and a large window is to be cut in for better light. All of the minor repairs to the No. 3 engine can thus be handled by the men as a complete equipment of tools is being secured. An up-to-date washstand with an under-drain will be located nearby and by enlarging a rear door it will be possible to run the apparatus in from the rear to be washed after a fire and then driven ahead to its place under the main floor.

What is being done at the West End house will be duplicated in the other houses of the city as fast as the horses give way to motor vehicles. Each building is to have its own workroom and proper tools so that any small repairs to the apparatus can be made without any loss of time. The last horse at the West End house and the two no longer needed at Netherwood are now being housed by the street department in the city's barn at East Sixth street and Watchung avenue.

BURGLAR IS SHOT BY WAITING COP

Borough Marshal, Threatened, Kills His Man.

DEATH IS INSTANTANEOUS

Body of Victim Not Identified—Bidden to Stop, Midnight Marauder Declares He'll Shoot and Then Officer Fires—Believed Dead Man Rifled Boathouses In Vicinity.

Mount Arlington, March 18.—"If you move I'll shoot," cried a supposed burglar to Marshal Samuel Holley.

"I'll shoot first, then!" replied the marshal, and he raised his shotgun and fired. The intruder fell dead with a charge of buckshot through his head.

For several weeks there has been petty thieving among the boathouses that line the shores of Lake Hopatcong. Last Friday night the thieves raided the cottages of Fred Muench, Mrs. Virginia Bertrand and J. A. Junke, which stand in a group on the shores of the lake.

In these raids silverware, copper, brass and fishing tackle were stolen, as well as the brass bearings on motorboats and the motorboat propeller wheels. Fearing further depredations, Marshal Holley and his son, Michael Holley, and William Lowrey, Jr., have been watching the cottages every night this week.

It was drawing along toward midnight when the marshal heard a crunch on the snow. He peered through the trees and saw a man pulling a handsled emerge from the grove and climb the steps of Muench's piazza.

"Stop!" cried the marshal. The man wheeled in the moonlight and dodged behind a stone pillar.

"If you move I'll shoot!" was the defiance hurled from the piazza.

There was the man's face sticking from behind the pillar. The marshal fired at it, and the man tumbled down the piazza steps and sprawled out in the moonlit snow.

The body of the dead man has not been identified.

Bad Writer With a Good Memory.

Harvey Waters, an expert on patent cases, had occasion to write Rufus Choate on some important question and when he received the reply was unable to read a word of it, so took the missive to Mr. Choate and asked him what he had written. Mr. Choate replied, "I never can read my writing after the ink is dry, but if you tell me what it is about I will tell you what I have written." And he did.

SALESMANSHIP AND BUSINESS BUILDING AS A PROFITABLE VOCATION FOR YOUNG WOMEN CHOOSING A PROFESSION.

Is it not a strange fact that upon opening a morning paper one finds hundreds of applicants seeking positions as stenographers and typewriters day after day? But if one was looking for experienced saleladies in any department with expectations of paying considerably more than the average type writer gets he would be looking in vain. After talking with several young women, particularly High School graduates, the writer has been convinced that the situation mentioned above is not due to the economic law of supply and demand for there is a crying need in every city for efficient saleladies, but mainly due to the fact of the prevailing idea that to be a saleswoman is not up to the highest standard as a profession.

The writer maintains, however, that salesmanship is a real art. A great New York merchant used to say that much higher ability was necessary for the marketing of commodities than for the manufacturing of them, consequent to be a successful salesperson is something worth while. Initiative is the supreme attribute. Every employer, whether he employs one or a thousand, is looking for one quality above all other in his employes, "initiative." He wants efficiency, of course, loyalty, sobriety, industry, punctuality. These are indispensable. But the attribute which includes all these and marks the young man or woman whose shoulders are going to show above all in the crowd is initiativeness. The man or women who will do things without being told will surely "get there." What the public expects today from its store is service. Just seven letters in it but it is the biggest word in the merchandising vocabulary. Service in its true sense is three-fold. Service to the customer, service to the store and service to yourself. We accomplish the three things at once when we constantly study our work and strive to do it in the best possible way. To deserve well is to serve well.

Looking at it from a purely financial point of view the writer feels that salesmanship is a well paying proposition. Of course some will point out that the hours are considerably longer than office work, but is not the tendency consistent with modern progressive methods to shorten the hours of labor and to get more results during the less hours by concentrated effort combined with the most essential elements in selling goods, enthusiasm and human knowledge and sympathetic attitude to human nature. Of course it depends entirely upon the temperament of the individual and every person is adapted to a certain work. Many girls working behind the counter would perhaps have been much more successful as private secretaries and vica verse. But those young people starting out in life that have the energy, imagination and personality should turn to this vocation as the most dignified, well compensated, profession as an occupation in life.

HENRY ROSENBAUM.

- Proctor's Theatre -

Proctor's Next Wednesday.

The dramatic feature appearing at Proctor's popular home of the world's best photoplay productions is entitled "Honor's Altar," and features one of the greatest Triangle favorites, Miss Bessie Barriscale. This drama of humanely appealing qualities deals with what happens to an unsuspecting and loving wife at the hands of her fiendish and scheming husband, and gives Miss Barriscale plenty of opportunities to display her wonderful emotional and soul-stirring talents. Today, Saturday, the management have considered the children, and provide for their particular amusement the most popular comedian in the whole world, Charlie Chaplin in a veritable cloudburst of laughter and merriment, entitled, "His First Vacation," depicting the most comic of his capers in a mammoth three-reel revue. Monday will see the introduction of a finely balanced bill of photoplay features, which include Alice Brady, one of the most popular of stage and screen ingenues, who is ably assisted by Holbrook Blynn and a splendid supporting cast in "The Ballet Girl," a remarkably cleverly produced drama dealing with society and stage life as it really is. Funny Charlie will again be seen on Monday in "Shanghaied," another one of his laugh-provoking comedies that will provide a whole half-hour of delightful entertainment. On Tuesday Dorothy Gish will be seen in "Betty of Greystone," a charmingly quaint screen story, with a charming little star, and the third episode of "Mary Page" will also be presented. Wednesday will bring William Farnum, one of the most adored of the dramatic stars, in a powerful picture fitting well into his striking personality, entitled, "Fighting Blood" a picture with an appropriate title, indeed. Thursday one of the greatest sensations of the season will make its appearance at Proctor's in the form of "Peggy," presenting Billie Burke. On Friday and Saturday "Defense or Tribute," the mammoth spectacular production dealing with the most vital question confronting the present generation, and bigger than "The Battle Cry of Peace," will be presented under the auspices of the Plainfield Press for the benefit of Marjorie's Battleship Fund.

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Mellick, of this city, are registered at the Greenbrier Hotel, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Robert F. R. Huntsman and Dr. D. C. Adams have returned home, after a week's stay in the South.

Without You.

Without you, love, the day would hold no light;
The kindly stars would vanish from the night;
The flowers would all forget to wake at morn;
The rose die sleeping, leaving nothing but the thorn———
Without you.
—National Magazine.

Without you, love, I'd have no waist to hook;
No one would wait with an accusing look;
When I turned homeward after toiling late;
But I should probably bemoan my fate. .
Without you.
—Chicago Herald.

Without you, love, I'm sure I'd never hear
How all things useful now have grown so dear.
And while you show me bills that make me groan,
No doubt at all, I'd feel alone—
Without you.

Rules for Box Office Men.

One of our patient box office men hands in the following set of rules for the guidance of all theatre ticket salesmen:

You must be a mind-reader.
Never assert your rights.
Take all; say nothing.
Give the people what seats they want even if you have to get them back from the person who bought them a week in advance.
Do not argue—an experienced ticket seller never does.
Never ask, "How many?" "What price?" "For when?" as you are supposed to know.
Always wear a smile; look pleasant when you are called a liar, and beg pardon for not knowing it without being told.
When a lady stands for an hour or two selecting a seat, don't suggest to her to bring her sewing and spend the afternoon, as she might be offended.
When a man comes up to the window smoking a bad cigar and blows the smoke in your face, smile as if you liked it, and ask him the brand so as to make him feel good.
When a person leaves a quarter be sure to call them back, for they will come back later and declare they left a dollar.

A Golf Dictionary.

GOOD LIE—I made the round in "78."

TEEING GROUND—A cozy corner at the golf club house where Scotch is served in tea cups.

THROUGH THE GREEN—Meaning getting fitted out for "gowf." You buy all the sticks, the balls, the caddy bag, pay club dues, buy your golfing clothes, pay the caddies, and you are sure to go through the green—all the long green you can scrape up.

BUNKER—An obstacle, generally a fat man in front of you who refuses to move when you shout "Fore."

PUTTING GREEN—A smooth place around the hole where the players are busy putting forth all the lurid words.

IN THE ROUGH—The remarks a player makes if he doesn't clear his bunker, or gets the ball down in a hollow between two rocks.

A SLICED SHOT—A highball with slices of lemon in it.

THE STANCE—Ability to overcome the habit of standing on your own feet.

THE ADDRESS—A card on your office door reading, "Out of town on business; return tomorrow."

A MATCH—The thing you haven't got when you are down at the ninth hole and want to light your pipe.

A ROUND—Paying for the drinks when it comes your turn.

CADDY—One person who knows exactly what a rotten game you play.

Fred Keister Says.

Every time we hear of some "tank" town drawing the party line at a village election it makes us feel that civilization ain't got such a long ways after all.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY PARTY TENDERED MISS CARNEY

Miss Loretta Carney, of 19 Grove street, was tendered a surprise party at her home last night by about fifty of her friends, games, dancing and musical numbers being the features of the evening. The affair was a complete surprise to the guest of honor who had been invited out by a friend for the evening and upon her return she found the merry-makers awaiting her.

Miss Dorothy Sutton, her sister, arranged the party and the home was attractively decorated in colors appropriate to St. Patrick's Day. Shamrocks were distributed as favors and the refreshments included dainty candies of the same color and ice cream and cake.

Y. M. C. A. DIRECTORS TO ENTERTAIN THE MEMBERS

Invitations are being received by the members of the sehior department of the Young Men's Christian Association to attend with their women friends, a "directors' social" to be held in the association building on Thursday evening, March 23. The directors and their wives will act as hosts and hostesses, thus giving the membership an opportunity to know them.

The program will include some features in the gymnasium and a very interesting illustrated entertainment by Allen A. Williams, naturalist, of New York, who is well-known to Plainfield audiences. Light refreshments will be served and an unusually good time is assured all who attend.

N. P. H. S. NOTES

Large pictures of Syracuse and Mt. Holyoke Colleges have been placed in the hallway.

Owing to the large number of books required by the pupils for their collateral reading, the present library being unable to fill the demands, Mr. Earley has taken up the matter with the State authorities. Through his efforts the privilege has been granted to the high school to obtain books from the State library in Trenton free of charge.

Dorothy Jacot recited "Captain, O, My Captain," yesterday morning, in chapel.

Rifle shooting is interesting a number of pupils in the high school. During the lull between basketball and baseball this pastime has become popular.

CRESCENT AVENUE SERVICES.

The Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will observe tomorrow as foreign missionary Sunday. Rev. Arthur Rugh, International Y. M. C. A. secretary for China, will preach at the morning service. Mr. Rugh has preached at Northfield, and is well known as a forceful speaker. At 4:45 the choir will give a Wagner recital with selections from "Tannhauser," and at 5 o'clock Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, will speak. Dr. Zelie will preach at Phillips-Exeter Academy tomorrow.

The Plainfield Lyceum will meet tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock in Bethel chapel.

REEL AND REAL·FUN IN CLEVER CARTOONS AND AMUSING·ANIMATED ABSURDITIES·AMID·SUBLIME SCENERY OF GLACIER·NATIONAL PARK·TO·BE·SHOWN·HERE·SOON BY·LYMAN H·HOWE·····

Plainfield Theatre, Friday night and Saturday, matinee and night, March 24 and 25.

Up-to-date, bright and pleasing from start to finish, combining as it does the best elements of burlesque and vaudeville the entertainment of "The Bostonians" Company, Monday, matinee and night, is bound to please the patrons of the Plainfield Theatre. The performance will have all the charm of novelty, and from curtain to curtain the auditor will be constantly interested and entertained. The first part entitled, "Riley's Speech," and the burlesque, "The Isle of Nowhere," are said to be the brightest skits of their kind before the public. They will be found replete with good comedy situations, entertaining musical numbers rus work of a score of exceptionally handsome girls will be found far above the average of burlesque attractions.

Through the medium of Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival, which comes to the Plainfield theatre on Friday night and Saturday matinee and night, March 24-25, audiences may look, as from a car window, at glistening, sunlit, snow-clad Alpine peaks; magnificent vistas and never-to-be-forgotten scenes in Glacier National Park; the rivers of France; the unique Firth of Forth bridge, Scotland; picturesque Madeira; the charm of pastoral Holland and logging in Italy. Then, too, there will be a ride in an aeroplane affording the real sensation of a trip in cloudland; stirring scenes of a torpedo boat which is submerged almost totally time and again during a terrific gale on the high seas; the curious crystallization of metals and much relaxation contributed by Howe's comedy cartoon artists, who freely indulge their fantastic fancies in satirizing and burlesquing many of the more dignified scenes.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The second tryouts for positions on the two debating teams that will represent Plainfield High School in the Tri-School League will be held under the supervision of Harold Biddle, faculty literary director, Monday. Several new aspirants have announced their intention of trying out and Mr. Biddle should obtain satisfactory results on his second tryout.

The Alpha Literary Society will hold a meeting in the auditorium, Monday, and a special program of declamations, essays and musical numbers has been arranged. The members of the society will also hear the various students speak that are trying out for the Tri-School teams and will act in a way as judges.

A leap year dance for the High School pupils will be held in the auditorium tonight from 8 until 10:30. A band has been secured for the occasion and a large number is expected to attend.

An indoor workout of candidates for the High School tennis team was held this morning. Among those out were McAneny, Smith, Case, Carter and Eggie. Manager Eggie has commenced work on this year's schedule, and although practically all of last season's team is lost, a good record is expected to be hung up.

The relay team that expects to enter the annual relay carnival of Pennsylvania University at [illegible] April 28 and 29 held its first workout in the corridors [illegible] yesterday. It now looks as if Trowbridge, Miller, Francher and Daniels will compose the team, with Daniels the most dependable man.

NEAL DOW OBSERVANCE.

The W. C. T. U. will observe tomorrow as Prohibition Sunday in honor of Neal Dow, the father of prohibition. On Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock the W. C. T. U. will hold a meeting in Truell Court, at which time Miss Esther Elfreth, State president of the W. C. T. U., will speak.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — How Red Cross Dogs Help the Doctors.

They Are Trained to Find the Wounded.

"T[illegible] night, daddy!" cried Jack and Evelyn, settling on the arms of his chair almost before he sat down.

Daddy sighed. "I can tell you a story about a war picture I saw today," he offered. The children clapped their hands, so he went on: "I saw a picture of two doctors bandaging the front leg of a beautiful Red Cross dog. Nothing could have been kinder than their patient skill. He might have been a wounded general, and nothing could have been finer than the patient devotion of the dog that got wounded doing his duty."

"Was he much hurt, daddy?" Evelyn asked tenderly.

"I do not think so. But his poor paw was limp even in the bandage, and I believe it was broken. But with the doctor's good care he probably will soon be able to run errands again, so we won't spend too much pity upon him, my dears. What I want you to remember always is that in this great, cruel war dogs play a good part helping the army surgeons."

"Oh, tell us what they do, please, daddy?" cried Jack.

"Well, to start with, only the best bred and most intelligent kinds of dogs are picked for war work. Then they are trained and trained to do one thing well until they seem almost as intelligent as a man—more intelligent than some men. They are trained to go out upon the battlefield and find wounded soldiers who are too sick to ask for help and to come back and lead some one to the poor soldiers. They are trained to carry medicines and bandages for the doctors, so that horses are left free for use in battles, and they also carry foods on the battle line and run other errands just like boys. Each dog wears a red cross on his shoulders, so that everybody in the army understands how helpful dogs can be, and if one is killed he is mourned as the men are. In peace times for hundreds of years great St. Bernard dogs have done wonderful life saving in the Alps too. Hundreds of guides and travelers, especially in the winter, slip and fall over the icy mountain sides and lie broken and hurt till these trained dogs come to find and carry them to safety. Up on one of the tiptop mountain passes is a tiny old hospital that owns and trains these wonderful dogs. Daily the hospital monks turn the dogs loose to hunt wounded guides and travelers. Then the kind monks take the broken ones in and patch them up, but it is the noble St. Bernard dogs that leap along the steep places and by their keen sense of smell find the helpless travelers."

"Oh, daddy, what a nice story!" cried Jack. "I want to give you a big bedtime hug!"

So the children kissed daddy and ran off to bed.

Gossip That Injures

A reader of the woman's pages has written us as follows:

"I have read your paper for the last eight years and this is the first time I have written to you, but I would like to say that I would rather miss a meal than a copy of The Home News.

"I want to congratulate you on the article—'Petty Malice Harms No One But You.' Isn't that true, every word of it? I think it is the best I ever read, and I am now 68 years of age. The only trouble is that the people that this advice fits best never take it to home. Isn't that the strangest part of it?

"Now, some time in the near future, will you please write an article on 'Gossip.' Is there anything worse than that? It does so much harm to innocent people and, of course, increases as it travels."

Our good letter friend refers to an article published in a recent issue on the evil of judging others shortcomings. Another form of evil, prevalent among men and women, is gossip.

There are several kinds of gossip. Perhaps the most vicious is that which formulates an opinion about the causes of events in the lives of others and then states this opinion as a positive fact.

The Real Reason.

For instance, the writer once heard that a certain girl had broken her engagement because she discovered that her fiancee went around with other women. Investigation proved that the sole grounds for the statement were that the young woman in question was of a very jealous disposition, that her fiancee had been seen on the street two or three times with another woman (who, by the way, afterwards proved to be his sister-in-law) and that the engagement had been broken very suddenly.

On this ephemeral foundation some kind friend had remarked that the break must have been caused by the discovery that the fiancee went around with other women.

If she had stated this merely as a supposition, it would have been bad enough, but she didn't. She stated it as a fact. In reality, the engagement was broken because the girl had found she no longer cared for her fiancee. The break, although sudden enough to others, had been of gradual growth.

Next worse to folstering your own supposition on people as fact, is helping to pass other people's opinion in the same way.

A says to B, "Mr. L has left town very suddenly. I wonder if there was anything wrong with his business transactions?"

B says to C, "Did you know Mr. L had left town very suddenly? A thinks there is something wrong with his business transactions."

C says to D, "What do you think, L has left town unexpectedly. Every one says there's something wrong with this business transactions."

Irreparable Wrongs.

D says to E, "Isn't it a shame about L? You didn't know? Why, he left town because there was something shady he'd been doing in a business way."

So a vague "wonder if" becomes transformed into a definite statements of facts.

Beware how you let yourself supply even one link in the chain of such cruel and wicked distortion of facts.

These suppositions passed to another as facts so often lower the moral standing of a person that an irreparable wrong is done an innocent being.

Marrying for Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

The Unhappy Townsends Are Discussed by Olive and Nell.

"I think Marian Townsend hurts herself by her attitude toward their young guest," said Nell Norton as she and Olive Elison walked down the shady street under the crimson maples. "She might bury her spleen and try to make the young lady's visit pleasant."

"The guest is a Blakely, and so a member of the enemy's camp. Blakely was the detested stepmother's name, and she will have none of it," answered Olive.

"Adelaide is not to blame for any of the offenses of Ortrude. It is not fair to hate her for her name."

"I am not justifying her; only explaining the situation." Olive smiled. "One does not usually find capacity to take a sane and wide view of a situation in a sixteen-year-old. Besides, you must remember what the girl has suffered from this unhappy marriage. She was happy and care free, the pet of all the family, and considering that she has been motherless for five years, she was not badly spoiled. Her father married. She has lost her home, she sees her father badgered over money matters. Her own wishes cannot be gratified nor her pleasure consulted in anything, for all are busy trying to patch up a life that will be endurable, and no one has time or energy to consider anything but how to keep a surface peace. I consider her antipathy to the whole Blakely tribe only natural."

"But poor Adelaide is in no way to blame; can't she see that? I should think the fact that the girl is visiting there would make her want to give her a good time. Dudley does what he can."

"That may be a reason why Marian is so prejudiced against her," interrupted Olive. "You remember how plainly Adelaide showed her preference for him at the party."

"Possibly, but it makes it very hard for anyone to do anything for the guest socially, for it would be the natural thing to ask both girls, and Marian spoils any social gathering she attends with Adelaide," said Nell irritably.

"Such a marriage poisons the very air and all that breathe the atmosphere of the home are affected by it," said Olive sadly. "Marian is too nice a girl to be spoiled by the poison of hatred, and spoiled she will be if she allows such feelings to take possession of her."

The friends walked on in silence for some time. Finally Nell said: "Dick says Mr. Townsend must be in financial difficulties, for he was in the office the other day trying to raise some money."

"Yes, he was trying to sell some property to Gaylord not long ago. He said there was no sale for anything now and he would simply have to give real estate away to get rid of it. Collections are very poor now with the doctor, and I suppose a merchant would feel that sooner than a professional man," replied Olive.

"How can a woman care no more for her husband's interest than to spend money lavishly at such a time." Nell's tone was indignant.

"No womanly woman would do it. Mrs. Townsend is thoroughly selfish," and the friends dropped the difficult Townsend problem.

(To be continued.)

Household Hints

THE USEFUL MARSHMALLOW.

Marshmallows are useful in emergencies.

They will keep well if put in a glass jar and placed in a dry closet.

When eggs are lacking for frosting, cut marshmallows in halves and place between layers of any light cake; scatter a few over top, then set cake in moderately hot oven until top is partially melted.

When there is a small section of spice cake left and more is desired in a hurry cut cake in squares size of marshmallows, place on top of each piece, place in warm oven until two hold together.

Marshmallow dropped on the top of hot cup of cocoa takes place of whipped cream; also saves time.

For novelty ice cream, use chocolate as flavoring, and, as it freezes, stir in a quantity of quartered marshmallows.

In making fruit salad, use quartered marshmallows with pieces of diced fruit; made this way it is not so rich and many prefer it to ordinary salad.

USES FOR RAW POTATO.

To Clean a Stained Vinegar Cruet—Fill cruet with finely chopped potato skin, cork tightly and let stand in a warm place for three days, then turn skins out and rinse cruet with warm water and borax.

To Clean Rusty Knives—Use a raw potato dipped in cleansing powder; it is much nicer than the unsightly cleaning cloth.

To Kindle Fires—Potato parings dried in the oven are good to kindle fires, as they light easily.

To Clean Carpets—Grate a raw potato, rub it over the surface of the carpet and finish with a clean cloth wrung out in warm water.

To Clarify Drippings—Slice raw potato into the fat while rendering. It will absorb all impurities.

To Make Light Bread—Mash a boiled potato and add to the flour.

For Corned Beef Hash—Chop a raw potato and add to the meat.

To Clean Mud Spots From Silk—After washing thoroughly, rub soiled places with a raw potato.

When a Fern Turns Yellow, slice a raw potato and put it on top of soil. This will draw out the worms, which generally are the cause of fern leaves turning yellow.

THE TABLE

Jugged Beef—Put in a stone jar with lid, two pounds from neck, four onions, two tablespoons barley, pepper and salt to taste, cover with water. Stand jar in hot oven for three hours. Half an hour before serving, thicken with cornstarch or flour browning. This is a cheap and tasty dish.

Spaghetti—Half pound spaghetti, one-fourth pound bacon, one pint tomatoes. Cook spaghetti twenty minutes in salt water; cut bacon into half-inch cubes, fry till brown; pour bacon with all the grease over the spaghetti, pour in tomatoes, season with pepper and celery salt; stir and bake in moderate oven a half hour.

Turnips Stuffed With Sausage—Boil turnips whole until tender. Then hollow out center and fill with sausage meat. Bake until sausage is done, basting turnips with sausage drippings.

Scrambled Eggs—Allow one egg to each person and one for the pan. Beat yolks and whites together, add milk and pinch of salt. Cook ten minutes in double boiler. Fine and absolutely free from grease. Will agree with the most delicate stomach.

Birds' Nests—Take some good apples, peel, cut in halves and core, making a deep hole in the center of each half. Grease a baking dish with butter or drippings and lay in apples, holes upward, side by side, until dish is filled. Then fill center with a little sugar, a dash of butter and a little more sugar and cinnamon. Then bake in oven until done. This is delicious.

Ice Cream Cases—Dainty and delicious ice cream cases can be easily made by joining with icing three sugar wafers, making a triangular-shaped box. Half fill these with vanilla cream and add a tablespoonful of any preserved fruit, topping with whipped cream. Grated maple sugar with a few minced walnuts is delicious over vanilla cream, as is also a sprinkling of rolled macaroons and minced almonds.

Ice Cream Without a Freezer—Take an old dishpan, fill half full of equally mixed coarse salt and finely crushed ice. Put two or three small holes in bottom of pan and place it in the sink. Put the cream in shallow pan that will fit into the dishpan, leaving enough room to pack ice around the sides. Stir with spoon until frozen. You will have frozen cream in fifteen minutes.

Seek Happiness

There are many people who seem to think that happiness is a thing, like a house or a dress, that you can get hold of and keep, as if it were a possession of your own. It isn't. It's a state of mind; a quality of character. You have to work for it as you work for other desirable qualities, and you have to keep on working.

Teach yourself to respond to everything lovely or cheerful, to see beauty, to enjoy the society of other persons, to delight in work, to find enthusiasm in play. Teach yourself interest in the struggles and hopes of others; the sort of interest that is of use, that is a help. Learn to enjoy the many little things that turn up day by day. Make the most of your own mind, your own capacities.

Don't sit around pondering whether you are happy or not, whether or not life is worth living. Live it thoroughly; keep awake to all the wonder of it, and you'll be happy without knowing it at first, until you have gone along far enough to realize what happiness is. Except in times of real tragedy and great suffering, happiness, in some at least of its myriad forms, is possible; is a duty, indeed.

Making Milk and Water Safe

Everyone knows that many germs of disease lurk in milk and water, and that, for the sake of safety, both should be boiled before drinking. Many people do not like boiled water; they say it tastes flat; while boiled milk has a taste so repulsive that some folks cannot swallow it at all, even when it is mixed with tea.

In order to make the water quite sparkling again, pour it from one pitcher into another at intervals while it is cooling. Pour it from a height—that is to say, hold one pitcher up in the air and have the other quite low down—so that as much air may be mixed as possible during the process. It is the lack of air that causes the flatness which people dislike.

Put milk into a small pitcher, stand it inside a pan of water, and let the water boil briskly. The milk will just come to the boil under these circumstances, so that it will be rendered safe; but it will never boil fast and get that unpleasant cooked taste, or be covered with that nasty skin which is so specially repulsive to some children and delicate folk.

Start School at 10 Years

That children should not be sent to school until they are 10 years old, is the claim of Luther Burbank, the famous naturalist of Oakland, Cal.

"The work of breaking down the nervous systems of the children of the United States is well under way," said he. "It is abnormal and cruel to run all children through the same mill and stuff and train their little heads to the breaking point. A child is vastly more sensitive than a plant, and the first ten years of its life should be surrounded by sunshine, cheerfulness, love and laughter. Some children are absolutely unfit for certain studies, and to make the girls of 10 years old study mathematics fit for the mind of a person 26 years old is the height of folly."

Games for Children

Playing nurse in a day nursery is a fascinating game for children. First tell the children all about the nursery, where the mothers leave their children while they go to work, how these babies are fed, and what the nurses do to amuse them.

Then bring old magazines or catalogues and scissors with blunt ends for each child, and let them cut out everything pertaining to babies, high chairs, baby walkers, swings, buggies, cots, feeding bottles, rattles and playthings. Then cut out the babies.

These are to be placed in the chairs, or in the buggies, until the mother comes for them.

The children are the nurses who must look after the babies. The children will develop ideas for themselves and will spin the game out indefinitely. After they have learned how to play it they may be left to themselves for hours at a time.

There is a game somewhat similar that older children love to engage in. It is "playing school." They will cut out boys and girls for pupils, and a few men and women for teachers. With crayons and paints they will color these. Then fasten them to empty spools with flat sticks so that they will stand upright.

The picture is first pasted to the stick and the stock is wedged into the hole in the centre of the spool. In this way the figures will stand or sit on the spool. Then the teacher figures are supposed to march the children around and to teach them. A single game of this kind will occupy all the children's spare time for a week.

The Emergency Shelf

The emergency shelf should contain canned meats and fish, vegetables and fruits, wafers, Saratoga potatoes, materials for soups, salad dressing, condensed cream, even a sealed jar of ground coffee.

A jar each of all sorts of pickles, relishes, preserves and jelly can also be kept and since fruit cake improves with age always keep it on hand for emergencies, buried in a jar of brown sugar, which keeps it moist.

Then when company comes the housewife can welcome them with perfect freedom of mind, knowing they can sit down to a good meal with little trouble or exertion on their part.

A "Pen" for the Baby

Get a store box about three feet square and eighteen inches deep. See that inside and edge are made very smooth. Cut squares to fit, from better parts of old comforts, cover with washable material and knot closely; these make easily laundered pads for bottom. Place baby and his playthings inside. If he is inclined to throw them out, fasten by strings or ribbons to edge of box so that he may haul them in again if he likes.

By holding to edge of box he will learn to walk and will be protected meantime from cold and drafts to which a creeping baby on the floor is always exposed; also from fire, hot liquids and many things of which the little child who has the range of the house is always in danger.

If the baby has not previously been spoiled he will be happy and contented in his little pen.

JOHN WANAMAKER—PIANO SALONS

Suppose a Stranger Offered to Give You a Player Piano?

You would be a little suspicious of the offer, because you know people aren't giving pianos away. You would wonder what was the matter with him.

And suppose he offered to sell you a player-piano for less than it was worth.

You would still be a little suspicious. You would wonder WHAT WAS THE MATTER WITH THE INSTRUMENT.

Yet offers are being made every day which purport to sell you a piano for less than its actual piano value.

If you want that kind of player-piano this will not interest you, because this is about an instrument that bears a name honored through three-quarters of a century;

—a piano that has long been noted for stability, correct mechanical and musical construction and sustained excellence of tone;

—a piano that has back of it the guarantee of the Wanamaker Store, which now owns the factory—

—a player action that is easy to operate, yet which offers wide scope for artistic expression—

The Lindeman Player-Piano at $395

(One model)

When you buy one YOU GET A PLAYER-PIANO WORTH EVERY DOLLAR YOU PAY.

Lindeman Player-pianos may be bought on convenient terms. You may become the owner of one of these player-pianos by the payment of a moderate initial amount, the balance to be paid periodically. If you have an old piano we will make an allowance for that.

KNIGHTS SCORE 21-20 VICTORY OVER TABS IN TITLE CONTEST

Last Game for Local Catholic Basketball Championship for Abstainers—Long Goals by Bryniarski Put Columbians in Lead—Kyle's Shooting Keeps Score Close—Inner-Triangles Win Preliminary From S. P. P. H. Seconds.

Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, practically clinched the local Catholic basketball championship last night, when the Columbus club tossers gained a 21-20 victory over the T. A. B. Society quintet, on the Abstainers' court. The Knights have now defeated the Tabs twice, and the St. Joseph's club, of North Plainfield, once. The second tilt with the boroughites will be played in Saengerbund Hall Monday night.

Last night's affair was witnessed by a capacity crowd, and the battle was hard-fought throughout. Four or five minutes before the second half ended, the Tabs were leading, but two sensational goals made by Al Bryniarski from the middle of the court put the Knights in front, and they kept their slender advantage to the end.

There was little to choose between the two teams in the first half. George Linke, captain of the Columbians, dropped in a pair of double-deckers for his side, and Johnny Wilson, who, although holding down a guard position, played on the offensive much of the time, shot one field goal. Art Kyle made all the Tabs' field goals, caging three in the first half, which ended 12 to 10 in favor of the visitors, who gained their two-point lead by Bryniarski's foul shooting.

The Front street team changed its tactics in the second half, Bryniarski playing guard. The K. C. defenders followed their men more closely in the second period, the result being that the homesters did not make a single basket. Kyle's free throwing kept the Tabs in the running, the P. H. S. boy making good on thirteen chances from the 15-foot mark. He and Bryniarski were having a foul shooting duel until Al threw in the two field goals that put his team in the lead.

ENGINE CO. CHAMPS OF FIREMEN'S LOOP

Annex Somerville Championship by Taking Three from Hook and Ladder Men.

Somerville, March 18.—Bowling in the Firemen's League was resumed last night, when the engine company pinmen and the hook and ladder lads clashed. The engine company boys took three games from the ladder climbers with ease. By winning all three games, the engine boys win the championship of the league.

The Lincoln Hose Company and the West End Hose Company bowlers are slated to finish the final rolling next week, but it is doubtful if the games will be rolled because the Links, who are second, could not pass the engine company if they won three games from the West End company.

RIGHT GUARD DADMUN TO CAPTAIN HARVARD TEAM

Cambridge, Mass., March 18.—Harrie H. Dadmun, '18, of Arlington, Mass., was elected captain of the Harvard varsity football team yesterday in place of J. A. Gilman, of Honolulu, who recently became ineligible through deficiency in studies.

Dadmun, who played right guard for Harvard last year, was a member of the Tufts team in 1914, and under the college rule next fall will be his third and last season.

CITY BOWLING LEAGUE TO MEET TOMORROW AFTERNOON

The City Bowling League will hold a meeting tomorrow afternoon in the Daily Press building. Plans will be made for a league banquet, which it is planned to hold in the near future.

GIBBONS BEATS JEFF SMITH.

Jeff Smith, the Bayonne middleweight, was outpointed by Mike Gibbons in St. Paul last night.

LIMIT NUMBER OF GAMES ON STUDENTS' SCHEDULE

Troy, N. Y., March 18.—Athletic circles at the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, which have been considerably ruffled by the recent recommendation of the Board of Trustees that hockey be abolished as a sport, became calmer today, as it is thought the matter will be reconsidered.

The reasons given, favoring the abolishment of the sport, were that up to the past season only eight games had been played in three years, due to unfavorable climatic conditions; and that it was feared the lack of thorough practice, if continued, would see weak teams representing the institute in the future.

The building of a concrete indoor rink, which might be used for tennis courts in the summer, is being agitated; particularly as the summer sport is coming into more prominence, and the schedule of the racquet team is also subject to the whims of the weather-man.

SKATING EXCELLENT ON THE A. G. HOOLEY POND

Skating was never better than it is now on the pond at the Rockview terrace bridge of the A. G. Hooley estate in the borough, and if the weather continues favorable, will be the mecca for a large number of skaters tomorrow and Monday. The owner of the property takes pleasure in seeing the young people enjoy themselves, and anyone who conducts himself properly will be welcome to skate on the pond, which is about 800 feet long and 50 feet wide. Many who enjoy skating by moonlight will doubtless take advantage of the exceptionally fine condition of the ice this evening and tomorrow night.

LINEUPS FOR KNIGHTS' GAME WITH ST. JOSEPH'S

Basketball teams representing the Knights of Columbus and the St. Joseph's Club will clash in Columbus Hall, Monday night, at 8 o'clock. An admission of fifteen cents will be charged. The borough quintet will take the floor with Lee, Daley, Laporte, Seidel and McDonough, while Carty, Coyle, Linke, Bryniarski and Wilson will represent the home club.

ROUSCH TO JOIN GIANTS.

Marlin, Texas, March 18.—Edward J. Rousch, who joined Benny Kauff in a "hold out" against the New York Club, and refused to report here for practice with the Giants, has come to terms, and will join the team here next week. Rousch was the star outfielder of the Newark Federals last season.

BENNY LEONARD FORCES SHAMUS O'BRIEN TO QUIT

Benny Leonard, Billy Gibson's aspirant for lightweight championship honors, clearly demonstrated last night before a large crowd at the Harlem Sporting Club in New York that he is capable of delivering a knockout blow when he stopped Shamus O'Brien, the game little Yonkers lightweight, in the seventh round of their scheduled ten-round bout.

Leonard clearly outclassed his opponent in every department of the game, and gave O'Brien one of the most artistic lacings administered in a Manhattan ring in some time.

RECORD ADVANCE SALE OF SEATS FOR HEAVIES' BOUT

Smoking will not be permitted next Saturday night in Madison Square Garden on the night of the bout between Jess Willard and Frank Moran.

The biggest advance sale in the history of the ring has already been reached, and Rickard stated yesterday that $100,000 in cash was in the hands of the Show Corporation.

The $3 and $5 seats, which were to have been sold on the night of the bout, will be placed on sale at the Garden next Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. On the night of the bout no one except ticket holders will be permitted on any of the streets about the Garden.

NOTABLES TO ROLL IN WASHINGTON TOURNEY

Washington, D. C., March 18.—Walter Johnson, the famous pitcher, is going to roll in the Atlantic Coast Bowling Association tournament, to be held in this city starting April 3. He will be one of ten members of the Washington club that will participate, and as this will be Johnson's first attempt at bowling, speculation is rife as to how fast he will throw the ball down the alley. If he puts as much speed and "stuff" on the mineralite ball as he does on the horsehide pellet, one or more pin boy is liable to go to the hospital.

Eleven hundred government employes have signified their intention of entering the tournament.

On the opening night, when President Wilson will roll the first ball, 500 of the grand stand seats will be occupied by members of the Foreign Legations, Embassies, Congressmen and Senators.

REACH'S 1916 GUIDE OUT.

This year the Guide has been rearranged, being grouped into four distinct sections, a method that makes it especially easy to search out matters of reference and record. Probably of equal importance with the new arrangement is the article dealing with the settlement of the baseball war and the return of the sport to its old stable basis.

FULTON KNOCKS OUT FLYNN.

Fred Fulton knocked out Fireman Flynn in the second round of their ten-round go in Milwaukee last night.

WORLD'S HURDLE RECORD.

A world's record of 0:05 4-5 for the 50-yard low hurdles was made in Kansas City last night by Simpson, of the Missouri team, which won a dual meet from Kansas.

DAVE DRISCOLL WILL PROMOTE EXHIBITIONS

Former Pet Leader to Stage Sunday Attractions in Jersey City Park.

Dave Driscoll, who has been identified with various baseball teams in this vicinity, has leased the West Side Park, Jersey City, for exhibition games. The former captain of the Pets plans to have the Cuban players represent Jersey City this year. Dr. Carlos Henriquez will again manage the team.

Driscoll has booked many big league clubs for Sunday appearance in Jersey City, among them the Giants, Yanks, Braves, Browns, Athletics, Reds, Phillies and White Sox.

The Cubans have been playing in this country for several years. Last season the club represented Long Branch on Sundays and played for Newton on Saturdays.

Many of the players that Dr. Henrique has brought to this country year after year are now members of the major league clubs or in the big minor league organizations.

The Cubans will be made up of Padron, Gonales, Ballesteros and Acosta, pitchers; Torres and Vales, catchers; Viola, first base; Cabera, second base; Romanach, shortstop; Herrera, third base; Obreagon, right field; Tommie Calvo, center field, and Jack Calvo, right field.

Acosta, who is but eighteen years old, let the St. Louis Americans down without a hit or run last season. The Cubans won the game 5 to 0. Cabera was formerly a member of the Cardinals, Romanach has refused offers from many major league clubs, Herrera and Obreagon are ranch owners in Cuba and have refused offers to join the Giants, while Jack Calvo was formerly with the Washington Senators.

Last season the Cubans won ten of the fifteen games played again major league teams. The Cubans twice defeated the Giants and won three out of four games from the Yankees. The Cuban boys also downed Pittsburgh, 8 to 0, with Al Mamaux pitching. The Phillies, Reds, Superbas and Browns were also victims.

Montreal was twice a victim of the Cubans, while the Indians, Grays and Richmond Virginians were defeated. The club also won thirty-two out of the thirty-five games played against Class A and B teams and won eighty-eight out of 112 games played with the big semi-pro teams. The club won series from the Cuban Giants, Lincoln Stars and Lincoln Giants.

P. H. S. GIRLS WANT A SWIMMING TEAM

Next Basketball Games Dated for Thursday—Other News About School Sports.

Now that Coach Patch has cut the baseball squad of battery candidates, he is beginning to get a line on the probable first string men for the Plainfield High School team. With the entire last year's pitching staff gone, he has to find at least three boxmen. Butler seems to be the one best bet so far, while Hutchcroft will probably be the only portside flinger on the squad. There is a wealth of material for the outfield and infield that will be given the "once over" as soon as the weather permits work out of doors.

Although it is rather late in the season to start, the girls at the High School are trying to form a swimming team. Miss Minnie Taylor is captain of the outfit, and in Miss Emily White the school has another good swimmer.

The medals for the basketball team for winning the city interscholastic championship have been ordered and will be presented some morning at assembly, together with the letters that will be awarded, and the Daily Press loving cup.

The next games to be played in the girls' interclass basketball league at the Plainfield High School will be played next Thursday afternoon, when the Seniors play the Freshmen and the Juniors meet the Sophomores.

TINKER IN AUTO CRASH.

Tampa, Fla., March 18.—Joseph Tinker, manager of the Chicago Nationals, was painfully injured here yesterday when his automobile struck a post. He was pitched against the windshield and gashed about the head and face, a glass fragment cutting his eyelid. Physicians fear possible injury to the eyeball.

HOPE BOYS WIN.

The Hope Chapel Juniors defeated the All-Stars in the basketball game Thursday night, in the Hope Chapel gymnasium. The score was 38 to 4.

DONATIONS WANTED.

The Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild will be pleased to receive donations of fruit, vegetables, cann soup, cocoa, tea, sugar and delicacies suitable for the sick. Donations may be sent to the rooms of the W. C. T. U., 10 Madison avenue, Babcock building, Monday afternoon, from 4 to 6 o'clock, and Tuesday morning from 9 to 10:30, or Joseph M. Harper, 237 East Sixth street, 'phone 758-W, may be notified, and a messenger wil call for the asme.

TAKES FOUR PERIODS TO DECIDE STRUGGLE

All Stars Lose Very Close Game to Hope Chapel Junior Team.

In an exciting game on the Hope Chapel court last night, the All Stars were beaten by the Hope Juniors, 33 to 32, after playing two extra periods. Snyder and Muir played the best game for Hope, with Rimmer, Heron and Bradford each helping to pile up the score. Keating made nearly half the points for the losers.

The Stars held the lead all through the game except at the end, when the Hopes took a sudden brace and gained the lead, only to be overtaken again by the All Stars. In the first extra period, the Hopes gained a three-point lead, but Clarkson tied the score. Another period was played, the Hopes coming out one point to the good.

TWENTY-ONE SAVED AT SEA, WIRELESS REPORT

Part of Kanawha's Crew Picked Up by Santa Marta.

New York, March 18.—Wireless news of the rescue of twenty-one men at sea was received at the offices of the United Fruit company, 17 Battery place, from Captain Welton Davison of the company's liner Santa Maria.

The men were the captain and members of the crew of the steamship Kanawha, who were picked up in open boats about 100 miles off Charleston, S. C. One of the Kanawha's boats, with the third officer and six men, is still missing.

Captain Davison does not give the cause of the Kanawha's disaster, but it is assumed that she foundered in the heavy weather which has recently been encountered up and down the coast. She was on her way from Norfolk to Rio Janeiro, heavily laden with coal.

Captain Davison's message was as follows:

"At 9:30 p. m., March 16, latitude 33, longitude 73:42, picked up twenty-one men of steamer Kanawha. Included Captain Bertram A. Rigolot. Ship sank at 5 p. m. One boat, in charge of Third Officer W. J. O'Reilly, with six men, including Carl Hamburg, first assistant engineer, still missing. Other men in boat oilers and firemen, all Scandinavians."

Captain Davison further reported that he had sent wireless messages broadcast to insure a lookout for the missing boat. It is hoped here that by this time it may have been rescued by some other vessel.

The Kanawha was built originally as a lake steamship in 1902. She was 243 feet long and of 2,181 gross tonnage. Her owner was E. L. Powell of New Orleans.

THREE AVIATORS KILLED.

British Lieutenants Fall While on Experimental Flights.

London, March 18.—Three British airmen, Lieutenants Johnstone, Beaumont and Laidlaw, were killed in accidents while on experimental flights.

Lieutenants Johnstone and Beaumont were killed on the east coast of Scotland and Lieutenant Laidlaw at the Hendon aerodrome.

STRINGENT RULES GOVERN OPERATION OF AUTO BUSES

Trenton, March 18.—Not waiting for proof of the charges made by Commissioner Charles P. Gillen, of the Newark Board of Works, that graft had figured in the Legislature's consideration of the measure, Governor Fielder yesterday signed the substitute act passed in place of the bill introduced by Assemblyman John B. Kates, of Camden county, to regulate the jitney business.

Under the new law, which is effective immediately, stringent regulations are imposed on the jitney owners, many of whom predict they will be driven out of business. Before a jitney can be operated in any municipality consent of the governing body must be obtained. The operator of the vehicle must file an insurance policy for $5,000 as protection against bodily injury or death of passengers. Every operator must pay to the municipality in which he drives 5 per cent. of his gross receipts as a franchise tax.

NEWARK ELKS WORTHY CHAMPIONS.

The B. P. O. Elks' Bowling League has never had a championship holder that better deserves the titular honors than the Newark Lodge team which won the Perlmutter cup Thursday night. From the outset, the team looked strong on paper, and despite the fact that it had two men who were making their debut in Elks' League company, the Newark team was picked by many to win the title.

The team has the best average in the league. For a total of fifty-four games, the Essex combination shot a fraction less than 943. One member of the team, Jack Speary, led the league with an average only a couple points under 200, while his teammate, Louis VanNess, was only a few points behind, and copped third prize. As they are the two new members of the team, their first season's work on the ten stops around the circuit is all the more remarkable. There have been teams in the Elks' League that have done more sensational deeds than the bunch captained by Bill Weingarth, but there never has been a quintet that maintained such an even tenor as the Van Ness-Wagner-Erler-Speary-Weingarth combination held this winter.

PREPAREDNESS AT CLINTON AVENUE.

Clinton Avenue's baseball team is coming along nicely, thank you. Financially and materially, the West End boys are preparing for the opening of the City League season. The last addition to the club's pork barrel was made yesterday, when the balance realized on the entertainment given the evening before was deposited. The latest aid the club secured in the way of material came in the announcement in yesterday's Daily Press that Lester Spencer, a Metuchen pitcher with a record of creditable work on the mound, had been signed to occupy the hillock for Tommy Apgar's crew. The team suffered for want of pitchers last season, and if Spencer does as well in Plainfield company as he has in his previous connections, one of the Clinton's weak spots will be strengthened.

Unless present plans miscarry, local basketball fans will be treated to one of the season's choicest offerings the first part of next month. The attraction will be the return match between the Plainfield Five, admitted to be the strongest girls' team in this section of Uncle Sammy's peaceful plot, and the Susquehannas, of Hartford, Conn., the undisputed champions of New England.

Both aggregations have disposed of all opponents around home, and their meeting under conditions fair to both sides will be of inter-State significance in comparing the respective calibre of girls' basketball played in the two districts.

It is difficult to provide a common meeting ground for the new rivals because they have gained their fame playing rules that are radically different. The local players have used a code designed strictly for feminine contests, while the Hartford maidens play a set of slightly modified boys' intercollegiate rules. Playing the latter style of game, with which the Plainfield Five was totally inexperienced, the Susquehannas won a close game on their own court. It is expected that a return game will be played here, probably using the same rules, and the change of the conditions of the girls' game from what local patrons have been in the habit of witnessing alone should be a strong drawing card.

SPRING EDITION OF 'PHONE BOOK BEING DISTRIBUTED

Telephone subscribers in Plainfield are now receiving their copies of the spring edition of the New Jersey Division Telephone Directory, issued by the New York Telephone Company. The book, which is dressed in a new jacket of light fawn, contains 132,000 listings, a gain of 10,000 names within the year. It will have a circulation of 175,000 as compared with the 1915 spring edition of 158,000 copies.

Delivery of the directories in this district will require at least four days, according to A. B. Wilson, local commercial manager of the New York Telephone Company, and is being made in accordance with a pre-arranged plan which is designed to insure the quickest possible distribution.

In New York city 695,000 new telephone directories are now being placed in circulation. These books have 377,000 listings, an increase within the year of approximately 27,000 names. The telephone company also will deliver nearly 29,000 telephone directories in its suburban Long Island territory and 58,200 in its Westchester division, making a total of 957,200 telephone books which will be placed in metropolitan territory this month. This is the greatest spring distribution of directories ever made by the telephone company. A year ago at this time the telephone company circulated 865,000 telephone books in the metropolitan area.

Mrs. E. W. Bergman and children, Helen and Edward, of Passaic, are visiting her parents, Captain and Mrs. William C. Smith, of Grandview avenue, the borough.

SLIM CHANCE FOR CITY HALL BILL

Can Only Be Passed by Unanimous Consent in the Senate.

LOCAL MEN AROUSED

Senator Pierce Failed to Call it up Last Week—Telegrams Sent From Plainfield in Solid Stream Today.

Unless unanimous consent is secured in the Senate tomorrow night there is no possibility of the passage of the bill which gives to Plainfield the right to issue bonds in the amount of $150,000 for public buildings, and upon the passage of this bill depends the completion of a new city hall during 1916, unless present estimates for the building are materially cut.

City officials and local business men still have hope of having the bill go through and are working desperately to bring this about, but because of failure of Senator Pierce, of Union county, to do his part in the Upper House, after Assemblyman Runyon and others had piloted it through the Assembly, this important measure is dependent upon the personal whims of any individual members of the Senate. Any one man in that body can so badly cripple the city hall project that it will be practically impossible to finish the new municipal home until after another session of the State Legislature, which will not be held until 1917.

Telegrams from business men and politicians are being sent to Trenton in a solid stream today urging that the bill be passed. These are addressed not only to Senator Pierce, but to every other members of the Upper House and they set out that Plainfield needs a new city hall and needs it badly. Municipalities of this class can now issue only $100,000 bonds for public buildings and this amount would not be sufficient to erect a building such as has been planned. The property cost approximately $32,000, and tentative specifications for the building proper call for an expenditure of more than $80,000, which would carry the total beyond $100,000. If the $150,000 bond issue can be authorized all work will be done during the summer months and the building will be occupied before the year is ended. In case the bill fails of passage and only $150,000 is available the building can be completed as far as possible and some portion, possibly interior finishings of the upper floors, will have to wait until the building fund can be augmented through further sale of bonds.

Because of a Senate agreement limiting the time in which bills of general interest can be considered nothing can be brought up in either house now except by unanimous consent. The city hall bill has passed the House and been read twice in the Senate. It could have been brought up by Senator Pierce at any time last week by a simple motion to consider for passage, but this motion was not made and now any one senator can defeat it.

It is likely that a good-sized delegation of Plainfield city officials and business men will go to Trenton tomorrow night to urge the passage of the bill and through their influence all members of the Senate may agree to a vote on the measure.

BENJAMIN F. BENNETT DIES IN HIS 61ST YEAR

Benjamin F. Bennett, 61 years old, died yesterday morning at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. W. S. Kenney, 315 Clinton avenue, after an illness of months. The deceased was a resident of this city for the past thirtyfour years, coming to Netherwood from Peekskill, N. Y., with the oilcloth factory formerly located on North avenue. He was a member of Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M.

Besides his daughter, he leaves two sons, Clarence F., of New York, and Howard E., of Hoboken, and five grandchildren. The funeral will be held from the late home at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday. The officiating clergyman will be the Rev. George Bosterle, pastor of the Anderson Memorial church, of New York city.

MRS. EMELINE PANKHURST TO SPEAK IN THIS CITY

The Mercy Committee of New Jersey has arranged for two addresses to be given in the Hartridge Auditorium, on Saturday night, April 8, for the benefit of the Serbian Mission. His Excellency Cheddo Miyatovitch, and Mrs. Pankhurst will come to this city on that evening and will speak on the distress in that stricken country. A collection will be taken up and a reception will follow the addresses.

RASORES TO MEET.

The Rasores will meet tomorrow morning with Mrs. Carey, of 930 Hillside avenue.

ALEXANDRE RIBOT.

End of War Is In Sight, Says French Minister.

"We have reached the decisive hour," said Alexandre Ribot, minister of finance, while speaking in the chamber of deputies on the financial and military situation. He went on, "We can say without exaggeration, without illusion and without vain optimism that we now see the end of this horrible war." M. Ribot's utterance is taken to be of the utmost importance, as indicating official opinion concerning the result of the battle of Verdun.

DEATH COMES TO EDWARD CONNORS

Well Known Plainfielder Passes Away After Years of Disability.

Edward Connors, a resident of Plainfield for the past fifty years, and widely known throughout the city and borough, died at 6 o'clock last night at his home, 529 West Firth street, following a long illness. Three years ago he tripped over the carpet at his home and fell heavily, breaking a hip bone. Since that time he has practically been disabled, and complications ensued which eventually caused his death.

Mr. Connors was born in Limerick, Ireland, seventy-one years ago, but came to Plainfield before he had reached his majority. He was employed for a time as night watchman at old North Avenue station of the New Jersey Central and about 1880 entered the employ of the Potter Press Works. He remained there until the time he met with the accident that disabled him. In his many years of service at Potter's he enjoyed the respect of the officials, who always declared him to be a faithful and efficient workman. Mr. Connors was a man of striking physique, standing more than six feet tall and built in proportion. He possessed a genial disposition, which made friends of all with whom he came in contact, and his death will be received with keen regret by hundreds of acquaintances.

Mr. Connors is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. William Sullivan, and three sons. These are Edward and Frank Connors, who live at the parental home, and Joseph Connors, a New York detective attached to one of the Brooklyn stations. Another son, David Connors, died a few months ago. The deceased was one of the oldest members of Division No. 4, A. O. H., and also of the Holy Name Society, of St. Mary's church. The funeral will be held in St Mary's church, of which Mr. Connors was one of the oldest communicants, Wednesday morning. Burial will be in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

FRANCIS R. SHAW WEDS MISS IDA MAY TIER

Miss Ida May Tier, daughter of Mrs. John H. Tier, of 62 Westervelt avenue, and Francis Robert Shaw, of 54 Westervelt avenue, were married Saturday evening by Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, the ceremony being performed at the home of the officiating minister on Crescent avenue.

Mrs. John H. Tier, mother of the bride, and Miss Josie M. Tier, an aunt, were the attendants. After a trip the couple will reside in Elizabeth. Mr. Shaw is engaged in business as an electrician.

SALE OF ANTIQUES.

Attention is called to the auction sale of antique furniture to be held Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the antique store of B. M. Cohen, 332 West Front street, near Grove street. Mr. Cohen is closing out his business. His stock comprises a large and varied assortment of rare antiques. See advertisement in another part of the Daily Press.

A musical service will be held in Warren chapel on Sunday, April 2, at 7:45.

REV. MR. GREENE QUITS HIS CHARGE

Pastor of Hope Chapel Surprises Congregation by Announcing Resignation.

IS EFFECTIVE AT ONCE

Preached Farewell Sermon Last Night From Same Text He Used Five Years Ago When Occupying Pulpit for First Time.

The congregation of Hope chapel received a surprise at the morning service yesterday, when Rev. Frederic L. Greene, who has been pastor for the past five years, announced that he had tendered his resignation to the trustees, and would preach his farewell sermon in the evening. He offered no explanation as to his action, and later stated that he had received no call. In the evening Mr. Greene preached for the last time, using as his text the same one he expounded upon when he occupied the pulpit for the first time on March 5, 1911. This was from Colossians 3:15, "And above all these things put on love, which is the bond of perfectness." When questioned today by a Daily Press reporter, the pastor stated that he had no plans for the immediate future, but would be in Plainfield at least for the next ten days.

Mr. Green is a native of Albany and was educated at Union College, Schenectady. Following his graduation he prepared for the ministry at Auburn Seminary. His first charge was at a Baltimore mission church, from which he went to Buffalo, N. Y., as assistant to Rev. Dr. S. V. Holmes, pastor of the Westminster church, of that city, for two years. From there he went to Sherman, N. Y., as pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and from which he resigned in order to accept the call to Hope chapel.

He succeeded Rev. Lawrence Riggs Howard, who is now in the Middle West. Since coming to Plainfield, Mr. Greene made a host of friends in addition to those within his own congregation, and his departure from the city will be deeply regretted. He has been active in all the departments of the chapel, and has done much to build up the religious work, especially among the young men in the church and Sunday-school.

Mr. Greene was only the third pastor which Hope chapel has had since it was established in 1888 by the Crescent Avenue church, which still has jurisdiction over it. The first clergyman to occupy the pulpit was the Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, who was called in 1891, shortly after his entrance to the ministry. He remained for ten years, at the conclusion of which time he accepted a call to Brooklyn. He is now secretary of the Presbyterian City Board of Home Missions in Chicago. Mr. Newell was followed by Rev. Mr. Howard, who also served the congregation for ten years, resigning the charge to go to the Pacific coast for the benefit of his health. When Mr. Greene first came to Plainfield he made his home at West Fourth street and Lee place, but more recently has been living on West Fifth street, near Grant avenue.

LAST SAD RITES FOR MRS. KASPAR BOLSTERLE

The funeral of Mrs. Kaspar Bolsterle, whose death occurred Thursday noon, after a long illness, was held yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends at her late home, 113 Watchung avenue, North Plainfield. Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, of which she was a member, was the officiating clergyman and was assisted by Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson and Rev. J. O. McKelvey, the latter an old friend of the family. The service was extremely simple comprising only a requiem address, scripture reading and prayer.

The floral tributes were unusually numerous and handsome, giving silent testimony to the friendship and respect Mrs. Bolsterle enjoyed from a large circle of acquaintances. Set pieces were proffered by the various Masonic organizations in the city with which Mr. Bolsterle is affiliated, Old Glory Council, D. of L., and the Women's Auxiliary to Winfield Scott Post, of which Mrs. Bolsterle was an honorary member and the various departments of Trinity church and Warren chapel, where the deceased attended services. There was also a beautiful emblem from the Anderson Memorial Reformed church of the Bronx, New York, of which Mrs. Bolstrle's son, Rev. George Bolsterle, is the pastor.

Burial was in Hillside cemetery, the pall bearers being three sons, John, Herbert and Rev. George Bolsterle, two sons-in-law, P. Frank Stone and Raymond Schenck, and a brother-in-law, George S. McGinnis.

FRANCINA C. TERRELL.

Mrs. Francina C. Terrell, colored, died yesterday afternoon at her home, 338 East Third street. She was the daughter of the late Peter and Louise Cuff, and leaves a number of local relatives. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

KENYON GARDENS ELECT OFFICERS

The Seminary Alumnae and Monday Afternoon Club Form Corporation.

PLANS ARE OUTLINED

Association Makes An Appeal to Those Interested to Assist the Worthy Movement by Becoming Active or Sustaining Members.

Those who have been intesrted in the matter have thought there were good reasons for introducing another organization in this city so the originators of the Kenyon Gardens' Association discussed thoroughly the advisability of the present course in preference to having the Gardens managed by a joint committee representing the Seminary Alumnae, the Monday Afternoon Club and the city at large, but the holding of property solved the problem for it was necessary because of this that a corporation be formed.

This has been done by the following trustees, Mrs. Henry D. Hibbard, Mrs. William Griscom, Mrs. Alan Cowperthwait, Miss Isabelle Arnold, Miss Elvira Kenyon, Miss Florella Clark and Mrs. James DeGraff. An association was then formed and these officers were elected:

President, Mrs. Henry D. Hibbard; vice presidents, Miss Elvira Kenyon, Miss Isabelle Arnold and Miss Florella Clark; treasurer, Mrs. William Griscom; secretary, Mrs. Cornwell; chairman membership committee, Mrs. J. K. Myers. There has also been named a general committee of nine members who will assist in the active garden work.

The tract of land acquired is a low, almost level, dried up swamp, through which courses Cedar brook and near which is the hill familiarly known as "strawberry hill." This land lies between Randolph road, Union street and Arlington avenue. This spot was dear to Miss Kenyon and to many others because of the wild growth here and as the whole tract besides is virgin soil and will be adapted to the purpose required.

The association wishes to dedicate it to the memory of Miss Kenyon with the hope that those who knew about her and those also who knew that her life was lived for the general uplift of all they will unite in this effort to educate the minds and bodies of the "little citizens."

Small plots of 8x12 will be provided for one hundred children for three divisions of the summer, the first from about April 15 to June 15, the second from the latter date until August 15 and the third from August 15 to October 15. Ultimately it is hoped to have a thousand or more garden plots in the six acres but for the first year much has to be done in preparation. The association has been fortunate in securing a young woman teacher who has had three years experience in school gardens in Philadelphia. The children will be taught beesides the nature and use of soil the parts of the plant, the use of air and sunshine and valuable lessons of the use and care of the body. This iding of nature and the working in groups teaches thrift, keen observation and a community spirit.

The children will work during the school terms, one or two afternoons a week and during the summer, early in the morning and late in the afternoon. There will be a "beauty spot" for a resting place for tired mothers and half-sick children in the gardens and it is hoped eventually to have garden library, wind work for the children, perhaps, a small greenhouse for the older boys and other things that older school gardens have.

The Monday Afternoon Club and the Alumnae Association have each shown their great interest and their approval of the choice of a memorial to Miss Kenyon by setting aside the sum of $300 each for one first year's work. To provide for the teacher's salary of seven months, tools, seeds, etc., will be required a few hundred more the first year and the association is asking those who are interested to join the association at $1 a year as active members or $5 a year as sustaining members. A card will soon be sent to all those whom it is hoped will be interested as it is believed it will appeal to every one as a beneficial and practical work to be done in this community.

TO DISTRIBUTE BOOKS.

Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson has had his addresses that are being given Monday evenings at the Y. M. C. A. put in booklet form. These will be distributed free at tonight's meeting of the class. Those who also desire to sing in the large chorus may attend the personal workers' class tonight and the rehearsal of the chorus tomorrow night in the Park Avenue church.

"WHAT IS A PROPHET?"

Rev. Dr. George C. Foley, professor of systematic divinity of the Philadelphia Divinity School, will deliver a lecture on "What is a Prophet?" in the parish house of Grace Episcopal church, at 8:15 o'clock this evening, under the auspices of the Bible Readers' League. Dr. Foley is known as a forceful speaker and a logical interpreter of the Scriptures and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance to hear him.

OFFERS AERO TO FIGHT MEXICANS

J. E. Sloane Will Loan Made-in-Plainfield Machine to Government.

PLANE IS ALL READY

Is Purely a Local Product, Having Been Made at Netherwood Plant—Most Modern of Aerial Weapons of War.

A made-in-Plainfield aeroplane, the finest and most modern of its type in the world, has been offered the United States Government for the Mexican campaign. This offer was made in a letter sent to Secretary of War Baker last week by John E. Sloane, of this city, head of the Sloane-Day Aeroplane Company, which operates a plant in Netherwood.

The machine is the first to be made at the company's plant there, and is the first aeroplane ever made in Plainfield or Union county. It is the type of machine that has been adopted by the English Government as the most formidable Zepelin fighter, and a large number have been ordered to protect London from the big German dirigibles.

The aeroplane is ready for instant service. It was completed early last week and has been assembled at the Netherwood plant. It is far in advance of any now in use with the punitive expedition into Mexico, and would give to that invading force an instrument of modern warfare that has proven marvelously efficient in the European struggle. The letter of Mr. Sloane to Secretary Baker follows:

"From the newspapers I see that there are only eight low-powered aeroplanes available in the United States Army for service in Mexico; therefore, I respectfully request that you consider the following offer: I will lend the aviation division of the Signal Corps one of our type 'H,' 130-horse-power military tractor biplanes, fully equipped, for service in Mexico.

"The speed of this machine is 85 miles an hour; its range of flight 4½ hours; its climbing speed, 3,000 feet in 7 minutes 27 seconds. This machine has been declared by representatives of five governments to be the best they have seen in America. In its official tests here and abroad it exceeded the performance of any other American aeroplane. This type of machine has been used extensively in different services, and has been declared to be a decidedly satisfactory product of this horse-power and carrying capacity.

"Should you consider this offer favorably, I will be glad to take up the details and, if you so desire, to procure pilot or mechanics."

DUDLEY BARROWS TO WED MISS ASHWELL

The wedding of Miss Madeline Ashwell, a daughter of Mrs. William Cawley Ashwell and the late Mr. Ashwell, of 24 Gramercy Park, New York, and Dudley Hammond Barrows, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott T. Barrows, of this city, will be celebrated at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Thursday, April 27, in the Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York, the Rev. Herbert Shipman officiating.

Miss Ashwell's sister, Miss Muriel W. Ashwell, will be her maid of honor, and her brother, Thomas W. Ashwell, will give her in marriage. Mr. Barrows, who is a graduate of Princeton, 1907, will have Henry Brower, of this city, as his best man, and the ushers are to be Ames Brooks, Rushmore Wood, Ernst Akhurst, Elliott Laidlaw, Leonard Thomas, and Charles King. The reception will be held at the Gotham, New York, at 4:30. The engagement was announced in November, 1914.

RECOVERS VALUED CHISEL LOST MANY YEARS AGO

Aaron M. Higgins, the electrician of this city, has just recovered a chisel he valued highly, which was lost twenty-five years ago in a peculiar way. At the time he was doing some work at the home of Dr. J. B. Probasco on East Front street, which is now being torn down by the new owner, Dr. Albert Pittis, and the chisel disappeared in some mysterious way. The tool, which was then fifty years old, was given to him by his father and he deeply regretted his loss. When Mr. Higgins heard of the sale of the Probasco property he recalled the loss of the chisel and decided to search for it. His efforts were rewarded on Saturday when he found it hidden away between a partition.

WILLIAM MARCONI.

New Invention May Have Influence on Development of War.

Although Marconi has been for over two weeks confined to his room at the Hotel Miramare, Genoa, Italy, owing to grippe, he has not ceased work on a new discovery, the secret of which is closely guarded. It is said that his discovery will have considerable influence in the development of the war if the experiments which he is carrying out in his rooms at the hotel, which have been transformed into an electrical workshop, are successful on a large scale as they have been on a small one. Marconi is helped in his experiments by his faithful assistant, the Marquis Solari, who is most enthusiastic about the new discovery, but has pledged his word to reveal nothing about it

BELIEVE THEY HAVE VILLA SURROUNDED

Carranza Troops and U. S. Soldiers to Join Near Guerrero Mountains.

E. Paso, Texas, March 20.—Persistent reports that Villa has been hemmed in by Carranza troops in the Guerrero mountains and that American troops are on their way there to give battle to the outlaw reached here today. While the censorship on war news prevents anything leaking from official reports to General Funston's headquarters, it is beelieved that the bandit has been temporarily surrounded, although there is every chance for his escape in the canons that he knows so well.

Additional troops have been sent to aid United States soldiers and to guard the supply base at Guzman. This morning the 24th and 25th infantry, composed of negro troops, left Columbus, N. M., for Guzman. No anti-American outbreaks have been heard of in the past twenty-four hours.

No Word From Carranza.

Washington, March 20.—Acting Secretary of State Polk and President Wilson held a half hour's conference over the Mexican situation today at the White House. Afterward it was stated that no reply has yet been receeived from the Carranza government to the request of the United States for permission to ship supplies to General Pershing's expedition in Mexico over Mexican railway lines.

GIVES SELF UP AS INSANE, THEN ESCAPES

Harry Updyke, a young Plainfielder who was sent to Morris Plains one day last week, escaped from that institution last night. Updyke walked into the police station and asked that an investigation be made into his sanity. He said he believed he was losing his mind. Chief Kiely had him examined and upon the physician's advice he was sent to Morris Plains. A watch will be kept for him here.

OLD GLORY COUNCIL GIVES SURPRISE PARTY

Following the regular business session Old Glory Council, No. 62, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, held a social in the lodge banquet room, the affair being in the nature of a surprise for Theodore Van Pelt, in honor of the latter's natal day anniversary. Nimrod Horton, past councilor, made the announcement of the anniversary and assured Mr. Van Pelt of the good wishes of his friends. The latter responded in a happy vein, and thanked the committee in general. Refreshments were served and a social time followed. The committee who arranged the affair was composed of Mrs. Theodore Van Pelt, Mrs. Jacob Kettering, Jacob Kettering and Frank Hulitt.

CHARLES LEWIS.

Charles Lewis, 6 6 years old, of 212 Clinton avenue, who died Saturday morning, was buried yesterday afternoon in the Hebrew cemetery at Samptown, the funeral being held from the home at 3 o'clock.

WAR COUNCIL TO PLAN BIG STROKE

Six Allied Nations Ready to Force Germany to Her Knees.

HOLLAND IS NEAR WAR

Incensed Over Sinking of Tubantia—Germany Denies Guilt—Fighting Around Verdun Not So Intense.

Paris, March 20.—The greatest council of war held since the war in Europe began will take place here this week. Six of the allied nations, England, Russia, France, Belgium, Italy and Serbia, will be represented. Plans of supreme importance whereby the allies hope to deliver a smashing stroke which will bring the end of the war in sight will be considered.

Weak Attacks On Verdun.

French war statement:

"West of the Meuse the enemy has directed a very violent bombardment on the region south on Malancourt. On the east bank, after an artillery preparation, the Germans launched a small attack against our positions at Cote D'Poivre, Pepper Heights, which was completely checked. There was an intermittent bombardment at the region of Vaux. In the Woevre region the night was calm except for a rather sharp cannonade at Eparages. No important development is reported on the front in general."

Holland May Fight Germany.

Amsterdam, March 20.—Holland has sent a note to Berlin relative to the sinking of the Tubanita, says the Nieuvws Van Den Dag. An immediate reply is requested. Some Dutch papers express the fear that Holland and Germany are near war.

No U-Boat Near Tubantia.

The Hague, March 20.—The German ambassador to Holland has informed the Dutch Foreign Office that an investigation by the German ministry of marine has showed that there were no German submarines in the vicinity of the Tubantia when she was sunk off North Hinder Sands last Thursday morning. The German ambassador also said that no German mines had been laid there.

Bombard U-Boat Base.

London, March 20.—It was officially announced today at the War Office that three squadrons of aeroplanes comprising 50 machines, British, French and Belgian, this morning bombarded Zeebrugge, the German submarine base in Belgium, and also attacked the German position at Houltave, 12 miles southwest of Zeebrugge, on the road to Ostend. All the aeroplanes returned in safety.

French Steamer Sunk.

The French steamer Nominoe, 3,155 tons, has been torpedoed and sunk. Its crew was landed today. The Nominoe plied between the east coast of England and Roeun, France.

British Searched U. S. Mail.

New York, March 20.—The Cunard steamship Orduna arrived in Quarantine shortly before 7 o'clock this morning and was there detained for over two hours in order to transfer the large cargo of foreign mail she had on board. A considerable part of the Orduna's mail was that which was taken off the Holland-America steamers at Falmouth for examination by the British authorities.

Roumania Is Threatened.

Athens, March 20.—Concentration of troops, both Bulgarian and Roumanian, continues on a large scale in the Dobrudja district bordering on the Black Sea, south of the Danube, which Roumania took from Bulgaria in 1913 on a front of 120 miles, reaching from Greaca Lake on the Danube to Ekrene on the Black Sea. There are 150,000 Roumanians ready to defend the territory. Facing them are 120,000 Bulgarians.

Austrians Are Bombarded.

Vienna, March 20.—A violent bombardment of the Austro-Hungarian positions on the frontier of Bessarabia by Russian artillery is underway, indicating preparations for fresh infantry assaults, according to the War Office. It is officially stated that the Austrian offensive against the Italians in the sector of the Tomino bridgehead continues.

Sub In North Atlantic.

Petrograd, March 20.—That a German submarine is operating in the North Atlantic was stated in advices received here today. The submarine sank the Russian steamship Neora Jasiadba on March 9, the message stated. It is believed that all of the crew were saved.

TOM TAGGART IS MADE UNITED STATES SENATOR

Indianapolis, March 20.—Governor Ralston today appointed Thomas Taggart, Democratic national committeeman from Indiana, U. S. Senator to serve until the fall election, filling the vacancy caused by the death of Senator B. F. Shively.

HOW TO PREVENT THE SPREAD OF DISEASE

Dr. F. W. Westcott Gives Interesting Talk Before the Men's Forum.

Speaking before a gathering of twenty-five local citizens at the Parish House Forum yesterday afternoon, Dr. F. W. Westcott, president of the Township Board of Health, explained some of the difficulties encountered by the Board of Health in doing its part to keep the township free of disease and asked that residents co-operate with the Board. The subject under discussion being "Sanitation," he gave an interesting talk on how to prevent disease by abating nuisances and reporting to the Board any health violations.

Strange as it may seem, he said that many people looked on the Board of Health with no kind feeling. Continuing, he told of the lack of common sense on the part of some people on the quarantine question. Many of them though that although a member of their family had a contagious disease it should not prevent relatives from going and coming. He also touched on the unsanitary sewer overflow and garbage pail. William H. Hoar, mayor of Fanwood, and the Rev. Raymond E. Marshal also made a few remarks, while the Rev. J. Madison Hare related a few of his experiences with health conditions during the time of the Spanish-American War. At the time he was chaplain in a military hospital where four hundred men had typhoid fever.

SCHOOL ELECTION.

The annual school election of Fanwood Township and Fanwood Borough will be held in School No. 1 tomorrow night between 8 and 9 o'clock. Besides the election of several new trustees, the annual appropriations will be voted on, including $400 for building and repairing and $11,100 for current expenses, making the total amount asked for $11,500.

"RUBBER GAME" TONIGHT."

The Parish House bowling team will get in action on the local alleys tonight, when it rolls the rubber game in a series with the "Unos," of Plainfield. Each team has copped one game to date.

FIREMEN TO MEET.

The March meeting of the Fanwood Fire Company will be held in the firehouse on Watson road tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Only routine business is scheduled for transaction.

TO PLAY BRIDGE.

The members of the Tuesday Afternoon Bridge Club will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. Richard W. Tull, of North avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

CARD PARTY AND DANCE.

The local members of the Westfield Golf Club attended a card party followed by an informal dance in the clubhouse Saturday night.

Troop 15, Willow Grove Boy Scouts, are again holding weekly meetings in the clubhouse on Terrill road. The next one will be Wednesday night.

RETURN TO BROOKLYN.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wardle, who spent last summer in the borough, have returned to their home in Brooklyn, after visiting friends over the week-end. They are going to return again for the coming summer.

DISCONTINUE LIBRARY.

Having discontinued its library, the Methodist church Sunday-school has sent the books to the Flanders Methodist church Sunday-school. The excellent public library in Scotch Plains had made it unnecessary.

HEALTH CONDITIONS GOOD.

According to last reports Fanwood Borough was entirely free of contagious diseases, and in the township there is only four cases of diphtheria and they are in an outlaying section. The Board of Education has taken all possible precautionary measures to prevent any spread. Although a number of the youngsters in both places have the measles, on considering the record it is an excellent one, especially for this time of year.

South Plainfield.

The St. Partick's social held in Washington Hall, Friday night, was a success. The hall was attractively decorated, the colors being green and white. The favors for the women were shamrocks, while the favors for the men were small Irish flags. Supper was served by the wives of the committeemen. The five dollar gold piece which was given by the local baseball team was won by Richard Swear, of New Market. The committee in charge was John Kaine, George Bradbury, Samuel Shields, William Shanafy, William and John Thornton. Music was furnished by Gutman's orchestra, of Perth Amboy.

The annual meeting of the Piscataway Township School Board will be held in the schoolhouse in New Market tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Elections of officers will take place, the polls being opened from 8 o'clock until 9. The candidates are John Geary, of this place, and Everett Marshall and Frank O. Nelson, of New Market.

The pool tournament being conducted by William A. Norman has aroused much interest among the local enthusiasts. Handicaps will be given so that all players will be evenly matched. First prize will be five dollars and the second prize will be a fifty-cent box of cigars.

The monthly meeting of the Independent Order of Foresters will be held in Washington Hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

The five dollar award for the local baseball team proved to be quite a success financially and has increased the funds $34. A meeting will be held very shortly to decide on plans for the coming season. The ball field will be put in perfect condition and Manager Hamilton expects to have a first class team.

Miss Anna McGovern, of New York, has returned home after spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. William Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Shrope are entertaining their daughter, Mrs. Alva Apgar, of New York.

Miss Marion Smith, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walton Smith, is recovering from an attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. James Leahy and daughter, Mabel, have returned from their trip to New York, where they were the guests of relatives.

Mrs. William Farrel and daughter, Nellie, hav returned to their home in Metuchen after spending a few days with Mrs. Farrel's mother, Mrs. Mary McDonough.

Miss Hannah Clausen, who has been suffering from the measles for the last week, is reported as much improved.

STAMPS BRYAN A DEMOCRAT.

Nebraska Secretary of State Rules His Name Stays on Ballot.

Lincoln, Neb., March 20.—William J Bryan has officially been declared a Democrat by Secretary of State Pool. A protest had been sent to Pool by W. R. Whited of Omaha against the name of Bryan being entered on the Nebraska primary ballot for delegate at large to the Democratic national convention at St. Louis. He declared that Bryan had broken faith with the Democrats at the Baltimore convention and in other ways violated Democratic principles.

Secretary Pool rules that more than 4,000 Democrats signed a petition for Bryan, and as only one protested he would rule Bryan is a Democrat and would remain so until the courts decided otherwise.

Indiana Cow Swallows a Board.

Greencastle, Ind., March 20.—Professor H. B. Longden, head of the German department of the De Pauw university, is also a farmer. He owns one of the finest farms in the county in Clinton township and has it stocked with fancy cattle. He reports the loss of a fine cow. An autopsy revealed that the animal had swallowed a piece of board twenty-two inches long and about three inches wide. The cow died in great agony.

THIRTEEN MAYORS TO GET TOGETHER

Cheaper Light and Trolley Fares Are Object.

CONSIDER CONSOLIDATION

Heads of Hudson County Municipalities to Gather at Call of Mayor Mark M. Fagan of Jersey City—Talk of Making All Municipalities Into One Big City.

Jersey City, March 20.—A meeting of the thirteen mayors of Hudson municipalities will be held at the city hall for the purpose of devising plans for a campaign for cheaper gas, electricity and trolley fares in Hudson county. The meeting has been called by Mayor Mark M. Fagan of Jersey City, and in addition to the mayors the entire city commission of Jersey City will be present.

Mayor Fagan stated he had had the meeting scheduled in mind for several weeks and decided the present time ripe for getting the mayors together to talk over plans for the public welfare.

Mayor Fagan is heartily in favor of the one big city plan, which would be consolidation of the various Hudson municipalities into one large city. This may be discussed at the meeting.

The mayor has in mind the organization of the mayors into a permanent association and the holding of meetings in the various municipalities, so the people of the county generally will know what's what in the organization.

TO CHECK MEASLES.

All Children Under Twelve Years Excluded From Public Places.

Hackensack, March 20.—Physicians of this vicinity, after a conference with the local board of health, will take drastic steps to check the epidemic of measles and whooping cough which has been prevalent for two weeks. It was decided to exclude all children who have not had measles from the kindergarten to fourth grades in all schools and to exclude all children under twelve years of age from all theaters, moving picture houses, Sunday schools and public places.

There was consternation at a local theater when throngs of children were confronted by Chief of Police Dunn and A. A. Altschuler, president of the health board, who were kept busy explaining their exclusion from the theater. So far four deaths have resulted from the measles.

ENDS HIS LIFE WITH GAS.

Weakened Physical Condition Cause of Philadelphian's Suicide.

Newark, March 20. — Edwin L. Bowen, who registered at the Penn hotel several days ago as from Philadelphia, killed himself with gas. He ripped the bracket from the wall, allowing the room to fill with gas. An employee of the hotel smelled the gas too late to save Bowen. Bowen left a note saying he could no longer battle against life in his weakened physical condition.

He also wrote the Psalm of Life on a piece of paper. On another he wrote the addresses of two sisters, Mrs. Harrie Raffary, 800 North Fiftieth street, Philadelphia, and Mrs. Elizabeth Lutz, 8627 Addison street, Philadelphia. In one of the suicide's pockets was found a letter from a brother, E. Bowen of San Francisco.

GLASS OF WATER BEFORE YOU EAT ANY BREAKFAST

Wash poison from system each morning and feel fresh as a daisy.

Every day you clean the house you live in to get rid of the dust and dirt which collected through the previous day. Your body, the house your soul live in, also becomes filled up each twenty-four hours with all manner of filth and poison. If only every man and woman could realize the wonders of drinking phosphated hot water, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

Everyone, whether sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that insid cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do —Adv.
